Advisory Business

Firm Description

Diversified Management, Inc. (DMI) was formed in Milwaukee, Wisconsin by Mark Homan in 1993. He is the principal owner of the company.

Types of Advisory Services

Diversified Management, Inc. provides investment advisory, financial planning, and income tax services. Those services include cash flow management, retirement planning, analysis of executive benefits, charitable giving strategies, estate planning, analysis of education funding alternatives, life insurance sufficiency analysis, investment management, tax planning and income tax return preparation.

The majority of our clientele include high net worth individuals or families, trusts, and estates.

Investment Advisory Service

As part of our investment advisory services, we provide clients with personal advice including asset allocation, research and selection of mutual funds or investment managers, and monitoring the performance of investments. Monitoring includes measuring performance, tracking asset allocation with established client objectives, and advice concerning the liquidation and reinvestment of existing investments.

We provide ongoing review of investments. Clients receive portfolio summaries at least quarterly, evaluating the investment holdings in comparison with relevant financial benchmarks. We generally prefer mutual fund investments when providing investment advisory services. Mutual fund investments are compared to peer group benchmarks and/or unmanaged indexes that include similar investment objectives, styles, and holdings. Other investments will be compared to unmanaged indexes representing the performances of similar assets not subject to the direction or influence of any single investment adviser.

When requested or as appropriate, we review and/or recommend specific investment opportunities that may be organized in the form of limited or general partnership interests. Those partnerships may include “alternative investments” intended to be neutral to the U.S. stock market wherein the underlying strategies are often varied among arbitrage techniques using stocks, bonds, commodities and/or currencies. We may also review and/or recommend partnerships formed to make private equity and/or venture capital investments. We are not compensated in any manner by any investment partnership we review or recommend.

Our clients always maintain control of their assets and receive statements directly from the custodian (not less than quarterly). We obtain approval from clients to enter trades and implement decisions reached by the clients in connection with their investment objectives and strategy. Investment decisions are made with the input and approval of the client prior to implementation, unless the client specifically asks us to assume complete discretion in connection with the management of the investment account.

Diversified Management, Inc. is a fee-only financial planning and investment management firm. We do not sell commissioned products and we do not participate in wrap fee programs. The fee for our investment advisory service is addressed in a separate section below entitled “Fees and Compensation”.

Financial Planning Service

Financial planning services are available to clients. The topics and assumptions addressed in financial plans are based on specific facts, resources and objectives of each client.

A financial plan may include, but is not limited to: a personal net worth statement, a cash flow projection, strategies for education funding, recommendations for revised allocations among investment categories, an income tax projection, and/or advice for updating estate planning documents.

The initial consultation between Diversified Management, Inc. and a prospective client is free. During this meeting, we discuss the client’s resources, goals and objectives. We determine the types of information/documents needed to proceed with a plan and discuss our fee for providing the service. Fees are set in advance, based on our estimate of the professional time required to provide this additional service. We reconvene with our clients after their plan is prepared to present a thorough review of our recommendations.

Income Tax Service

Tax return preparation is available to Diversified Management, Inc. clients and fees are determined by the professional time required to provide this additional service.

Tailored Relationships

The goals and objectives of each investment advisory client are broadly defined in an Investment Advisory Agreement (IAA). This document is a signed agreement between Diversified Management, Inc. and our clients. It details the services we agree to provide in connection with the following:

- Assistance in establishing, reviewing and changing the investment objectives of the account based upon the needs of the clients.
- Evaluation of asset allocation and the diversification of the account.
- Identification and selection of investment alternatives based upon the investment objectives of the account and the needs of the clients.

- Purchase or sale of investments consistent with the investment objectives, asset allocation and cash flow requirements of the clients.
- Ongoing review and monitoring of investment decisions, including the identification of asset reallocation and reinvestment alternatives.
- Summarization of the account investment performance results in a quarterly report.
- Regular meetings with the clients to review performance, asset allocation, diversification and ongoing client investment objectives.

The IAA and our services may be terminated by the client at any time without any separate termination fee and may not be assigned to another advisor without client consent.

Wrap Fee Programs

Diversified Management, Inc. does not participate in wrap fee programs.

Client Assets Under Management

The total amount of client assets that Diversified Management, Inc. manages is approximately $607,000,000 as of December 31, 2011. Further details are shown below:

Discretionary Assets Managed:	$446,569,912
Non-discretionary Assets Managed:	160,685,101
Total Assets Managed:	$607,255,013

Fees and Compensation

Description

Diversified Management, Inc. bases its investment advisory fees on a percentage of assets under management. We do not sell commissioned based products.

Investment advisory services are provided pursuant to a written investment advisory agreement between Diversified Management, Inc. and its clients. The fee schedule for investment advisory services is as follows:

Assets Under Supervision	Annual Rate
First $500,000	1.25%
Next $1,500,000 (between $500,000 and $2 million)	1.00%
Next $2 million (between $2 million and $4 million)	.75%
Next $6 million (between $4 million and $10 million)	.50%
Above $10 million	.25%

Fees for all accounts may be negotiated, subject to mutual approval of the client and Diversified Management, Inc. Current client relationships may exist where the fees are higher or lower than the fee schedule above.

Fee Billing

Investment management fees are billed quarterly, as soon as practical after the end of the previous calendar quarter. Clients may select to have their invoices mailed to them or presented in person in connection with our quarterly client investment performance review. Payment in full is expected upon presentation of the invoice. After client approval, the quarterly fee is usually deducted from designated client accounts and directly deposited in an account owned by Diversified Management, Inc. The client must consent in advance to direct debiting of their investment account. Alternatively, clients have the option of paying the invoice by writing a personal check.

Invoices for financial planning services are presented to the client and due upon delivery of the financial plan.

Invoices for tax planning and preparation of returns are presented to the client after tax returns are filed.

Other Fees

Diversified Management, Inc. generally prefers no-load mutual fund investments when providing investment advisory services. As a result of this, clients will pay two advisory fees; the fee charged by Diversified Management, Inc. as well as the fee of the advisor to the mutual fund (whose fees/expense ratios are further described in the prospectuses).

In addition, custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of investments including mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, stocks, bonds, and certificates of deposit. These service charges are usually small and incidental to the purchase or sale of a security.

Fees Paid in Advance and Termination of Agreement

Diversified Management, Inc. does not charge fees in advance. All fees are for services already provided. Our clients can terminate the relationship with Diversified Management, Inc. at any time. However, we reserve the right to remit an invoice upon termination for the value of any un-invoiced services performed prior to termination.

Compensation for the Sale of Securities

Diversified Management, Inc., is a fee-only financial planning and investment management firm. We do not sell commissioned products

Performance-Based Fees

Diversified Management, Inc. does not charge fees for profits earned by client investments. We do not charge performance-based fees – that is, fees based on sharing of capital gains and income earned by client investments.

Types of Clients

Description

Our clients are individuals, families, trusts, and estates.

The minimum dollar value of assets accepted for supervision by Diversified Management, Inc. is $500,000. We reserve the right to waive that minimum for employees, relatives of employees, relatives of or referrals from existing clients, and/or if deposits to a new account will quickly lead to cumulative deposits exceeding $500,000.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Methods of Analysis

Diversified Management, Inc. uses fundamental analysis to evaluate investments. Fundamental analysis means using economic and company-specific data (including factors such as interest rates, economic cycles, corporate management background, company financial conditions, etc.) in order to evaluate an investment.

The main sources of information include financial newspapers and magazines, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and company press releases.

Other sources of information that we may use include Morningstar Advisor Workstation, Charles Schwab & Co. Inc. Advisor Services, and the internet.

Investment Strategies

DMI's investment philosophy starts with the basic premise that the direction of the market in the short-run is not predictable. Thus, a client's risk exposure cannot be managed by attempting to move into and out of investments in advance of material price movements. In other words, the markets can't be timed. To manage the dual objectives of achieving acceptable long-term returns with acceptable risk exposure, DMI relies on developing asset allocation strategies unique to individual client situations.

A key objective in developing any asset allocation strategy is diversification. Diversification is achieved by combining investments with different risk characteristics and low correlations. With any asset allocation strategy, there is an expected return and an expected level of risk. The key is to match the expected rate of return and risk to the client's expectations.

Some clients choose to hire DMI to develop detailed long-term financial plans. Plan assumptions such as expected fixed cash flows (salary, pension, social security), spending requirements, rates of inflation, and life expectancy often help to deduce a target investment return. For other clients, we rely on discussions with them regarding their long-term goals and objectives to decide on acceptable target rates of return and levels of risk.

All types of investing involve certain levels of risk. It is important that clients recognize and understand that the value of their investments may be more or less than the original purchase prices at any point in time. Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Investment Strategies

Diversified Management, Inc. uses several main investment strategies for client portfolios. The first step is to work with the client to develop their overall asset allocation. The asset allocation governs how to use our underlying investment strategies including cash management, fixed income, and mutual funds.

Some sophisticated investment clients might consider using additional investment strategies to enhance their asset allocations. These strategies include separate investment management accounts with independent managers, hedge funds and illiquid investments such as real estate and privately-held companies.

For most clients, no-load mutual funds are the most effective vehicles for obtaining exposure to the equity markets. For clients with investment assets of $3 million or more, separate managed accounts might be considered in lieu of or in addition to equity mutual funds.

The criteria for selecting separate account managers are identical to the criteria for selecting mutual funds. Mutual funds and separate account managers are selected based on a screening process which includes evaluation of criteria including the following:

- Historical rate of return performance compared to relevant peer group and unmanaged market indexes.
- Historical volatility of return compared to relevant peer group and unmanaged market indexes.
- Historical management fees and transaction costs where lower is better.
- Sensitivity of the managers to income tax implications of transactions on client investors.

Diversified Management, Inc. recognizes that hedge funds and illiquid investments can be an effective way to increase returns and enhance diversification in client portfolios. But given their unique risk factors, illiquidity, and investment minimums, they are only appropriate for investors with investment assets of $5 million or more.

The implementation of the strategies mentioned above can include long-term purchases, short-term purchases, margin transactions, and option writing (including covered options and uncovered options).

Risk of Loss

One of the objectives of the investment strategies used by Diversified Management, Inc. is to manage and, to the extent possible, contain portfolio risk. However, all investments have certain risks that are borne by the investor.

Diversified Management, Inc. will invest client monies in several types of fixed income securities, mutual funds, separate accounts, and alternative investments. These include (but are not limited to) money markets, bank issued certificates of deposit (CD), corporate bonds, government agency bonds, municipal bonds, managed bond funds, equity mutual funds, stocks, options, etc. Some of the risks associated with these types of investments include (but are not limited to) interest rate risk, market risk, inflation risk, default risk, reinvestment risk, business/operational risk, liquidity risk, and financial risk. See below for definitions on the various types of risks.

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds/CDs become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar next year will not buy as much as a dollar today, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Default Risk: The risk that companies will be unable to make the required payments on their debt obligations.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business/Operational Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. It is a broad concept which focuses on the risks arising from the people, systems and processes through which a company operates.

- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: This is an umbrella term for any risk associated with any form of financing. Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

It is important to recognize that any one or more of these risks can affect the value of client investments, causing the value to be more or less than the original purchase prices at any point in time.

Disciplinary Information

Legal and Disciplinary

Diversified Management, Inc. and its employees have not been involved in legal or disciplinary events related to past or present investment clients.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Financial Industry Activities

Diversified Management, Inc. is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) as a registered investment adviser. Our firm is not a securities broker-dealer.

Additional Registrations

Diversified Management, Inc. is not registered as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator or commodity trading advisor.

Affiliations

Diversified Management, Inc. is an employee owned company. Our firm does not have affiliations or outside arrangements that are material to our business.

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

Our firms' status as a fiduciary and SEC registered investment adviser requires all personnel to strictly adhere to its compliance program. As part of the compliance program, our Code of Ethics addresses the areas of ethics, confidentiality, trading in client accounts and trading in personal accounts. We will provide a copy of the Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

Diversified Management, Inc. and its employees must put client's interests ahead of our own. Our Code of Ethics has been designed to avoid situations that give rise to actual or potential conflicts of interest.

For example, Diversified Management, Inc. personnel shall not borrow money or securities from, or lend money or securities to clients. Diversified Management, Inc. personnel does not recommend securities in which we have material financial interests. In addition, we require all Diversified Management, Inc. personnel to obtain pre-approval for participation in Initial Public Offerings (IPOs) and Limited or Private Offerings. The criteria for granting pre-approval will include, among other factors, whether the investment opportunity should be reserved for clients.

On one occasion, Mark J. Homan invested in a new municipal bond offering simultaneously with other clients. Mr. Homan's transaction involved the purchase of a City of Milwaukee Redevelopment bond (North End Phase II) and a Village of Shorewood Community Development bond (Kenmore Place). The investments represent approximately 2% of the total bond offerings. This was discussed with each participating client prior to their commitment. No compensation of any kind was paid to Mr. Homan or Diversified Management, Inc.

Personal Trading

Every quarter, the Chief Compliance Officer of Diversified Management, Inc. reviews all trades executed by the firm's personnel. In order to help assure compliance with this policy, any brokerage activity conducted by Diversified Management, Inc. personnel must be in accounts at Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. and, therefore, visible for internal review by Diversified Management, Inc.

There are several layers of review when associates make a personal trade. For example, no personal trades may be entered without the approval of two authorized personnel. In addition, Diversified Management, Inc. has a Restricted List that prohibits associates from entering into any form of transaction concerning the securities or derivative securities of certain companies. The Restricted List is maintained due to our client relationships with executives and insiders at publicly-traded companies.

All employee trades are small mutual fund, stock or bond trades and these types of trades do not affect the securities markets. Nonetheless, our personal trading policies are meant to ensure the treatment of our clients is ahead of our own.

Brokerage Practices

Selecting Brokerage Firms

Diversified Management, Inc. offers its clients total objectivity without bias toward any financial product. We are a fee-based investment advisor and do not receive commissions from investments bought or sold for clients. As a result, our main investment strategies focus on recommending no-load mutual funds to our clients. The mutual funds are priced daily according to the net asset value (“NAV”). Stocks and bonds are also traded in client accounts on occasion.

Diversified Management, Inc. uses the services of Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (“Schwab”). We do not maintain custody of assets on which we advise, although we may be deemed to have custody of assets if clients give us authority to withdraw assets from their account (see Item 15 – Custody, below). Client assets must be maintained in an account at a “qualified custodian,” generally a broker-dealer or bank. We request that our clients use Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (Schwab), a FINRA registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, as the qualified custodian. Diversified Management, Inc. is independently owned and operated and is not affiliated with Schwab. Schwab will hold client assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities under our instruction, subject to client authorization. While we request that clients use Schwab as custodian/broker, clients decide whether to do so and will open an account with Schwab by entering into an account agreement directly with them. We do not open accounts for our clients, although we may assist clients in doing so. Even though client accounts are maintained at Schwab, we can still use other brokers to execute trades for client accounts as described below (see “Client Brokerage and Custody Costs”).

How We Select Brokers/Custodians

We seek to use a custodian/broker who will hold client assets and execute transactions on terms that are, overall, most advantageous when compared to other available providers and their services. We consider a wide range of factors, including, among others:

- Combination of transaction execution services and asset custody services (generally without a separate fee for custody)
- Capability to execute, clear, and settle trades (buy and sell securities for client accounts)
- Capability to facilitate transfers and payments to and from accounts (wire transfers, check requests, bill payment, etc.)
- Breadth of available investment products (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds [ETFs], etc.)
- Availability of investment research and tools that assist us in making investment decisions
- Quality of services
- Competitiveness of the price of those services (commission rates, margin interest rates, other fees, etc.) and willingness to negotiate the prices
- Reputation, financial strength, and stability
- Prior service to us and our other clients

- Availability of other products and services that benefit us, as discussed below (see “Products and Services Available to Us From Schwab”)

Client Brokerage and Custody Costs

For our clients’ accounts that Schwab maintains, Schwab generally does not charge the clients separately for custody services but is compensated by charging commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that settle into the client’s Schwab account. Schwab’s commission rates applicable to our client accounts were negotiated as a condition of our use of their services. This commitment benefits our clients because the overall commission rates clients pay are lower than they would be otherwise. In addition to commissions, Schwab charges client accounts a flat dollar amount as a “prime broker” or “trade away” fee for each trade that we have executed by a different broker-dealer but where the securities bought or the funds from the securities sold are deposited (settled) into the client’s Schwab account. These fees are in addition to the commissions or other compensation clients pay the executing broker-dealer. Because of this, in order to minimize trading costs, we have Schwab execute most trades for client accounts. We have determined that having Schwab execute trades is consistent with our duty to seek “best execution” of client trades. Best execution means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above (see “How We Select Brokers/Custodians”).

For clients that decide to establish or maintain accounts outside of Schwab, Diversified Management, Inc. will obtain written approval of clients wherein we are provided authority to enter transactions on behalf of clients. However, we may be unable to achieve most favorable execution on transactions executed in the non-Schwab accounts. As a result, the client may pay higher brokerage commissions and/or receive less favorable prices on trade executions.

Products and Services Available to Us From Schwab

Schwab Advisor Services™ (formerly called Schwab Institutional®) is Schwab’s business serving independent investment advisory firms like us. They provide us and our clients with access to its institutional brokerage—trading, custody, reporting, and related services—many of which are not typically available to Schwab retail customers. Schwab also makes available various support services. Some of those services help us manage or administer our clients’ accounts, while others help us manage and grow our business. Schwab’s support services generally are available on an unsolicited basis (we don’t have to request them) and at no charge to us as long as our clients collectively maintain a total of at least $10 million of their assets in accounts at Schwab. If our clients collectively have less than $10 million in assets at Schwab, Schwab may charge us quarterly service fees of $1,200. Following is a more detailed description of Schwab’s support services:

Services That Benefit Our Clients. Schwab’s institutional brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of client assets. The investment products available through Schwab include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients. Schwab's services described in this paragraph generally benefit clients and their accounts.

Services That May Not Directly Benefit Our Clients. Schwab also makes available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit clients or client accounts. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients' accounts. They include investment research, both Schwab's own and that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or a substantial number of our clients' accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab. In addition to investment research, Schwab also makes available software and other technology that:

- Provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements)
- Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts
- Provide pricing and other market data
- Facilitate payment of our fees from our clients' accounts
- Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting

Services That Generally Benefit Only Diversified Management, Inc. Schwab also offers other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. These services include:

- Educational conferences and events
- Consulting on technology, compliance, legal, and business needs
- Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession
- Access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, and insurance providers

Schwab may provide some of these services itself. In other cases, it will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to us. Schwab may also discount or waive its fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party's fees. Schwab may also provide us with other benefits, such as occasional business entertainment of our personnel.

Our Interest in Schwab's Services

The availability of these services from Schwab benefits us because we do not have to produce or purchase them. We don't have to pay for Schwab's services so long as our clients collectively keep a total of at least $10 million of their assets in accounts at Schwab. Beyond that, these services are not contingent upon us committing any specific amount of business to Schwab in trading commissions or assets in custody. The $10 million minimum may give us an incentive to request that clients maintain their accounts with Schwab, based on our interest in receiving Schwab's services that benefit our business rather than based on client interests in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of client transactions. This is a potential conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of Schwab as custodian and broker is in the best interests of our clients. Our selection is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of Schwab's services (see "How We Select Brokers/Custodians”) and not Schwab’s services that benefit only us. We have approximately $607,000,000 in client assets under management, and we do not believe that requiring our clients to collectively maintain at least $10 million of those assets at Schwab in order to avoid paying Schwab quarterly service fees presents a material conflict of interest.

Order Aggregation

The majority of trades we execute are for mutual funds. Therefore, trade aggregation does not provide a benefit for our clients.

Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

Diversified Management, Inc. typically initiates client reviews on a quarterly or semi-annual basis. Reviews are performed by advisors specifically assigned to the client account. Reviewers include Mark J. Homan (President), Michael P. Schmidt (Chief Compliance Officer), Michael P. Egan (Chief Investment Officer), Jason R. Miller (Vice President), Chad A. Thistle (Tax Compliance Manager), and Garren L. Agle (Technology Manager).

Review Triggers

The frequency of reviews depends on the complexity of and/or arrangement with the client. Reviews include a determination of tax or financial planning steps taken since the last review, and an examination of current client needs in the areas of cash flow, investments, taxes, insurance and retirement planning. Reviews also include a summarization of steps to be taken prospectively to implement new or existing client financial objectives.

Regular Reports

Clients engaging Diversified Management, Inc. for investment advisory services receive, at a minimum, a written quarterly analysis summarizing the value and performance of the investments under the supervision of Diversified Management, Inc. Clients engaging Diversified Management, Inc. for financial planning services may also receive various written reports of net financial worth, income tax projections, tax return preparation, cash flow projections, asset allocation and/or other analytical reports whenever they are deemed needed by us or the client.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Economic Benefit

We receive an economic benefit from Schwab in the form of the support products and services it makes available to us and other independent investment advisors whose clients maintain their accounts at Schwab. These products and services, how they benefit us, and the related conflicts of interest are described above (see Item 12 – Brokerage Practices). The availability to us of Schwab’s products and services is not based on us giving particular investment advice, such as buying particular securities for our clients.

Client Referrals

Diversified Management, Inc. maintains the acquaintance of many providers of various professional services. Those relationships include but are not limited to attorneys, accountants, bankers, brokers, insurance agents, investment managers and appraisers. We will gladly receive a gratuitous client referral from any other professional and may similarly provide referrals to those same professionals when a client of ours desires legal, accounting, banking, brokerage, insurance, investment management and/or appraisal services. The only compensatory arrangement we have for referral business from outside parties is with GS Advisors LLC, as covered below under the heading “Other Compensation”.

In addition, Diversified Management, Inc. has a new business initiative (known as the New Business Bonus Agreement) for its employees. We pay our employees a percentage of fees earned by our firm for qualified new clients. We will provide a copy of our New Business Bonus Agreement to any client or prospective client upon request.

Other Compensation

Diversified Management, Inc. has entered into a Solicitation Agreement (the Agreement) with GS Advisors, LLC (GS Advisors). GS Advisors is the investment advisory affiliate of Goossen & Schulz CPAs, S.C., a public accounting firm. The Agreement is a non-exclusive arrangement whereby Diversified Management, Inc. has agreed to pay GS Advisors a percentage of fees earned by Diversified Management, Inc. for service to clients introduced by GS Advisors. The percentage of fees paid to GS Advisors depends on the average value of the investments managed for those clients by Diversified Management, Inc. during the preceding calendar quarter. Each client is provided with a written disclosure statement concerning this relationship before they sign an investment advisory agreement with Diversified Management, Inc.

Custody

Account Statements

Under government regulations, we are deemed to have custody of client assets if, for example, clients authorize us to instruct Schwab to deduct our advisory fees directly from the client account or if clients grant us authority to move money to another client’s account. Schwab maintains actual custody of client assets. Clients receive account statements directly from Schwab at least quarterly. Account statements are sent to client's email or postal mailing address provided to Schwab. Clients should carefully review those statements promptly upon receipt. We also urge clients to compare Schwab's account statements to the periodic portfolio reports received from us.

All other assets are held at qualified custodians, which means the custodians provide account statements directly to clients at their address of record at least quarterly.

Investment Discretion

Discretionary Authority for Trading

Our clients have provided us with limited power of attorney to make trades in their investment accounts, mainly held with Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. We obtain approval from clients to enter trades and implement decisions reached by the clients in connection with their investment objectives and strategy. This service is for the convenience of the client and Diversified Management, Inc. in order to limit the necessity of conference calls with brokers or mutual fund management companies. All investment decisions are made with the input and approval of the client prior to implementation, unless the client specifically asks us to assume complete discretion in connection with the management of the investment account.

Limited Power of Attorney

A limited power of attorney is a trading authorization for this purpose. The limited power of attorney is incorporated in the new account application that clients sign in order that we may execute the trades approved by clients.

Voting Client Securities

Proxy Votes

Unless the client designates otherwise, Diversified Management, Inc. votes proxies for securities over which it maintains discretionary authority consistent with its proxy voting policy.

Proxies are reviewed for any potential conflicts of interest. Examples of conflicts of interest include whether Diversified Management, Inc.: a) personnel have business or personal relationships with participants in proxy contests, corporate directors, or candidates for directorship; b) has an investment advisory relationship with executives benefiting from executive compensation plans on the proxy; c) we provide advisory services to a company whose management is soliciting proxies; d) has any other situation that could be construed as a conflict of interest by disinterested third parties. If a conflict of interest is present, we contact the affected client(s) and explain the circumstances. If no conflict of interest exists, Diversified Management, Inc. considers voting with the recommendations of the board of directors.

A copy of our proxy voting policy is available upon request. If a conflict of interest exists, it will be disclosed to the Client. Clients are provided information on how their shares were voted upon request.
