Item 4 Advisory Business

Gary E. Miller, doing business as Trusted Financial Advisors ("APPLICANT", "Trusted Financial") Is a fee-only investment Advisory firm. Services provided include financial planning, goal setting, investment portfolio design and implementation. The firm was first registered with the state of California as an investment advisor in 2002.

Financial Planning services may be engaged at three levels:

1. Preparation of a comprehensive Financial Plan
2. Analysis and recommendation for specific aspects of the client's financial affairs as requested by the client.
3. Preparation of an Investment Plan

Clients are encouraged to engage Trusted Financial Advisors to prepare a comprehensive financial plan. It is the Applicant's opinion that comprehensive information gathering, projections and analysis of multiple aspects of the client's financial life will improve the likelihood of future success in achieving client goals. Recognizing that some clients prefer advice in specific areas of their finances, less comprehensive engagements are available as indicated above. Generally, the product of a financial planning engagement will be presented in writing and given to the client for implementation at client's discretion.

The Client is under no obligation to act on the financial planning recommendations. If Client elects to act on any of the financial planning or investment recommendations provided, Client is under no obligation to further utilize the services of Trusted Financial Advisors or its Principal or Representatives.

Day- to- day management of investment portfolios is also provided by Trusted Financial Advisors. Specific purchase and sale decisions and timing thereof is left to the discretion of TRUSTED FINANCIAL ADVISORS through the granting of limited discretionary authority at the brokerage firm chosen by the client.

Trusted Financial may engage the services of unaffiliated third party Registered Investment Advisers ("Sub Advisers") when such Sub Adviser is believed to provide a unique investment capability that complements the overall strategy developed by APPLICANT. In most cases this Sub Adviser will be working under contract to an investment company, but may also be engaged directly to manage discrete accounts for clients of the applicant. In both cases an investment management fee is incurred by the client in addition to the fees charged by APPLICANT. Clients who engage the services of Trusted Financial for portfolio management retain ultimate control over the disposition of their investments, which are domiciled with a Custodian other than Trusted Financial. Clients may limit the classes of investments chose for them by Trusted Financial. For example, a client may not wish to own shares of a specific company or bonds with a credit rating below a certain level. We seek to honor these requests to the best of our ability, and client always retains the ability to countermand any specific order placed for her account, by contacting the Custodian for her account directly.

An Investment Alert Service may be offered to those for whom minimum fees would, as a percentage of investment assets, exceed the percentages charged for Discretionary and Non-discretionary investment management. With this approach, APPLICANT simply alerts clients, usually by E-mail when buying or selling securities, and provide ancillary financial Advisory service. Fees for this service are may not be based upon assets under management and are normally billed quarterly.

Applicant does not receive commissions from the sale of insurance, real estate or securities. Our income is derived solely from providing service in the area of investment management and financial planning under written fee-for-service contracts.

In 2011 our income derived primarily from investment advisory contracts (approximately 99%). The balance was derived from financial planning contracts.

Assets managed on a discretionary basis as of March 31, 2012 amounted to $60,906,351. Assets guided on a non-discretionary basis amounted to $3,723,462.

Advice is based on two investment styles, chosen by client: Balanced/Value and Aggressive.

In compliance with California Corporations Department Regulation 260.235.2, Applicant hereby states that there are no material conflicts of interest between Advisor and clients to be disclosed, because Advisor/Applicant is remunerated only by clients for advice and services rendered and not by any other party, such as an insurance company, real estate agent or promoter or securities issuer in the course of its activities as a registered investment advisor. The client is under no obligation to act on the investment adviser's or associated person's recommendation and at all times retains power of attorney over any accounts managed by Advisor, and may therefore buy, sell, change quantities or reverse transactions entered by Advisor with Custodian on behalf of client.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

Trusted Financial Advisors earns income by charging clients for Advisory services, under written contracts. Trusted Financial Advisors and its affiliates have no commission based sources of income. We do not provide advice via subscription, publications or in any manner other than under written contract as referenced above.

Financial Planning Fees

Financial Planning fees are stated in our Financial Planning Agreement. We bill at the rate of $290.00 per hour. At the time of engaging Trusted Financial for financial planning, client is given a written estimate of fees for the work to be performed, usually stated as a range or possible fees. Normally one half of the quoted fee is due at the time APPLICANT is engaged to perform the work, with the balance due upon delivery. Most fees are refundable if client is not satisfied.

Investment Management Fees

Fees for discretionary Balanced style of investment management are charged quarterly in advance by TRUSTED FINANCIAL ADVISORS based on the value of client's assets subject to Advisory Agreement, are based on an annual percentage of assets under management and are prorated and charged at the following annual rates:

First $500,000 - 1.25%

Next $500,000 - .75%

Above $1,000,000 - .50%

While there is no stated minimum required account size, new accounts are charged a minimum fee of $1093.75 per quarter, which equates to 1.25% per annum of the first $350,000 under limited discretionary management. For Advisory fee billing purposes, separate accounts controlled by a single control group are aggregated to enable the client to qualify for fee discounts per the above schedule. In some circumstances fees may be negotiable.

Note: lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources.

Clients will be provided with a quarterly invoice showing the basis upon which fees were calculated, including adjustments for inflows and distributions to account since the previous billing cycle. Normally the Applicant is authorized by clients to deduct fees directly from one or more client accounts to cover billing applied to the household. Fees are billed one quarter in advance and are fully refundable on a prorated basis if the Advisory relationship is terminated prior to the end of the billing period. Clients are hereby notified that Custodian does not review these billing statements for accuracy and therefore Client is advised to carefully review each billing statement for accuracy.

Non-discretionary Balanced accounts are charged quarterly in advance by TRUSTED FINANCIAL ADVISORS based on the value of client's assets subject to Advisory agreement. Fees for non discretionary accounts are based on an annual percentage of assets under management, are pro rated and charged at the following annual rates:

First $500,000 - 1.50%

Next $500,000 - .75%

Above $1,000,000 - .50%

Fees for Aggressive Growth style of investment management are based on an annual percentage of gross assets under management and are prorated and charged at a rate of 2.50% of gross assets under management, with a minimum quarterly charge of $6.250.00. Use of leverage (borrowing against securities positions on "margin") may create a conflict of interest, in that Adviser's fees are based on gross value of account and therefore may be higher when margin is used. The Aggressive Growth style of investing contemplates using leverage.

Transaction Fees

Transactions for clients are normally placed with Broker-Dealers domiciled in the United States of America and subject to Federal and or State Regulation. Normally, a transaction fee or mark-up/mark-down is incurred when securities are purchase and when they are sold. Please see Item 12 of this document that discusses how our clients and APPLICANT interact with Broker Dealers.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

At this time, Trusted Financial Advisors does not charge fees based on performance, such as those tied to a targeted rate of account growth.

Item 7 Types of Clients

Trusted Financial Advisors provides financial planning and investment Advisory services to a wide variety of clients. Currently, the majority of our clients are personal households rather than institutions. Normally we will be asked to consider a family's entire financial holdings in rendering financial and investment advice. These holdings may include individual brokerage and banking accounts, trusts, retirement plans and insurance products that entail investments as part of their structure. We may also consider non-liquid investments such as real estate or collectibles (precious metals, art, rare gemstones) in analyzing a client's overall financial situation. Frequently, we work with tax deferred investment accounts such as Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA), Simplified Employee Pensions (SEP), retirement plans qualified under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 such as 401K, defined contribution and defined benefit plans. We also advise owners of section 529 Qualified Educational Savings plans.

We may also render financial and investment advice to trusts and incorporated entities and their stakeholders.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Applicant offers advice on the following types of investments:

- ❖ Exchange listed securities
- ❖ Securities Traded over-the-counter
- ❖ Securities of foreign issuers
- ❖ United States Government and Government Agency securities
- ❖ Corporate debt
- ❖ State, county, municipal and local district debt
- ❖ Certificates of Deposit
- ❖ Listed, exchange traded options
- ❖ Master limited partnerships, exchange listed
- ❖ Unlisted partnerships
- ❖ Real Estate Investment Trusts
- ❖ Mutual Fund shares

Other investments concepts may be brought to our attention, and if we feel we are capable of rendering an opinion, we may do so.

Our methods of analysis include examination of key financial reports by securities issuers, free cash flow analysis, balance sheet analysis, review of management qualifications and behavior, awareness of management's personal financial commitment to the business, management compensation and governance practices. We often use discounted cash flow analysis to arrive at an estimate of intrinsic business value, which informs our decision to buy, hold or sell an investment. Further, timing of purchases and sales is informed by so-called 'technical analyses. We look for clues from changes in volume of trading, movement of prices above or below levels that we believe to be indicative of institutional activity, and relative performance of a specific investment as compared with similar companies within its industry group. While our methodology is often referred to a "bottom up", we pay close attention to macro economic forces and secular trends affecting an industry within which a specific target investment operates.

Other sources of investment information include listening and or participation in company sponsored conference calls, conversations and or correspondence with officers of corporations and entities under investigation or their designees and attendance at annual or special corporate meetings. In addition, Applicant may attend industry conferences, and may speak with vendors and customers of companies under consideration.

3. There shall be no intentional actions taken that would favor the investment results of one client over another.
4. Investment and financial planning recommendations shall always be made in the best interests of clients, and not in the interest of any third party. A hallmark of our practice is to be completely trusted by our clients and to provide them the best advice of which we are capable.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Trusted Financial Advisors may recommend certain Broker Dealers to clients, such as those offering discounted commissions, but does not require that transactions be placed with any particular agent. Some mutual funds do not charge transaction fees or charge only when exiting the position. Normally Trusted Financial Advisors does not recommend investments that incur ongoing charges to client, such as those charged under SEC Code section 12(B)(1) or levied under state insurance guidelines. Further, we usually direct clients to entities that charge little or no fees for custodial services (such as IRA Custodial fees). Trusted Financial Advisors does not receive nor will it accept any fees or commissions, if offered by a broker dealer, mutual fund, insurance company or other entity. Further, no referral of clients has occurred nor is it considered as part of Trusted Financial's recommendation of a particular Broker Dealer for client use.

Clients at all times control the domicile of their investments. This may or may not be advantageous to client, since commissions, fees and transaction execution efficiency vary among Brokerages, banks and insurance companies, who may act as Custodians for client assets. Further, some Broker Dealers make it easier than others to access client information and enter transaction orders.

Broker Dealers that may be recommended by APPLICANT are selected based on criteria such as ease of communication and order entry, promptness of executions and/or access to certain over-the-counter securities such as bonds.

Securities regulatory authorities generally consider such supplementary informational services as being of financial benefit to investment Advisors such as Trusted Financial Advisors, as it is their view that we avoid costs that might otherwise be incurred to purchase research. Securities regulatory authorities wish for us to indicate in this document that we may be incented to choose one broker-dealer over another based on our interest in benefitting from their research or ancillary services rather than based upon what is best for our clients.

It is also possible that clients may be charged higher commissions or bid/asked spreads than might otherwise be the case if they use a Broker-Dealer that we recommend, and that we may recommend a particular Broker-Dealer because of benefits that accrue to APPLICANT. If we enjoy such benefits, such as research or free educational sessions, this information is utilized to benefit all clients, not just those whose accounts are domiciled with the particular Broker Dealer offering these benefits to Trusted Financial. Aggregation of orders is a typical practice of Trusted Financial Advisors. We may order purchase of new positions or sale of existing positions under one or more of our "master" accounts at a broker dealer, then after trade execution, allocate transactions to specific client sub accounts. We often aggregate trades to facilitate rapid execution, or in order to meet minimum purchase requirements that may be imposed by a broker dealer or mutual fund.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

Client portfolios are reviewed on a regular basis, security prices are monitored on a daily basis. At December 31, 2011, Gary E. Miller, Certified Financial Planner managed 149 accounts, representing approximately 65 client groups, in the "Balanced Value" style. Changes in portfolio holdings may be triggered by several factors including a changed macro economic outlook, an opportunity to exchange from a security that appears to be close to fully valued into one that is under valued; a change in management or management's direction for a publicly traded company, and technical indicators such as significant price changes accompanied by meaningful changes in volume. Purchases and sales in the Balanced-Value style may be based on the objective of lowering overall portfolio volatility.

Lawrence K. Johnson, CPA, is affiliated with Trusted Financial Advisors as a Representative and Portfolio Manager. At March 31, 2012, four (4) accounts representing two related client groups were managed by Mr. Johnson for Trusted Financial in the Aggressive Growth style for Clients with whom he has had a relationship as tax preparer and financial advisor as part of his tax practice, DBA "Lawrence K. Johnson & Company, Inc.", offices in Irvine, California. As a Representative of Trusted Financial Advisors, Mr. Johnson will limit his activities to those of solicitor of clients and Portfolio Manager. Purchase and sale decisions for the Aggressive Growth style of management may not necessarily take into account considerations of portfolio diversification or volatility.

Changing needs and objectives of each client, learned by regular communication with clients may trigger changes in portfolio composition.

TRUSTED FINANCIAL ADVISORS provides reports to discretionary accounts on a quarterly basis. A portfolio statement and position analysis report show positions held by asset class and includes details such as cash invested, current market value, the percentage of total client holdings represented by each individual holding and total return for each holding. A portfolio performance report shows total return net of all fees for the past quarter, year and longer time periods. Included is a billing statement showing how fees are calculated, and total fees to be charged to client. A client may receive an unscheduled report upon request.

Face-to-face meetings and/or electronic meetings with clients are encouraged. When possible, an annual meeting, open to all clients is held near the end of each year at which time Principal and Portfolio Manager Gary E. Miller reviews past performance, discusses the outlook for the future and answers questions from attendees. In addition, periodic updates are e mailed to clients and a blog is maintained at Applicant's web site.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

The Applicant does not solicit, nor does it accept monetary compensation from any source other than clients, who pay for financial planning and or investment advisory services under written contract. The Applicant does not receive consideration in the form of equipment or any non-educational related remuneration. As explained in answer to item #12, the Applicant may attend continuing educational forums provided by broker-dealers to whom business has been referred or from broker-dealers or investment sponsors who may hope for business to be referred by the Applicant.

Trusted Financial currently has a referral arrangement with Lawrence K. Johnson who serves as investment Applicant representative. Mr. Johnson is paid for managing three accounts that he has brought to the Applicant for investment management. His compensation is based on a fixed, stated percentage of investment advisory fees billed to the accounts he manages, on a quarterly basis.

Item 15 Custody

The Applicant does not maintain custody of customer funds or securities. Trusted Financial Advisors does not operate a broker dealer or banking operation, nor does it have any interest in any entity that provides custody services for clients of the firm.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Trusted Financial Advisors purchases and sells securities on a limited discretionary basis and determines quantities and timing of such purchases and sales, based on an understanding of client's objectives. When limited discretionary authority is granted to applicant by a client or clients, this authority will be used in client's best interest to select investments that will achieve client goals, as indicated in interviews and/or stated in writing. Specific investment limitations may be imposed by mutual consent with applicant, as long as these restrictions will not harm performance for the specific client requesting such restrictions. Ordinarily, Applicant will determine which securities are to be purchased and sold and the timing of purchases and sales.

Generally, a client will authorize discretionary trading by executing a document provided by his/her broker-dealer granting limited discretion to Trusted Financial. However, in some cases, despite having granted such limited discretion, the account may be substantially managed by client and not the Applicant. Gary E. Miller, DBA Trusted Financial Advisors, maintains a record of his composite performance for discretionary accounts. Where a client substantially manages her own account, the performance of the account is not included in any composite report of discretionary performance that may be produced by Applicant.

Aggressive Growth style portfolios are managed by Lawrence K. Johnson who has been a portfolio manager for Trusted Financial since February 16, 2010.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

Trusted Financial does not vote proxy filings for publicly traded companies on behalf of its clients unless specifically requested to do so by Client. In some cases, client may wish to retain the right to vote proxies. If proxy voting is engaged as part of the Advisory relationship, our policy is to vote for proposals that we feel are likely to enhance shareholder value. We generally favor greater control of Management by shareholders by opposing measures that make it difficult to change Management and supporting those that provide for shareholder Advisory vote on compensation practices. We generally support transparency by management in arriving at decisions. We also may oppose the election of Board members who appear to lack specialized knowledge of the industry in which a company operates, or whose primary qualification appears to be that they are family members or personal friends of current management or controlling shareholders.

We maintain a record of our proxy votes at our principal place of business.

Item 18 Financial Information

The Applicant does not require nor does it solicit prepayment of fees six or more months in advance, thus under Securities Exchange Commission rules for filing this form ADV part 2, no business financial information is provided.

The Applicant has no financial or contractual commitments that would impair its ability to meet its contractual commitments to clients.

Item 19 Requirements for State-Registered Advisers

At December 31, 2011, the Applicant was not registered with any state securities authorities.
