ITEM 4 ADVISORY BUSINESS

Ceredex Value Advisors LLC ("Ceredex") or ("the Firm"), is a 100% owned subsidiary of RidgeWorth Capital Management, Inc. ("RidgeWorth"), an investment adviser registered with the SEC and also a money management holding company. RidgeWorth is a majority owned subsidiary of SunTrust Banks, Inc. ("SunTrust"), a publicly traded financial services holding company. RidgeWorth also conducts business under the name RidgeWorth Investments (see www.ridgeworth.com).

RidgeWorth provides discretionary and non-discretionary advisory services to clients through a series of five wholly owned subsidiaries and one minority owned adviser, each of which is an investment adviser registered with the SEC (collectively, the "Boutiques"). Ceredex is one of these Boutiques, specializing in value-equity strategies which are available in three portfolios, large cap, mid-cap and small cap. Prior to March 31, 2008, Ceredex was a part of Trusco Capital Management, now called RidgeWorth Capital Management, Inc.

See "Investment Advisers" under Item 10 of this Brochure and Item 10 of Form ADV Part 2A of RidgeWorth and each other Boutique for a more detailed description of RidgeWorth and other Boutiques.

RidgeWorth offers two primary separately managed account products utilizing Ceredex:

- i. Single discipline managed accounts in Ceredex's style, where a client would hire RidgeWorth and RidgeWorth would delegate investment authority to Ceredex, and
- ii. Multi-discipline managed accounts where RidgeWorth allocates among various styles and delegates portions of the account's management to its different Boutiques, including Ceredex.

If a client elects to receive advisory or other services directly through RidgeWorth, RidgeWorth may establish an account for such client and depending on whether or not the client desires a single or multi-discipline investment focus, utilize Ceredex alone or Ceredex in combination with one or more of the relevant Boutique(s) to sub-advise RidgeWorth pursuant to written subadvisory agreements executed between the Boutiques (including Ceredex) and RidgeWorth in providing such services to such client.

Clients also may contract for such advisory services directly with Ceredex.

Ceredex provides directly and as sub-adviser to RidgeWorth, discretionary investment supervisory services to institutional clients, including investment companies ("Mutual Funds") registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended ("1940 Act") (including the RidgeWorth Funds) and Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities authorized under the European Directive "UCITS". Ceredex also provides these services, both under direct contract with a client and indirectly as subadviser under contracts with RidgeWorth or certain SunTrust affiliates, to pension and profit sharing plans, educational endowments and related funds, public and private foundations, governmental entities, other corporate entities, and high net worth clients. Ceredex serves as a non-discretionary investment subadviser to the RidgeWorth Collective Trust and receives fees for the non-discretionary sub investment advisory services it provides hereunder. Customized investment management services are based on certain client specific criteria such as organizational structure, risk assessment, liquidity and cash flow, income needs, tax consequences, other sources of funds to meet obligations, general economic conditions, social and other preferences relating to the account's investment guidelines. Clients can place reasonable restrictions on Ceredex's investment discretion. The most common restrictions are social restrictions or those that prohibit us from buying specific companies. Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to Ceredex in writing. Such restrictions may impact performance.

As of 12/31/2011, Ceredex had discretionary assets under management of $ 6.5 billion.

ITEM 5 FEES and COMPENSATION

Ceredex's fees are competitive and higher or lower fees may be available elsewhere for the same type of services. Ceredex charges most of its clients a fixed-percentage fee per annum for investment advice based on assets under management, payable quarterly in arrears. Assets under management include a client's uninvested cash position for which Ceredex does not provide investment advice. Fees may vary based on account type and client services requested. Determining factors include: number and frequency of reports and client meetings, individual security investments versus common or collective funds, mutual funds or private fund investments, investment guidelines and restrictions, and account size.

Ceredex reserves the right to negotiate all fees and annual minimums based on individual client considerations.

Initial fees are calculated based upon the number of days in the quarter the account came under management. Subsequent quarters are billed in full unless clients terminate the relationship prior to the end of the quarter, in which case the fee is prorated for the number of days prior to termination. Ceredex will invoice the client or the client's custodian directly as instructed by the client in the investment advisory agreement. A client may authorize their custodian to debit their account for the investment advisory fee and remit directly to Ceredex. It is important that you compare the client reports you receive directly from us to the statements you receive from your custodian. Ceredex's standard advisory contract is cancelable by either a client or Ceredex 30 days after receipt or delivery of written notice. Other termination conditions may be negotiated to accommodate special client requirements.

Ceredex's basic advisory fee schedules, subject to negotiation based on the above-described factors, are set forth below. If Ceredex is used by RidgeWorth to sub-advise RidgeWorth in providing advisory services to clients, such clients will not incur any increase in advisory or other fees as a result of any such subadvisory arrangement. RidgeWorth will share its fees with Ceredex when Ceredex is used to provide sub-advisory services to RidgeWorth. Fees for individual accounts, employee benefit relationships, tax-exempt institutional accounts such as charitable foundations, endowments, corporate accounts, and other institutional client accounts are primarily based on the market value of the assets under management in accordance with the following schedules:

ADVISORY FEE SCHEDULES

Large Cap Value	Mid-Cap Value	Small Cap Value
0.75% on the first $10 million	0.75% on the first $25 million	1.00% on the first $10 million
0.45% on the next $40 million	0.65% on the next $25 million	0.80% on the next $40 million
0.25 % on all over $50 million	0.55% on the next $50 million	0.60% on all over $50 million
	0.50 % on all over $100 million
Minimum Annual Fee $10,000	Minimum Annual Fee $15,000	Minimum Annual Fee $10,000

In addition to Ceredex's investment management fees, client's account pays trading costs. See Item 12 - Brokerage Practices. Ceredex does not custody client assets, thus client will contract separately with a qualified custodian and pay custody fees charged by their selected custodian.

Ceredex or Boutiques act as adviser or sub-adviser to one or more Mutual Funds or unregistered funds, including but not limited to LPs, LLCs, foreign funds, CLOs, etc. ("Private Funds", and together with Mutual Funds, "Funds") or manage accounts that invest in such Funds or third party Funds.

To the extent that client accounts are invested in mutual funds, these funds generally charge a management fee for their services as investment managers. This management fee, along with other charges, is included in the "expense ratio" of the fund. These fees are described in each fund's prospectus and are in addition to the fees you pay to Ceredex. However, when a Ceredex portfolio manager determines to invest assets of an individual discretionary client in a mutual fund for which it (or an affiliate) also acts as adviser and receives an investment advisory fee, generally the Firm will offset the mutual fund fee against the individual advisory fee.

Private Fund Fees vary by Private Fund and are described in each Private Fund's offering memorandum.

Some of our supervised persons accept compensation via an internal sales bonus for the sale of securities or other investment products, including asset-based sales charges from the sale of mutual funds, including affiliated funds which pay us an advisory fee.

This practice presents a conflict of interest and gives us and our supervised persons an incentive to recommend investment products based on the compensation received, rather than on a client's needs. We address conflicts that arise, including disclosing the conflicts to clients. The Firm's supervised persons do not typically talk with or promote products to individuals. Supervised persons talk with platform partners and advisors about potential investments and those firms' supervised persons have the responsibility of assessing the needs of the end client. The Firm's supervised persons do talk directly with institutional prospects and/or clients.

Clients have the option to purchase investment products that we recommend through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with us.

ITEM 6 PERFORMANCE BASED FEES and SIDE BY SIDE MANAGEMENT

In certain instances, Ceredex may be compensated for investment advisory services based on a share of the overall account performance of all or a portion of client assets (an "incentive fee"). The terms of any incentive fee are based upon a negotiated arrangement with the client. Ceredex anticipates that such client relationships and arrangements will also pay "base fees" calculated on the market value of the assets under management. Ceredex will enter into an incentive fee arrangement only at a client's request, and only if the client account qualifies for exclusion under Section 205 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended ("Advisers Act") and Advisers Act Rule 205(a)(1) or 205-3 relating to exemption from certain compensation prohibitions.

Ceredex does not currently have any clients with a performance based fee.

ITEM 7 TYPES OF CLIENTS

Ceredex serves as sub-adviser to certain investment portfolios of a family of Mutual Funds known as the RidgeWorth Funds pursuant to written sub-advisory agreements with RidgeWorth. Ceredex advises or sub-advises common or collective trust funds, including those designed for investment by SunTrust Bank Wealth and Investment Management clients. Ceredex also serves as sub-adviser to an Irish Collective Fund, Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities authorized under the European Directive ("UCIT"). In addition, Ceredex provides investment advisory services to institutional clients including pension and profit sharing plans, educational endowments and related funds, public and private foundations, governmental entities, and other corporate entities as well as high net worth clients.

Ceredex may contract directly with the client for these services or may act as subadviser, including under contracts with SunTrust affiliates who have the direct contract with the client.

Ceredex provides investment advice directly to certain clients and indirectly to numerous clients of SunTrust Bank through a master intercompany sub-advisory and service agreement between Ceredex and SunTrust Bank.

Ceredex's basic fee schedules for investment advisory services and supervisory services for institutional separately managed accounts are generally subject to a minimum annual fee of $10,000 and an initial asset base of $10 million or more. However, fees and minimum initial set base amounts may be subject to modifications and negotiations to accommodate special client requirements.

ITEM 8 METHODS of ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES and RISK of LOSS

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

Ceredex methods of analysis may include the following:

FUNDAMENTAL - Fundamental analysis is using real data to evaluate a security's value. For example, fundamental analysis can be performed on a bond's value by looking at economic factors, such as interest rates and the overall state of the economy, and information about the bond issuer, such as potential changes in credit ratings. For assessing stocks, this method uses revenues, earnings, future growth, return on equity, profit margins and other data to determine a company's underlying value and potential for future growth. In terms of stocks, fundamental analysis focuses on the financial statements of the company being evaluated. Fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating a security.

TECHNICAL - This form of value analysis focuses on patterns of volume and price fluctuations for a given stock as compared to the activity of the larger, general market indicators. Securities are evaluated for purchase or sale based on an analysis of market statistics such as volume and prices over time as seen on charts, etc. that are believed to establish relational patterns that can predict future movements in the markets. This relative comparison has little or no concern for any company's fundamental structure, production or worth. Technical analysis assumes that all the market factors are known to and considered by all the market's participants, although the market can act in irrational ways. Technical analysis purports to see repeatable patterns in similar market conditions, but any one of many factors may alter the outcome of an otherwise similar situation.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION

Sources of information used by Ceredex include financial newspapers and magazines; inspections of corporate activities; research materials prepared by others; corporate rating services; annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission; and company press releases. In addition to publicly available sources of information, Ceredex also uses internal research developed by its investment professionals.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

Ceredex uses quantitative screens to identify companies that pay dividends and are actively traded within the relevant market caps. The Firm believes dividends are a good indicator of management's confidence in the earnings potential of the company and that dividends can also provide an important source of total return and lower overall volatility. Ceredex evaluates the absolute and relative valuations of companies and performs in-depth fundamental analysis of financial statements. The valuation process looks at valuation relative to historical value, valuation versus peers, industry and markets and specific valuation metrics like price-to-book and price-to sales. Ceredex seeks stabilizing fundamentals and fundamental catalysts that could drive meaningful price appreciation in 12 to 24 months (Large Cap and Mid Cap) or 18 to 36 months (Small Cap).

In selecting investment for purchase and sale, Ceredex chooses companies that it believes are undervalued in the market relative to the industry sector and the company's own valuation history. Ceredex evaluates potential catalysts that may cause an upward re-rating of the stock's valuation. Additionally, the common stocks purchased generally pay dividends at the time of purchase or are expected to pay dividend soon after their purchase. In addition, to implement its investment strategy, Ceredex may buy or sell, to a limited extent, derivative instruments (such as futures, options and swaps) to use as a substitute for a purchase or sale of a position in the underlying assets and/or as part of a strategy designed to reduce exposure to other risks, such as market risk.

RISK OF LOSS

All investments carry the risk of loss and there is no guarantee that any investment strategy will meet its objective. For investments in any pooled vehicles, please also refer to the prospectus, offering memoranda or other governing document that provides a more detailed discussion of strategies and risks. Depending on the type of security, your account may face the following investment risks:

Equity Risk - Investments in equity securities generally involves a high degree of risk. Prices are volatile and market movements are difficult to predict. These price movements may result from factors affecting individual companies or industries. Price changes may be temporary or last for extended periods. In addition to, or in spite of, the impact of movements in the overall stock market, the value of investments may decline if the particular investments within the portfolio do not perform well in the market. Prices of growth stocks may be more sensitive to changes in current or expected earnings than prices of other stocks. Prices of stocks may fall or fail to appreciate regardless of movements in securities markets.

Market Risk - The success of client portfolio activities will be affected by general economic and market conditions, such as interest rates, availability of credit, inflation rates, commodity prices, economic uncertainty, changes in laws, trade barrier, currency fluctuations and controls, and national and international political circumstances. These factors may affect the level of volatility of securities prices and the liquidity of investments in client portfolios. Such volatility or illiquidity could impair profitability or result in losses.

Potential Concentration - Client portfolios may have highly concentrated positions in issuers engaged in one or a few industries. This increases the risk of loss relative to the market as a whole.

Large Company Risk- Large cap stocks can perform differently from other segments of the equity market or the equity market as a whole. Large capitalization companies may be less flexible in evolving markets or unable to implement change as quickly as smaller capitalization companies.

Smaller Company Risk- Small and mid-cap stocks tend to perform differently from other segments of the equity market or the equity market as a whole and can be more volatile than stocks of a larger company. Smaller companies may be newer or less established and may have limited resources, products and markets. They may be less liquid.

ADR Risk- If Ceredex invests in ADR's, it is subject to some of the same risks as direct investments in foreign companies. These include the risk that political and economic events unique to a country or region will affect those markets and their issuers.

Style Risk (Value) – A value investing style may be out of favor in the marketplace. The potential value of a security as perceived by Ceredex may never be realized by the market. Dividends reflect past performance and there is no guarantee they will continue to be paid.

Short Sales, Leverage and Derivatives - Short sales, leverage and derivatives all represent substantial risks given their inherent heightened risk of loss. Leverage and derivatives imply borrowing capital. When such borrowing is deployed, losses can escalate quickly should investments suffer even small losses. Short sales involve a finite opportunity for appreciation, but a theoretically unlimited risk of loss. Short positions are also subject to a "short squeeze" that could lead to accelerating losses for those that are short that particular security.

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs). While actively managed ETFs are growing in number, ETFs, like index funds, typically represent shares of ownership in funds, unit investment trusts, or depository receipts that hold set portfolios of securities which closely track the performance and dividend yield of specific indices (i.e. broad market indices, sector indices, international indices...etc.) without being actively managed. ETFs give investors the opportunity to buy or sell an entire portfolio of stocks in a single security. Unlike traditional mutual and index funds, ETFs typically issue and redeem shares only in large increments called "Creation Units" (e.g. a single Creation Unit may consist of 50,000 or 100,000 shares worth several million dollars). ETFs calculate their share's value ("NAV") once a day in the same fashion as traditional mutual and index funds. An ETF's shares can also be purchased and sold in much smaller increments and for cash in the secondary market. Because ETFs trade like stock (unlike traditional mutual and index funds), we can margin, utilize hedging strategies on, and sell short ETFs in addition to simply buying ETFs long. These transactions, however, are not made at the ETF's NAV, but rather are made at market prices which may vary throughout the day and may differ from the ETF's NAV. Like any listed security, ETF shares can generally be purchased and sold at any time a secondary market is open. Except when aggregated in Creation Units, shares of an ETF are not redeemable securities. Accordingly, there is no guarantee that ETF shares will trade at or near NAV. You may incur certain fees charged directly by an ETF when purchasing, holding, or selling Creation Units of an ETF ("Creation Unit Fees"). You may also be subject to an expense fee that is typically based upon a small percentage of an ETF's NAV accrued daily ("ETF Expense Fee"). If you purchase shares of an ETF in the secondary market, it will generally not be subject to Creation Unit Fees, but will be subject to ETF Expense Fees. As a result of Creation Unit Fees and ETF Expense Fees, you may bear an additional level of fees in addition to those fees charged by us if you invest and/or trade ETFs. Furthermore, brokerage commissions accumulated by the Fund in trading and/or investing in ETF shares may reduce profits, if any.

Extraordinary Events - Global terrorist activity and United States involvement in armed conflict may negatively affect general economic fortunes, including sales, profits, and production, and may lead to depressed securities prices and problems with trading facilities and infrastructure.

Market Liquidity Risks - The value of securities held in client accounts and that are traded on exchanges and the risks associated with holding these positions vary in response to events that affect asset markets in general. Market disruptions such as those that occurred in 1987, September 2001, and more recently the Flash Crash in May 2010 could lead to violent price swings in securities held within client portfolios and could result in substantial losses.

Increased Regulations - Events during the past several years and adverse financial results have focused attention upon the necessity to maintain adequate risk controls and compliance procedures. These events have led to increased governmental and self-regulatory authority scrutiny of the financial industry. Various national governments have also expressed concern regarding disruptive effects of speculative trading and the need to regulate the markets in general. Any regulations that restrict the ability to employ, or broker-dealers and counterparties to extend, credit or restrict trading activities could adversely impact profit potential.

ITEM 9 DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

Ceredex is required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary event that would be material to your evaluation of Ceredex or the integrity of Ceredex's management.

Ceredex and its employees have not been involved in any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to a client's evaluation of the company or its personnel.

Please find these relationships below and an explanation of how we address any we consider present material conflicts of interest. There are other affiliated entities that fall within these and other categories that Ceredex does not have any arrangements with that would be considered material.

1. Broker-Dealers

Ceredex is affiliated with SunTrust Robinson Humphrey, Inc. ("STRH"), and SunTrust Investment Services, Inc. ("STIS"). Both STRH and STIS are subsidiaries of SunTrust and are registered broker-dealers. STIS is also a registered investment adviser. As a general policy, Ceredex does not transact client transactions using these affiliated brokers. However, in rare instances and only to the extent permitted by applicable law, these affiliates may, as broker, agent, or principal effect securities transactions for Ceredex clients. Ceredex may purchase (trading only through an unaffiliated broker) for its advisory clients securities for which STRH participates in the underwriting as long as it is not a violation of client guidelines, ERISA, SEC regulations, or otherwise not acceptable. Transactions are reviewed by compliance personnel to verify that STRH does not benefit directly or indirectly from the transactions.

2. Investment Companies

Ceredex sub-advises certain investment portfolios of the RidgeWorth Funds, which are distributed by RidgeWorth Distributors LLC. In general, these payments are very similar to a sub-transfer agency or servicing fee or 12b-1 fees; however, rather than being paid directly from the fund, they are paid from the adviser's own corporate profits.

3. Investment Advisers

Ceredex is affiliated, and has business relationships, with the advisory side of STIS. STIS acts as a placement agent for a product of the Seix Boutique and receives placement agent fees related to this product. Ceredex is affiliated, and has business relationships, with GenSpring Family Offices, LLC. SunTrust owns GenSpring Holdings, Inc. (GSHI), which owns GenSpring Family Offices, LLC, (GenSpring), previously named Asset Management Advisors, LLC. Complete and accurate information about such Private Funds are available in the Form ADV for the related Boutiques. Ceredex clients may be solicited to invest in these Private Funds. Generally Private Funds managed by Boutiques are managed directly by the Boutique and not by RidgeWorth with delegation to a Boutique.

Ceredex is aware of, and has procedures to manage its fiduciary duties and any potential conflicts that may arise related to providing services through affiliates.

ITEM 11 CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION or INTEREST in CLIENT TRANSACTIONS and PERSONAL TRADING

CODE of ETHICS

Ceredex Value Advisors LLC's foremost responsibility is the protection of client assets. Ceredex's Code of Ethics sets forth the high ethical standards of business conduct that we require of our employees. All employees are expected to not only comply with the spirit and letter of all applicable laws, regulations and Firm imposed policies and procedures, but to also certify adherence to applicable regulations and policies. Training is conducted on a routine basis. Policies under the Code of Ethics include Code of Conduct, Personal Trading, Insider Trading, Conflicts of Interest, Political Contributions and Gifts and Entertainment. A copy of Ceredex's Code of Ethics is available to clients and prospective clients upon request by contacting 407-674-1270 or via U.S. mail by writing Ceredex Value Advisors LLC, 300 South Orange Avenue, Ste 1600, Orlando FL 32801.

As part of its high fiduciary standards, professional principles and conduct requirements, Ceredex must approve certain "outside" business activities, political contributions, personal trades and any other activity that may create a conflict or a perceived conflict of interest. Violations of the Code are addressed and resolved by the CCO and Management as quickly as possible. Sanctions for violations may include, but are not limited to personal trading restrictions, loss of compensation, fines, suspension, and termination.

Gifts and Entertainment-Gifts given or received must be nominal in value and reasonable in frequency, generally limited to $100 per year per client. Entertainment is permitted if it is not excessive in value or frequency and fosters business relationships with potential or existing outside parties.

Certain entertainment requires prior approval of the CCO and the CFO, such as sponsorship or event participation requests, tickets to special events, entertainment beyond one day, and participation in a seminar or conference. It is never permissible to give or receive season tickets to events, discretionary use of personal property, vacations or other excessive or lavish trips, golf membership dues, etc. Gifts and entertainment are reported on an ongoing basis and reviewed by a Compliance Analyst.

Insider Trading- Ceredex restricts sharing of information between Ceredex and other affiliates (the Corporate Banking division of SunTrust and the Mergers and Acquisition area of STRH) that may have material inside information on companies in which we would invest in for client accounts. This separation is referred to as a Chinese Wall and it is a physical as well as ethical barrier between different divisions of a financial (or other) institution to avoid conflict of interest. A Chinese Wall is said to exist, for example, between the corporate-advisory area and the investment adviser to separate those giving corporate advice on takeovers from those providing advisory services to clients. The "wall" is designed to prevent leaks of corporate inside information, which could influence investment decision making, and allow staff to take advantage of facts that are not yet known to the general public. No employee is allowed "over the wall". Our systems are separate and do not allow sharing of access to information. Compliance reviews personal trading activities for unusual activity, emails are reviewed by compliance personnel and the Firm requires disclosure of any personal relationships within the industry.

Political Contributions- All employees are subject to pre-approval and quarterly reporting of all political contributions. Ceredex's policy is to only allow aggregate contributions of up to $350 per election cycle to an elected official or candidate for whom the employee is entitled to vote; and aggregate contributions of up to $150 per election cycle to an elected official or candidate for whom the individual is not entitled to vote.

PARTICIPATION or INTEREST in CLIENT TRANSACTIONS

Ceredex and its affiliates may act as investment adviser or subadviser to numerous client accounts, including Funds. Ceredex and its affiliates may invest in securities it also recommends to clients and may give advice and take action with respect to any Funds or accounts it manages that may differ from action taken by Ceredex or its affiliates on behalf of other Funds or accounts. As these situations may represent a potential conflict of interest, Ceredex and its affiliates have adopted restrictive policies and procedures wherever deemed appropriate to seek to detect and mitigate or prevent potential conflicts of interest. Ceredex is not obligated to recommend, buy or sell, or to refrain from recommending, buying or selling any security that Ceredex, its affiliates or their respective Access Persons, as defined by the 1940 Act and Ceredex by the Advisers Act, may buy or sell for its or their own account or for the accounts of any other client. Ceredex is not obligated to refrain from investing in securities held by Funds or accounts that it manages except to the extent that such investments violate the Code of Ethics ("Code") adopted by Ceredex or the RidgeWorth Funds. From time to time, Ceredex, its officers, directors and employees may have interests in securities owned by or recommended to Ceredex's clients. This includes interests in Funds (including Limited Partnerships, LLC's, etc.), that may invest directly or indirectly, in securities of issuers which Ceredex or another Boutique or its affiliates may purchase. As these situations may represent a potential conflict of interest, Ceredex has adopted procedures relating to personal securities transactions and insider trading, that are reasonably designed to prevent actual conflicts of interest.

In addition, the existence of intercompany arrangements, business relationships and investment practices between Ceredex, its parent company and affiliates creates the potential for conflicts of interest.

Ceredex has adopted restrictive policies and procedures wherever deemed appropriate to seek to detect and mitigate or prevent potential conflicts of interest. Certain known conflicts and Ceredex's handling of such conflicts are disclosed below.

Restrictive policies and procedures for information protection, client account access, cross trading and trade allocations have been implemented. Information sharing restrictions and policies and procedures have been implemented to seek to protect client account information access.

Ceredex, directly or through RidgeWorth, may manage simultaneously parallel accounts in some cases with the same portfolio managers, with similar objectives, but with differing fees to RidgeWorth or Ceredex, in some cases performance based fees. RidgeWorth or Ceredex also may similarly manage simultaneously certain accounts which may hold short positions in a security for which other managed accounts are long. Ceredex's policy is to manage each account independently and fairly and recognizes and seeks to control the conflicts of interests inherent in such practices.

In general, Ceredex has a policy under which most investment advisory activities are generally autonomous from any investment or other securities activities of the SunTrust affiliated banks and companies. This investment philosophy is designed to prevent Ceredex's personnel from having knowledge of the business and investment activities carried on by those banks and companies for their own accounts, other than in a fiduciary capacity, and vice versa. To the extent that Ceredex advises or sub-advises client accounts for affiliates, Ceredex is responsible for and knowledgeable about such affiliates' client accounts, and certain affiliate personnel will receive information about Ceredex investment activity for the account. RidgeWorth trading and other personnel who provide administrative services to Ceredex under the Administration Agreement between Ceredex and RidgeWorth also will have information about Ceredex investments. Some Ceredex officers may also have officer titles at RidgeWorth or other Boutiques.

Ceredex may, from time to time, unknowingly recommend the purchase or sale of securities in which SunTrust, or another affiliate, has a position or interest or does business. Ceredex's many affiliates with multiple lines of business make this likely.

Although certain business relationships and investment practices do exist between Ceredex and its affiliated broker-dealers; restrictive policies and procedures have been established wherever deemed appropriate in order to seek to mitigate or avoid conflict of interest issues. STIS is a dual broker-dealer and investment adviser and STRH is a broker-dealer. One or more of these affiliates or other affiliates could from time to time, as broker or agent, effect securities transactions for clients who happen to be investment advisory clients of Ceredex. In addition, STIS and STRH act as agents in private placements of securities for various issuers and STRH engages in equity and fixed income underwritings through its SunTrust Robinson Humphrey, Inc. division. In accordance with applicable regulatory requirements, Ceredex may purchase on behalf of its clients securities offerings to which an affiliate serves as lead underwriter or co-manager of an underwriting syndicate or member of an underwriting syndicate, or the use of proceeds of which is to repay a SunTrust related loan.

From time to time, due to regulatory requirements applicable to the various types of accounts managed by Ceredex, Ceredex may be restricted in investing in certain securities for its clients, due to an affiliate's participation in an underwriting or other financial advisory role. Compliance with these regulatory requirements may affect potential returns. It is Ceredex's policy not to conduct trades using an affiliated broker, but on occasion, Ceredex may utilize affiliates to execute principal and agency transactions, but only in accordance with the requirements of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, the Investment Company Act of 1940, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA"), and related regulations as applicable, as well as client guidelines and restrictions.

For Fund clients, transactions with affiliated broker-dealers will be executed only pursuant to procedures adopted by the Board of Trustees of such investment companies under the Investment Company Act of 1940 Rules 17e-1 and 10f-3. Cross transactions for Fund clients are executed only in accordance with 1940 Act Rule 17a-7 procedures adopted by the Board. Under certain conditions, and upon specific client requests, purchases of a Fund portfolio may be executed through "in-kind" securities purchases in lieu of a cash purchase. Each client request and each security is individually evaluated to determine the feasibility and acceptability within Ceredex's and the Fund's policies and applicable regulations.

For ERISA clients, transactions with affiliated broker-dealers will be executed only as allowed in compliance with the Department of Labor's Prohibited Transaction Class Exemption 86-128. For accounts where Ceredex is delegated discretion pursuant to an intercompany agreement with SunTrust Bank, transactions with affiliated broker-dealers will be executed only as allowed in conformance with Section 23B of the Federal Reserve Act and other applicable laws or regulations.

SunTrust Banks, Inc. (Holding Company), SunTrust Bank, and Preferred Surety Corporation, each a Ceredex affiliate, own for their own proprietary accounts a significant number of shares of The Coca-Cola Company. As a result, Ceredex may have a conflict of interest in recommending or voting shares of this company, and has a policy of not recommending or voting such shares, or otherwise investing in securities issued by The Coca-Cola Company.

It is possible that Ceredex clients may invest with or otherwise have a financial interest in, or do material business with, one or more SunTrust affiliates. Unless directed by a client, Ceredex has a policy of not recommending, investing in, providing advice for or in any way attempting to influence separately managed account clients' investments in securities issued or guaranteed by SunTrust Bank or SunTrust Banks, Inc. or The Coca-Cola Company.

Ceredex has a policy of not purchasing or recommending the purchase of securities issued or guaranteed by companies, or subsidiaries of those companies, whose chairman of the board, chairman of the executive committee, chief executive officer, president, chief operating officer or chief financial officer are members of the Board of Directors of SunTrust Banks, Inc., or RidgeWorth and its controlled subsidiaries. Finally, Ceredex's policy states that it shall not purchase or recommend the purchase of securities issued or guaranteed by companies whose boards include a member of the RidgeWorth Board of Directors. Restricted security information is available upon request.

Certain Ceredex managed Funds and accounts whose investment mandates follow an established Index are exempt from the policy stated above due to Ceredex's obligation to follow the investment mandate or the index.

To the best of its abilities, Ceredex reviews and monitors each individual situation to ensure that all clients are adequately protected against conflicts of interest. With respect to voting proxies for any such companies, Ceredex follows the conflicts provisions described in its Proxy Voting policy designed to eliminate or minimize any such conflict. For more information, see Item 17. In the ordinary course of business, Ceredex may become aware of a SunTrust subsidiary's or affiliate's director who may sit on the board of an organization that may be a Ceredex client. Ceredex will review each situation if/when it becomes known, and take appropriate action as deemed prudent in order to avoid potential conflicts.

RidgeWorth serves as investment adviser to the RidgeWorth Funds, which offer investors a selection of fixed income and equity Funds. When appropriate, Ceredex or a SunTrust affiliate may recommend investment in these affiliated Funds. To the extent that a Ceredex client chooses to invest all or a portion of its account in an affiliated Fund, Ceredex typically does not charge an advisory fee, other than the Fund's embedded advisory fee, on assets invested in such Funds.

PERSONAL TRADING

In accordance with SEC Investment Advisers Act of 1940, specifically rule 204A-1, and the Investment Company Act of 1940, specifically, rule 17j-1(b) (1), Ceredex has adopted a strict Code of Ethics ("the Code") that addresses personal and professional conflicts of interest, prohibits certain types of personal securities transactions, and is designed to avoid perceived or actual conflicts and prevent front running and possible insider trading abuses. The Code also establishes reporting requirements and enforcement procedures.

The Code includes all employees of Ceredex and certain contractors ("Access Persons") who may be located at any Ceredex office and have access to Ceredex's files and information. Access Persons are:

- Required to immediately report any violation of the Code to the Chief Compliance Officer.
- Required to initially/quarterly/annually submit the appropriate information, material, and documentation regarding all personal trading.

- Required to direct each brokerage firm or bank at which such Access Person maintains a securities related account which the Access Person has direct or indirect beneficial interest in, to send duplicate copies of each person's confirmations and statement to the designated Firm Compliance Review Officer. In the case of accounts maintained at brokerage firms with electronic feeds, the confirmations and holdings information is sent electronically to the Firm's personal trading system
- Required in accordance with firm policies, to pre-clear and/or report personal transactions in their accounts. (Certain open/closed-end funds, cash/cash equivalent funds, indexes and government related securities may be exempt.)
- Prohibited from Market timing and late day trading as recently detailed by the SEC Prohibited from Short term trading. In general, all securities must be held for a period of 30 days or more.
- Restricted from trading certain securities during certain periods of time. These are referred to as "black out" periods and are designed as a means of protecting clients against employee front running and insider trading.
- May be restricted from specific styles of trading such as good-till-canceled orders, and may be restricted from specific types of investments such as IPOs and Private Placements.

The designated Compliance Review Officer reviews personal trading activity daily/quarterly/annually to determine if any individual violations occurred during that period.

Violations will be swiftly dealt with, and depending upon the seriousness of the infraction, Ceredex may impose one or more of the following:

- Verbal admonishment;
- Written acknowledgement from the Access Person that he/she has again reviewed, fully understands, and agrees to abide by all Firm Personal Trading Policy and Procedures;
- Written notice to the Access Person's personnel and compliance files and steps taken to ensure full compliance in the future;
- Fines and/or reversals of the transaction(s); (individual must accept all losses and any profits would go to a pre-determined Firm designated charitable organization.);
- Partial or full restriction on all personal trading;
- Suspension, termination of employment.

ITEM 12 BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Ceredex and the Boutiques generally have discretionary authority to determine, without obtaining specific client consent, the securities, the amounts thereof to be bought or sold and the broker used to conduct the trade. Ceredex may agree to accept and, once accepted, must adhere to client investment guidelines, but such guidelines may adversely affect the client's investment returns. At a client's request, Ceredex may provide non-discretionary investment management services. RidgeWorth is authorized under its Administration Agreement with Ceredex to place orders on behalf of the Ceredex for trades as instructed by Ceredex both for direct Ceredex accounts with client and RidgeWorth client accounts delegated to Ceredex.

SELECTION CRITERIA FOR BROKER/DEALERS

Ceredex's objective in selecting brokers and dealers and in effecting portfolio transactions is to seek to obtain the best combination of price and execution with respect to portfolio transactions in its clients' accounts. The best net price, giving effect to brokerage commissions, spreads and other costs, is normally an important factor in this decision, but a number of other judgmental factors are considered as they are deemed relevant.

Ceredex's Broker Dealer Selection Committee covers equity trading only, and is comprised of members from RidgeWorth and each equity Boutique who may hold non-salaried officer titles at RidgeWorth and one or more or all of the Boutiques. The Committee meets periodically, but no less than annually, to review and assess all current broker-dealer and agent relationships. In selecting among broker-dealers to execute a given transaction under Ceredex's discretionary authority, the Committee considers, among other things, the following:

- the broker's expertise and ability to execute the transactions at the most favorable net price of the security for the client;
- the ability of the broker to handle large blocks/thin markets and other special trading situations;
- the price of the security for the client;
- the competitiveness of the brokerage rates charged;
- the financial strength and stability of the brokerage firm; and
- the investment research services provided by the broker.

The Committee evaluates the reasonableness of the brokerage rates charged on each transaction using the criteria specified above and other input as deemed appropriate.

Under certain circumstances, Ceredex may, subject to best execution, trade on a "net" basis, without paying the broker / dealer any commission, commission equivalent or markup / markdown other than the "spread." Net trades are used where the broker / dealer profits from the "spread"; that is, the difference between the price paid (or received) by Ceredex and the price received (or paid) by the broker / dealer in its trades with other broker / dealers or other customers.

Loans and debt securities are generally purchased and sold directly between loan counterparties in dealer markets, and bonds are also generally purchased and sold in dealer markets. Therefore, best execution for such transactions usually means best price since there are no agency commissions.

The Firm, in recognizing its fiduciary duty to its clients will, whenever possible, reallocate erroneous trades into a proprietary trade-error account as soon as practical upon discovery of the trade. Clients will not be disadvantaged by a trade error resulting from actions of employees of the Firm.

COMMISSION RATES or EQUIVALENT POLICIES

Ceredex endeavors to be aware of current charges of eligible broker-dealers and to minimize the expense incurred for effecting portfolio transactions to the extent consistent with the interests and policies of its accounts. However, Ceredex will not select broker-dealers solely on the basis of "posted" commission rates nor always seek in advance competitive bidding for the most favorable commission rate applicable to any particular portfolio transaction. Although Ceredex generally seeks competitive commission rates, it will not necessarily pay the lowest commission or commission equivalent. Transactions may involve specialized services on the part of the broker-dealer involved resulting in higher commissions or their equivalents than would be the case with transactions requiring more routine services.

The reasonableness of commissions is based on the broker's ability to provide professional services, competitive commission rates, research, and other services which will help Ceredex in providing investment management services to clients. Ceredex may, therefore, use a broker who provides useful research and securities transaction services even though a lower commission may be charged by a broker who offers no research services and minimal securities transaction assistance.

TRADE AGGREGATION

As a fiduciary, Ceredex has a duty to obtain best price and best execution. Where securities are purchased on behalf of more than one client at the same time, the Firm must fulfill its duty to obtain best execution for all clients, and may not favor one client at the expense of the other. The trading desk will attempt (to the extent appropriate, permissible and/or feasible) to aggregate multiple orders for the purchase or sale of the same security placed at or around the same time to achieve best execution with respect to all transactions being effected on behalf of client accounts. This "block" trading process includes pro-rata allocations of trades across all accounts and clients to promote fairness. Employee trades are not blocked with Client trades as Ceredex employees must use an outside broker to conduct personal trades which are subject to black-out periods to prevent employees from trading in front of Ceredex for its Clients. Ceredex may include proprietary accounts in such aggregate trades subject to its duty of seeking best execution and its Code of Ethics.

RidgeWorth will (in accordance with the Services Agreement between Ceredex and RidgeWorth) in most cases, aggregate or "block" transactions on behalf of various Firm clients in order to facilitate best execution and possibly negotiate more favorable pricing and commission rates. To the extent that transactions are blocked, the Firm will allocate such transactions to all participating client accounts in a fair and equitable manner consistent with its trade allocation procedures, fiduciary obligations and each participating client's investment advisory agreement.

RidgeWorth follows the procedures below when executing like orders:

- Like orders sent at overlapping times from different portfolio managers but from the same Boutique will be combined and traded together, subject to any limits managers place on the orders.
- Like orders sent at overlapping times from different Boutiques will not be combined but will share executions on a one-for-one basis starting when the second order arrives, regardless of the size of either order. This is subject to any limits managers place on the orders.

Due to market conditions or a change in portfolio management decisions, a specific aggregated order may not be completely filled at one price or in total. At such times, the order will be average-priced so that all Boutiques and accounts receive a fair price and the transaction will be distributed among all accounts in a fair and equitable manner so that no account will be systematically disadvantaged by the allocation. In addition, dedicated investment disciplines and portfolios may receive all or a larger percentage of a partially filled transaction if the security is generally the primary investment vehicle for the portfolio or account.

Ceredex realizes such situations present inherent conflicts of interest and that certain Ceredex accounts and Boutiques may appear to be disadvantaged in specific instances. Ceredex, will however, at all times allocate trades on a basis believed to be fair and equitable. In addition, RidgeWorth will not disproportionately allocate trades in a manner inconsistent with the manager's ability to effectively and efficiently maintain or sell the position. (i.e., "odd lots" or less than standard incremental amounts.) The trader will, however, ensure that all accounts are treated fairly based on all distribution criteria (i.e., no Client or Fund will disproportionately receive rounded-up allocations).

DIRECTED BROKERAGE

Ceredex usually has discretion to select executing broker-dealers and to negotiate brokerage rates for securities transactions for clients' accounts. However, clients occasionally restrict Ceredex from using a particular broker or request that Ceredex use a specified broker or dealer to effect transactions in an account as compensation for services provided directly or indirectly by the broker to the client; or client elects to execute trades themselves.

Specifying or restricting broker-dealers or client's election to execute trades themselves may be inconsistent with obtaining best overall execution for a client transaction. Where a client directs or restricts the use of a particular broker-dealer, or broker-dealers, Ceredex may not be in a position where it can negotiate commission rates or spreads or obtain volume discounts and best price may not be achieved meaning that such restrictions may affect returns. In addition, clients who direct Ceredex to use a particular broker-dealer or restrict Ceredex from using a particular broker-dealer may be prevented from participating in allocations of certain limited availability securities and from obtaining a portion of the allocation of new offerings through any such broker-dealers who are members of the offering underwriting syndicate.

Upon written client direction, Ceredex may execute trades through specified broker-dealers, but only on the client's understanding that separating such transactions from block orders could materially and adversely affect the client's return. Trades from client directed brokerage arrangements are entered subsequent to Ceredex's conventional trading model and on a best efforts basis. To the extent that Ceredex would otherwise have included the client's transaction in a block order, directed orders are generally placed after block trades. There is a Boutique client who performs trading with respect to their own account and this trading is rotated on a regular schedule. Ceredex reserves the right not to use a directed broker-dealer if the Broker-Dealer Selection Committee deems it in the best interests of the client. Moreover, Ceredex is not obligated to execute any brokerage transactions through a directed broker-dealer which is not on its approved broker-dealer list.

The practice of directing brokerage commissions to particular broker-dealers in order to compensate them for selling fund shares is a practice the Firm believes poses significant conflicts of interest and may be harmful to the Firm, the RidgeWorth Funds and its shareholders. In addition, Rule 12b-1(h)(1) prohibits funds from compensating a broker-dealer for promoting or selling fund shares by directing brokerage transactions to that broker. The Firm, together with the RidgeWorth Funds, does not direct brokerage commissions to broker-dealers to compensate them for selling fund shares. This includes the practice of "stepping-out" trades to broker-dealers for selling fund shares.

"SOFT DOLLAR" or RESEARCH/EXECUTION POLICY

Ceredex's General Policy: When appropriate under its discretionary authority and when executing trades with discretionary authority, and consistent with its duty to seek best execution, Ceredex may pay a broker a brokerage commission in excess of that which another broker might have charged for effecting the same transaction, in recognition of superior brokerage services and only if it results in a more favorable net price for the security purchased or sold for the customer. Although Ceredex will, as described above, accept written client brokerage direction, Ceredex does not engage in "directed" brokerage relationships under which Ceredex compensates brokers in exchange for client or business referrals.

A statutory "safe harbor" allows an investment adviser to pay for research and brokerage services with commission dollars generated by client account transactions. Ceredex may direct transactions for client accounts to broker-dealers which provide RidgeWorth, Ceredex or Boutiques, with 28(e) eligible research and services. The commissions used to acquire research in these arrangements are known as "soft dollars."

The research provided can be either proprietary (created and provided by the broker-dealer, including tangible research products as well as access to analysts and traders) or third-party (created by a third party but provided by broker-dealer). Ceredex may use soft dollars to acquire either type of research.

Research services obtained by RidgeWorth, Ceredex and Boutiques directly or indirectly through brokers may include:

- analytical and other information pertaining to specific equity or fixed income securities;
- research information relating to overall investment strategy including macroeconomics forecasts and analyses;
- other statistical information including, but not limited to, computer and other electronically transmitted data, technical market data, and other services used in formulating investment decision or trading.

Ceredex obtains proprietary research using soft dollars. Proprietary research may include analyst reports, analyst models, analyst access, conferences and invitations to analyst events.

Ceredex will not enter into any agreement or understanding with any broker-dealer which would obligate Ceredex to direct a specific amount of brokerage transactions or commissions in return for such services. However, certain broker-dealers may state in advance the amount of brokerage commissions they require for certain services and the applicable cash equivalent.

The receipt of research in exchange for soft dollars benefits Ceredex and Boutiques by allowing Ceredex and Boutiques, at no cost to them, to supplement their own research and analysis activities, to receive the views and information of individuals and research staffs of other securities firms, and to gain access to persons having special expertise on certain companies, industries, areas of economy and market factors. Research obtained with soft dollars may or may not be utilized by RidgeWorth, Ceredex or Boutique or the specific account that generated the soft dollars. RidgeWorth, Ceredex and Boutiques may in their discretion but would not usually attempt to allocate the relative costs or benefits of research among client accounts or RidgeWorth and the Boutiques based on actual usage because they believe that, in the aggregate, the research they receive benefits clients and assists RidgeWorth, Ceredex and Boutiques in fulfilling their overall duty to their clients. However, when RidgeWorth, under its trading authority granted in the Administration Agreement, conducts soft dollar payments on behalf of Boutiques, that benefit RidgeWorth or any Boutique (including Ceredex) it generally will seek to allocate and adjust cost and benefits of soft dollars only among Boutiques (including Ceredex) that will utilize soft dollars trading, and among such Boutiques generally based on one or more formulas designed to estimate usage based on relative trading volume and size or other similar measures over time under normal market conditions. Under this approach there is the potential for one affiliate to subsidize another.

Not all Boutiques utilize soft dollars. RidgeWorth executes trades on behalf of Ceredex and the Boutiques (including but not limited to as sub-advisers to RidgeWorth), but does not generally engage in direct trades for its own direct clients. Accordingly, when RidgeWorth itself receives benefits from Ceredex or Boutique soft dollars, such benefits are generally utilized on behalf of and deemed to be received as agent for Ceredex or Boutiques and therefore related costs are allocated among Boutiques (including Ceredex but excluding RidgeWorth) as described immediately above. However, RidgeWorth may use proprietary research (generated by Boutiques but generally for accounts that are also RidgeWorth clients) in its capacity as adviser to the RidgeWorth Funds and certain separately managed accounts (which are sub-advised out to Boutiques) including Ceredex which benefits RidgeWorth in its advisory role for oversight of the Boutiques including Ceredex.

The determination and evaluation of the reasonableness of the brokerage commissions paid in connection with portfolio transactions are based primarily on the professional opinions of the persons responsible for the placement and review of such transactions. These opinions are formed on the basis of, among other things, the experience of these individuals in the securities industry and information available to them concerning the level of commissions being paid by other investors of comparable size and type. In determining whether a service or product qualifies as research or brokerage, Ceredex evaluates whether the service or product provides lawful and appropriate assistance to Ceredex or Boutique in carrying out its investment decision-making and execution responsibilities. Ceredex may select broker-dealers based on its assessment of their ability to provide quality executions and its belief that the research, information and other services provided by such broker-dealer may benefit client accounts. It is not possible to place a dollar value on the special executions or on the research services Ceredex or Boutique receives from dealers effecting transactions in portfolio securities. Accordingly, broker-dealers selected by Ceredex may be paid commissions for effecting portfolio transactions for client accounts in excess of amounts other broker-dealers would have charged for effecting similar transactions if Ceredex determines in good faith that such amounts are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and/or research services provided by those broker-dealers, viewed either in terms of a particular transaction or Ceredex's or Boutique overall duty to its discretionary accounts.

ITEM 13 REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

Portfolio Managers for each investment discipline determine the specific securities purchased or sold within a portfolio based on the investment discipline's philosophy and process, as well as the Client's investment policy guidelines. Portfolio managers are thoroughly familiar with the client's organization, philosophy, investment guidelines and objectives and continually evaluate all client relationships and verify portfolios are continuously serviced, monitored and supervised. The portfolio manager works with each client to make certain that the assets are invested in accordance with regulations and stated client and investment discipline guidelines.

RidgeWorth also provides investment oversight and analysis of Ceredex and other Boutiques activities. Ceredex is required to render regular reports to RidgeWorth for review and analysis of Ceredex's discharge of responsibilities, including performance attribution evaluation and analysis.

Specific client guidelines and restrictions are coded into the compliance guideline system (Bloomberg) upon account opening and periodically reviewed and updated as appropriate. The compliance guideline system is designed to screen individual transactions to prevent trade allocations to accounts that do not comply with specific client or Firm guidelines.

Ceredex's policy is to provide separately managed account clients of Ceredex quarterly reports listing current assets (as of the report date), which generally includes summary information of account activity since the previous report. Some clients request reports or meeting booklets that contain Portfolio Holdings, Portfolio Characteristics and Investment Performance. Other special reports are prepared when requested.

The frequency of reports depends upon the investment style and agreed upon timeframe of the client, however, Ceredex's general policy is to issue reports quarterly. You will receive statements from your custodian in addition to our reports. These reports will differ in presentation and type of information presented, but should be consistent in regards to assets, contributions and withdrawals.

Accounts are reviewed formally at least once a year at Ceredex to verify that account guidelines and objectives are being followed with regard to asset allocation, individual securities owned and other client specific factors. This review is performed by the Client Portfolio Manager or designee, reviewed by the Portfolio Manager with ultimate review by the Chief Investment Officer.

In addition, external events may trigger a non periodic account review or action by the Portfolio Manager. These include, but are not limited to:

- a change in the fundamentals or performance expectations of an security held in an account;
- a change in investment strategy;

- a change in the client's risk tolerance, income and cash needs, tax status, or any other changes in the client's profile;
- additions to or withdrawals from an account;
- a meeting with a client where their needs are reviewed and/or changed; or
- a material market or economic change

ITEM 14 CLIENT REFERRALS and OTHER COMPENSATION

Ceredex may, on occasion, enter into solicitation agreements with individuals, financial intermediaries or others who may or may not be affiliated with Ceredex. All solicitation agreements will comply with Firm Policy and Rule 206(4)-3 under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 and any other law as applicable. Ceredex currently has solicitation arrangements with RidgeWorth but currently does not have such arrangements with unaffiliated third parties. These solicitation arrangements, where applicable, require an affiliated solicitor to disclose such affiliation, and require a third party solicitor to provide each prospective client with a copy of adviser's Form ADV Part 2 and to disclose to the prospective client the nature of the arrangement between the solicitor and adviser. Payment to the solicitor by the adviser will not increase the general fees paid by the prospective client.

In compliance with applicable law, Ceredex or an affiliate may from time to time pay event attendance or participation or other fees, underwrite educational, charitable or industry events or provide gifts of value to, or at the request of, an organization or individual (including Ceredex affiliates) that, among other things: (i) offers or includes products or services of Ceredex or an affiliate in a particular program; (ii) permits Ceredex access to their financial advisors, brokers, employees, or other affiliated persons to provide training, marketing support, and educational presentations on products or services affiliated with Ceredex; and/or (iii) refers or has referred a client to Ceredex. Ceredex may obtain products and/or services from consulting firms separate and apart from any recommendations made to clients for Ceredex's investment services. Additionally, certain affiliated or third party institutions provide financial support on a voluntary basis for marketing, educational, and sales meetings of Ceredex or affiliates.

The amount of any such payments and those described below to or from Ceredex and affiliates may be substantial, may vary among recipients or payors, and may be higher for affiliates than third parties.

These payments pose conflicts of interest for the parties that receive them. A client should obtain from its intermediary any details of any such payments received by such intermediary from Ceredex or affiliates. This type of payment generally does not increase the product cost to clients.

SunTrust has adopted Incentive Plans pursuant to which officers and employees of the bank holding company and its subsidiaries may receive incentive compensation for referring investment management business to the subsidiaries of SunTrust Banks, Inc., including Ceredex. Clients referred to a SunTrust affiliate pursuant to these arrangements may become the indirect beneficiaries of investment advisory services provided by Ceredex to affiliate banks under Ceredex's contracts with affiliate. Ceredex may share with affiliates, or receive from affiliates or ex-affiliates, various internal credits or payments in connection with various service arrangements among such companies.

Currently, RidgeWorth maintains a "Fees for Services Program" ("FFSP") in which, from its bona fide profits, RidgeWorth may pay fees for services to service providers/accounts/plans (including affiliates) which are intended to compensate those service providers for administrative services they provide to their clients who are shareholders of the funds affiliated with Ceredex, as such arrangements reduce administrative expenses of such funds. Additionally, certain RidgeWorth Funds may also pay fees for services to intermediaries which are intended to compensate those service providers for administrative services they provide to fund shareholders. In certain scenarios, this arrangement may reduce the amount to be paid by RidgeWorth as compensation for administrative services under a FFSP. FFSP payments are to be used by the service providers to offset administrative expenses of the service providers for those accounts/plans. Please refer to the Fund's Statement of Additional Information for more information regarding these arrangements, including amounts and recipients.

RidgeWorth and/or its affiliates will make payments from their own capital resources or otherwise provide benefits to certain intermediaries (including affiliates) for marketing support services, or distribution activities including business planning assistance, educating dealer personnel about funds affiliated with RidgeWorth and shareholder financial planning needs, placement on the intermediary's preferred or recommended fund company list, and access to sales meetings, sales representatives and management representatives of the dealer. These payments are made to compensate such intermediaries for marketing expenses they incur or to pay for the opportunity to have them distribute products or services affiliated with Ceredex. These payments are made to intermediaries that are registered as holders of record or dealers of record for accounts in funds affiliated with Ceredex. These payments are generally based on one or more of the following factors: average net assets of the funds affiliated with Ceredex that are attributable to that intermediary, gross or net sales of such funds attributable to that intermediary, reimbursement of ticket charges (fees that an intermediary firm charges its representatives for effecting transactions in shares of such funds) or a negotiated lump sum payment for services rendered.

Ceredex and its affiliates compensate intermediaries differently depending upon, among other factors, the level and/or type of marketing support provided by the intermediary. These payments are made by RidgeWorth, Ceredex and/or affiliates and do not increase the amount paid by clients of funds affiliated with Ceredex. Such payments may pose conflicts of interest as they provide incentives for financial intermediaries to make the products and services affiliated with Ceredex available to their customers, and may allow Ceredex greater access to such financial intermediaries and their customers than would be the case if no payments were made. Clients may wish to consider whether such arrangements exist when evaluating any recommendation to purchase products or services affiliated with Ceredex. Clients may ask their intermediary about any payments received from RidgeWorth, Ceredex and its affiliates. The Adviser or Funds may do other business not aimed at or tied to generating fund sales business (like trade execution or consulting) with persons who may sell, or whose affiliates may sell, the Funds' shares.

Please also see Item 14 of each Boutique's Form ADV Part 2A.

ITEM 15 CUSTODY

Ceredex does not provide custodial services to its Clients. Clients select banks or registered broker-dealers that are "qualified custodians" to provide custody of Clients' assets. However, under the SEC's Custody Rule, Ceredex is deemed to have custody due to the fact that Ceredex can inform the custodian to remit investment advisory fees directly to Ceredex. In addition, SunTrust Bank, an affiliate of Ceredex, provides custodial services to certain Clients. Ceredex receives an independent Report on Controls Placed in Operation and Tests of Operating Effectiveness ("SAS 70") from SunTrust Bank which includes a review of custodial arrangements. Ceredex has determined that it qualifies for exemption from the requirement of a surprise audit because it meets the prongs of the tests required under the Custody Rule for determining that it is "Operationally Independent" from SunTrust Bank, an affiliated custodian.

You should receive quarterly custodial statements directly from your qualified custodian. We urge you to carefully review those statements and compare the custodial records to the reports we provide you. Comparing reports will allow you to determine whether account transactions, including advisory fees, are proper. The information in our reports may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates or valuation of methodologies of certain securities.

ITEM 16 INVESTMENT DISCRETION

Ceredex accepts discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship to manage assets in the client's account. In all cases, however, such discretion is exercised, observing investment limitations and restrictions that are outlined in each account's investment advisory agreement or investment policy guidelines. Client can place reasonable restrictions on Ceredex's investment discretion. The most common restrictions are social restrictions or those that prohibit us from buying specific companies. Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to Ceredex in writing. Such restrictions may impact performance.

For registered investment companies, Ceredex's authority to trade securities may also be limited by certain federal securities and tax laws.

See Item 4 for additional information about discretionary and non discretionary services.

ITEM 17 VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Ceredex will accept proxy voting responsibility at the request of a Client. Once Ceredex accepts proxy voting responsibility, generally the Client will be allowed to request to vote their proxies on a particular solicitation and Ceredex will (if operationally possible) attempt to comply with the request. Where Ceredex is responsible to vote proxies for a client, Ceredex has a Proxy Committee ("Proxy Committee") that includes personnel from RidgeWorth, Ceredex and each Boutique and is responsible for establishing policies and procedures designed to enable Ceredex to ethically and effectively discharge its fiduciary obligation to vote all applicable proxies on behalf of all discretionary client accounts and funds. Annually (or more often as needed), the Proxy Committee will review, reaffirm and/or amend guidelines, strategies and proxy policies for all domestic and international client accounts, funds and product lines.

Ceredex's policy is to vote all shares per the Ceredex proxy policy unless the client chooses a custom policy. In the case that a ballot item is not covered under the policy or is coded as case-by-case in the Firm's policy, a research analyst or portfolio manager will review the available information and along with his knowledge of the company, will make a vote recommendation to the Proxy Committee. The Proxy Committee members consider the information and recommendation and vote on that ballot item. As reflected in the Ceredex proxy policy, the Proxy Committee will affirmatively vote proxies for proposals that it interprets are deemed to be in the best economic interest of its clients as shareholders and beneficiaries to those actions.

Due to its diversified client base, numerous product lines, and affiliation with SunTrust Banks, Inc., and its subsidiaries, the Proxy Committee may determine a potential conflict exists in connection with a proxy vote based on the SEC guidelines. In such instances, the Proxy Committee will review the potential conflict to determine if it is material.

Examples of material conflicts of interest which may arise could include those where the shares to be voted involve:

1. Common stock of SunTrust Banks, Inc., The Coca-Cola Company, Inc., and/or other public corporate issuers with which either RidgeWorth or SunTrust Banks, Inc. or its affiliates, may have a similar significant on-going non-investment management associated relationship.
2. An issuer with a director, officer or employee who presently serves as an independent director on the board of RidgeWorth or SunTrust Banks, Inc. or any of its affiliates.
3. An issuer having substantial and numerous banking, investment, or other financial relationships with RidgeWorth, SunTrust Banks, Inc. or its affiliates.

4. A director or senior officer of RidgeWorth or SunTrust Banks, Inc. serving on the board of a publicly held company.
5. A direct common stock ownership position of five percent (5%) or greater held individually by the Firm, or in conjunction with RidgeWorth and SunTrust Banks, Inc. and/or its affiliates

Although the Firm utilizes a pre-determined proxy voting policy, occasions may arise in which a conflict of interest could be deemed to be material. In this case, the Proxy Committee will determine the most fair and reasonable procedure to be followed in order to properly address all conflict concerns. The Proxy Committee may employ one or more of the options listed below:

1. Retain an independent fiduciary to vote the shares.
2. Send the proxy material to the client (in the case of mutual funds, the funds' shareholders) so he or she may vote the proxies.

Although the Firm does its best to alleviate or diffuse known conflicts, there is no guarantee that all situations have been or will be mitigated through proxy policy incorporation.

After an extensive review of established service providers considering factors such as size, experience and technical capabilities, Ceredex contracted with Glass Lewis & Co., as its agent to provide certain administrative, clerical functional recordkeeping and support services related to the Firm's proxy voting processes/procedures, which include, but are not limited to:

1. The collection and coordination of proxy material from each custodian for each Ceredex client's account(s);
2. The facilitation of the mechanical act of proxy voting, reconciliation, and disclosure for each Ceredex client's accounts(s), in accordance with Ceredex's proxy policies and the Proxy Committee's direction; and
3. Required recordkeeping and voting record retention of all Ceredex proxy voting on behalf of Ceredex clients.
