On July 28, 2010, the United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") published "Amendments to Form ADV" which amends the Form ADV Part 2 disclosure document that Raymond James Financial Advisors, Inc. ("RJFSA") provides to clients as required by SEC Rules. Part 2 of Form ADV ("Part 2A Firm Brochure") sets forth the minimum requirements for the disclosure statement that investment advisers must deliver to their current and prospective advisory clients. This Part 2A Firm Brochure, dated April 20, 2012, has been prepared according to the SEC's new disclosure requirements.

This section describes the material changes to RJFSA's Part 2A Firm Brochure since its last amendment on April 2, 2012.

In lieu of providing clients with an updated brochure each year, we may provide RJFSA's existing advisory clients with a summary describing any material changes occurring since the last annual update of our Part 2A Firm Brochure. In such instances, we will make this delivery to existing clients within 120 days of the close of RJFSA's fiscal year. On March 29, 2012 Raymond James Financial Services (RJFS) agreed to resolve a FINRA matter involving its anti-money laundering program from January 2005 through July 2007.

Although FINRA's investigation was prompted by an illegal scheme that was conducted by a former RJFS client, none of the client's activities involved anyone associated with RJFS, including the client's financial advisor. Following its investigation, FINRA acknowledged the activities of the client in question were detected by the firm's monitoring systems, but alleges our investigation was inadequate.

RJFS has agreed, without admitting or denying FINRA's allegations, to resolve this matter by paying a $400,000 fine and certifying that its anti-money laundering procedures are adequate.

Individual Investment Advisory Consulting and Financial Planning:

We provide investment advisory consulting services involving an analysis of a particular investment, investment portfolio, or overall financial situation. We also provide financial planning and consulting services designed to meet your specific financial needs and objectives. The consulting services include a review of your current financial situation, with emphasis on income tax planning, estate tax planning, insurance planning, and education planning, retirement planning and capital needs planning. To the extent other services are needed, we will assist you in those areas. We may also help you coordinate the implementation of any recommendations made, including referral to other practicing professionals such as an attorney, accountant or insurance agent whose services may be required.

In preparing a financial plan we gather information deemed relevant to the particular service provided through personal interviews with you and through documents and/or Client profile questionnaires. Each service includes an analysis of your financial information, which may, but is not necessarily required to, include items such as: current assets, income, investments, liabilities, short and long-term capital and liquidity needs, risk tolerance and short and long-term financial goals and objectives.

Should you choose to implement the recommendations contained in your financial plan, we generally make recommendations with respect to products and services that we, or our affiliates, offer. However, the decision to implement any recommendation rests exclusively with you, and you have no obligation to implement any such recommendations through us or our affiliates.

In addition to providing individual financial planning and investment advisory consulting services to individuals and corporations, we also provide advice and consultation to Retirement Plan Sponsors and Pension Plans. Typical services rendered include, but are not necessarily limited to, development of an Investment Policy Statement, fund and investment recommendations, participant education, fund performance monitoring and guidance on ERISA fiduciary obligations.

Additional Services:

Research

The advisor from time to time may issue special reports, charts, graphs, etc., to you. We may also offer investment advice on general matters such as business value analysis, business succession and/or liquidations and in manners not described above. We may also recommend that you utilize certain asset allocation services. Fees for such services are disclosed in each agreement provided to you.

Seminars

Additionally, advice may be rendered regarding securities and/or financial planning through seminars. Such seminars may be used as an introduction to the financial planning process as noted above. Generally such seminars are offered for free, and may be sponsored by an investment or insurance company which does business with RJFSA, or an affiliate. On some occasions a fee may be charged. Any fees charged are fully disclosed and charged in advance of the seminar.

ITEM 5 FEES AND COMPENSATION

We may base our fees on a percentage of assets under management, hourly charges, fixed fees (not including subscription fees) or commissions. You may negotiate asset-based fee and/or commission rates with us, and such a decision is at the discretion of your IAR. Factors involved in this negotiation may include the nature and size of the overall relationship with your IAR, the level and type of advisory or other financial services being or expected to be provided, and Raymond James' or its affiliates' policy with respect to discounts. You understand that unless a lower rate has been negotiated, you should expect that Raymond James or its affiliate(s) will charge fees based upon the applicable standard fee schedule detailed below for each account program. While the asset-based fees are negotiable, the fee schedule's asset-level breakpoints and each applicable incremental fee rate may not be modified in any way.

Accounts in the Ambassador and Passport programs are not for day trading or other extreme trading activity, including excessive options trading or trading in mutual funds based on market timing. As such, pursuant to the respective program advisory agreement, we reserve the right to terminate, at our sole discretion, any client account in these programs.

Other Advisory Services:

Financial Planning and Consulting Services

Financial Planning and consulting fees are negotiable. Fees charged for these services will be dependent upon the anticipated time to provide the services and complexity of the plan and or your financial situation. The fees are determined in advance and disclosed to you at the time the Investment Advisory Consulting Agreement is executed. It is possible that you may pay more or less for similar services than another client in a different location.

The fees for financial planning and consulting services are payable as follows:

1 - Hourly rates for plan development or consultation typically range from $100 to $400 per hour. Hourly planning fees are calculated and due at the completion of the plan or services provided.

2 - Fixed fees for plans or consulting services typically range between $200 and $25,000 depending on the complexity and comprehensiveness of the plan or consulting services rendered.

3 - Percentage of assets can range from .15 to 1.75%. Billing as a percentage of assets is used for assets held outside of RJFSA, such as 401K accounts held directly with the plan sponsor or accounts held at other financial institutions.

Services rendered and the fees charged are disclosed in each Investment Advisory Consulting Agreement.

You may terminate the advisory relationship without penalty within five (5) days of entering into the advisory agreement. However, RJFSA may bill you for actual time and expenses incurred prior to termination.

It is important to note that we may provide investment product or securities recommendations as part of financial planning services or hourly consulting services. This will present a conflict to the extent that your IAR receives compensation from such recommendations. Also, compensation to your IAR and RJFSA may vary depending on the product or service your IAR recommends. Therefore, your IAR may have a financial incentive to recommend that financial plan or consulting advice be implemented using a particular product or service over another product or service.

You are under no obligation to purchase securities or services through RJFSA and your IAR nor are you obligated to implement a financial plan through RJFSA. If you decide to purchase certain investments through your IAR, who is acting in a non – advisory capacity, you should understand that RJFS and your IAR may receive compensation for those services, such as commissions and/or trail fees. You should discuss with your IAR how RJFS and your IAR will be compensated for any recommendations in the plan.

If you decide to implement the financial plan or consulting advice through an RJFSA advisory program or service, your IAR will provide you at the time of engagement with a Brochure, client agreement and other account paperwork that contain specific information about fees and compensation that your IAR and RJFSA will receive in connection with that program. The Brochures are also available at www.advisorinfo.sec.gov.

You should also understand that RJFSA and your IAR may perform advisory and/or brokerage services for various other clients. RJFSA and your IAR may give advice or take actions for those other clients that differ from the advice given to you. Also, the timing or nature of any action taken for your account may be different. You should note that similar advisory services may (or may not) be available from other registered investment advisors for similar or lower fees.

Other Compensation Considerations:

Investment of Cash Reserves

Raymond James has established a system in which cash reserves “sweep” daily to and from the client’s investment account to cover purchases or to allow excess cash balances to immediately begin earning interest, subject to certain minimum balances. The account in which these cash reserves are held is considered the client’s sweep account. Available sweep options include the Raymond James Bank Deposit Program (“RJBDP”), the Client Interest Program (“CIP”) sponsored by Raymond James, and a proprietary class of money market funds (the “Eagle Class - JP Morgan Money Market Funds”) of the JP Morgan Prime Money Market Fund and JP Morgan Tax Free Money Market Fund, managed by J.P. Morgan Investment Management, Inc. (“J.P. Morgan”) and offered by Eagle. Clients may select RJBDP, CIP, the Eagle Class - JP Morgan Money Market Funds, or any combination thereof.

With respect to cash reserves of advisory client accounts, the custodian of the account assets will determine where cash reserves are held. The custodian may offer one or multiple options to different account types (such as non-taxable and managed accounts). In addition, the custodian may, among other things, consider terms and conditions, risks and features, conflicts of interest, current interest rates, the manner by which future interest rates will be determined, and the nature and extent of insurance coverage (such as deposit protection from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (“FDIC”) and SIPC). The custodian may change an investment option at any time by providing the Client with thirty (30) days advance written notice of such change, modification or amendment.

Clients selecting the RJBDP option are responsible for monitoring the total amount of deposits held at each Bank in order to determine the extent of FDIC insurance coverage available. Raymond James is not responsible for any insured or uninsured portion of Client deposits at any of the Banks.

Raymond James Bank and the interest rate it offers may differ from the yield on the Eagle Class - JP Morgan Money Market Funds and CIP, but Raymond James Bank generally earns more than the interest it pays on such balances. The Eagle Class - JP Morgan Money Market Funds are offered by Eagle through an agreement with J.P. Morgan. Under the agreement, Eagle, Eagle Fund Services, Inc. and Eagle Fund Distributors, Inc. (together, the “Eagle Affiliates”), and Raymond James and its affiliate RJFS are compensated by the Eagle Class - JP Morgan Money Market Funds and J.P. Morgan for, among other things, distribution costs, shareholder record-keeping activities, and the coordination and administration of the funds. Raymond James generally earns a higher rate of interest on CIP balances than the interest rate it pays on such balances. The income earned by the Eagle Affiliates and Raymond James is in addition to the asset-based fees that Raymond James receives from these accounts.

Where an unaffiliated third party acts as custodian of account assets, the client and/or the custodian will determine where cash reserves are held.

Cash balances arising from the sale of securities, redemptions of debt securities, dividend and interest payments and funds received from customers are transferred automatically on a daily basis to the client's cash sweep account. When securities are sold, funds are deposited on the day after settlement date. Funds placed in a client's account by personal check usually will not be transferred to the sweep account until the second business day following the day that the deposit is credited to the client's investment account. Due to the foregoing practices, Raymond James may obtain federal funds prior to the date that deposits are credited to the client's investment account and thus may realize some benefit because of the delay in transferring such funds to their interest-bearing cash sweep account.

For further information, please refer to "The Raymond James Cash Sweep Programs" brochure, a copy of which is available from your financial advisor, or you may visit the Raymond James public website: http://www.raymondjames.com/cash_sweep.htm.

On occasion, there may be instances in which a financial advisor of Raymond James will establish a portfolio management or consultation relationship with a financial advisor of RJFS or RJFS Advisors, a registered broker/dealer and investment adviser, respectively, and corporate affiliates of Raymond James. The Raymond James financial advisor will also be a registered securities representative of Raymond James. The Raymond James financial advisor may act in a consulting role to the client, who has been referred by a financial advisor of RJFS or RJFS Advisors. However, the Raymond James financial advisor may act as the client's primary advisory representative and may refer the client to a financial advisor of RJFS or RJFS Advisors, who serves as their consultant. The client will be charged an advisory fee by the Raymond James or RJFS/RJFS Advisors financial advisor, which is shared with the affiliated financial advisor.

Administrative-Only Assets

Certain securities may be held in a Passport account and designated "Administrative-Only" assets. For example, your IAR may make an arrangement with you to hold a security that they did not recommend or you wish to hold for an extended period of time and do not wish for your IAR to sell for the foreseeable future. In such cases your IAR may elect to waive their advisory fee on this security, but allow it to be held in the non-managed advisory account. Alternatively, we may determine that certain securities may be held in an advisory account but are not eligible for your IAR to collect an advisory fee (such as for mutual funds purchased with a front-end sales charge through Raymond James within the last two years).

Such designated assets will not be assessed the standard advisory fee, but will be assessed an Administrative-Only fee according to the following incremental schedule:

First $1,000,000 in aggregate assets	0.09%
Aggregate assets over $1,000,000	0.05%

Administrative-Only assets may be designated as such by financial advisors not wanting to collect an advisory fee on certain assets or by Raymond James in conformance with internal policy. Administrative-Only fee rates are calculated on the aggregate Related Account assets.

Cash Rule Conflict

Participants in the Passport and IMPAC programs with cash or money market investments which exceed 20% of the total market value of your account at the time of billing will be included for fee purposes only if the account did not exceed 20% in cash or money market investments at the end of the previous quarter. Otherwise the balance in excess of 20% will not be included in the value of your account for fee purposes. If you participate in the IMPAC program and have one or more related accounts, the 20% threshold may be applied to the aggregate household cash value for fee purposes. If your accounts are aggregated for fee calculation, then the Cash Rule is also applied in aggregate. If your accounts are not aggregated for fee calculation, then the Cash Rule is not applied in aggregate. This fee billing provision is intended to equitably assess advisory fees to your assets for which an ongoing advisory service is being provided, and the exclusion of excess cash from the advisory fee is intended to benefit your holding substantial cash balances

(as a percentage of the total individual account value) for an extended period of time. However, this provision may pose a financial disincentive to your IAR, as the portion of cash or money market investments will not be included in the asset-based fee charged to the account. This may cause your IAR to reallocate an account from cash or money market investments to advisory fee eligible investments in order to avoid the application of this provision and therefore receive a fee on the full asset value in a client's account(s).

The aforementioned Cash Rule is applicable only to cash sweep balances and, therefore, non-sweep money market investments would not result in excess "cash" balances being excluded from the asset-based advisory fee calculation. As a result, non-sweep money market mutual fund investments are generally prohibited as an investment option in fee-based accounts. However, certain money market mutual funds may be approved as an investment option, but any such investments will only be assessed the standard Administrative-Only fee as long as those investments are held in a Passport account. No Administrative-Only fees are assessed to money market funds in an IMPAC account. Your IAR will receive no fee-based compensation on these investments, but may receive compensation in the form of a 12(b)-1 fee or trail. Please contact your IAR for additional information.

For non-IRA/ERISA Passport and IMPAC accounts, we may elect to absorb all or a portion of the Processing Fee. Certain open-end mutual funds which may be acquired by you, may, in addition to assessing management fees, internally assess a distribution fee pursuant to section 12(b)-1 of the Investment Company Act of 1940, or an administrative or service fee ("trail"). Such fees are included in the calculation of operating expenses of a mutual fund and are disclosed in the fund prospectus. If received by RJA on advisory fee-eligible mutual funds, these fees will be credited bi-monthly (as applicable) to your account to offset advisory fees incurred by you.

However, if your IAR elects to absorb the Processing Fees in non-IRA/ERISA accounts, they may also elect to receive trails paid by the fund company, if any, to defray the cost of the Processing Fees they absorb. If such an election is made, there may be a conflict of interest where your IAR may have an incentive to absorb all of the Processing Fees in consideration of the actual or anticipated trails they will receive.

You should understand that certificates of deposit (CDs) from Raymond James Bank may be purchased, with a commission, in the Passport or IMPAC programs. These CDs are considered non-billable assets for one year. Due to your IAR's affiliation with Raymond James Financial (NYSE-RJF) and Raymond James Bank, being a wholly owned subsidiary of Raymond James Financial, Inc. (NYSE-RJF), a potential conflict of interest may exist.

You should understand that the annual advisory fees charged in the Passport and IMPAC programs are in addition to the management fees and operating expenses charged by open-end, closed-end and exchange-traded funds. To the extent that you intend to hold fund shares for an extended period of time, it may be more economical for you to purchase fund shares outside of these programs. You may be able to purchase mutual funds directly from their respective fund families without incurring the Registrant's advisory fee. When purchasing directly from fund families, you may incur a front or back-end sales charge.

You should also understand that the shares of certain mutual funds offered in these programs may impose short-term trading charges (typically 1%-2% of the amount originally invested) for redemptions generally made within short periods of time. These short-term charges are imposed by the funds (and not RJFSA) to deter "market timers" who trade actively in fund shares. You should consider these short-term trading charges when selecting the program and/or mutual funds in which they invest. These charges, as well as operating expenses and management fees, may increase the overall cost to you by 1%-2% (or more), are available in each fund's prospectus.

You should also understand that certain no-load variable annuities may be offered in the Passport and IMPAC programs and may be charged an advisory fee. The annual advisory fees charged for these no-load variable annuities are in addition to the management fees and operating expenses charged by the insurance companies offering these products.

You should also understand that more sophisticated investment strategies such as short sells and margins may be offered in the Passport and IMPAC programs. Fees for advice and execution on these securities are based on the total asset value of the account. While a negative amount may show on your statement for the margined security as the result of a lower net market value, the amount of the fee is based on the absolute market value. This could create a conflict of interest where your IAR may have an incentive to encourage the use of margin to create a higher market value and therefore receive a higher fee. The use of margin may also result in interest charges in addition to all other fees and expenses associated with the security involved. In the cases where margin debit interest is charged to your account, your IAR may receive a portion of the interest charged as a Controlled Asset Fee, presenting a potential conflict of interest.

Your total cost of each of the services provided through these programs, if purchased separately, could be more or less than the costs of each respective program. Cost factors may include your ability to:

- 1) obtain the services provided within the programs separately with respect to the selection of mutual funds,
- 2) invest and rebalance the selected mutual funds without the payment of a sales charge, and
- 3) obtain performance reporting comparable to those provided within each program.

When making cost comparisons, you should be aware that the combination of multiple mutual fund investments, advisory services, custodial and brokerage services available through each program may not be available separately or may require multiple accounts, documentation and fees. If an account is actively traded or you otherwise may not qualify for reduced sales charges for fund purchases, the fees may be less expensive than separately paying the sales charges and advisory fees. If an account is not actively traded or you otherwise would qualify for reduced sales charges, the fees in these programs may be more expensive than if utilized separately.

Further information regarding fees assessed by a mutual fund, variable annuity or UIT is available in the appropriate prospectus, which you may request from your IAR.

The mutual funds and ETFs available in the programs often may be purchased directly. Therefore, you could avoid the second layer of fees by not using the investment advisory account and making your own decisions regarding the investment.

You should be aware that only those mutual fund companies which RJFS has a selling agreement with will be available for purchase within the Passport and IMPAC programs, and are generally limited to those fund companies that provide RJFS and its affiliates marketing service and support fees. As a result, not all mutual funds available to the investing public will be available for investment. However, RJFS has selling agreements with over 200 fund companies, offering over 9,000 separate mutual funds for potential investment.

If you are considering transferring mutual fund shares to or from Raymond James you should be aware that if the firm from or to which the shares are to be transferred does not have a selling agreement with the fund company, you must either redeem the shares (paying any applicable CDSC and potentially incurring a tax liability) or continue to maintain an investment account at the firm where the fund shares are currently being held. You should inquire as to the transferability, or "portability", of mutual fund shares prior to initiating such a transfer. The AMS Investment Committee may invest in funds or share classes not available outside of managed account programs such as the Freedom, Freedom UMA or Completion Portfolios programs. For example, a fund company may agree to allow the AMS Investment Committee to buy an institutional share class of a fund for Freedom program accounts, while restricting individual client-directed purchases of the same share class in non-managed retail accounts. Upon termination of their Freedom, Freedom UMA or Completion Portfolio account, you would generally be permitted to continue holding the institutional class of the fund, but will be unable to make additional investments. In addition, upon termination of an account holding SMA Fund shares purchased in a managed account through RJA, these shares will be redeemed immediately by RJA, as they may not be held outside of an SMA account. Please refer to the "Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss" section for additional information regarding SMA Funds.

Raymond James provides a variety of marketing and other sales support services to mutual fund companies related to their mutual funds. These services include, but are not limited to, providing detailed mutual fund information to financial advisors, assisting mutual fund companies with strategic planning support, providing opportunities for assisting with professional development workshops, study groups, and other events and conferences. Raymond James also provides distribution support for prospectuses and promotional materials relating to their mutual funds. The marketing service and support fees come in a variety of forms, including payments which are sometimes referred to as "revenue sharing" fees and 12b-1 fees. This compensation may not be disclosed in detail in a mutual fund's prospectus or Statement of Additional Information. At Raymond James, these fees do not provide placement on any preferred product lists. The following schedule gives you an idea of the potential level of marketing support or revenue sharing fees that Raymond James may receive from a particular mutual fund group:

- up to .10% on mutual fund share purchases (e.g., $10 for a $10,000 purchase)
- up to .05% per year on assets totaling less than $500 million
- up to .04% per year on assets totaling $500 million to $1 billion
- up to .03% per year on assets totaling $1 billion to $5 billion
- up to .02% per year on assets totaling $5 billion or greater

The actual amounts that Raymond James may receive will vary from one mutual fund Company to another and investments in certain asset classes and/or mutual fund types may be excluded from the above formulas.

For a list of fund companies that have agreed to participate in Raymond James' current Education and Marketing Support program, please visit: http://www.raymondjames.com/disclosure_mutual_funds_co.htm.

Marketing representatives of mutual fund companies, who are often referred to as "wholesalers", work with Raymond James financial advisors and their branch office managers to promote their mutual funds. Consistent with applicable laws and regulations, these mutual fund companies may pay for or provide training and education programs for Raymond James' financial advisors and their existing and prospective clients. Mutual fund companies may also pay for due diligence meetings, conferences, relationship building events, occasional recreational activities and other events or activities that are intended to result in the promotion of their mutual funds.

Mutual fund companies with mutual funds electronically linked or "networked" with a broker/dealer's account system or with mutual funds available through a broker/dealer's fee-based account programs often reimburse broker/dealers for a portion of their account servicing and administrative costs, which may include accounting, statement preparation and mailing, tax reporting and other shareholder services. Networking is a service that enables data sharing between Raymond James and mutual fund providers and/or their transfer agents. Raymond James currently receives up to $20 annually in servicing fee reimbursements per each client mutual fund position. RJFSA IARs do not receive any part of these payments.

For a list of fund companies that have agreed to pay Raymond James networking or servicing fees, please visit: http://www.raymondjames.com/disclosure_mutual_funds.htm.

Mutual fund companies will also pay Raymond James fees to provide shareholder liaison services to you. These shareholder services may include responding to your inquiries and providing information on your investments. Raymond James may receive these shareholder services fees in amounts not to exceed 0.25% annually of the assets invested in a particular mutual fund.

Raymond James makes available to its clients a variety of mutual funds advised or offered by Eagle Asset Management, Inc. ("Eagle"), a subsidiary of Raymond James, including the Eagle Class shares of the J.P. Morgan Prime and Tax Free Money Market Funds. Raymond James and its affiliates generally receives more revenue for selling mutual funds advised or offered by Eagle because they receive compensation for providing these mutual funds with services not provided to unaffiliated mutual funds, including (but not limited to) investment advisory, administrative, transfer agency, distribution and/or other services. Payments made by mutual funds advised or offered by Eagle to Raymond James and its affiliates may be terminated, modified, or suspended at any time. Raymond James financial advisors and branch managers do not receive additional compensation or other cash or non-cash incentives for recommending mutual funds (or any particular class thereof) advised or offered by Eagle.

In addition to the aforementioned compensation arrangements in connection with Raymond James' mutual fund sales, Raymond James receives compensation from its affiliate Eagle for providing services unrelated to sales of Eagle mutual funds, including (but not limited to) consulting services, marketing services, sponsorship fees, and support services and transfer credits for trade execution services. Payments made by Eagle to Raymond James may be terminated, modified, or suspended at any time.

Margin Interest

You will be charged interest on any credit extended to or maintained on your behalf by RJA for the purpose of purchasing, carrying, or trading in any security or otherwise. The particular rate will vary with the size of the average debit balance.

Short Sales

When executing short sales, you should be aware that RJA receives compensation for maintenance of the short position, which is in addition to the asset-based advisory fee. This compensation is generally calculated on a daily basis as a percentage of the current market value of the security sold short. Three of the major variables that impact the amount of the fee RJA retains, as well as the transparency of the fee on your statement are: 1) availability of the security at RJA; 2) the current interest rate environment in the U.S.; and 3) the availability of the security based on the supply and demand of loanable securities in the market.

When you borrow a security which RJA can lend from its own inventory or its available customers' securities holdings, RJA generally retains all of the fees generated by that loan. In a higher interest rate environment, this fee may not be transparent to you because it may not be charged directly to your account. In such instances, the fee is retained from the return generated by the investment of the collateral posted for the transaction (such as short sale cash proceeds). In the case of a limited supply of a loanable security and/or a lower interest environment, the interest earned on the invested cash collateral may not be sufficient to cover the fee; in this case RJA may directly charge the fee to your account until the borrowed balance is closed.

In cases where RJA has no available supply of loanable securities, RJA may borrow the security from another firm. In these cases, you will be charged a fee to cover the borrowed securities, and RJA and the firm which lent the securities will generally split this fee. As above, in a higher interest rate environment this fee may not be transparent to you because the fee is retained from the return generated by the investment of the collateral posted for the transaction and not charged directly to the account. Alternatively, where the interest earned may not be sufficient to cover the fee, RJA may directly charge the fee to your account until the borrowed balance is closed; a portion of that fee is passed from RJA to the firm from which the securities were borrowed.

For more information on interest/charges associated with margin balances and/or shorts sales, please visit Raymond James's public website: http://www.rjf.com/services_and_charges.htm (Client Account Services and Charges). You may also contact your financial advisor or call Raymond James by phone at 800-647-SERV (7378) for additional information, or may submit your written request to: Raymond James Client Services, 880 Carillon Parkway, St. Petersburg, FL 33716.

For more information regarding fees, please see the Raymond James Client Bill of Rights and Responsibilities provided to each client at the time they open their account.

Other Potential Conflicts Of Interest To Consider:

RJFSA IARs may have a financial incentive to recommend certain fee-based advisory programs rather than certain other account types. A portion of the annual advisory fee is paid to your IAR, which may be more than they would receive under an alternative program, or if you paid for these services separately. Therefore, your IAR may have a financial incentive to recommend a particular account program over another. If you do not wish to purchase ongoing investment advice or management services or you wish to follow a buy and hold strategy, you should consider opening a brokerage account rather than a fee based account. In a brokerage account, a client is charged a commission for each transaction, and the representative has no duty to provide ongoing advice with respect to the account.

Your IAR does not receive a financial incentive to recommend or sell proprietary mutual funds versus non-proprietary funds. However, because compensation structures vary by product type, IARs may receive higher compensation for certain product types.

As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, RJFSA endeavors at all times to put the interests of its advisory clients first. You should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by RJFSA (or its IARs, related persons, or affiliates) in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest.

In certain instances, we may be compensated for referring you to an unaffiliated asset manager. If this occurs, your IAR will provide you with a disclosure document explaining the referral relationship and the terms of any compensation we receive.

RJFSA is affiliated, through its holding company, Raymond James Financial, Inc. (RJF), with Raymond James & Associates, Inc. (RJA), a broker-dealer and member of the New York Stock Exchange and a registered investment adviser. RJA acts as the clearing firm for those accounts and securities transactions introduced by RJFSA. To the extent recommendations are implemented through any of our affiliates, it should be noted that compensation will contribute to the overall profitability of the holding company, RJF. Should any securities be placed through us and your IAR, we may receive commissions on such transactions. This may create a conflict of interest. See item 10 for more complete information.

In instances where your IAR buys or sells the same securities as those of their Clients, the Client's accounts are given priority, RJFSA has established and maintains procedures in compliance with the Insider Trading and Securities Fraud Enforcement Act of 1988. These procedures outline a firm wide policy statement on compliance with insider trading policies by the adviser and its associated persons and other employees. These procedures have been distributed to all associated persons and employees of RJFSA. The procedures include provisions for defining "insider" material, monitoring associated persons and employee securities accounts, restricting access to affiliates sensitive material and restrictions on trading. See item 11 for more complete information.

In addition to the fee based compensation your IAR receives for providing advisory services, your IAR may earn commissions for transactional business in accordance with Raymond James Financial Services, Inc.'s published commission schedule. At the conclusion of each year, qualifying advisors are awarded membership in the Raymond James Financial Services, Inc.'s recognition clubs. Qualification for recognition clubs is based upon a combination of the advisor's annual production (both advisory and transactional), total client assets under administration, and the professional certifications acquired through educational programs.

From time to time RJFSA receives compensation in the form of sponsorship fees for seminars, meetings or conferences from product sponsors such as limited partnerships, affiliated and unaffiliated mutual funds, insurance companies and annuity sponsors. Such sponsorship fees generally entitle the sponsor to an allotted presentation to representatives of RJFSA.

Individual Investment Advisory Consulting and Financial Planning

Should you choose to implement the recommendations contained in your financial plan, we generally make recommendations with respect to products and services offered by us and our affiliates. However, the decision to implement any recommendation rests exclusively with you, and you have no obligation to implement any such recommendations through us or our affiliates.

ITEM 6 PERFORMANCE BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

RJFSA and its IARs do not use a performance-based fee structure or participate in any side-by-side management.

ITEM 7 TYPES OF CLIENTS

RJFSA's advisory services are available for individuals, individual retirement accounts ("IRAs"), banks and thrift institutions, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, state and municipal government entities, pension and profit sharing plans, including plans subject to Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA"), corporations and other business entities.

RJFSA does not require a minimum asset amount for financial planning or hourly consulting.

There is a minimum investment of $25,000 for Passport, IMPAC, and Saratoga and a minimum investment of $150,000 for SEI Investments, although smaller accounts may be accepted based upon the specific circumstances of an account.

ITEM 8 METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

The investment strategy determined for you is based upon the objectives stated during consultations with your IAR. It is important to review investment objectives, risk tolerance, tax objectives and liquidity needs with your IAR before choosing an investment strategy. All investments carry a certain degree of risk and no one particular investment style or portfolio manager is suitable for all types of investors.

We may employ one or more of the following methods of investment analysis:

Fundamental Analysis: involves analyzing individual companies and their industry groups, such as a company's financial statements, details regarding the company's product line, the experience and expertise of the company's management, and the outlook for the company's industry. The resulting data is used to measure the true value of the company's stock compared to the current market value. The risk of fundamental analysis is that information obtained may be incorrect and the analysis may not provide an accurate estimate of earnings, which may be the basis for an investment's value. If securities prices adjust rapidly to new information, utilizing fundamental analysis may not result in favorable performance.

Charting Analysis: involves the gathering and processing of price and volume information for a particular security. This price and volume information is analyzed using mathematical equations. The resulting data is then applied to graphing charts, which is used to predict future price movements based on price patterns and trends. The risk of market timing based on technical analysis is that charts may not accurately predict future price movements. Current prices of securities may reflect all information known about the security and day to day changes in market prices of securities may follow random patterns and may not be predictable with any reliable degree of accuracy.

Technical Analysis: involves studying past price patterns and trends in the financial markets to predict the direction of both the overall market and specific stocks.

Cyclical Analysis: a type of technical analysis that involves evaluating recurring price patterns and trends. The risk of market timing based on technical analysis is that charts may not accurately predict future price movements. Current prices of securities may reflect all information known about the security and day to day changes in market prices of securities may follow random patterns and may not be predictable with any reliable degree of accuracy.

Sources of information may include Raymond James Research, financial publications, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses and filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Since investment goals and financial circumstances change over time, you should review your investment program at least annually with your IAR. You may change your objectives at any time. For more information regarding this topic you may wish to review the Raymond James Client Bill of Rights and Responsibilities, provided to you upon opening your account.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Investors face the following investment risks:

Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.

Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.

Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.

Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.

Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.

Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.

Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

If you are considering small-cap investments or objectives in which a portion or all of your assets are invested in small-cap disciplines, you should recognize the securities selected within these disciplines may not have the business experience or may have businesses that are still in the early stages of the business life cycle, may be less liquid, have lower trading volume and greater spreads between the purchase and sale price of the securities, and may experience greater volatility than securities with larger market capitalizations. The securities selected for these disciplines will typically be more speculative in nature and thus have greater potential for the loss of principal.

If you are considering an international/global investment or discipline, in which a portion or all of your assets are invested in international securities, you should recognize that investing in international securities markets involves additional risks not associated with domestic securities. Exchange rate fluctuations, currency controls, political and economic stability, and greater volatility are risks commonly associated with international investing. You should carefully review your asset allocation objectives and risk tolerance before selecting a manager or discipline that invests internationally.

Investors considering a fixed income investment or discipline generally seek consistent returns with low risk, and their tolerance for risk/volatility will accept only infrequent, minimal losses. Because of the less volatile nature of the disciplines, a fixed income investor may have a shorter investment time horizon than equity and balanced investors, although the objective can accommodate investors with longer time horizons as well.

If you are considering investments that are primarily high-yield fixed income, collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMOs"), asset-backed and/or convertible securities, you should be aware that additional risks exist with these types of investments. These securities may be rated below investment grade or not rated, which reflects the greater possibility that the financial condition of the issuer, or adverse changes in general economic conditions, may impair the ability of the issuer to pay income and principal. To the extent that no established secondary market exists, there may be thin trading of high-yield bonds, which increases the potential for volatility.

Periods of rising interest rates or economic downturns may cause highly leveraged issuers to experience financial stress, and thus markets for their securities may become more volatile. AAA-implied rated CMOs will have more volatility than AAA-rated Treasuries or corporate bonds during periods of rising interest rates because of negative convexity -- slowing prepayments causing increased duration, or "extension risk." CMOs may not be appropriate for some investors, especially if timing of return of principal is a primary concern. The yield and average life of a CMO will fluctuate, depending on the actual prepayment experience and changes in current interest rates. For example, a rise in interest rates may cause the duration and average life to greatly increase and cause a loss of value. Convertible securities combine the fixed characteristics of bonds and preferred stock with the potential for capital appreciation and may be subject to greater volatility than pure fixed-income instruments. The aforementioned securities may be illiquid when selling small positions and withdrawals may take several weeks.

A sell transaction by a person that believes the price of a security will decline in value, though that person does not own the security at the time of the sale is considered a "short sale". Securities sold short must be repurchased at a later date. When clients sell a security short, Raymond James must borrow the security in order to make delivery on the client's behalf. The value of the shares borrowed and sold short is deposited by Raymond James with the security lender, and must be executed in a margin account. The shares may be called back by the lender at any time. If the borrowed shares are recalled and cannot be replaced, the position may be closed without prior notice. Clients are responsible for any dividend payments as long as the short position remains open in their account. This dividend charge should be included in any net profit or loss calculated for short sale transactions. Eventually the short sale must be covered by buying the same amount of borrowed shares for return to the lender. If the shares are able to be repurchased at a lower price than they were sold for, the profit is the price difference between the initial short sale and repurchase - not including the charges/interest for maintenance of the short position and taxes. However, if the value of the security increases subsequent to the initiation of the short sale, the loss is the price difference between the repurchase and initial short sale - again, not including the charges/interest for maintenance of the short position and taxes. Short selling is an advanced trading strategy with many unique risks and pitfalls. Novice investors are advised to avoid short sales because this potentially may result in unlimited losses. For example, the share price of a security can only fall to zero (i.e., limited profit), but there is no limit to the amount it can rise (i.e., unlimited loss). Stock exchange and federal regulations govern and limit the conditions under which a short sale may be made on a national securities exchange.

When clients purchase securities they may pay for the securities in full or may borrow part of the purchase price from Raymond James. Clients that choose to borrow funds for purchases must open a margin account with Raymond James, upon approval based on the firm's analysis of, among others things, the client's creditworthiness and the suitability of margin use by the client. The securities purchased on margin are the firm's collateral for the margin loan. If the securities in the client's account decline in value, so does the value of the collateral supporting the margin loan, and as a result, Raymond James may take action, such as issue a margin call and/or sell securities in the account, in order to maintain the required equity in the account.

It is important that you fully understand the risks involved in trading securities on margin (including selling short) before engaging in this activity. Upon approval, where applicable, you will receive a Truth In Lending Statement from Raymond James disclosing such risks, as well explaining the details and conditions under which interest will be charged, the method of computing interest and the conditions under which additional collateral may be required. You should understand that the extension of credit by Raymond James to clients will appear as a debit balance on the monthly brokerage statement. While the value of the margined security will appear as a debit, clients with a margin balance in an account(s) in the MIP and/or Passport account programs will be assessed asset-based advisory fees based on the gross value of the account(s) without any offset for margin or debit balances. With respect to short sales, the client will be assessed asset-based advisory fees based on the value of the security sold short, but not on the proceeds received upon initiation of the short sale.

Therefore as a result of the foregoing, your IAR and Raymond James may have a financial incentive to recommend the acquisition of securities on margin or otherwise have margin credit extended (including selling short). In the event of such margin credit extension, the costs incurred by you, as well as the compensation received by your IAR and Raymond James, will generally increase as the size of the outstanding margin balance increases.

An option is a contract that gives the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell an underlying security at a specific price (i.e., strike price) on or before a certain date (i.e., expiration date). An option, just like a stock or bond, is a security. It is also a binding contract with strictly defined terms and properties. The two types of options available are calls and puts. A call option gives the holder the right to buy a security at a certain price within a specific period of time. Calls are similar to having a long position on a stock. Buyers of calls believe that the stock will increase substantially before the option expires, and thereby allow them the option of buying the security at a price below the current market. A put option gives the holder the right to sell a security at a certain price within a specific period of time. Puts are similar to having a short position on a stock. Buyers of puts believe that the price of the stock will fall before the option expires, and thereby allow them the option of selling the security at a price above the current market. People who buy options are called holders and those who sell options are called writers; furthermore, buyers are said to have long positions, and sellers are said to have short positions. Call holders and put holders (buyers) are not obligated to buy or sell. They have the choice to exercise their rights if they choose, although their options may be automatically assigned/exercised if the option is "in the money" (i.e., current price above the strike price for call options, or the current price is below the strike price for put options) at expiration and has not been closed out as of the expiration date. Call writers and put writers (sellers), however, are obligated to buy or sell. This means that a seller may be required to make good on a promise to buy or sell. The price of an option is determined by many factors including: (1) the remaining life of the option, (2) the volatility of the underlying security, (3) the relationship between the strike price of the option and the market price of the underlying security, as well as (4) the underlying company's dividend payment record. With respect to option buyers, the client will be assessed asset-based advisory fees based on the value of the call or put option. With respect to option sellers, the client will be assessed asset-based advisory fees based on the absolute value of the call or put option and on the proceeds/premium received upon the writing of the option.

If you are interested in employing the use of options in your account, you must be approved in advance by Raymond James, and may require the use of margin for higher risk strategies. Options involve unique and potentially significant risks and are not suitable for everyone. Option trading can be speculative in nature and may carry substantial risk of loss. Raymond James limits the use of options to hedging strategies in managed and discretionary accounts (e.g., covered calls and put purchases with limited downside risk), although clients may employ, upon pre-approval by Raymond James, more sophisticated and higher risk option strategies in their non-managed/non-discretionary accounts based on their individual circumstances. Prior to accepting an account for options activity, you must be given the Option Disclosure Document titled "Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options" and must complete and submit an Option Agreement and Suitability Form for Raymond James review and approval prior to transacting option trades. You may only employ those strategies that have been approved.

ITEM 9 DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

Registered Investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of Raymond James Financial Advisors, Inc. (RJFSA). Our firm operates as an investment adviser. The disciplinary reporting requirements for broker/dealers and investment advisers differ in some ways, with FINRA requiring broker/dealers to report on matters (for example, pending complaints and arbitrations) which are not required to be reported by investment advisers. The information in this report is not the only resource you can consult. You can access additional information about our firm and our management personnel on the SEC's website, located at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov, as well as FINRA's website, at www.finra.org/brokercheck.

Below is a summary of the material legal and disciplinary events against RJFSA during the last ten years. As of the date of this brochure, there are no such reportable events for our senior management personnel or those individuals in senior management responsible for determining the general investment advice provided to our clients.

In highly volatile markets, the volume of investor claims and regulatory proceedings against financial institutions has historically increased. These claims include potential liability under securities or other laws for alleged materially false or misleading statements made in connection with securities offerings and other transactions, and issues related to the suitability of our investment advice based on our clients' investment objectives.

No regulatory enforcement actions have been brought against Raymond James by any of the aforementioned regulatory authorities concerning the firm's provision of advisory services.

Please note that in each instance described below, the firm entered into the various orders, consents and settlements without admitting or denying any of the allegations.

Auction rate securities matters

In connection with ARS, our principal broker-dealers, Raymond James and RJFS, were subject to investigations by the SEC, certain states led by Florida's Office of Financial Regulation, and the Texas Securities Board regarding the sale of ARS. On June 29, 2011, RJ&A and RJFS finalized settlements with the SEC and other regulatory authorities, concluding investigations by the regulators into Raymond James' and RJFS's offer and sale of ARS.

The SEC alleged that Raymond James violated Section 17(A)(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, and states alleged that Raymond James violated various state securities statutes when it offered and sold to some of its customers auction rate securities ("ARS") while not accurately characterizing or while failing to adequately disclose the true nature and risks associated with these investments. Although Raymond James' ARS trade confirmations disclosed the risk that ARS auctions could fail and that Raymond James was not obliged to ensure their success, at the point-of-sale, some of Raymond James' financial advisors inaccurately described ARS as alternatives to money market funds and other cash-like investments, without adequately disclosing the auction process or the risk of illiquidity if these auctions failed. On February 13, 2008, a significant number of ARS auctions failed, resulting in an overall market collapse that left thousands of investors, including some of Raymond James' customers, holding ARS that they had, in some instances, not been able to liquidate.

Without admitting or denying the allegations, Raymond James consented to an order to cease and desist, a censure, and the following undertakings: (i) to purchase eligible ARS held by eligible customers; (ii) to use its best efforts to provide institutional money managers opportunities to liquidate their eligible ARS; (iii) to use its best efforts to identify and locate customers who purchased eligible ARS at Raymond James but who transferred such eligible ARS away from the firm prior to January 1, 2006; (iv) to identify, and repay excess expenses and reasonable interest incurred by eligible customers who took out loans from Raymond James after February 13, 2008 secured by eligible ARS that were not successfully auctioning at the time the loan was taken and who paid interest associated with the ARS-based portion of those loans in excess of the total interest and dividends received on the eligible ARS during the duration of the loan; (v) to use its best efforts to identify any customer who purchased eligible ARS on or before February 13, 2008; and (s) subsequently sold those eligible ARS below par between February 13, 2008 and June 29, 2011, and to repay any the customer the difference between par and the actual price at which they sold or redeemed the eligible ARS, plus reasonable interest; (vi) to participate, at the election of an eligible customer, in the special arbitration procedures announced by FINRA on December 16, 2008, for the exclusive purpose of arbitrating an eligible customer's claim for consequential damages against the firm related to their ARS investment.

No fines were imposed by the SEC under the settlement agreement. A fine in the amount of $1.75 million was imposed by the state regulators. States involved in the settlement include Florida, Texas, Indiana, Alabama, Puerto Rico, South Carolina, South Dakota, North Dakota, Tennessee, New Jersey, Vermont, Rhode Island, Nevada, Massachusetts, Maine, Utah, Montana, Idaho, New Mexico, Wyoming, Kansas, Minnesota, Oregon, Virginia, Washington, Mississippi and Maryland. The NASD alleged that Raymond James violated Securities Exchange Act Rules 17A-3 and 17A-4 and NASD Rules 2110 and 3010. The NASD’s primary allegation was that RJFS’s supervisory system and procedures for supervising the activities of producing branch managers were not reasonably designed to achieve compliance with securities rules and regulations, in violation of NASD Conduct Rules 2110 and 3010. Without admitting or denying the findings, Raymond James consented to a censure and to the entry of findings and paid a fine of $2,750,000.

On April 26, 2005, Raymond James consented to censure and paid a fine, including restitution, in the amount of $750,000.

The firm was ordered to cease and desist from regulatory violations and to pay a fine of $15,000. The firm paid this on 3/16/2010.

Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”, the successor to NASD Regulation)

FINRA alleged that Raymond James violated FINRA Rule 2010 and NASD Rules 2110, 2510(D)(1), 3010 and 3110 by; (i) failing to mark an “Time and Price Discretion” on order ticket in accordance with order ticket designation requirements, causing the firm to maintain inaccurate books and records; (ii) failing to update certain of its electronic order management systems to satisfy the specificity requirements; (iii) failing to exercise reasonable supervision by not having adequate systems or procedures in place to cause the firm to be in compliance with these requirements and produce certain order ticket data in connection with regulatory requests. As a result, FINRA alleged the firm’s failure to take into consideration the factors delineated in Interpretive Material 2440-1(B) led to $893,888.69 in excessive commissions being charged. On September 29, 2011 Raymond James consented to the described sanctions and entry of findings and was censured, ordered to pay a fine in the amount of $225,000, pay restitution in the amount of the excessive commissions, plus interest, and required to pay restitution to customers not identified during the examination but otherwise covered under the allegations for the period between the conclusion of FINRA’s examination and the firm’s implementation of its revised automated commission schedule.

Although FINRA’s investigation was prompted by an illegal scheme that was conducted by a former RJFS client, none of the client’s activities involved anyone associated with RJFS, including the client’s financial advisor. Following its investigation, FINRA acknowledged the activities of the client in question were detected by the firm’s monitoring systems, but alleges our investigation was inadequate.

RJFS has agreed, without admitting or denying FINRA’s allegations, to resolve this matter by paying a $400,000 fine and certifying that its anti-money laundering procedures are adequate.

Because Raymond James may trade its advisory clients' assets in the securities of companies which Raymond James' Investment Banking division is advising, there may be the appearance of a conflict of interest. In addition to Raymond James' Chinese Wall policies and procedures, Raymond James Asset Management Services has insider trading policies and procedures which are designed to prevent and detect any misuse of non-public information.

On occasion, there may be instances in which an IAR of Raymond James and Associates, a dually registered broker/dealer and investment adviser, and corporate affiliate of Raymond James, will establish a portfolio management or consultation relationship with an IAR of RJFSA. The Raymond James and Associates IAR will also be a registered securities representative of Raymond James and Associates. The Raymond James and Associates IAR may act in a consulting role to the client, who has been referred by an IAR of RJFSA. However, the Raymond James and Associates IAR may act as the client's primary advisory representative and may refer the client to an IAR of RJFSA, who serves as their consultant. The client will be charged an advisory fee by the Raymond James and Associates or RJFSA IAR, which is shared with the affiliated IAR.

An advisory relationship may result in various forms of compensation to one or more of the affiliates. In no case is the Client under any obligation whatsoever to purchase any products sold by RJFSA or any of its affiliates.

RJFSA's affiliate, RJA acts as a market maker for various securities, including over-the-counter stocks, municipal and government bonds as well as limited partnerships. AFFILIATED MANAGERS AND FUNDS

Eagle Asset Management, Inc. and its wholly owned subsidiary Eagle Boston Investment Management, Inc. are affiliates of Raymond James. Affiliates of Raymond James may act as a Manager in the RJCS, Freedom and Freedom UMA programs. If the client selects an affiliated Manager, or a Freedom or Freedom UMA Strategy that includes an affiliated Manager or Fund(s), the affiliated Manager will receive compensation under the terms of its Sub-Advisory Agreement with Raymond James, or the management fee received by the affiliated Fund. The participation of affiliated Managers or Funds in the programs may create a potential conflict of interest for Raymond James to recommend or select for inclusion in programs an affiliated Manager (or their affiliated Fund) over a similarly qualified and suitable non-affiliated Manager (or Fund). This potential conflict may also be present when Raymond James is considering Managers for removal from the program(s). However, Raymond James does not receive additional compensation for investing in an affiliated Manager over a non-affiliated Manager. To the extent recommendations are implemented through Raymond James on behalf of these affiliates, it should be noted that compensation will contribute to the overall profitability of the holding company, RJF.

Each Strategy available in the Freedom and Freedom UMA program has been constructed by the AMS Investment Committee to offer an alternative allocation comprised exclusively of non-affiliated Managers/Funds. The client may select a Strategy that does not contain allocations to Raymond James affiliated Managers or Funds. If no selection is made by the client in the Investment Management Client Agreement or otherwise provided in writing, the client should understand that the Strategy they select will serve as their authorization to utilize affiliated Managers and/or Funds, where applicable. The client may revoke this authorization at any time by providing Raymond James written notice.

INTERCOMPANY PAYMENTS BETWEEN AFFILIATES

In addition to the aforementioned compensation arrangements, Raymond James and its affiliates make certain intercompany payments to compensate each other for performing various administrative services. In connection with Raymond James's mutual fund sales, Raymond James or its affiliates receive compensation from their Eagle affiliate for providing services unrelated to sales of Eagle mutual funds, including (but not limited to) consulting services, marketing services, sponsorship fees, support.

ITEM 11 CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

As part of its fiduciary duties to Clients, RJFSA endeavors at all times to put the interests of its advisory clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by RJFSA [or its related persons and affiliates] in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest.

In instances where the IAR buys or sells the same securities as those of their Clients, the Client's accounts are given priority, RJFSA has established and maintains procedures in compliance with the Insider Trading and Securities Fraud Enforcement Act of 1988. These procedures outline a firm wide policy statement on compliance with insider trading policies by the adviser and its associated persons and other employees. These procedures have been distributed to all associated persons and employees of applicant. The procedures include provisions for defining "insider" material, monitoring associated persons and employee securities accounts, restricting access to affiliates sensitive material and restrictions on trading.

RJFSA's parent company, Raymond James Financial, is a publicly traded company. RJFSA does not permit its IARs to recommend or solicit orders of Raymond James Financial's stock.

Pursuant to Rule 204A-1 under the Advisers Act, RJFSA has adopted a Code of Ethics. RJFSA monitors the personal securities transactions of its employees, officers, directors and investment adviser representatives. The Code of Ethics set forth standards of conduct and addresses potential conflicts of interest among RJFSA, RJFSA personnel and RJFSA advisory Clients. All investment advisory Clients may request a copy of the RJFSA Code of Ethics by contacting the RJFSA Compliance Department at 800-237-8691, extension 73016.

RJFSA's affiliate, RJA acts as a market maker for various securities, including over-the-counter stocks, municipal and government bonds as well as limited partnerships. All transactions must be executed at the best price in the market. RJA also may act as principal and buys securities for itself or sells securities it owns to Clients. RJFSA does not act as a principal on any transactions involving advisory Clients.

IARs of RJFSA, who are not involved in the management of accounts, are not made aware of the purchases or sales being made by affiliated money managers. If any of the individuals who make decisions on behalf of managed accounts are purchasing or selling the same security, the transaction is effected first on behalf of the managed account.

ITEM 12 BROKERAGE PRACTICES

The primary affiliation of RJFSA, through its holding company Raymond James Financial, Inc. (RJF) is with Raymond James Financial Services Inc, (RJFS), member FINRA/SIPC, through various licenses and registrations. RJFS is a broker-dealer and primarily in the business of selling securities and other investments including annuity, fixed and life insurance products, on a full-time basis in all 50 states, including DC, Puerto Rico and the US Virgin Islands.

Another important affiliation of RJFSA, through its holding company Raymond James Financial, Inc. (RJF) is with Raymond James & Associates, Inc. (RJA), which is a broker-dealer and member of the New York Stock Exchange and a registered investment advisor. RJA acts as the clearing firm for those accounts and securities transactions introduced by RJFSA. To the extent recommendations are implemented through this affiliate, it should be noted that compensation will contribute to the overall profitability of the holding company, RJF. Should any securities be placed through the advisor and its IARs, the advisor and IAR may receive commissions on such transactions. Such a structure may create a conflict of interest.

RJFSA also has a relationship with other broker-dealers, Raymond James Ltd, located in Canada and Raymond James Investment Services Ltd, located in the United Kingdom.

RJA may aggregate sale and purchase orders of securities held by Clients with similar orders being made simultaneously for other Clients if, in RJA's reasonable judgment, such aggregation is reasonably likely to result in overall economic benefit to Clients based on an evaluation that the Clients are benefited by relatively better purchase or sale prices, lower commission expenses or beneficial timing of transactions, or a combination of these and other factors. In some instances, the purchase or sale of securities for Clients will be affected simultaneously with the purchase or sale of like securities for other Clients.

Such transactions may be made at slightly different prices, due to the volume of securities purchased or sold. In such event, the average price of all securities purchased or sold in such transactions is determined, and at RJA's sole discretion, the Client may be charged or credited, as the case may be, the average transaction price.

Investment Advisory Program Client Notice

Pursuant to Rule 3a-4 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, RJFSA provides the following notification to Clients with an Eagle Asset Management, Freedom, Managed Investment Program, Raymond James Consulting Services account(s), or who have delegated investment discretion to their IAR for Ambassador, IMPAC or Passport account(s):

An advisory Client who has delegated investment discretion to RJFSA or a third-party manager should be aware of their ability to impose reasonable restrictions on the investments made within their account(s), or reasonably modify existing restrictions they may have already imposed. Reasonable restrictions may include the designation of particular securities or types of securities that should not be purchased in their account (i.e. Company XYZ or companies involved in a particular industry, etc.), or should be sold if held in their account. However, since investment discretion has been delegated to RJFSA or a third-party manager, RJFSA or the manager may determine that the implementation of such a restriction may be impractical. In the event such a determination is made, the Client will be notified promptly.

In addition, as owner of the securities in the account(s) the you should be aware of your right to:

- 1) Withdraw securities or cash from their account(s), provided they maintain the minimum account balance, as appropriate, based on their particular account type;
- 2) Vote securities, or delegate the authority to vote securities to another person (i.e. proxies, tender offers, etc.);
- 3) Be provided written confirmation, in a timely manner, of securities transactions placed for your account; and
- 4) Proceed directly against any issuer (i.e. class action participation) and not be obligated to join other parties as a condition precedent to initiating such a proceeding.

If you wish to impose or modify existing restrictions, or your financial condition or investment objectives have changed, you should contact your IAR or the RJFS RIA Compliance Department at 727-567-3800, extension 73016, option 7.

ITEM 13 REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

Your IAR will monitor your account to identify situations that may warrant specific actions be taken or recommended with respect to your investments or overall investment portfolio. Such reviews include, but are not necessarily limited to, suitability, performance, asset allocation, change in investment objectives and risk tolerance, concentrations and prohibited products. In addition, your IAR will provide regular investment advice or investment supervisory services, review your portfolio(s) and communicate with you at least annually, and on a quarterly basis if agreed by you, for conformity with the respective portfolios, investment objectives, changes in your financial situation, account performance and any reasonable restrictions to be imposed as to the specific assets or types of securities to be included or excluded from your portfolio(s).

Additional monitoring of accounts is provided by compliance and sales management personnel located within the corporate headquarters. Reviews include, but are not limited to; suitability, concentration, and accounts managed on a discretionary and non-discretionary basis.

Brokerage Statement and Performance/Billing Valuation Value Differences for Fee-Based Accounts

The value used to calculate your asset-based advisory fee may differ from the net value shown on the brokerage statement. There are several reasons for these values to differ:

1. Trade Date versus Settlement Date – The brokerage statement values all securities and cash balances based upon trades not being completed until settlement date (when the money is due), while the value used for billing is derived from the performance system, which values all securities and cash balances based upon trade date (initiation of cost basis for performance and tax reporting purposes.) For example, if a recent buy in an account has executed, but not yet settled at quarter end, the trade will still show as a cash position on the brokerage statement. In contrast, the purchased security, and value, will be used for performance and billing calculations. Since the financial advisor's fee-based compensation is tied into the performance of the account, performance-related values are used for billing instead of the brokerage statement value.

2. Accrued Income – Accrued income reflects payments due but not yet paid to the holder of a particular security, which includes interest payments and dividends. The brokerage statement does not show accrued income in its value, while the performance-related value (and consequently the billing) does include this figure. The rationale for including the accrued income in the billing value is based on the assumption that the client will be paid that money, whether they hold the underlying security or not on the actual payment date, which in turn affects the performance of the account, and must, therefore, be included in the performance value of the account.
3. Margin Balances and Short Sales – Because the brokerage statement reads like a balance sheet, short sells and margin purchases are reflected as liabilities. For example, if a client buys a security on margin (or sells it short), they will have to pay for that security eventually, so it is shown as a liability (negative value) on the brokerage statement. The performance-related value does not view shorts and margins in this manner. Rather, clients that employ margin are in fact utilizing the advisory services of their financial advisor, who in turn is compensated for it. For comparison, a client with a retail commission-based account would be charged a commission on each margin trade/short sale because in essence a security position that did not exist before has been now been created. While considered a liability on the brokerage statement, these “new” positions are relevant from a performance and billing perspective and are therefore included for performance and billing purposes. As a result, the use of margin or short sells generally results in the largest discrepancy in terms of value between the brokerage statement and performance/billing values. This can be seen in the fact that a client's brokerage statement “net” liquidation value is reduced by liabilities, while their performance/billing value is increased.
4. Options – Clients that write calls or puts, much like short sales, are creating a potential liability by doing so. While a client may understand that the net value of the account reflects what they would receive today if all securities were liquidated, it does not take into account the advisory or commission aspects of the securities that were “created”. Again, clients are charged commissions in retail accounts when writing calls or puts because a security is being created. The correlation in a fee-based account is to value the security based upon the liability of the client by taking the absolute value of the short option. For example, a call writer expects the value of a particular security to decrease. If it does, the liability gradually decreases until it becomes zero. By taking the absolute value of the liability (the opposite of the long option) we value the short option based on the client's potential obligation to pay the option holder, and thus more accurately reflect the true “value” of the position.

Financial Planning and Investment Advisory Consulting Services

Under this type of advisory relationship, your IAR will perform the services agreed upon in the agreement. RJFSA has a review in place to monitor certain consulting arrangements to ensure the services provided match the signed agreement.

Tax Considerations

Unless specifically noted, tax efficiency is not a primary consideration in the management of accounts offered by Raymond James through the EHNW, RJCS, Freedom, Freedom UMA, Completion Portfolios and Russell managed account programs. As such, strategies and investments utilized may have unique and significant tax implications. If tax considerations are a primary concern, we recommend consulting with a tax professional prior to investing.

IRS Circular 230 Disclosure: Raymond James, its affiliates, agents and employees are not in the business of providing tax, regulatory, accounting or legal advice. This brochure and any tax-related statements provided by Raymond James are not intended or written to be used, and cannot be used or relied upon, by any such taxpayer for the purpose of avoiding tax penalties. Any such taxpayer should seek advice based on the taxpayer's particular circumstances from an independent tax advisor.

ITEM 14 CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

Other Compensation

As part of its fiduciary duties to Clients, RJFSA endeavors at all times to put the interests of its advisory Clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by RJFSA [or its related persons and affiliates] in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest.

In addition to the fee based compensation your IAR receives for providing advisory services, your IAR may earn commissions for transactional business in accordance with Raymond James Financial Services, Inc.'s published commission schedule. At the conclusion of each year, qualifying advisors are awarded membership in the Raymond James Financial Services, Inc.'s recognition clubs. Qualification for recognition clubs is based upon a combination of the advisor's annual production (both advisory and transactional), total client assets under administration, and the professional certifications acquired through educational programs.

From time to time RJFSA receives compensation in the form of sponsorship fees for seminars, meetings or conferences from product sponsors such as limited partnerships, affiliated and unaffiliated mutual funds, insurance companies and annuity sponsors. Such sponsorship fees generally entitle the sponsor to an allotted presentation to representatives of RJFSA.

If you act upon your IAR's advice and choose to use one of RJFSA's affiliates as a money manager, custodian or purchasing insurance, RJFSA may receive compensation in the form of commissions from the affiliate. If you choose to use your IAR in their individual capacity as an insurance agent, the individual IAR will receive a commission. Additionally, if you purchase a mutual fund containing a 12b-1 fee, your IAR may receive such fee.

Effective March 1, 2011, select fund companies have agreed to pay administrative fees to Raymond James in consideration for Raymond James's waiver of the $30 Processing Fee assessed on certain Passport Account mutual fund purchases ("Participating Funds"). Your IAR does not receive any part of these payments. For a list of fund companies that have agreed to pay Raymond James administrative fees for eligible purchases of Participating Funds, please visit the following link:

http://www.raymondjames.com/disclosure_mutual_funds_co.htm.

You may also receive a hardcopy of this list by contacting your IAR, or by contacting Raymond James Asset Management Services by phone at (800) 248-8863, extension 74991, or by sending in your written request to: Raymond James Asset Management Services – (10M), Client Services Department, 880 Carillon Parkway, St. Petersburg, FL 33716.

IARs utilizing any of the previously mentioned account programs offered by RJFSA generally receive compensation in the form of asset-based fees, and this compensation is typically credited to your IAR on a quarterly basis. Certain IARs of RJFSA or its affiliates may receive additional compensation from RJFSA in consideration for referring Clients to RJFSA. This additional compensation is in the form of a rebate of RJFSA's administrative or management fee and is a portion of, not in addition to, the asset-based fee charged to your account(s) quarterly. Such rebates are based on your IAR's Client assets invested in the following account programs offered by the RJFSA:

RJCS, Eagle, and FREEDOM and Russell – RJA IARs may receive an incremental payout increase of up to 10% based on their total Client assets in the RJCS and Eagle programs. RJFSA IARs with at least $15 million total Client assets in the above account programs will receive a rebate of RJFSA's quarterly management fee equal to .05% of the assets invested in equity and balanced investment disciplines in the RJCS and Eagle account programs. RJA and RJFSA IARs will receive a rebate of the Registrant's management fee equal to .03% of the assets invested in the FREEDOM or Russell account programs.

Ambassador, MIP and PASSPORT - IARs with total aggregate Client assets in these account programs will receive a rebate of RJFSA's administrative fee equal to:

- Assets between $50 million and $100,000 million – 15%
- Assets between $100 million and $150,000 million – 30%
- Asset between $150 million and $300,000 million – 45%

- Assets of at least $300 million – 60% or higher, subject to a maximum annualized administrative fee of $150 per account.

IARs are typically compensated based on their annual gross production, whereby higher gross production will generally result in higher payouts. These rebate programs constitute a targeted payout increase to certain qualified financial advisors based on economies of scale achieved by RJFSA, its affiliates and financial advisors at increasing asset levels. However, such compensation arrangements may represent a conflict of interest where a financial advisor may have incentive to recommend an asset-based fee account program rather than recommending an alternative product or service, if comparable or if available separately to Clients. Conversely, lack of such compensation may provide a disincentive to a financial advisor to recommend an asset-based fee account program to a Client. Clients should be aware of such arrangements and should consult their financial advisor for additional details regarding the financial advisor's compensations levels in fee-based accounts.

Financial advisors are typically compensated based on their annual gross production (i.e. revenue generated), whereas higher gross production will generally result in higher payouts. While Raymond James believes the charges and fees assessed to Clients within each of the asset-based fee programs are competitive with alternative programs available through other firms, competitive forces within the financial services industry necessitates that Raymond James continuously review such payouts and make adjustments when deemed necessary. With the increasing popularity of asset-based fee programs, competitive forces have generally resulted in a decrease in the annual costs to Clients. However, such decreases are not typically uniform throughout the industry, and as a result, firms generally have the discretion to adjust financial advisor payouts based on their analysis of payouts available from firms they consider to be in their peer universe. Such determinations can be complex, considering the number of banking institutions, wire house and regional brokerage firms, and fee-only advisers available to Clients. Raymond James endeavors to offer a wide variety of investment alternatives available to Clients and financial advisors. The rebate programs offered constitute a targeted payout increase to financial advisors in to the firm's review of compensation arrangements available within the industry, and are intended to maintain compensation parity for Raymond James' and affiliated financial advisors.

CLIENT REFERRAL ARRANGEMENTS:

Professional Partner's Program

RJFS has developed a program that will pay professionals for referrals. The professional who refers the account will receive a portion of the advisory fee but in no case will the Client pay more because of the referral (solicitor) fee. The referral fees will be on a cash only basis. The Client will be given proper disclosure about the advisory and referral fees. The professional will be either an investment adviser representative or a solicitor of RJFS.

ITEM 15 CUSTODY

As a registered broker-dealer, Raymond James generally maintains custody of client securities and other assets, unless the client and Raymond James otherwise mutually agree. As custodian (if applicable), Raymond James will deliver, not less than quarterly, a brokerage statement to each client detailing their account's securities holdings, cash balances, dividend and interest receipts, account purchases and sales, contributions and distributions from the account and the realized and unrealized gains or losses associated with securities transactions effected in their account.

Clients are urged to review and compare all account statements and other reports provided by Raymond James and outside custodians (if applicable). If a client's account assets are held by a custodian other than Raymond James, the prices shown on a client's account statements provided by the custodian may be different from the prices shown on statements and reports provided by Raymond James due to the use of different valuation sources (pricing vendors) or reporting methodologies (trade date versus settlement date, accrued income, long or short margin balances, etc.) by the custodian and Raymond James.

ITEM 16 INVESTMENT DISCRETION

We may have a limited discretionary trading authority to determine the types and amount of securities bought and sold in your account. This authority is granted in writing by you for each account via a discretionary asset management agreement. We cannot take possession of funds or securities.

ITEM 17 VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Proxy Voting

Rule 206(4)-6 of the Advisors Act places certain requirements on investment advisors who have proxy voting authority over Client securities. The Rule requires, among other things, that advisors provide their Clients with a description of their voting policies and procedures, disclose to Clients where they may obtain a full copy of the advisor's policies and procedures, and disclose how they may obtain information about how their advisor voted with respect to their securities. Under the Rule, a registered investment advisor exercising proxy voting authority has a fiduciary duty to vote proxies in a timely manner and make voting decisions that are in the Client's best interest.

For Clients with a Passport, IMPAC, and MIP account(s), the Client retains the right to vote all proxies solicited for the securities held in the Client's account(s). Raymond James policy does not permit its IARs to vote proxies on behalf of advisory Clients. Per the terms of the advisory Client Agreement Raymond James will not take any action with respect to the voting of proxies on the behalf of an advisory Client.

RJFSA does not accept authority to vote client securities in connection with any of the services described in this Brochure.

ITEM 18 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

RJFSA is a qualified custodian as defined in Rule 206(4)-2, and is therefore not required to include a balance sheet for its most recent financial fiscal year.

RJFSA has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

RJFSA does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200, per client, and six months or more in advance.

Other Considerations:

Business Continuity

RJFSA has adopted a business continuity strategy that provides for the continuation of business critical functions in the event its headquarters become partially or totally inaccessible, or a technical problem occurs affecting its applications, data centers or network. The recovery strategies RJFSA employs are designed to limit the impact on Clients from such business interruptions or disasters. Although RJFSA has taken reasonable steps to develop and implement detailed business continuity plans, unforeseen circumstances may create situations where RJFSA is unable to fully recover from a significant business interruption. However, RJFSA believes its planning and implementation process reduces the risk in this area.
