Item 4 Advisory Business

First Western Capital Management Company (FWCM) is a SEC-registered investment adviser, headquartered in Denver, Colorado with its principal place of business located in Los Angeles, CA. First Western Capital Management Company was established in March 2010. FWCM was formerly the insitutional division of First Western Investment Management (FWIM) which was established with the acquisition of Financial Management Advisors, LLC by FWIM in May 2008.

Listed below are the firm's principal shareholders (i.e., those individuals and/or entities controlling 25% or more of this company).

- First Western Financial, Inc., 100% Owner FWCM is a wholly owned subsidiary of First Western Financial. Inc.

First Western Capital Management offers the following advisory services to our clients:

INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES ("ISS") INDIVIDUAL PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

FWCM manages portfolios of securities which include equities, corporate bonds, municipal bonds, cash instruments and government securities. FWCM is focused on serving North American foundations, endowments, pension plans and individuals, and acts as sub-advisor to a number of institutional clients. FWCM is a diversified investment manager with extensive experience delivering thoughtful investment solutions. Our focus on providing strong risk adjusted returns is possible due to our deep commitment to proprietary research, rather than a dependence on Wall Street.

Our firm provides continuous advice to a client regarding the investment of client funds based on the individual needs of the client. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client's particular circumstances are established, we create and manage a portfolio based on that those guidelines. During our data-gathering process, we determine the client's individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs. As appropriate, we also review and discuss a client's prior investment history, as well as family composition and background.

We manage these advisory accounts on a discretionary basis using proprietary investment strategies and our advice is limited to investments within those strategies. We may accept non-discretionary accounts on occassion, but that is by exception only. Account supervision is guided by the client's stated objectives (i.e., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations.

Clients may impose reasonable restrictions on investing in certain securities, types of securities, or industry sectors.

Our investment recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker-dealer or insurance company and will generally include advice regarding the following securities:

- Exchange-listed securities
- Securities traded over-the-counter
- Corporate debt securities (other than commercial paper)
- Commercial paper
- Certificates of deposit
- Municipal securities
- Mutual fund shares
- United States governmental securities
- Options contracts on securities
- Interests in proprietary partnerships investing in the above types of securities through a limited partnership structure in which FWCM acts as the general partner.

Because some types of investments involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be implemented/recommended when consistent with the client's stated investment objectives, tolerance for risk, liquidity and suitability.

We do not participate in any wrap-fee programs.

MUTUAL FUND PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

Sub-Adviser

Our firm provides discretionary portfolio management services in a sub-advisory capacity to the Forward High Yield Bond Fund (the "Forward Fund"), an open-end mutual fund registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 and to the First Trust Advantaged Short Duration High Yield Bond Fund (the "First Trust Fund"), an investment fund governed by the laws of the Province of Ontario, and offered only to certain qualified Canadian investors.

FWCM adheres to strict investment disciplines, with the objective of generating high current income as primary objective with capital growth as secondary focus. High yield bonds are a unique asset class, blending the income characteristics of traditional bonds with the capital appreciation potential of stocks.

The Forward Fund's primary objective is the generation of income. Therefore, the analytical team focuses on the bond issuer's ability to make its interest payments. Each company is scrutinized for its competitive position versus peers, the quality and strategy of the management team and ability to deleverage. First Western only invests in companies when it has access to their management team, as this access is essential to obtaining the insight necessary to make an informed investment decision. In addition, we analyze company cash flows (especially free cash flow), asset protection, liquidity and covenants. The Fund's other objective is the potential for capital appreciation. First Western keeps a close eye on a bond's ability to increase in value. A common method of capital appreciation comes through buyouts. Many times when a firm is bought out in a merger or acquisition, the acquiring firm agrees to buy back the bonds often well above the market price. Another common method of capital appreciation occurs when firms pay down their bonds early. Well-run firms seek to pay off their high yield debt as soon as they are able, even if it means paying a premium over the market price. First Western looks for companies that are actively seeking to strengthen their balance sheets through debt reduction. Realizing that high yield bonds are sometimes a volatile asset class, First Western seeks to cushion volatility through issue, industry and quality diversification.

Interested investors in the Forward High Yield Bond Fund, should refer to the Mutual Fund's prospectus and Statement of Additional Information ("SAI") for important information regarding objectives, investments, time-horizon, risks, fees, and additional disclosures. These documents are available on-line at www.forwardfunds.com.

The First Trust Fund was established to provide Unitholders with a stable source of tax-advantaged distributions through exposure to the performance of a diversified, short duration high yield bond Portfolio, actively managed by First Western Capital Management Company, as Sub-Advisor. It is comprised primarily of North American high yield debt securities, generally with remaining terms to maturity of five years or less. The First Trust Fund, through exposure to the Portfolio, will seek to achieve the following objectives:

- (i) provide Unitholders with attractive, monthly, tax-advantaged distributions; and
- (ii) preserve capital. See "Investment Objectives" in the prospectus.

Limited Partnership management fees, other than performance fees, are payable monthly in advance based on the market value of the partnership at the end of the preceding month plus the net of contributions and withdrawals on the first day of the current month. Performance fees are payable annually based on the portfolio value at the end of the year.

The required minimum amount to invest in the limited partnerships managed by FWCM is $250,000.00. Limited partners may contribute or withdraw funds from the partnership on the 1st day of each month, with prior 15 day notice.

Investors must be accredited under Regulation D in order to invest in the limited partnerships and for those partnerships with a performance fee, they must be qualified to participate in a performance fee arrangement under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. In order to invest in the investment LP funds, the investor must have a net worth that exceeds $1,500,000 or an investment of $750,000 into the investment fund. Advisor generally requires such investors to make representations concerning their sophistication as investors and their ability to bear the risk of loss of their entire investment under Advisor's management.

Limited Partnership Incentive Fees: Certain limited partnerships, as stated above, pay First Western Capital Management performance-based compensation ("Incentive Fees"). The Incentive Fee is calculated based on a percentage of the net profits of the account(s). An investor must have a minimum of $1 million in assets under management with FWCM, or a net worth exceeding $2 million. This excludes the value of a client's primary residence and certain property-related debts.

First Western Capital Management's incentive fee is stated above and is a percentage of the net profits above the account's previous "high water mark". To the extent that the amount of account appreciation is less than the high water mark, there is a loss carryforward allocation that must be recouped before First Western Capital Management is entitled to a performance-based fee.

Clients should refer to the respective partnership agreements for more detailed information. Please contact our office at 310-229-2940.

Limited Negotiability of Advisory Fees: Although First Western Capital Management has established the aforementioned fee schedule(s), we retain the discretion to negotiate alternative fees on a client-by-client basis. Client facts, circumstances and needs are considered in determining the fee schedule. These include the complexity of the client, assets to be placed under management, anticipated future additional assets; related accounts; portfolio style, account composition, reports, among other factors. The specific annual fee schedule is identified in the contract between the adviser and each client.

We may group certain related client accounts for the purposes of achieving the minimum account size requirements and determining the annualized fee.

Discounts, not generally available to our advisory clients, may be offered to family members and friends of associated persons of our firm.

Fees for separate account management are deducted from the client's account at the custodian. FWCM may allow for clients to receive an invoice for payment instead. This method is by exception only. Fees for investments in partnerships are deducted within the partner's capital balance.

MUTUAL FUND PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT FEES

First Western Capital Management is paid an investment management fee by the Forward High Yield Fund. The fee arrangement, termination, and refund policies are described in the Mutual Fund's prospectus and Statement of Additional Information ("SAI").

Portfolio management clients of our firm who also invest in the Forward High Yield Fund will pay only those fees charged to investors by the Mutual Fund, i.e., the value of the client's investment in the Mutual Fund is excluded from our quarterly portfolio management fee calculation.

First Western Capital Management is also paid a sub-advisory fee by the First Trust Advisors, LP, the portfolio advisor to the Advantaged Short Duration High Yield Bond Fund.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Termination of the Advisory Relationship: A client agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of written notice. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded. In calculating a client's reimbursement of fees, we will pro rate the reimbursement according to the number of days remaining in the billing period.

Mutual Fund Fees: All fees paid to First Western Capital Management for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and/or ETFs to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could invest in a mutual fund directly, without our services. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by our firm which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and our fees to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

Additional Fees and Expenses: In addition to our advisory fees, clients are also responsible for the fees and expenses charged by custodians and imposed by broker dealers, including, but not limited to, any transaction charges imposed by a broker dealer with which an independent investment manager effects transactions for the client's account(s). Please refer to the "Brokerage Practices" section (Item 12) of this Form ADV for additional information.

Grandfathering of Minimum Account Requirements: Pre-existing advisory clients are subject to First Western Capital Management's minimum account requirements and advisory fees in effect at the time the client entered into the advisory relationship. Therefore, our firm's minimum account requirements will differ among clients.

ERISA Accounts: First Western Capital Management is deemed to be a fiduciary to advisory clients that are employee benefit plans or individual retirement accounts (IRAs) pursuant to the Employee Retirement Income and Securities Act ("ERISA"), and regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the "Code"), respectively. As such, our firm is subject to specific duties and obligations under ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code that include among other things, restrictions concerning certain forms of compensation. To avoid engaging in prohibited transactions, First Western Capital Management may only charge fees for investment advice about products for which our firm and/or our related persons do not receive any commissions or 12b-1 fees.

Advisory Fees in General: Clients should note that similar advisory services may (or may not) be available from other registered (or unregistered) investment advisers for similar or lower fees.

Limited Prepayment of Fees: Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1200 more than six months in advance of services rendered.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES

As we disclosed in Item 5 of this Brochure, our firm accepts a performance-based fee from clients who invest in certain of our limited partnerships or separate accounts. Such a performance-based fee is calculated based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of the partnership. To qualify for a performance-based fee arrangement, a limited partner must either demonstrate a net worth exceeding $2 million or must have at least $1 million in assets under management with us.

Clients should be aware that performance-based fee arrangement may create an incentive for us to recommend investments which may be riskier or more speculative than those which would be recommended under a different fee arrangement. First Western Capital Management endeavors at all times to put the interest of its clients first as part of our fiduciary duty as a registered investment adviser.

Furthermore, as we also have clients who do not pay performance-based fees, we have an incentive to favor accounts that do pay such fees because compensation we receive from these clients is more directly tied to the performance of their accounts.

Item 7 Types of Clients

First Western Capital Management provides advisory services to the following types of clients:

- High net worth individuals
- Individual clients, other than high net worth
- Investment companies(including mutual funds)
- Pension and profit sharing plans(other than plan participants)
- Charitable organizations
- Corporations or other businesses not listed above
- State or municipal government entities

As previously disclosed in Item 5, our firm has established certain initial minimum account requirements, based on the nature of the service(s) being provided. For a more detailed understanding of those requirements, please review the disclosures provided in each applicable service.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

We use the following methods of analysis in formulating our investment advice and/or managing client assets:

Fundamental Analysis. We attempt to measure the intrinsic value of a security by looking at economic and financial factors (including the overall economy, industry conditions, and the financial condition and management of the company itself) to determine if the company is underpriced (indicating it may be a good time to buy) or overpriced (indicating it may be time to sell).

Fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating the stock.

Quantitative Analysis. We use mathematical models in an attempt to obtain more accurate measurements of a company's quantifiable data, such as the value of a share price or earnings per share, and predict changes to that data.

A risk in using quantitative analysis is that the models used may be based on assumptions that prove to be incorrect.

Qualitative Analysis. We subjectively evaluate non-quantifiable factors such as quality of management, labor relations, and strength of research and development factors not readily subject to measurement, and predict changes to share price based on that data.

A risk in using qualitative analysis is that our subjective judgment may prove incorrect.

Risks for all forms of analysis. Our securities analysis methods rely on the assumption that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information about these securities, are providing accurate and unbiased data. While we are alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

We use the following strategy(ies) in managing client accounts, provided that such strategy(ies) are appropriate to the needs of the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives, risk tolerance, and time horizons, among other considerations:

Long-term purchases. We purchase securities with the idea of holding them in the client's account for a year or longer. Typically we employ this strategy when:

- we believe the securities to be currently undervalued, and/or
- we want exposure to a particular asset class over time, regardless of the current projection for this class.

A risk in a long-term purchase strategy is that by holding the security for this length of time, we may not take advantage of short-term gains that could be profitable to a client. Moreover, if our predictions are incorrect, a security may decline sharply in value before we make the decision to sell.

Short-term purchases. When utilizing this strategy, we purchase securities with the idea of selling them within a relatively short time (typically a year or less). We do this in an attempt to take advantage of conditions that we believe will soon result in a price swing in the securities we purchase.

Trading. We purchase securities with the idea of selling them very quickly (typically within 30 days or less). We do this in an attempt to take advantage of our predictions of brief price swings.

Short sales. We borrow shares of a stock for your portfolio from someone who owns the stock on a promise to replace the shares on a future date at a certain price. Those borrowed shares are then sold. On the agreed-upon future date, we buy the same stock and return the shares to the original owner. We engage in short selling based on our determination that the stock will go down in price after we have borrowed the shares. If we are correct and the stock price has gone down since the shares were purchased from the original owner, the client account realizes the profit.

Margin transactions. We may purchase stocks for your portfolio with money borrowed against securities from your brokerage account. This allows you to purchase more stock than you would be able to with your available cash, and allows us to purchase stock without selling other holdings.

Option writing. We may use options as an investment strategy. An option is a contract that gives the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell an asset (such as a share of stock) at a specific price on or before a certain date. An option, just like a stock or bond, is a security. An option is also a derivative, because it derives its value from an underlying asset.

The two types of options are calls and puts:

- A call gives us the right to buy an asset at a certain price within a specific period of time. We will buy a call if we have determined that the stock will increase substantially before the option expires.
- A put gives us the holder the right to sell an asset at a certain price within a specific period of time. We will buy a put if we have determined that the price of the stock will fall before the option expires.

We will use options to speculate on the possibility of a sharp price swing. We will also use options to "hedge" a purchase of the underlying security; in other words, we will use an option purchase to limit the potential upside and downside of a security we have purchased for your portfolio.

We use "covered calls", in which we sell an option on security you own. In this strategy, you receive a fee for making the option available, and the person purchasing the option has the right to buy the security from you at an agreed-upon price.

We may use a "spreading strategy", in which we purchase two or more option contracts (for example, a call option that you buy and a call option that you sell) for the same underlying security. This effectively puts you on both sides of the market, but with the ability to vary price, time and other factors.

Specific Investment Strategies

Equity Growth

FWCM invests assets primarily in the purchase of publicly traded common stocks, convertible preferred stocks and corporate convertible bonds. The objective is long-term capital appreciation through investment primarily in corporate equity securities that FWCM believes to be significantly undervalued.

Fixed Income

FWCM's fixed-income portfolio consists primarily of investment grade securities that FWCM believes are capable of achieving three primary objectives: 1) producing returns higher than those offered by short-term United States Government securities; 2) maintaining low exposure to risk; and 3) preserving the returns earned.

High Yield Capital Appreciation

The primary objective is to achieve a return in excess of the comparable return of the Merrill Lynch High Yield Index through investment primarily in non-investment grade debt securities that FWCM believes to have satisfactory fundamentals with strong industry economic trends or were issued by companies within weak economic sectors that appear to have reasonably sound or improving credit characteristics.

High Income

The primary objective is high current yield and total return, through investing in non-investment grade debt, especially targeting securities which FWCM believes are likely to be called or redeemed in the foreseeable future. Through low volatility of both securities and portfolio return, FWCM strives to provide an appropriate investment vehicle for investors who are seeking primarily high current yield, at less than average risk than other non-investment grade portfolios.

California Tax Exempt

The portfolio consists primarily but not necessarily exclusively of, California tax exempt securities that are rated investment grade at the time of purchase and that FWCM believes are capable of achieving three primary objectives: 1) producing for individuals and corporations resident in California, after-tax returns higher than those offered by intermediate-term United States Government securities; 2) maintaining low exposure to risk; and 3) preserving the returns earned.

Income Equity

Income Equity is a diversified long-only structure to provide current income competitive with the rate available on intermediate maturity investment grade bonds. Our goal is to achieve a growth rate on that stream of income that can be expected to compound at a rate in excess of the rate of inflation. From Time to time, the Income Equity strategy generates additional income from covered call buyright programs. When interest rates are expected to be rising, interest rate risk will be hedged by employing various hedging strategies. The strategy is expected to generate a growing stream of tax-advantaged income.

Senior Loans

The strategy intends to invest and trade primarily in senior loans and other securities, whether publicly traded or privately placed, that FWCM believes have satisfactory fundamentals with strong industry economic trends or are within weak economic sectors that appear to have reasonably sound or improving credit characteristics. FWCM seeks to achieve a total return in excess of the comparable return of the S&P/LSTA Leveraged Loans Index.

National Tax Exempt

The strategy seeks to achieve maximum income and capital preservation by investing primarily in investment grade municipal bonds and tax exempt securities from various states.

Risk of Loss. Securities investments are not guaranteed and you may lose money on your investments. We ask that you work with us to help us understand your tolerance for risk. Clients should understand that investing in any securities, including mutual funds, involves a risk of loss of both income and principal.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

We are required to disclose any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management. Our supervised persons are required to report certain other legal and disciplinary matters in their ADV Part 2B Supplement.

Our firm and our management personnel have no reportable disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

FWCM is an affiliate of a registered investment adviser, First Western Investment Management; a FDIC/ State registered Bank, First Western Trust Bank; and an investment agency, First Western Insurance Advisors, all of whose advisory services are distinct from those provided by our firm and are provided for separate compensation. FWCM's investment management may be recommended to their clients for whom it is appropriate. There are no referral fee arrangements between our firms. No affiliate investment advisory firm is obligated to use First Western Capital Management or its services. Clients choosing to implement First Western Capital Management's recommendations through an affiliate's advisory services should refer to their Firm's Brochure or other disclosure document for details regarding that

First Western Capital Management and our personnel owe a duty of loyalty, fairness and good faith towards our clients, and have an obligation to adhere not only to the specific provisions of the Code of Ethics but to the general principles that guide the Code.

Our Code of Ethics includes policies and procedures for the review of quarterly securities transactions reports as well as initial and annual securities holdings reports that must be submitted by the firm's access persons. Among other things, our Code of Ethics also requires the prior approval of any acquisition of securities in a limited offering (e.g., private placement) or an initial public offering. Our code also provides for oversight, enforcement and recordkeeping provisions.

First Western Capital Management's Code of Ethics further includes the firm's policy prohibiting the use of material non-public information to assure that we don't trade on the basis of material non-public information. While we do not believe that we have any particular access to non-public information, all employees are reminded that such information may not be used in a personal or professional capacity.

A copy of our Code of Ethics is available to our advisory clients and prospective clients. You may request a copy by email sent to david.kahn@fwcapmgmt.com, or by calling us at 310-229-2940.

First Western Capital Management and individuals associated with our firm are prohibited from engaging in principal transactions with our clients.

First Western Capital Management may, at times, effect an agency cross transaction for an advisory client, provided that the transaction is consistent with our firm's fiduciary duty to the client and that all requirements outlined in Sec. 206(3)-2 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 are met.

An agency cross transaction is a transaction where our firm acts as an investment adviser in relation to a transaction in which FWCM acts as broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction.

FWCM may affect cross-trades between or among client accounts unless prohibited or restricted by applicable law (e.g. ERISA), if permitted by a client's account agreement. Such transactions are effected only when FWCM wishes to dispose of securities in a client's account, which are appropriate to purchase for another client's account. In effecting such cross-trades, FWCM seeks to reduce the transaction costs to its clients of such account adjustments. Any such cross-trades will be consistent with the investment objectives and policies of each client account involved in the trade, and will be executed through an unaffiliated broker-dealer for a nominal transaction cost (currently $100 per transaction) at a current independent market price for the securities involved in the trade. FWCM has a fiduciary duty to both clients participating in any such cross-transaction, and such trades may involve potential conflicts of interest on the part of FWCM. FWCM may have an incentive to purchase securities for a client account from another client account although there may be other investment opportunities that would better serve the interest of the purchasing client. In addition, FWCM may receive soft dollar credits from some executing broker-dealers in connection with such transactions (in which cases it may be deemed to be "acting as a broker" in connection with the transactions for the purposes of section 206(3) of the Investment.

First Western Capital Management is the General Partner (GP) of all of its current limited partnerships, listed in the is Brochure. First Western Capital Management, as the GP, has primary responsibility for investment management and administrative matters, such as accounting tax and periodic reporting, pertaining to the partnerships. First Western Capital Management and our members, officers and employees will devote to the partnerships as much time as we deem necessary and appropriate to manage the partnerships' business. First Western Capital Management and our affiliates are not restricted from forming additional investment funds, entering into other investment advisory relationships or engaging in other business activities, even though such activities may be in competition with the partnerships and/or may involve substantial time and resources of our firm and our affiliates. Potentially, such activities could be viewed as creating a conflict of interest in that the time and effort of our management personnel and employees will not be devoted exclusively to the business of the partnerships, but could be allocated between the business of the partnerships and other of our business activities and those of our affiliates.

Investments in the partnerships may be recommended to advisory clients for whom a partnership investment may be more suitable than would a separate advisory account managed by our firm. Clients who invest in the partnership are not charged any additional advisory fees other than the advisory fee allocated to the limited partners of the Fund.

The Fund is not required to register as an investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940 in reliance upon an exemption available to funds whose securities are not publicly offered. First Western Capital Management manages the Fund on a discretionary basis in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Fund's offering and organizational documents.

As previously disclosed in this brochure, First Western Capital Management is the investment adviser to a mutual fund. Please refer to "Advisory Business" (Item 4) and "Fees and Compensation" (Item 5) for a detailed explanation of this relationship and important conflict of interest disclosure.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

For discretionary clients, First Western Capital Management requires these clients to provide us with written authority to determine the broker dealer to use and the commission costs that will be charged to these clients for these transactions.

These clients must include any limitations on this discretionary authority in this written authority statement. Clients may change/amend these limitations as required. Such amendments must be provided to us in writing.

First Western Capital Management will endeavor to select those brokers or dealers which will provide the best services at the lowest commission rates possible. The reasonableness of commissions is based on the broker's stability, reputation, ability to provide professional services, competitive commission rates and prices, research, trading platform, and other services which will help First Western Capital Management in providing investment management services to clients. First Western Capital Management may, therefore recommend (or use) the use of a broker who provides useful research and securities transaction services even though a lower commission may be charged by a broker who offers no research services and minimal securities transaction assistance. Research services may be useful in servicing all our clients, and not all of such research may be useful for the account for which the particular transaction was effected.

Consistent with obtaining best execution for clients, First Western Capital Management may direct brokerage transactions for clients' portfolios to brokers who provide research and execution services to First Western Capital Management and, indirectly, to First Western Capital Management's clients. These services are of the type described in Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and are designed to augment our own internal research and investment strategy capabilities. This may be done without prior agreement or understanding by the client (and done at our discretion). Research services obtained through the use of soft dollars may be developed by brokers to whom brokerage is directed or by third-parties which are compensated by the broker. First Western Capital Management does not attempt to put a specific dollar value on the services rendered or to allocate the relative costs or benefits of those services among clients, believing that the research we receive will help us to fulfill our overall duty to our clients. First Western Capital Management may not use each particular research service, however, to service each client. As a result, a client may pay brokerage commissions that are used, in part, to purchase research services that are not used to benefit that specific client. Broker-dealers we select may be paid commissions for effecting transactions for our clients that exceed the amounts other broker-dealers would have charged for effecting these transactions if First Western Capital Management determines in good faith that such amounts are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and/or research services provided by those broker-dealers, viewed either in terms of a particular transaction or our overall duty to its ('brokerage') discretionary client accounts.

Certain items obtainable with soft dollars may not be used exclusively for either execution or research services. The cost of such "mixed-use" products or services will be fairly allocated and First Western Capital Management makes a good faith effort to determine the percentage of such products or services which may be considered as investment research. The portions of the costs attributable to non-research usage of such products or services are paid by our firm to the broker-dealer in accordance with the provisions of Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

When First Western Capital Management uses client brokerage commissions to obtain research or brokerage services, we receive a benefit to the extent that First Western Capital Management does not have to produce such products internally or compensate third-parties with our own money for the delivery of such services. Therefore, such use of client brokerage commissions results in a conflict of interest, because we have an incentive to direct client brokerage to those brokers who provide research and services we utilize, even if these brokers do not offer the best price or commission rates for our clients.

Within our last fiscal year, we have obtained the following products and services on a soft-dollar basis:

Economic commentaries from Free Market, Inc., Highview Economics and Credit Sights. Additional Bloomberg access licenses.

First Western Capital Management will utilize block trades where possible and when advantageous to clients. This blocking of trades permits the trading of aggregate blocks of securities composed of assets from multiple client accounts, so long as transaction costs are shared equally and on a pro-rated basis between all accounts included in any such block, however transaction costs may be driven by the custodian as described below.

Block trading may allow us to execute equity trades in a timelier, more equitable manner, at an average share price. First Western Capital Management will typically aggregate trades among clients whose accounts can be traded at a given broker, and generally will rotate or vary the order of brokers through which it places trades for clients on any particular day. First Western Capital Management's block trading policy and procedures are as follows:

- 1) Transactions for any client account may not be aggregated for execution if the practice is prohibited by or inconsistent with the client's advisory agreement with First Western Capital Management, or our firm's order allocation policy.
- 2) The trading desk in concert with the portfolio manager must determine that the purchase or sale of the particular security involved is appropriate for the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives and with any investment guidelines or restrictions applicable to the client's account.
- 3) The portfolio manager must reasonably believe that the order aggregation will benefit, and will enable First Western Capital Management to seek best execution for each client participating in the aggregated order. This requires a good faith judgment at the time the order is placed for the execution. It does not mean that the determination made in advance of the transaction must always prove to have been correct in the light of a "20-20 hindsight" perspective. Best execution includes the duty to seek the best quality of execution, as well as the best net price.
- 4) Prior to entry of an aggregated order, documentation is completed which identifies each client account participating in the order and the proposed allocation of the order, upon completion, to those clients.
- 5) If the order cannot be executed in full at the same price or time, the securities actually purchased or sold by the close of each business day must be allocated pro rata among the participating client accounts in accordance with the initial order ticket or other written statement of allocation. However, adjustments to this pro rata allocation may be made to participating client accounts in accordance with the initial order ticket or other written statement of allocation. Furthermore, adjustments to this pro rata allocation may be made to avoid having odd amounts of shares held in any client account, or to avoid excessive ticket charges in smaller accounts.

6) Generally, each client that participates in the aggregated order must do so at the average price for all separate transactions made to fill the order, and must share in the commissions on a pro rata basis in proportion to the client's participation. Under the client's agreement with the custodian/broker, transaction costs may be based on the number of shares traded for each client.

7) If the order will be allocated in a manner other than that stated in the initial statement of allocation, an explanation of the change must be provided to and approved by the Chief Compliance Officer, or their designee.

8) First Western Capital Management's client account records separately reflect, for each account in which the aggregated transaction occurred, the securities which are held by, and bought and sold for, that account.

9) Funds and securities for aggregated orders are clearly identified on First Western Capital Management's records and to the broker-dealers or other intermediaries handling the transactions, by the appropriate account numbers for each participating client.

10) No client or account will be favored over another.

First Western Capital Management has an arrangement with National Financial Services LLC, and Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC (together with all affiliates, "Fidelity") through which Fidelity provides our firm with their "platform" services. The platform services include, among others, brokerage, custodial, administrative support, record keeping and related services that are intended to support intermediaries like First Western Capital Management in conducting business and in serving the best interests of our clients but that may also benefit us.

Fidelity charges brokerage commissions and transaction fees for effecting certain securities transactions (i.e., transactions fees are charged for certain no-load mutual funds, commissions are charged for individual equity and debt securities transactions). Fidelity's commission rates are generally considered discounted from customary retail commission rates. However, the commissions and transaction fees charged by Fidelity may be higher or lower than those charged by other custodians and broker-dealers.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

INVESTMENT SUPERVISORY SERVICES ("ISS") PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

REVIEWS: While the underlying securities within portfolio management services accounts are continually monitored, these accounts are reviewed at least quarterly. Accounts are reviewed in the context of each client's stated investment objectives and guidelines. More frequent reviews may be triggered by material changes in variables such as the client's circumstances, or the market, political or economic environment.

These accounts are reviewed by the respective Portfolio Manager: Kenneth Malamed - Chief Investment Officer, Steven Michaels - Managing Director, or Barry Julien - Managing Director.

REPORTS: In addition to the monthly statements and confirmations of transactions that clients receive from their broker-dealer, we may also send periodic reports including appraisals and performance.

MUTUAL FUND PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

REVIEWS: First Western Capital Management continually reviews and monitors the Forward Fund's holdings and the First Trust ETF in accordance with the investment objectives as detailed in the Fund Prospectus.

REPORTS: Clients should refer to the Fund Prospectus for information regarding regular reports to the fund by First Western Capital Management.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

CLIENT REFERRALS

Our firm may pay referral fees to independent persons or firms ("Solicitors") for introducing clients to us. Whenever we pay a referral fee, we require the Solicitor to provide the prospective client with a copy of this document (our Firm Brochure) and a separate disclosure statement that includes the following information:

- the Solicitor's name and relationship with our firm;
- the fact that the Solicitor is being paid a referral fee;
- the amount of the fee; and
- whether the fee paid to us by the client will be increased above our normal fees in order to compensate the Solicitor.

As a matter of firm practice, the advisory fees paid to us by clients referred by solicitors are not increased as a result of any referral.

It is First Western Capital Management's policy not to accept or allow our related persons to accept any form of compensation, including cash, sales awards or other prizes, from a non-client in conjunction with the advisory services we provide to our clients.

Item 15 Custody

We previously disclosed in the "Fees and Compensation" section (Item 5) of this Brochure that our firm directly debits advisory fees from client accounts.

As part of this billing process, the client's custodian is advised of the amount of the fee to be deducted from that client's account. On at least a quarterly basis, the custodian is required to send to the client a statement showing all transactions within the account during the reporting period.

Because the custodian does not calculate the amount of the fee to be deducted, it is important for clients to carefully review their custodial statements to verify the accuracy of the calculation, among other things. Clients should contact us directly if they believe that there may be an error in their statement.

In addition to the periodic statements that clients receive directly from their custodians, we may also send periodic appraisal and performance statements.

FWCM is considered to have custody of client assets as a result of managing pooled assets as defined in the Custody Rule 206(4)-2 under the Investment Advisors Act of 1940. An independent public accountant audits annually, the pooled investment vehicle(s) that FWCM manages and the audited financial statements are distributed to the investors in the pool within the required timeframe.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Clients may hire us to provide discretionary asset management services, in which case we place trades in a client's account without contacting the client prior to each trade to obtain the client's permission.

Our discretionary authority includes the ability to do the following without contacting the client:

- determine the security to buy or sell; and/or
- determine the amount of the security to buy or sell

Clients give us discretionary authority when they sign a discretionary agreement with our firm, and may limit this authority by giving us written instructions. Clients may also change/amend such limitations by once again providing us with written instructions.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

We vote proxies for client accounts upon written request.

We will vote proxies in the best interests of its clients and in accordance with our established policies and procedures. Our firm will retain all proxy voting books and records for the requisite period of time, including a copy of each proxy statement received, a record of each vote cast, a copy of any document created by us that was material to making a decision how to vote proxies, and a copy of each written client request for information on how the adviser voted proxies. If our firm has a conflict of interest in voting a particular action, we will notify the client of the conflict and retain an independent third-party to cast a vote.

Clients may obtain a copy of our complete proxy voting policies and procedures by contacting us by telephone, email, or in writing. Clients may request, in writing, information on how proxies for his/her shares were voted. If any client requests a copy of our complete proxy policies and procedures or how we voted proxies for his/her account(s), we will promptly provide such information to the client.

With respect to ERISA accounts, we will vote proxies unless the plan documents specifically reserve the plan sponsor's right to vote proxies. To direct us to vote a proxy in a particular manner, clients should contact us directly by telephone, email, or in writing.

We vote proxies for some, but not all of our clients. Clients may, at their election, choose to receive proxies related to their own accounts, in which case we may consult with clients as requested.

For accounts where we do not vote proxies, our firm may provide investment advisory services relative to client investment assets, clients maintain exclusive responsibility for: (1) directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by the client shall be voted, and (2) making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other type events pertaining to the client's investment assets. Clients are responsible for instructing each custodian of the assets to forward to the client copies of all proxies and shareholder communications relating to the client's investment assets.

We do not offer any consulting assistance regarding proxy issues to clients. We will neither advise nor act on behalf of the client in legal proceedings involving companies whose securities are held in the client's account(s), including, but not limited to, the filing of "Proofs of Claim" in class action settlements. If desired, clients may direct us to transmit copies of class action notices to the client or a third party. Upon such direction, we will make commercially reasonable efforts to forward such notices in a timely manner.

Item 18 Financial Information

As an advisory firm that maintains discretionary authority for client accounts, we are also required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonable likely to impair our ability to meet our contractual obligations. First Western Capital Management has no additional financial circumstances to report.

Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1200 per client more than six months in advance of services rendered. Therefore, we are not required to include a financial statement.

First Western Capital Management has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.
