2. Material Changes

The following changes have occurred since the previous Disclosure Brochure completed by Abbey Capital:

1. Following a decision by the fund's major seeder and investor to redeem its investments, Abbey Capital decided to close the Abbey Capital Fund L.P. as at March 2, 2012. The last calculation of the Net Asset Value of the Abbey Capital Fund L.P. was made on March 2, 2012. The Abbey Capital Fund L.P. is totally independent from the ACL Alternative Fund and as such the closure has no effect on the ACL Alternative Fund.
2. The 25% limit on investments by benefit plan investors<sup>1</sup> to the Abbey Capital Multi-Manager Fund ("ACMMF") was removed as of January 1, 2012. The assets of the ACMMF are now treated as "plan assets" of benefit plan investors investing in the ACMMF for the purposes of the fiduciary responsibility standards and prohibited transaction restrictions of the U.S. Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (ERISA) and the parallel prohibited transactions excise tax provisions of Section 4975 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.
3. Abbey Capital is in the process of launching the Abbey Capital (Japan) Trust, a new fund domiciled in Japan which will be a feeder fund of the ACL Alternative Fund. It is expected that the new fund will be seeded in the second quarter of 2012.

Abbey Capital ACL Alternative Fund	Daily
Abbey Capital Multi-Manager Fund Limited	Monthly
Abbey Global LP	Monthly
ACL Global Fund	Monthly

For its flagship multi-manager fund, Abbey Capital seeks to construct robust portfolios by selecting managers/CTAs with a proven track record. Abbey Capital looks to combine CTAs in order to strengthen the risk-reward ratio and thereby sets margin limits on CTAs, trading styles and the portfolio. This relies on continuous monitoring of a wide range of measures including:

- the volatility level of each CTA's trading,
- the drawdown of each CTA,
- margin levels in relation to the CTA, and
- the stop-loss levels at which Abbey Capital will remove a CTA from a fund's portfolio.

Abbey Capital uses proprietary probability distribution functions together with simulation techniques to derive realistic expectations not only for returns and volatility but also for the length and depth of drawdowns experienced at fund and CTA levels.

In relation to CTA selection, an extensive Due Diligence process is undertaken, including on-site visits, to identify and monitor operational risks. Abbey carefully selects CTAs by markets traded, time frames used, and trading styles. The portfolios of the funds managed by Abbey Capital are designed on a robust, rather than an optimised, basis.

Prospective investors must therefore meet the requirement of being an Accredited Investor and a QEP in order to invest in the funds.

8. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

The investment objectives, and the methods and strategies employed by Abbey Capital and the CTAs, and the risks associated with such strategies, are described in detail in the PPM for each fund, and are outlined briefly herein.

In relation to Portfolio Construction for Abbey Capital's flagship multi-manager fund, Abbey Capital uses proprietary allocation models, analysing returns, volatility and correlation between CTAs. CTA selection is based on qualitative and quantitative factors with a stringent due diligence process. The funds allocate nominal funds to underlying CTAs so that a target cumulative summated volatility exposure is achieved.

Once constructed, the overall portfolio and each underlying CTA is analysed daily so that adjustments and/or replacements can be made as appropriate. Information used in this process includes: the track record information received from CTAs (a minimum of five-years investment experience and two-year track record is required, information from multiple on-site meetings, references and information from external sources, and a detailed due diligence process

The risks associated with the investment strategies of the funds managed by Abbey Capital include but are not limited to the following :

General Risk

Trading in futures is not suitable for all investors given its speculative nature and the risk of loss involved. There can be no assurance that any of the funds will achieve its investment objectives and an investment in the any fund entails risks including the risk of losing all of such investment.

Prospective investors should take appropriate investment advice and inform themselves as to applicable legal requirements, exchange control regulations and taxes in the countries of their citizenship, residence or domicile. Investors must make their own investment decision, having reviewed the PPM carefully and consider whether trading is appropriate for them in light of their experience, specific investment objectives and financial position, and using such independent advisors as they believe necessary.

Abbey Capital does not recommend a particular type of security, it constructs portfolios on the basis of carefully selected CTAs.

Credit risk

Except for Abbey Global LP, all leverage within the funds managed by Abbey Capital is achieved through the use of margin only and, as a result, the funds have no borrowing. The funds do, however, have credit risk in terms of their cash management policies and the Custodian, brokers and underlying banks with which excess liquidity is placed on a daily basis. Bank deposits are limited to A1/P1 banks and strict limits are in place with respect to any one institution.

Volatility

Abbey Capital's flagship multi-manager funds allocate on the basis of volatility and look to normalise the different underlying managers in the funds when comparing returns. The funds allocate notional funds to all CTAs so that a target cumulative summated volatility exposure is achieved.

The main volatility risk to these funds is that an underlying manager would trade significantly above or below their established volatility target. The structure used to allocate assets to underlying managers means that Abbey Capital has full transparency of the volatility of each manager's position.

Rolling volatility is monitored at the fund and underlying manager level on a daily basis. The key metric used is the targeted volatility at the manager level and twice a year a full review of the underlying manager's target volatility is undertaken to ensure consistency.

Other risks, which include but are not limited to, liquidity, currency, settlement, Investment Manager, and CTA risk, are outlined in more detail in the PPM for each fund.

The Credit Committee of Abbey Capital approves the clearing brokers that the funds utilize based on due diligence carried out by the company's CFO and COO. The credit committee is comprised of the CEO, Director of Research, Head of Research, CFO, Risk Officer and Treasury Manager.

The compensation terms for brokers (clearing, execution fees and interest terms) are reviewed as part of the annual review of the relationship with the broker.

Abbey Capital does not permit the funds to direct brokerage. The clearing broker selection process is carried out by Abbey Capital, following its own internal due diligence process.

The CTAs for each fund determine the executing brokers to be used and the commission rates paid. Abbey Capital reviews the brokerage costs of each fund on an annual basis.

13. Review of Accounts

The CTA portfolios are monitored on a daily basis using a proprietary risk management system. Parameters have been set in relation to return, volatility etc and these are monitored by the Research team to ensure CTAs and the portfolio are trading within agreed levels that are set out in the PPM and/or in the CTA agreements. Changes in trading style, frequency etc will be highlighted by the system and investigated by the team.

All allocation decisions are made by Abbey Capital as Investment Manager. The Investment Committee of Abbey Capital (which comprises the CEO, Director of Research, COO and Head of Research) decides on CTA allocations and any changes thereto, and these are carried out by the research team. The Investment Committee meets semi annually with Abbey Capital's Risk and Research team to review all CTAs.

Abbey Capital's Risk and Research team reports on manager activity to the Investment Committee on a daily basis.

Summary of Risk Management Process

Abbey Capital has developed a tiered risk management system incorporating both quantitative and qualitative risk measures to monitor and control exposure to the CTAs.

On-Going Monitoring

Proprietary risk management systems, including a "Red Flag", have been developed in order to monitor:

a)	Internal deviations from historic track record P&L, volatility, focus of investments, maximum draw-downs and asset concentration
b)	Internal deviations from expected track record
c)	External changes in marketplace - market liquidity, market volatility
d)	Correlations among components of portfolios in order to ensure that overall diversification are not reduced.

Every CTA/manager is visited on-site at least once each year. Abbey Capital also monitors structural internal changes within CTAs, including loss of personnel and movements in funds under management.

Stop-Loss Contingency

Predetermined stop loss levels are in place for each CTA. Managers can be terminated, and positions closed out, by Abbey Capital, if required.

Daily data is a minimum requirement and the fund will not allocate to a manager who is unable to provide this. We also require monthly performance reports from each manager and can initiate calls as required.

14. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Abbey Capital has entered into agreements with non-affiliated parties (that are suitably registered to distribute or market the fund in their jurisdiction), where Abbey pays a portion of the management and/or incentive fee it receives from the fund, to such party in respect of investors introduced to the fund, or investors that the fund has been distributed to. Client (fund) referrals are not applicable.

15. Custody

The funds managed by Abbey Capital, are, with the exception of one, domiciled offshore. Under sub-section b(b)(5) of Rule 203(b)(3)-1 (Definition of Client), Abbey is not required to count clients that are not United States residents and therefore these offshore funds are not subject to the custody rule.

Abbey Capital acts as General Partner for the U.S. domiciled fund, Abbey Global LP and is therefore deemed to have custody over its assets. The assets of this fund are placed with a registered broker dealer, and are recorded in the name of the fund. The fund's investment in ACL Alternative Fund is also registered in the name of the fund. The fund prepares annual audited accounts, which are provided to its partners within 120 days of its financial year end. The fund is valued by an independent administrator, and the partners receive monthly information from Abbey Capital as well as quarterly net asset value statements from the Administrator.

16. Investment Discretion

Abbey Capital manages all of the funds on a discretionary basis. This means that Abbey Capital has the authority to buy and sell securities (in relation to one of its funds) and to trade futures and hire and fire CTAs (in relation to its other funds), without obtaining prior client (fund) approval. While day to day trade selection is undertaken by the CTAs appointed by Abbey Capital to the funds, Abbey Capital is responsible for the larger strategic investment decisions such as determining, with board approval, a particular fund's investment strategy. Abbey Capital is also responsible for CTA style combination and on-going risk management.

Abbey Capital's discretionary role is outlined in each Investment Management Agreement entered into with a fund.

17. Voting Client Securities

Abbey Capital has adopted a policy and procedures ("Procedures") that are used to vote any proxies relating to portfolio securities held by any fund. The Procedures are designed to ensure that proxies are voted in the best interests of that fund's shareholders, with the goal of maximizing value to shareholders consistent with governing laws and the investment policies of the fund. Any potential conflict of interest involving Abbey Capital or any affiliate regarding a proxy is avoided through the strict and objective application of the fund's voting guidelines.
