Product Type Limitations

We generally provide investment advice in relation to the following specific types of securities/investments: exchange listed equities (U.S.), and equities of foreign issuers (non-U.S.).

Our Services

Service:	Ongoing Asset Management
Service description:	FOUR provides specialized investment management services to international investors. FOUR has been registered with the Financial Services Authority (öFSAö) since January 2007. Most recently, FOUR has embarked on the provision of its specialized management services to select U.S.-based investment companies and other institutional clients thus triggering the need for its registration as an investment adviser with the SEC. For the purpose of our investment adviser registration with the SEC, we may provide ongoing asset management services to various types of pooled investment vehicles and separately managed accounts (öSMAö) for institutional clients. The types of pooled investment vehicles to whom we may provide our ongoing asset management services may include either domestic (i.e. U.S.) or foreign (i.e. non-U.S.) investment companies, some of which may be registered with the SEC under the Investment Company Act of

	1940 (i.e. "1940 Act Funds") or other unregistered investment companies (domestic or foreign) that are exempt from registration under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as well as the Securities Act of 1933 ("Unregistered Funds"). Collectively, these types of clients shall be referred to as "Funds," or individually, "Fund" for the purpose of this Brochure. In relation to the services mentioned above, we may serve either as the Principal Adviser or a Sub-Adviser to the Funds. Serving as Principal Adviser As Principal Adviser, we will manage (on a discretionary basis) the assets of the Funds and SMAs in accordance with the overall investment objectives and risk profile of each such Fund or SMA client guidelines and restrictions. Different strategies may be carried out for each Fund or SMA and therefore, there should be no expectation that the performance of any individual Fund or SMA would or should be the same or similar to that of any other Fund or SMA. As part of our asset management services and as Principal Adviser, we may handle a portion of the administrative functions related to the Funds or SMA we manage. Among other things, included in those administrative functions are the coordination of investor subscriptions or withdrawals in to the Funds; overall investor relations; accounting; coordination of annual financial audits (as applicable) for the Funds; and investor reporting. Unless agreed to separately, our asset management services do not involve the provision of specific investment advisory services to individuals (in general) or individual investors in the Funds but rather focuses on institutional clients. Serving as Sub-Adviser As Sub-Adviser, we will manage (on a discretionary basis) the assets of the Funds in accordance with the overall investment objectives and risk profile of each such Fund as set forth by the Fund's principal adviser and/or board of directors (as applicable). No performance fee shall be paid unless the value of such shares is greater than the prior high net asset value of the Fund's outstanding shares. If there were losses during the year in which performance was calculated, those losses will be carried forward into the next year for the purpose of calculating the profit figure on which FOUR's performance-based fee is calculated. Losses carried forward will have to be recovered before any future performance fees will be assessed. None of the investment companies registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 in which FOUR serves as the Sub-Adviser will incur any performance-based fees. Specific fee arrangements will be set forth in the client's Agreement with us.

Advanced billing and refunds:	FOUR does not charge its advisory fees in advance. Specific fee arrangements will be set forth in the Fund's or SMA's Agreement with us.

IV.(C). Customization of Advisory Services

To the fullest extent possible, we will endeavor to tailor our advisory services to meet the specific needs of each and every client. In order to determine a suitable course of action for an individual client, we will perform a review of our client's financial circumstances and other factors that may influence the investment recommendations we may make to you from time to time. Such review may include, but would not necessarily be limited to, investment objectives, consideration of a client's overall financial condition, income and tax status, personal and business assets, risk profile, and other factors unique to a client's particular circumstances.

Our clients are free to impose any restrictions or other conditions with regard to how we provide our advisory services. If we agree to such restrictions and/or conditions, please be advised that restrictions and guidelines that you impose on our investment management functions may affect the composition and performance of custom portfolios (as a result, performance of custom portfolios within the same investment objective may differ and you should not expect that the performance of a custom portfolio will be identical to any other individual's portfolio performance) as well as any recommendations provided to you.

IV.(D). Wrap Fee Program Participation

None of our investment advisory services involve the use of wrap programs.

IV. (E). Assets Under Management¹ ("AUM")

AUM (discretionary): $ 1,500,000
AUM (non-discretionary): $ 0
Total AUM²: $ 1,500,000
Date of AUM calculation: 30 September 2012

V. Fees and Compensation

V.(A). FOUR Advisory Fees

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

V.(B). Fee Collection Process

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

¹ The term, "assets under management" shall carry the same meaning as that term is defined by Form ADV.

² Rounded to the nearest $100,000

V.(C). Other Fee/Expenses.

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

V.(D). Fees Charged in Advance

Refer above to Item IV.(B).

V.(E). Additional Compensation

Item V.(E) requires us to address situations in which we or any of our supervised persons accepts compensation for the sale of securities or other investment products, including asset-based sales charges or service fees from the sale of mutual funds. Neither we, nor any of our supervised persons are party to such arrangements.

VI. Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

To supplement our discussion of fees and compensation contained in Item IV.(B) above, for certain of our clients, we charge fees that are based on the investment performance of the account or assets that we have been engaged to manage. It is very likely that we may manage a set of assets for one client using a performance-based fee schedule and for a similar type of service for another client, we will charge another type of fee (asset-based, flat, hourly, etc.). Not all clients are eligible for performance-based fees and thus, we will only charge a performance-based fee in relation to accounts/assets for a client meeting the minimum criteria for being charged performance-based fees.

A primary concern with the use of performance-based fees is that they create an incentive for a firm to engage in riskier investment behavior due to the higher return potential. Additionally, assets covered by a performance-based fee may call for a more actively traded account, thus, increasing the overall transaction/trading costs associated with the account/assets. Finally, a firm may have the incentive to favor accounts/assets subject to a performance-based fee over accounts/assets not covered by a performance-based fee for the purpose of maximizing the potential fee revenue from the accounts/assets producing the performance fees.

In an effort to deal with the types of conflicts presented in the preceding paragraph, we regularly monitor client trading activity for the purpose of not only reviewing for the appropriateness of the transactions, but also the appropriateness of the overall fees paid by the client. Our review process in this regard is carried out on no less than an annual basis and generally, we review at least a portion of our clients' accounts/assets for this purpose on a quarterly basis. It is our goal to keep a client's annual service fees related to our advisory services to no more than 2.99% on an annual basis, however, in certain circumstances, a client's overall advisory fee may warrant a fee in excess of 2.99%. In such cases, we will maintain rationale as to why the higher fee is warranted.

VII. Types of Clients

We will generally provide our services to the following types of clients.

- Private funds/pools or other collective investment vehicles
- Investment companies

For information on any minimum fees, minimum initial/ongoing account balances, or other conditions we may impose, please refer to Item IV.(B).

VIII. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

VIII.(A). Methods of Analysis

In the course of our management process and as appropriate on a case by case basis, we will employ some or all of the following methods of analysis. For a description of the risks related to each particular method of analysis, see the information following each analysis method description. A description of each key risk appears later in this section.

Fundamental

Fundamental analysis is generally considered the opposite approach to technical analysis. Fundamental analysis involves the attempt to identify the intrinsic value (i.e. the actual, true/real value) of an investment instrument by examining any related economic, financial, and other quantitative/qualitative factors relevant to that instrument. Fundamental analysis can take into account anything that may impact the underlying value of the instrument. Examples of such things may include large-scale economic issues such as the overall condition or current cycle of the economy, industry-specific or sector-specific conditions, etc. Other company/issuer-specific factors may also be taken into consideration such as the company's/issuer's current financial condition, management experience and capabilities, legal/regulatory matters, the overall type and volume of current and expected business, etc.

One of the goals of fundamental analysis is to attempt to derive a value that can be compared to the current market price for a particular financial instrument in hopes of determining whether the instrument is overpriced (time to sell) or underpriced (time to buy).

Key risk(s): Economic Risk, Financial Risk, Inflation Risk, and Interest Rate Risk.

VIII.(A). (cont.) Investment Strategies

In the course of our management process and as appropriate on a case by case basis, we will employ any of the following investment strategies. For a description of the risks related to each particular investment strategy, see the information following each strategy description. The codes used below relate to risks described further below in this section.

Long-Term Purchases

Long-term purchases generally involve the acquisition of an investment instrument and holding it for a period of at least one year.

Key risk(s): Capital Risk, Economic Risk, Financial Risk, Inflation Risk, Interest Rate Risk, Legal/Regulatory Risk, Liquidity Risk, Market Risk, Operational Risk, and Strategy Risk.

Short-Term Purchases

Short-term purchases generally involve the acquisition of an investment instrument and holding it for a period of not more than one year.

Key risk(s): Capital Risk, Economic Risk, Financial Risk, Higher Trading Costs, Interest Rate Risk, Legal/Regulatory Risk, Liquidity Risk, Market Risk, Operational Risk, and Strategy Risk.

Investing in securities or other investment products involves the risk of loss and you should be prepared to bear such losses.

VIII.(B). Risk Disclosures

Capital Risk

Capital risk is one of the most basic, fundamental risks of investing; it is the risk that you may lose 100 percent of your money. All investments carry some form of risk and the loss of capital is generally a risk for any investment instrument.

Credit Risk

Credit risk can be a factor in situations where an investment's performance relies on a borrower's repayment of borrowed funds. With credit risk, an investor can experience a loss or unfavorable performance if a borrower does not repay the borrowed funds as expected or required. Investment holdings that involve forms of indebtedness (i.e. borrowed funds) are subject to credit risk.

Currency Risk

Fluctuations in the value of the currency in which your investment is denominated may affect the value of your investment and thus, your investment may be worth more or less in the future. All currency is subject to swings in valuation and thus, regardless of the currency denomination of any particular investment you own, currency risk is a realistic risk measure. That said, currency risk is generally a much larger factor for investment instruments denominated in currencies other than the most widely used currencies (U.S. dollar, British pound, Euro, Japanese yen, etc.).

Economic Risk

The prevailing economic environment is important to the health of all businesses. Some companies, however, are more sensitive to changes in the domestic or global economy than others. These types of companies are often referred to as cyclical businesses. Countries in which a large portion of businesses are in cyclical industries are thus also very economically sensitive and carry a higher amount of economic risk. If an investment is issued by a party located in a country that experiences wide swings from an economic standpoint or in situations where certain elements of an investment instrument are hinged on dealings in such countries, the investment instrument will generally be subject to a higher level of economic risk.

Financial Risk

Financial risk is represented by internal disruptions within an investment or the issuer of an investment that can lead to unfavorable performance of the investment. Examples of financial risk can be found in cases like Enron or many of the dot com companies that were caught up in a period of extraordinary market valuations that were not based on solid financial footings of the companies.

Higher Trading Costs

For any investment instrument or strategy that involves active or frequent trading, you may experience larger than usual transaction-related costs. Higher transaction-related costs can negatively affect overall investment performance.

Inflation Risk

Inflation risk involves the concern that in the future, your investment or proceeds from your investment will not be worth what they are today. Throughout time, the prices of resources and end-user products generally increase and thus, the same general goods and products today will likely be more expensive in the future. The longer an investment is held, the greater the chance that the proceeds from that investment will be worth less in the future than what they are today. Said another way, a dollar tomorrow will likely get you less than what it can today.

Interest Rate Risk

Certain investments involve the payment of a fixed or variable rate of interest to the investment holder. Once an investor has acquired or has acquired the rights to an investment that pays a particular rate (fixed or variable) of interest, changes in overall interest rates in the market will affect the value of the interest-paying investment(s) they hold. In general, changes in prevailing interest rates in the market will have an inverse relationship to the value of existing, interest paying investments. In other words, as interest rates move up, the value of an instrument paying a particular rate (fixed or variable) of interest will go down. The reverse is generally true as well.

Legal/Regulatory Risk

Certain investments or the issuers of investments may be affected by changes in state or federal laws or in the prevailing regulatory framework under which the investment instrument or its issuer is regulated. Changes in the regulatory environment or tax laws can affect the performance of certain investments or issuers of those investments and thus, can have a negative impact on the overall performance of such investments.

Liquidity Risk

Certain assets may not be readily converted into cash or may have a very limited market in which they trade. Thus, you may experience the risk that your investment or assets within your investment may not be able to be liquidated quickly, thus, extending the period of time by which you may receive the proceeds from your investment. Liquidity risk can also result in unfavorable pricing when exiting (i.e. not being able to quickly get out of an investment before the price drops significantly) a particular investment and therefore, can have a negative impact on investment returns.

Margin Risk

- You can lose more funds than you deposit in a margin account. A decline in value of securities that are purchased on margin may require you to provide additional funds to the custodian holding your margin account in order to avoid a forced sale of those securities or other securities in your account.
- The custodian holding your margin account can force the sale of securities in your margin account. If the equity in your account falls below the margin maintenance level required by law or below the custodian's house requirement, the custodian can sell the securities in your account to cover the margin deficiency. You will be responsible for any shortfall in the account after such sale.
- Securities can be sold without contacting you prior to sale. Some investors mistakenly believe they must be contacted before a margin call becomes valid and that securities in their accounts cannot be liquidated to meet the call unless they have been contacted ahead of time. Most firms will attempt to notify you of margin calls, however, they are not required to do so. Even if the custodian has contacted you to provide a specific date by which you can meet a margin call, the custodian can still take necessary steps to protect its financial interests, including immediately selling the securities without notice to you.
- You are not entitled to choose which securities in your margin account are liquidated or sold to meet your margin call. Because the securities are used as collateral for the margin loan, the custodian has the right to decide which securities to sell in order to protect its interests.
- The custodian can increase its house maintenance requirement at any time and is not required to provide you with advance, written notice. These changes in policy can take effect immediately and may result in the issuance of a margin maintenance call. Your failure to satisfy this call may cause a forced liquidation in your account.
- You are not entitled to an extension of time on a margin call. While an extension of time to meet margin requirements may be available to clients under certain conditions, a client does not have the right to the extension.

Market Risk

The market value of an investment will fluctuate as a result of the occurrence of the natural economic forces of supply and demand on that investment, its particular industry or sector, or the market as a whole. Market risk may affect a single issuer, industry or sector of the economy or may affect the market as a whole. Market risk can affect any investment instrument or the underlying assets or other instruments held by or traded within that investment instrument.

Operational Risk

Operational risk can be experienced when an issuer of an investment product is unable to carry out the business it has planned to execute. Operational risk can be experienced as a result of human failure, operational inefficiencies, system failures, or the failure of other processes critical to the business operations of the issuer or counter party to the investment.

Past Performance

Charting and technical analysis are often used interchangeably. Technical analysis generally attempts to forecast an investment's future potential by analyzing its past performance and other related statistics. In particular, technical analysis often times involves an evaluation of historical pricing and volume of a particular security for the purpose of forecasting where future price and volume figures may go. As with any investment analysis method, technical analysis runs the risk of not knowing the future and thus, investors should realize that even the most diligent and thorough technical analysis cannot predict or guarantee the future performance of any particular investment instrument or issuer thereof.

Strategy Risk

There is no guarantee that the investment strategies discussed herein will work under all market conditions and each investor should evaluate his/her ability to maintain any investment he/she is considering in light of his/her own investment time horizon. Investments are subject to risk, including possible loss of principal.

VIII.(C). Investment-Specific Risks

There is no single type of investment instrument that we predominantly recommend, however, please be mindful that all investments carry some form and degree of risk. Certain types of investments carry greater types and levels of risk than others and you should make sure that you fully understand not only the investment product itself but also the attendant risk factors associated with such products.

IX. Disciplinary Information

X.(D) Use of Other Investment Advisers

We do not use other investment advisers in the course of the services described above in Item IV.(B).

XI. Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

XI.A Code of Ethics

We take great pride in our commitment to serving our clients' needs and the integrity with which we conduct our business. In our recent history, the financial services industry has come under significant scrutiny, especially in the area of the inherent responsibility of financial professionals to behave in the best interests of their clients.

We have developed a Code of Ethics (the Code) as a means of memorializing our vision of appropriate and professional conduct in carrying out the business of providing investment advisory services. Our Code addresses issues such as the following:

- Standards of conduct and compliance with applicable laws, rules, and regulations
- Protection of material non-public information
- The addressing of conflicts of interest
- Employee disclosure and reporting of personal securities holdings and transactions
- The firm's IPO and private placement policy
- The reporting of violations of the Code
- Educating employees about the Code
- Enforcement of the Code

Each of our representatives has been furnished with a copy of our Code and has signed their names to a written acknowledgement attesting to their understanding of the Code and acceptance of its terms. A copy of our Code is available to all current and/or prospective clients upon request.

XI.(B) Participation in Client Trading

The information in this item is intended to address situations in which we or one of our related persons may have a material financial interest in the investment instruments we may recommend to you. No such arrangements exist.

XI.(C) Trading Alongside Our Clients

On occasion, we may invest for our own accounts or have a financial interest in the same securities or other investments that we recommend or acquire for the accounts of our clients. Further, we may also engage in transactions that are the same as or different than transactions recommended to or made for our clients' accounts. Such transactions are permitted if effected, pre-cleared and reported in compliance with our policy on personal securities transactions. Generally, personal securities transactions will not be pre-cleared when an order for the same or a related security is pending for the account of a client. Our Designated Supervisor reviews reports of personal transactions in securities by all of our associated persons quarterly or more frequently if required.

Investment Policy

None of our associated persons may effect for himself/herself or for accounts in which he/she holds a beneficial interest, any transactions in a security which is being actively recommended to any of our clients, unless in accordance with the following procedures.

Firm Procedures

In order to implement our Investment Policy, the following procedures have been put into place.

- 1) If we are recommending that any of our clients buy any security, no associated person may purchase that security prior to a client's purchase of that security; and
- 2) If we are recommending that any of our clients sell any security, no associated person may sell that security prior to a client's sale of that security.

As an alternative to the procedures described in the preceding points, we may include our own order(s) in a batch order with other client orders that would involve average pricing for the entire batch such that we would receive the same pricing as all other clients participating in the batch.

It is the primary intent of these procedures to ensure that the best interests of our clients are always served over that of our own. Trading on our own behalf that results in our own interests being served over that of our clients could be considered a breach of our fiduciary duty and thus, is aggressively discouraged.

XI.(D) Trading Around the Same Time as Clients

The information in this item is intended to address situations in which we or any of our related persons may invest in the investment instruments we may recommend to you. Transactions for the client's account generally will be effected independently, unless we decide to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at the same or approximately the same time. We may (but are not obligated to) combine or "batch" such orders in order to obtain best execution or to negotiate more favorable transaction rates. To the extent that we elect to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which our associated persons may invest, we will generally do so in accordance with the parameters set forth in SEC No-Action Letter, SMC Capital, Inc. We will not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of a batched order.

XII. Brokerage Practices

The purpose of this Item is to present to you the factors that we take into consideration when (1) selecting or recommending broker-dealers to you for the purpose of effecting transactions on your behalf and (2) for determining the reasonableness of such broker-dealers' compensation related to such transactions.

Unless the client directs otherwise, FOUR will generally recommend that all the client's accounts be maintained at, by, or through certain other firms that are unaffiliated with FOUR. Although not all-inclusive, FOUR may recommend the following brokers of record and their corresponding custodian:

Factors that we consider in recommending certain broker-dealers or custodians to our clients may include such entity's financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, and service. In return for effecting securities transactions through certain broker-dealers/custodians, we or certain of our supervised persons may receive certain support services that may assist us in our investment decision-making process for all of our clients.

In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not always the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of brokerage services, including factors such as execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Accordingly, although we will seek competitive rates, we may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for the client's account transactions.

XII.(A).(1). Research and Soft Dollar Benefits

The SEC has defined soft dollar practices as arrangements under which products or services other than execution of securities transactions are obtained by an adviser from or through a broker-dealer in exchange for the adviser directing client brokerage transactions to the broker-dealer. Although soft dollar arrangements are perfectly acceptable if structured properly and as long as clients receive proper disclosure of them, soft dollar practices create an inherent conflict of interest because it is possible for an investment adviser to receive soft dollar benefits that it may not use specifically for the benefit of all clients whose commission dollars contributed toward the payment of such soft dollar benefits. In other words, a client may share in the cost of a soft dollar benefit but may not share in the benefit itself.

Section 28(e) of the Exchange Act ("Section 28(e)") provides the framework under which an investment adviser who has and exercises investment discretion (as defined in Section 3(a)(35) of the Exchange Act) over client assets can use client commissions to obtain certain soft dollar benefits (such as research).

We do participate in soft dollar arrangements. Consistent with obtaining best execution, transactions for your account(s) may be effected through a broker-dealer in return for products and/or services ("Soft Dollar Benefits"), which assist us in our investment decision-making process. Such Soft Dollar Benefits generally will be used to service all of our clients, but brokerage commissions paid by you may also be used to pay for Soft Dollar Benefits that are not used in managing your specific assets. As a result of our soft dollar arrangements and if we determine in good faith that the commissions paid by our clients under a soft dollar arrangement are reasonable in relation to the value of the Soft Dollar Benefits received, you may experience brokerage commissions/costs greater than another qualified broker-dealer might charge to effect the same transaction(s). All soft dollar arrangements will be structured in accordance with Section 28(e).

Refer to Item XII.(A).(1).(e) below for a description of the types of soft dollar benefits we may be eligible to receive.

XII.(A).(1).(a).

When we use client brokerage commissions/fees to obtain research or other products or services, we receive a benefit because we do not have to produce or pay for the research or other products or services we may receive.

XII.(A).(1).(b).

We may have an incentive to select or recommend a broker-dealer based on our interest in receiving the research or other products or services, rather than on our clients' best interest in receiving most favorable execution.

XII.(A).(1).(c).

As a result of these soft dollar arrangements, the commission rates or other brokerage execution fees you pay may be higher than those charged by other broker-dealers.

XII.(A).(1).(d).

The soft dollar benefits that we may receive from time to time will not be used to service all of our clients' accounts. We do not seek to allocate soft dollar benefits to client accounts proportionately based on the soft dollar credits that each individual account generates.

XII.(A).(1).(e).

The following table will identify several types of soft dollar benefits that we might receive from a broker-dealer in relation to effecting client securities transactions through a particular broker-dealer(s). The selected check boxes will identify the specific benefits that we or any of our related persons have received during our last fiscal year in connection with our soft dollar arrangements. If a box is not selected, neither we nor any of our related persons received that type of item.

XII.(A).(1).(f).

During our first fiscal year and for each subsequent year, we plan to use the following procedures in connection with directing client transactions to a particular broker-dealer in return for soft dollar benefits. These procedures are subject to change at any time as we deem appropriate.

No less frequently than on an annual basis, the Designated Supervisor will perform an analysis of the commission/transaction costs experienced by FOUR's clients in connection with any soft-dollar arrangements. The purpose of this analysis is to identify the portion of the client commission/trading costs that is attributable to any items (research, non-research, mixed-use, etc.) that may be received by FOUR in connection with the soft-dollar arrangements. Once this cost is determined, the Designated Supervisor must then make a determination as to whether the overall cost to the client is still justifiable in light of the additional charge related to the products/services other than brokerage execution-related services FOUR receives as a result of the soft-dollar arrangement.

In the event the Designated Supervisor determines that the overall cost to FOUR's clients is no longer favorable under the soft-dollar arrangement, the Designated Supervisor will seek to eliminate the soft-dollar arrangements or will seek an entirely new executing broker-dealer.

The Designated Supervisor will maintain a record of each such analysis and any subsequent documentation related thereto.

XII.(A).(2). Brokerage for Client Referrals

In certain circumstances, firms like ours may receive client referrals as a result of recommending particular broker-dealers or other service providers. We, however, do not participate in any formal arrangements wherein we receive client referrals from any particular broker-dealer in return for selecting or recommending such broker-dealer.

XII.(A).(3). Directed Brokerage

This item is intended to address situations where we may recommend, request, or require you to provide us instructions as to how to direct brokerage activity on your behalf.

XII.(A).(3)(a). Directed Brokerage – Recommended, Requested, or Required

Not all investment advisers require their clients to direct brokerage activity through any particular broker-dealer. We do not routinely recommend, request, or require that you direct us as to how to execute brokerage transactions on your behalf (i.e. using a particular broker-dealer for execution purposes).

XII.(A).(3)(b). Directed Brokerage – Permitted

Not all investment advisers require their clients to direct brokerage activity through any particular broker-dealer, however, you may direct us to use a particular broker-dealer (subject to our right to decline such a request) to execute some or all transactions for your account or otherwise on your behalf. In such an event, we will not negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with the other broker-dealer, and we will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to batch the transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts we manage. As a result, you may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case.

XII.(B). Order Batching

Transactions for the client's account generally will be effected for several clients at the same or approximately the same time. We may (but are not obligated to) combine or batch such orders in order to obtain best execution or to negotiate more favorable transaction rates. Reasoning for attempting to effect a batch order is that we may need to trade in the same security for multiple accounts at or around the same time and batching may allow us to achieve a more favorable price on average for all clients. Batching, however, does not guarantee the lowest possible price for execution, however, it is intended to reduce the overall volatility in execution price for a large # of orders that if not batched together, may experience significantly different execution prices. Conversely, in the event that we do not batch a group of orders that otherwise may be a prime candidate for a batched order, the resulting cost for some clients may be higher or lower than what we might be able to achieve by processing a batched order for the benefit of those same clients.

To the extent that we elect to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which our associated persons may invest, we will generally do so in accordance with the parameters set forth in SEC No-Action Letter, SMC Capital, Inc. We will not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of a batched order.

XIII. Review of Accounts

XIII.(A). Review of Accounts or Financial Plans

Review of Fund Accounts

Each Fund's board of directors or other similar governing body/group will hold the primary responsibility for reviewing each Fund's specific investment holdings and trading activity. These reviews will generally be carried out on a quarterly basis. We may also perform a similar review of each Fund's specific investment holdings and trading activity, however, this function is the primary responsibility of the Fund's boards of directors.

Review of Separately Managed Accounts

We will review your accounts on an ongoing basis, but no less frequently than a quarterly basis. The designated reviewer(s) will review your accounts for best execution, suitability, and service. Not all transactions will be reviewed, rather, the designated reviewer(s) will perform a sampling-based review. The designated reviewer(s) will review the performance and cost basis for your transactions. Your investment objectives are used to review for suitability. Quarterly, transactions are reviewed referencing your investment objectives for any transaction that may not fit your stated objectives, or our understanding of your investment objectives will be flagged and reviewed with the investment adviser representative placing the trade.

The periodic review process described above will be performed by the FOUR personnel with the following titles.

- Chief Compliance Officer

Review of Financial Plans.

Since we do not offer financial planning, this section is not applicable to us.

XIII.(B). Non-Periodic Account Reviews

Events that may trigger further client account reviews in addition to the standard quarterly review process may include, but would not be limited to, a notable increase in the volume of requests by the client to effect transactions in his/her accounts, where such transactions may appear to be inconsistent with the client's previously stated investment objectives. Other factors may include requests by the client to liquidate certain securities positions/contracts where such transactions may appear to be inconsistent with the client's previously stated investment objectives. Additional triggering factors could be the performance on an individual account being an outlier to the performance of accounts with similar investment objectives, and a very important trigger would be customer complaints. This last trigger would be a prime example of a trigger for an intermittent review of a client account.

XIII.(C). Reports to Clients

Account statements will be provided no less frequently than quarterly by the custodian, not by us. Account statements will identify account positions, balances, and transaction details. Upon your request, a quarterly account appraisal (written or electronic) may be created for you as well as an annual year-end statement.

In the event we also send account statements to you in addition to those provided by the qualified custodian, you are urged to compare any account statements provided by us to those provided by the custodian.

Reports to '40 Act Funds Shareholders

Account statements will be provided to the underlying shareholders no less frequently than quarterly by the administrator, not by FOUR. Account statements will identify investor account positions, balances, and transaction details. Upon your request, a quarterly account appraisal (written or electronic) may be created for you as well as an annual year-end statement.

Reports to Investors in Unregistered Funds

For any pooled investment vehicles to which we may provide investment advisory services, the Administrator of any such pooled investment vehicles will ensure that all investors are provided a copy of the annual audit report within 120 days of the fiscal year-end of the pooled investment vehicle. For a fund of funds, the report must be provided within 180 days of the fund's fiscal year end. Please refer to the offering materials for the pooled investment vehicle for further details.

XIV. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

XIV.(A). Compensation we Receive

Other than the compensation arrangements described above in Item IV.(B), FOUR does not receive any other compensation in connection with the investment advisory services provided to our clients.

XIV.(B). Compensation we Pay

Under certain circumstances, firms like ours may compensate other parties for having referred clients or potential investment advisory clients to us. These sorts of arrangements are generally referred to as "solicitor" arrangements. In cases where FOUR serves as Sub-Adviser to any Funds as described above in Item IV.(B), there may be occasions where potential Fund investors may prefer to have their assets managed in a segregated manner (i.e. in an SMA) from other Fund assets. In such a case, the Principal Adviser to the Fund(s) may refer such parties to us so that we may manage their assets in a similar fashion to that of the Fund(s), however, in an SMA.

In such cases, a portion (typically 20.0%) of the management fees received by FOUR from such referred clients will be remitted to the introducing party. Any such arrangements will be handled in accordance with the provisions of Rule 206(4)-3 under the Advisers Act. The specific compensation arrangements vary from situation to situation but can be found in the specific solicitor disclosure document relating to each such solicitor arrangement. For more information on our solicitor arrangements, please call +44 20 7776 5713.

XV. Custody

We engage in certain activities that result in us being deemed to have custody of certain of our clients' funds and/or securities. The only such activity in which we engage relates to the manner in which we collect our management fees, which occurs via automatic fee deduction from our clients' brokerage or other trading accounts.

As stated previously in Item XIII.(C), your account statements will be provided by the qualified custodian that maintains physical possession of your accounts/assets. In the event that we also provide you information related to your accounts, you are urged to review that information to the information contained on the account statements or other statements received from the qualified custodian.

XVI. Investment Discretion

In connection with our investment advisory services, we will generally seek and obtain your authorization to carry out part of our services on a purely discretionary basis. We will memorialize your authorization of our discretionary authority in our investment advisory agreement.

If you have authorized us to do so, we will exercise discretion over the following areas.

- 1) The specific securities to be bought or sold on the client's behalf
- 2) The amount of securities to be bought or sold on the client's behalf
- 3) Timing as to when such securities are to be bought or sold

XVII. Voting Client Securities

XVII.(A). Proxy Voting

Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures and Client Instruction

In the event that you have authorized (via the Agreement) us to vote proxies on your behalf, we will perform the voting process for you subject to the following information and procedures. Alternatively, if you provide us with other, specific instructions as to how we are to carry out the proxy voting process on your behalf, we will do so. Such instructions must be written and included in or as part of our Agreement.

In an effort to assure that clients' proxy votes are carried out in our clients' best interests and not affected by any conflicts of interest that may exist, we have adopted the following elements as part of our proxy voting policy.

Regardless of the nature of the issue up for vote, we thoroughly and objectively research the voting options and the corporate landscape in order to arrive at a decision that we believe meets the best interests of the client as a shareholder of the company in question. The overriding theme of our policy is to vote client proxies in the manner that we believe is most consistent with the following:

- The client's stated investment objectives
- The client's desired voting interests
- The long-term well-being of the company soliciting the proxy
- An increase in shareholder value

Conflicts of Interest...

We recognize that conflicts of interest may arise when voting your proxies. A conflict of interest exists when your best interests are contrary to our best interests due to some relationship between the us and/or our associated persons and a company that is soliciting a proxy. Some examples may include:

- The spouse of one of our associated persons is a board member of a company whose management is soliciting proxies to vote on a salary increase for the board.
- We are an affiliated company of a company that has issued a proxy notice to individuals who are our clients.
- We or one or more of our affiliates may manage a pension plan, administer employee benefit plans, or provide brokerage, underwriting, insurance, or banking services to a company whose management is soliciting proxies.

It is our policy to vote proxies in the best interests of its clients regardless of the existence of any conflict of interest.

As authorized in our Agreement, we may exercise complete discretionary voting authority in relation to proxy notices that we receive on your behalf. If no apparent conflict of interest exists in relation to our exercise of our voting authority on your behalf, we shall vote all such proxies as we see fit and in your best interest.

Under certain circumstances, the most prudent action on our part may be NOT to vote a proxy(s). Under such circumstances, we shall ensure that appropriate records are maintained so as to justify not having voted such proxy(s).

How to obtain our proxy voting record...

We will ensure that a complete record is retained of the initial proxy notice and the subsequent vote that we cast on your behalf. For a copy of our proxy voting record on your behalf, please write or call us at:
