This strategic decision will allow us, in turn, to focus on our core product, the Portfolio Football financial management system. Item 4: Advisory Business

Touchdown Capital Advisors, Inc. ("TDCA"), formed in June, 2011, offers website users ("Users") and Users access to Portfolio Football™, a patent-pending, comprehensive financial management system that applies the concepts of the game of Football to personal finance and portfolio management. David B. Hirsch is the firm's principal owner.

Portfolio Football has two basic components; (1) Personal Finance, and (2) Portfolio Management. The Personal Finance Component of the System relates a User's current financial situation to the scoreboard in a Football game and enables them to manage their personal finances more effectively and formulate a winning 'game plan' for retirement. The Portfolio Management Component of the system provides Users with an easy-to-use, comprehensive tool to construct and manage a fully-diversified portfolio in the same way one would manage a Fantasy Football Team. To become a registered User, website visitors need to sign up at the web site using their e-mail address and a uniquely created password.

The Personal Finance Component:

The process starts by having the User enter key financial data such as current age, workforce entry age, age of expected retirement, current earnings net of taxes, expenses, assets and liabilities. As each piece of criteria is entered, the scoreboard populates. Each output of the scoreboard has significance. For example, the game starts when the User enters the workforce and ends when the User expects to retire. As such, the game clock and quarter tell the User how much time is remaining before their expected date of retirement. The possession arrow determines whether they are saving money and on offense, or depleting their savings and on defense. The score provides the User with an estimate as to whether they will be able meet their retirement needs before the game ends. The 'Home' score represents an estimate of the number of years the User should be able to enjoy their current lifestyle upon retirement based on their present financial situation and plan. The 'Away' score reflects the number of years of post-retirement life the User should plan for based on standard IRS Life Expectancy Tables. A score of 14 to 22 means that the User's current plan will leave them with a deficit of 6 years and therefore they must either push back the date of retirement, or increase their savings by earning more and/or spending less. The down and yards-to-go reflect the stability and expected duration of the User's current situation and the 'Ball On' or location of the ball represent the amount of liquid assets the User has relative to their expenses. The Personal Finance Component can also be utilized to test different 'what if' scenarios allowing the User to adjust inputs and determine the appropriate course of action required to formulate a winning 'game plan' for retirement. The Personal Finance Component is offered to registered Users for free.

The Portfolio Management Component:

The Portfolio Management Component has been designed to mimic user interfaces commonly seen in Fantasy Football leagues. Initially, it utilizes information about the User from the Personal Finance Component. It then takes further information from the User to assess the User's Risk Profile, Investment Experience and Objectives. The User is assigned a specific number of Asset Allocation Points and then proceeds to build their portfolio, or recruits their 'Team,' by assigning player positions to locations on a Formation Map. Each location on a Formation Map equates to a different Asset Class. Asset Classes are numbered 1-8 based on risk, with 1 being the least risky and 8 being the most. Next, the User must select an Asset Category for each Asset Class. For example, Large-Cap Growth might be a category contained in Asset Class 4. In the final stage of portfolio construction, the User selects specific assets that fall in each relevant Asset Category. These securities positions can then be monitored and managed by utilizing the PF System regularly. Additionally, Portfolio Football has hard-coded rules that alert the User in order to prevent the misallocation or excessive concentration of assets. For example, a User must field 11 players at all times. One asset cannot cover more than one position. No two positions can be in the same Asset Category, and lastly, the team they select must be rational (e.g. having a team of 11 receivers would not be permitted). The end result is a portfolio that is diversified across a variety of Asset Classes and Categories.

Portfolio Football is designed to provide Users with a customizable approach to financial management. The data captured by the system is unique to each User and Users will have the ability to formulate a unique portfolio for themselves as long as the portfolio does not violate the rules of the Portfolio Football system.

Service #1: Online Subscription Services:

We offer two subscription-based internet services for Portfolio Football; a Base Subscription, and (2) a Premium Subscription. Users are required to review and then accept our Terms and Conditions before they have access to either subscription.

The Base Version:

The Base subscription is offered to registered Users for free. However, it's functionality is limited and it does not provide access to certain premium services.

The Premium Version:

The Premium version is a subscription-based Internet service that offers enhanced functionality, access to the Portfolio Market, and access to premium research tools on our site. To become a Premium Subscription User, a registered User must elect to pay a monthly, bi-annual or annual subscription fee.

The Portfolio Market:

The Portfolio Market gives Users access to pre-fabricated portfolios constructed by us or third-parties and are segmented according to the risk profile and the stated portfolio objective (Income, Growth & Income, or Growth). Portfolios in the Portfolio Market are specifically for information purposes only and users are encouraged to review the portfolio as a whole and the individual assets contained therein for suitability.

We consider portfolios offered through the Portfolio Market to be semi-customizable or semi-tailored. These portfolios are designed to accommodate Users based on the number of Asset Allocation Points they have to work with and their investment objective. A User's total Asset Allocation Points are influenced by a number of factors including their risk profile and current financial situation. It is possible that two Users with the same number of Asset Allocation Points may face substantially different personal financial circumstances. The application does not take into consideration every aspect of a user's personal financial circumstance. We merely provide the User with a discrete set of portfolios that utilize a specific number of Asset Allocation Points. For example, we might have two portfolios in the Portfolio Market that each require 42 Asset Allocation Points. The User is then free to choose which portfolio of the two they are most comfortable with. User's are free to choose any portfolio that requires the same or fewer Asset Allocation Points than they have been allotted.

Service #2: Third-Party Advisor Account Management Services:

We do not offer Investment Supervisory Services. However, we have two services that pair users with qualified third-party advisors who can work within the Portfolio Football system to meet their particular needs.

Turn-Key Service (Discount Portfolio Management):

The Turn-Key Service pairs user with partner advisory firms who will manage portfolios created by the user or portfolios accessed through the Portfolio Market at a discounted rate. The Turn-Key Service is designed to appeal to users who are looking for a balance between the do-it-yourself approach and the full-service approach and do not need assistance from an outside advisor in the selection or suitability of a particular portfolio or the assets contained therein, but want a third-party to manage their accounts and assume ultimate responsibility for trade execution, portfolio rebalancing, etc.

We do not charge users a fee for the Turn-Key Service; however, our partner third-party advisors charge discounted portfolio management fees that typically range from 0.50% to 1.50% depending on the amount of assets under management. We receive a mixture of fees from our partner advisory firms (please see Item 14). Responsibility and accountability for the management of user portfolios are the sole responsibility of our partner advisory firms. We are not involved in the management of these portfolios at any level. Some of our partner advisory firms will have a minimum account size required before they agree to manage user assets. This minimum (if any) is set by our partner firms.

Find A Coach (Full-Service Account Management):

An alternative service to the Turn-Key Service is our Find A Coach Service. The Find A Coach Service pairs users who are looking for full-service account management with qualified third-party advisors registered on our site. Unlike the Turn-Key Service, users who utilize the Find A Coach Service will want the third-party advisor to both assist in the construction of a suitable portfolio, but also in its management.

We do not charge users a fee for the Find A Coach Service. Instead, we charge the third-party advisors a variety of fees, including fees to be registered as "Coaches" on our site (please see Item 14). We do not determine the manner and method that third-party advisors registered with the Find A Coach service charge for their services. Responsibility and accountability for the management of user portfolios are the sole responsibility of our the selected advisory firms they have chosen. We are not involved in the management of these portfolios at any level. Additionally, some third-party advisors will require a minimum amount of assets before they will consider taking on a user as a client. This minimum is set by each individual third-party advisor.

Wrap Fee Programs: At present, we do not participate in any wrap fee programs.

User Assets Under Management: As of the date of this filing, TDCA has no amounts under management, neither discretionary or non-discretionary.

Item 5: Fees and CompensationFees for Service #1: Online Subscription Services

Fees for the Premium Subscription Service and the RPS are subject to the following schedule:

(1) Premium Subscription Service:

Users who elect to subscribe to the Premium Subscription Service pay the following fees:

- Monthly Subscription: $24.95 per month
- Bi-Annual Subscription: $134.73, or $22.46 per month (a 10% discount)
- Annual Subscription: $249.50, or $20.79 per month (equal to 2 months free, or a 17% discount)

We reserve the right, in our sole discretion, to charge a lesser fee for our Online Subscription Services to any party and the fees you may be paying could be different than the fees paid by other parties for the same subscription and services.

Payment of Service #1: Subscription FeesPayment of Fees for the Premium Subscription:

We offer monthly, bi-annual and annual subscriptions. Fees are paid automatically via credit card or PayPal at the beginning of the User's billing cycle at the then published price. Monthly subscribers who cancel do not receive a partial or pro-rated refund for the remainder of the monthly period in which they cancel. Bi-annual and annual subscribers receive an up-front discount for paying for several months in advance. If an bi-annual or annual subscriber cancels, their subscription will be automatically converted to a monthly subscription at the then published monthly rate. They would then be eligible for a refund for the months that have been paid for but not utilized. As with normal monthly subscriptions, they would not be eligible for a partial or pro-rated refund for the remainder of the monthly period in which they cancel. Users may terminate their account at anytime through the account management function on the Portfolio Football website and no further charges will be made to their bank or credit card. Additional account restrictions and a more detailed description of our billing and refund policies can be found in the User Agreement.

Fees for Service #2: Third-Party Advisor Account Management Services:

We do not charge users a fee for using the Turn-Key Service or the Find A Coach Service.

Payment of Service #2: Third-Party Discount Account Management Services

We do not charge users a fee for using the Turn-Key Service or the Find A Coach Service; however, we do receive compensation from our partner advisory firms for the Turn-Key Service and registered advisory firms with the Find A Coach Service (please see Item 14).

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees

TDCA shall not be compensated on the basis of a share of capital gains upon or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds of the user. TDCA reserves the right to provide its services to other types of users (such as participants in 401(k) plans) and in other contexts. TDCA also reserves the right to vary its fee structure for such other types of users and in such other contexts.

Item 7: Types of Users

We do not provide investment advice; however, the Portfolio Football Application has been designed to cater to the following types of users:

- Individuals, and
- High-Net-Worth Individuals

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Premium subscribers will have access to the Portfolio Market, which contains portfolios that we have created to provide our premium subscribers with examples on portfolios with specific risk profiles and investment objectives. OUR PORTFOLIOS, ALONG WITH ANY THIRD-PARTY CREATED PORTFOLIOS AVAILABLE IN THE PORTFOLIO MARKET, ARE FOR INFORMATIONAL PURPOSES ONLY AND DO NOT CONSTITUTE A RECOMMENDATION AS TO A PORTFOLIO'S SUITABILITY OR THE SUITABILITY OF ANY OF THE ASSETS CONTAINED THEREIN. We have attempted to restrict the assets we include in our portfolios to investment vehicles that provide lower cost structures such as Electronically Traded Funds ("ETFs"), Index Funds, or no-load mutual funds. From time-to-time, we may include a security that bears a higher cost structure if we feel that the potential return outweighs the additional costs.

The value of ETFs, Index Funds and mutual funds fluctuate, both increasing and decreasing in value. There is no guarantee that a user will make money or avoid losing their investment by investing in funds. In particular, past performance is no guarantee of future results. See fund prospectuses for a detailed discussion of risks associated with each specific fund.

Investing in ETFs presents unique risks. Unlike a mutual fund which is priced at its Net Asset Value (NAV) once per trading day, the price of an ETF fluctuates throughout the day. The market price of an ETF can differ from the NAV of the fund's holdings. This variance can be both positive (overvalued) and negative (undervalued) relative to the value of the fund's holdings.

We employ a "buy and hold" approach to asset management based on the tenets of Modern Portfolio Theory. The practice of this style of asset management is based on the belief that no one can time the market. The focus for the investor should be how much the investor can risk losing and how long they are willing to keep money in the market.

TDCA adheres to the following principles:

- Markets are efficient and for investing purposes assets are fairly priced
- Diversification reduces the risk of uncertainty and asset allocation in numerous asset classes often determines results in the portfolio.

The Portfolio Football application has been designed such that user created portfolios will be diversified both across Assets Class, Asset Category and among the varying securities within each asset class (i.e., you have exposure to a large number of individual stocks by investing in funds). Asset Class examples include:

- U.S. Large Company Stocks
- U.S. Small Company Stocks

- International Large Company Stocks
- Treasury Bonds
- Commodities

If you invest in securities, you could lose money. Users should be prepared for potential losses.

Our portfolios have been constructed without considering potential tax consequences to the user. The user is responsible for any tax liabilities resulting from transactions (including any arising from the addition of assets to or withdrawal of assets from the user's account). Users are urged to seek the advice of qualified tax professionals and to use all available resources to educate themselves about investing in general, as well as the investments and portfolio composition recommended by TDCA.

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

There are no legal or disciplinary events that are material to a User's or prospective User's evaluation of this advisory business or the integrity of our management. The firm and its employees have not been involved in legal or disciplinary events related to past or present investment users.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Neither TDCA nor any of its representatives are registered as a securities broker/dealer or a representatives of a broker/dealer. TDCA is not registered as a FCM, CPO or CTA. None of TDCA's representatives are registered as representatives of a FCM or CPO; however, the firm's principal, President & CEO, David B. Hirsch, is a registered representative and the sole principal of Method Capital Management, LLC, a Commodities Trading Advisor registered with the NFA. TDCA and Method Capital Management are unrelated entities and have no material relationship at this time and neither TDCA nor its representatives have any material relationships to this advisory business that would present a possible conflict of interest.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in User Transactions and Personal Trading

From time-to-time the interests of the principals and employees of TDCA may coincide with those of a user. Securities may be bought, held or sold by a principal or employee of TDCA that are also included in one of our Portfolio market portfolios or held by a user. If potential insider information is inadvertently provided or learned by a principal or employee, it is the policy of TDCA strictly to prohibit its use. No employee of TDCA may act on material non-public information.

It is the policy of TDCA to permit the firm, its employees and Investment Adviser Representatives (IARs) to buy, sell and hold the same securities that we place in our Portfolio Market portfolios. TDCA has no obligation to recommend for purchase or sale a security that TDCA, its principals, affiliates, employees or IARs may purchase, sell, or hold. TDCA has procedures dealing with insider trading, employee-related accounts, "front running" and other issues that may present a potential conflict when such purchase, sales or recommendations are made. In general, these policies and procedures are intended to eliminate, to the extent possible, the adverse effect on users of any such potential conflicts of interest.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

TDCA does not offer Investment Supervisory Services. As such, we do not maintain any set brokerage practices.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

TDCA does not offer Investment Supervisory Services. As such, we do not review the investment accounts of the users.

Item 14: User Referrals and Other Compensation

Many of our Users enjoy the benefits of the Portfolio Football Application for free. To offset our costs, we also receive compensation from a select group of partner companies that market products and services to our Users. Partner ads will appear throughout our website. Additionally, a list of our Partners can be found in our Partner Directory. Compensation arrangements vary widely, but typically fall into one of the following categories;

Online Advertising: We receive compensation from Partners who advertise on our website in the following ways:

- (1) Pay-per-Impression ("PPM"): Under the PPM Scenario, we receive compensation based on the number of times our Users collectively view a Partner advertisement ("Page Views") while visiting our site during a given period.
- (2) Pay-per-Click ("PPC"): Under the PPC Scenario, we receive compensation from a Partner when one of our Users clicks on a partner advertisement.
- (3) Pay-per-Action ("PPA"): Under the PPA Scenario, we receive compensation from a Partner when one of our Users clicks on a partner advertisement and makes a purchase. Compensation could include a one-time fee, or a fee-splitting arrangement where we receive a portion of the proceeds from a User purchase.

Targeted Advertisement: Some Partners prefer to market to a specific sub-set of our Users directly through the use of a targeted e-mail or message transmitted to the User through the Portfolio Football Application and interface. Only Users who have agreed to permit such third-party solicitation will be contacted. Under this scenario, compensation from the Partner could include a one-time fee, or a fee-splitting arrangement where we receive a portion of the proceeds from a User purchase.

User Referral: Each of our Users faces a unique personal financial situation. Some of our Users would clearly benefit from a variety of services or products that we do not offer, such as credit counseling, credit monitoring or advice from a Certified Financial Planner ("CFP"). In certain circumstances, we may contact Users through the PF Application to gauge their interest in these services or products. If the User replies affirmatively, with the User's permission, we would forward the User's contact information to the Partner, who would then contact the User directly. Under this scenario, compensation from the Partner could include a one-time fee, or a fee-splitting arrangement where we receive a portion of the proceeds from a User purchase.

Portfolio Market: At present, we do not have third-party created portfolios in our Portfolio Market. However, in the future we intend to do so. Compensation we receive from these third-parties shall include, but not be limited to, vendor registration, portfolio listing fees, and shared revenues from the sale of portfolios.

Turn-Key & Find A Coach Services: We receive compensation for advisory firms that we participate in both the Turn-Key and Find A Coach Services. Fees include, but are not limited to, advisor registration and directory listing.

Item 15: Custody

We do not provide Investment Supervisory Services and therefore do not maintain custody of user accounts.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

Online Subscription Services: We do not provide Investment Supervisory Services and therefore do not exercise discretion over the accounts of our Online Subscription Services Users.

Investment Supervisory Services:

We do not provide Investment Supervisory Services. As such, we do not exercise discretion over the accounts of our users. However, we do have two services that pair users with qualified third-party advisors who may have discretion over a user's account.

Item 17: Voting User Securities

We do not provide Investment Supervisory Services. As such, we offer no advice regarding the voting of user securities.

Item 18: Financial Condition

TDCA does not have any financial impairment that will preclude the firm from meeting contractual commitments to users.
