With our customized asset allocation and sector rotation strategies combined with choosing investment products of the highest regard, we believe we offer our clients the peace of mind they seek in placing their livelihood with us.

We take into account our clients' investment goals and needs when recommending any advisory product or service and will gather personal information in order to help select such products or services. The information requested/collected may include:

- Investing experience
- Liquidity requirements
- Retirement goals
- Current financial situation and future needs

- Ability to withstand market fluctuations

Clients should contact their Advisory Representative any time the above information changes so he/she can review existing accounts to see if any changes need to be made.

Principal Officers

WTAS' Principal Owner is David W. Crist. David has worked in the financial services industry since 1985.

Advisory Activities

I. Financial Planning Services

Recommendations on life and disability insurance, investment needs, retirement income, and estate planning may be provided based on individual client objectives; clients may elect a comprehensive financial plan or individual components as needed.

II. Asset Management Services

WTAS may provide Asset Management Services for a fee to clients. The Advisor may create a customized asset allocation model and utilize sector rotation strategies based on current market conditions and future expectations. Sectors and commodities may be added and removed as deemed necessary, in accordance with our economic outlook and investment philosophy. Selection of asset classes or sectors and commodities is not a perfect science and performance is not guaranteed.

Assets Under Management: As of 12/31/2012 WTAS had assets under management totaling $105,258,080.00; of which $5,475,271.00 is managed on a discretionary basis and $99,782,809.00 is managed on a limited-discretionary basis.

Discretionary authority allows Advisory Representatives of WTAS to determine the types of securities to buy, sell, or hold, the amounts of said securities to buy, sell, or hold and the timing of such execution.

Limited-discretionary authority allows Advisory Representatives of WTAS to select securities from a list of options made available by the custodian(s) chosen by the client and WTAS. WTAS will also determine the amount to buy, sell, or hold and the timing of such execution.

- Periodically advise client of changes

I. General Asset Management Services

The Advisor may be granted authority to deduct fees from client accounts at the outset of the relationship. It is the responsibility of the client to verify the accuracy of any fee calculations, and the custodian will not determine whether the fee is properly calculated; should the client find an error, we urge them to contact their Advisory Representative immediately. Invoices provided will include the dollar amount of the fee, the value of the client's assets upon which the fee was based, and the specific manner in which the fee was calculated. Fees are calculated based on the ending account balance of the previous calendar quarter.

WTAS will generally invoice its fees on a quarterly basis. Clients may elect to be invoiced directly for fees or authorize WTAS to directly debit fees from their managed accounts. Management fees shall not be prorated for each capital contribution or withdrawal made during the applicable calendar quarter.

Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, commissions, and other fees, and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual Funds, ETFs/ETNs, variable annuities, and variable universal life subaccounts also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such fees and taxes, as described above, are the client's responsibility and exclusive of and in addition to WTAS' fee, and WTAS shall not receive any portion thereof.

Advisory Representatives may represent advisory clients as Registered Representatives in the execution of securities transactions on a normal and customary commission basis. Such commissions as may occur are fully disclosed to the client; because of this dual-relationship a conflict of interest exists between the Advisory Representative and the interests of the client.

The client may terminate within five (5) days of signing the client contract without any penalty. Thereafter either party may terminate the agreement upon thirty (30) days notice. Any fees which have not been earned as of the effective date of termination may be refunded.

II. WTAS ETF/ETN Platform Asset Management Services

The Advisor will be granted authority to deduct fees from client accounts at the outset of the relationship. It is the responsibility of the client to verify the accuracy of any fee calculations, and the custodian will not determine whether the fee is properly calculated; should the client find an error, we urge them to contact their Advisory Representative immediately. Invoices provided will include the dollar amount of the fee, the value of the client's assets upon which the fee was based, and the specific manner in which the fee was calculated. Fees are calculated based on the ending account balance of the previous calendar quarter.

WTAS will invoice its fees on a quarterly basis through its affiliation with First Allied Advisory Services. Management fees shall not be prorated for each capital contribution or withdrawal made during the applicable calendar quarter.

Clients invested in a WTAS ETF/ETN Platform will be charged an additional fixed fee of $35 per brokerage account automatically debited in the amount of $8.75 per quarter.

Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, commissions, and other fees, and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual Funds and ETFs/ETNs also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such fees and taxes, as described above, are the client's responsibility and exclusive of and in addition to WTAS' fee, and WTAS shall not receive any portion thereof.

The client may terminate within five (5) days of signing the client contract without any penalty. Thereafter either party may terminate the agreement upon thirty (30) days notice. Any fees which have not been earned as of the effective date of termination may be refunded.

III. Genworth Financial Wealth Management (GFWM) Asset Management Services

The Advisor will be granted authority to deduct fees from client accounts at the outset of the relationship. It is the responsibility of the client to verify the accuracy of any fee calculations, and the custodian will not determine whether the fee is properly calculated; should the client find an error, we urge them to contact their Advisory Representative immediately. Invoices provided will include the dollar amount of the fee, the value of the client's assets upon which the fee was based, and the specific manner in which the fee was calculated.

Client fees are payable quarterly, in advance, based on assets under management using the GFWM fee schedule as applicable to the specific platform selected. Fees are calculated following each quarter-end based on the average daily value of the account throughout the previous quarter.

Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, commissions, and other fees, and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual Funds and ETFs/ETNs also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such fees and taxes, as described above, are the client's responsibility and exclusive of and in addition to WTAS' fee, and WTAS shall not receive any portion thereof.

Clients may terminate WTAS (GFWM) accounts at any time and receive a full pro-rata refund of any unearned fees.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees

WTAS' Advisory Representatives are not permitted to charge fees based solely on client account performance or investment gains.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

WTAS provides advisory services to individuals preparing for and in their golden years.

The minimum investment required for the WTAS platform(s) depends upon the client's account value and is generally $50,000 for Mutual Funds, Variable Annuity subaccounts, Variable Universal Life Insurance subaccounts, Stocks, Bonds, Etc. Accounts below the stated minimums may be accepted on an individual basis at the discretion of the Chief Compliance Officer.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

I. Method of Analysis

The Client acknowledges that the Advisor obtains information from a wide variety of publicly available sources and that the Advisor has no sources to, and does not claim to have sources to inside or private information. The recommendations developed by Advisory Representatives are based upon the professional judgment of the Advisory Representative; Advisory Representatives cannot guarantee the results of any of his/her recommendations.

II. Investment Strategy

ETF/ETN investment strategies used by the Advisory Representative seek an absolute real rate of return within reasonable levels of risk by utilizing a non-customizable investment strategy; customizable investment strategies are available and utilized for accounts outside of the ETF/ETN platform. These strategies may or may not be diversified amongst all the various investment options at the Advisory Representative's disposal. Investment choices and selections will be made in accordance with the Advisory Representative's view of current economic, political, and market trend conditions. The actual percentages and weightings within the portfolio will reflect these views, furthermore, the individual investment selection may call for the use of investment vehicles that are the inverse of the market and may also utilize leverage to enhance potential returns.

III. Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Risk tolerances and the ability to withstand short and intermediate-term volatility will be considered. To achieve the stated investment objectives, clients understand the possibility of and are willing to tolerate substantial declines in portfolio value as well as declines in the value of the individual assets selected from time to time.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisors are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to a client's evaluation of WTAS or the integrity of WTAS' management. WTAS has no information applicable to this Item.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Advisory Representatives are Registered Representatives of First Allied Securities, Inc. and may also act as Investment Advisors of First Allied Securities Registered Investment Advisory. Advisory Representatives may represent advisory clients as Registered Representatives in the execution of securities transactions on a normal and customary commission basis. Such commissions as may occur are fully disclosed to the client. Only securities approved by the affiliated Broker/Dealer are offered to clients.

WIN TEAM Advisory Services is a dba of WIN TEAM INSURANCE SERVICES, INC. a licensed insurance agency with the State of California. CA License # 0B11911.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

WTAS has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the Firm which describes its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts, and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at WTAS must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics at the time of their affiliation, as amended, or annually at a minimum.

WTAS anticipates that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with clients' investment objectives, it will allocate positions in accounts over which WTAS has management authority, and will recommend to investment advisory clients or prospective clients, the purchase or sale of securities in which WTAS, its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position or interest. WTAS' employees are required to act in accordance with the WTAS' Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors, and employees of WTAS and its affiliates may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for WTAS' clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities, and interests of the employees of WTAS will not interfere with:

- Making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients
- Implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts

The Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, therefore, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is monitored under the Code of Ethics, and to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between WTAS and its clients.

At times, certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with client accounts on an aggregated basis when consistent with WTAS' obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the affiliated and client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. WTAS will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the order.

WTAS' clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the Firm's Code of Ethics by contacting David W. Crist.

It is WTAS' policy that the firm will not affect any Principal or Agency cross securities transactions for client accounts. WTAS will also not cross trade between client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an Advisor, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to any advisory client. An Agency cross transaction is defined as a transaction where a person acts as an investment advisor in relation to a transaction in which the investment advisor, or any person controlled by or under common control with the investment advisor, acts as broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction. Agency cross transactions may arise where an advisor is dually registered as a broker-dealer or has an affiliated broker-dealer.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

I. Broker/Dealer Affiliation

It is not the practice of WTAS to recommend any specific Broker/Dealers, however associated personnel of the Advisor may be Registered Representatives with First Allied Securities, Inc., a registered Securities Broker/Dealer and member of FINRA. Because of this affiliation a conflict of interest exists between the Advisory Representative and the interests of the client.

Should the client wish to execute securities transactions through an individual Advisory Representative's affiliation as a Registered Representative of First Allied Securities, Inc. the Registered Representative would execute the transaction through Pershing, LLC, the custodial firm partnered with First Allied Securities, Inc. Registered Representatives would earn the usual and customary commissions.

In addition, it should be noted that clients are not obligated to use First Allied Securities, Inc. or the associates in his/her capacity as Registered Representatives of First Allied Securities, Inc. to execute any securities transactions. Clients have the option to purchase investment products as recommended by the Advisor through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with WTAS.

II. Best Execution Practices

As a result of WTAS' affiliation with First Allied Securities, Inc. Pershing provides highly competitive rates as well as access to their technology platform. It is the obligation of WTAS to seek best execution on behalf of its clients and as such WTAS has developed a best execution review policy. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not solely the lowest possible commission cost but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a Broker/Dealer's services including the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness.

By directing brokerage to Pershing clients may, at times, pay higher fees or transaction costs than those obtainable by other Broker/Dealers however, in most cases, we believe the rates to be discounted and reasonable. Generally, WTAS will not negotiate rates below those established by the executing Broker/Dealer for these types of directed brokerage accounts, unless we believe that such rates are unfair or unreasonable for the size and type of transaction. WTAS believes that First Allied Securities, Inc. pays industry standard commissions on transactions they effect on our behalf. These commissions are reasonable and customary.

Transactions for each client account may be effected independently, however, Advisory Representatives should bunch or aggregate orders whenever possible to obtain best execution, negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among our clients differences in prices and commission or other transaction costs. Under this procedure, transactions will be price-averaged and allocated among our clients in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client account on any given day.

Transactions placed in an asset management account by a third party manager will be executed through their Broker/Dealer or custodian. The responsibility for determining best execution for these transactions will lie with the third party manager.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Through its Advisory Representatives, WTAS reviews each client's accounts. The Advisory Representative who introduces the client's account will service each account and communicate not less than once annually, and more frequently at the request of the client. It is the responsibility of the client to inform the Advisory Representative of any changes in their personal financial situation or investment objectives, any material changes to ownership interest or control of an account, or if the client wishes to impose any reasonable restrictions on the management of an account or modify existing restrictions.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

WTAS does not participate in referral-based compensation practices.

Item 15 – Custody

WTAS does NOT maintain custody of clients' funds or securities. Clients receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. WTAS strongly urges its clients to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the financial statements that we may provide. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

WTAS requires that any checks written by clients for investment purposes are made payable to the custodian of the account(s), NOT to WTAS.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Advisory Representatives of WTAS receive discretionary authority for accounts that are managed within the WTAS ETF/ETN platform. This authority is granted by clients at the outset of an advisory relationship, it gives the Advisory Representative the authority to determine the amounts of securities to buy, sell, or hold and the timing of such execution. In all cases, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client's account(s).

Advisory Representatives of WTAS receive limited discretionary authority to make allocation changes from a predetermined set of available funds made available to the Advisory Representative by the respective custodians selected. This authority is given by the client at the outset of an advisory relationship.

When selecting securities and determining dollar amounts to be invested, WTAS observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for whom it advises.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

As a matter of Firm policy and practice, WTAS and its Advisory Representatives do not have any authority to and do not vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in their portfolios. WTAS and its Advisory Representatives are permitted to aid clients in their completion of proxies they receive.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisors are required to provide clients and prospective clients with certain financial information or disclosures about their financial condition. WTAS has no financial commitments that impair its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of any bankruptcy proceedings; should any such circumstance arise, WTAS will notify clients according to SEC guidelines.

Item 19 – Requirements for State-Registered Advisors

WTAS is not a State-Registered Investment Advisor.
