Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Item 8A Analysis and investment strategies

WCM blends a top-down view of the economy and capital markets with a disciplined process of security selection. Our asset allocation is a function of our world view of the economy and capital markets. We utilize a risk management process, which focuses on both qualitative and quantitative measures of risk, in building and managing our asset allocation for each portfolio.

The core of our investment process is idea generation. We screen databases, analyze publications and reports, and talk with suppliers, vendors, competitors and managements to identify companies that fit our investment criteria. We conduct fundamental analysis on companies in which we invest to understand both the inherent risks and the opportunities. We implement a disciplined relative value assessment on securities considered for investment. Portfolio construction is bottom-up approach overlaid with a top-down asset allocation strategy, which helps to manage portfolio risk and meet performance objectives. The investment process is ongoing and each portfolio is continually monitored and evaluated.

The specific investment strategies which we offer include:

Value Income Equity

The value income equity strategy seeks to achieve long-term capital appreciation by identifying securities with significant total return potential over a twelve month and longer horizon. Security selection is based on fundamental analysis including the analysis of (i) free cash flow growth; (ii) improvement in operating margins; (iii) attractive valuation based on discounted cash flow or enterprise value; (iv) a strong competitive position; and (v) one or more catalysts for improvement in profitability. Portfolios generally include 45 securities and are measured against the S&P 500 Index as a benchmark. The minimum account size is $1,000,000 which we can waive at our discretion.

Tactical Income

The tactical income strategy seeks to achieve a higher level of income combined with long-term capital appreciation by investing the portfolio in asset classes which might include preferred stocks, convertible stocks, high dividend yielding stocks, convertible bonds, municipal bonds, investment grade bonds as well as high yield bonds. The asset mix is based on our relative value assessment of the asset class and the individual security. Security selection is based on fundamental analysis including the analysis of (i) revenue growth; (ii) improvement in operating margins; (iii) attractive valuation based on enterprise or asset value; (iv) a strong competitive position; and (v) a strong catalyst for a change in earnings expectations. Additional emphasis is given to the dividend yield of the security as well as the potential for the dividend to grow. Portfolios generally include 50-60 securities and are measured against Barclays Capital U.S. Aggregate Bond Index as the benchmark. The minimum account size is $1,000,000 which we can waive at our discretion.

Core Fixed Income

The core fixed income strategy seeks to consistently outperform the Barclays Capital U.S. Aggregate Bond Index while diversifying the portfolio, managing portfolio risk level and maintaining a controlled duration discipline. We employ core fixed income strategies which are focused on individual security selection based on fundamental research. The strategy invests in all major investment grade sectors of the bond market including corporate bonds, municipal bonds, mortgage backed securities and other structured securities, as well as U.S. government securities. Portfolio risk is managed through individual security selection, sector allocation and overall portfolio duration strategy relative to the benchmark. Portfolios are measured against the Barclays Capital U.S. Aggregate Bond Index as a benchmark. The minimum account size is $1,000,000 which we can waive at our discretion.

Intermediate Fixed Income

The intermediate fixed income strategy seeks to consistently outperform the Barclays Capital U.S. Intermediate Government/Credit 1-5 Year Bond Index while diversifying the portfolio, managing portfolio risk level and maintaining a controlled duration discipline. We employ intermediate fixed income strategies which are focused on individual security selection based on fundamental research. The strategy invests in all major investment grade sectors of the bond market including U.S. government securities, corporate bonds, municipal bonds, mortgage backed securities and other structured securities. Portfolio risk is managed through individual security selection, sector allocation and overall portfolio duration strategy relative to the benchmark. Portfolios are measured against the Barclays Capital U.S. Intermediate Government/Credit 1-5 Year Bond Index as a benchmark. The minimum account size is $1,000,000 which we can waive at our discretion.

Ultra Short Fixed Income

The ultra short fixed income strategy offers higher yielding alternatives to short-term investments such as traditional money market funds while seeking a comparable level of price stability. The strategy is designed to provide liquidity and principal preservation, but with more of an emphasis on seeking returns that are superior to those of traditional money market offerings. We invest the ultra short fixed income portfolio in the same high-quality, short-term securities seen in traditional money market vehicles, such as CDs, Treasury bills and commercial paper. However, the balance of the ultra short fixed income portfolio is invested in a variety of higher-yielding, investment grade longer-term securities and slightly lower-rated credits, including short duration corporate, mortgage and municipal securities. Because these investments can fluctuate in value, ultra short fixed income strategies can also fluctuate above and below 100 cents on the dollar. They are therefore regarded as slightly less liquid than money market instruments. The ultra short fixed income strategy is not intended to replace money market strategies. The minimum account size is $1,000,000 which we can waive at our discretion.

Wealth Management

The wealth management strategy seeks to achieve asset protection, capital appreciation, portfolio diversification and reduced portfolio volatility over the long term. Each portfolio is constructed to meet the risk tolerances and investment objectives of the client. Portfolios are measured against a selected index which matches the investment objective and risk tolerances. The minimum account size is $1,000,000 which we can waive at our discretion.

We may recommend for investment, for certain qualified buyers, partnership interests in certain hedge funds, real estate investment partnerships, private equity partnerships and certain private investments.

Item 8B & 8C Risks involved with investment strategies

It is possible to lose money in your portfolio. Some of the risks which could adversely affect your value, depending on your investment strategy are:

Below investment grade securities risk: below investment grade securities involve greater risk of default or downgrade and are more volatile than investment grade securities. Below investment grade securities may also be less liquid than higher quality securities.

Common stock risk: investment in common stocks and other equity securities are subject to the risk of changing economic, stock market, industry and company conditions and the risks inherent in our ability to anticipate changes that can adversely affect the value of the holdings.

Convertible securities risk: convertible securities tend to be subordinate to other debt or equity securities. In part, the total return for a convertible security depends upon the performance of the underlying stock into which it can be converted. Issuers of convertible securities are often not as strong financially as those issuing securities with higher credit ratings, are more likely to encounter financial difficulties and typically are more vulnerable to changes in the economy, such as a recession or a sustained period of rising interest rates, which could affect their ability to make interest and principal payments. If the issuer stops making interest and/or principal payments the entire investment could be lost.

Credit risk: debt securities are subject to the risk that an issuer will fail to make timely payments of interest or principal, or go bankrupt, or that the value of the securities will decline because of a market perception that the owner may not make payment on time. The lower the rating of a debt security, the higher its credit risk.

Derivatives risk: investment in derivatives causes more exposure to volatility and potential loss. Losses on investments in certain types of derivatives may exceed the initial investment.

Floating rate loan risk: the risks associated with a floating rate loan involve the value of the collateral securing the loan may decline, causing a loan to be substantially unsecured. The sale and purchase of a bank loan are subject to the requirements of the underlying credit agreement governing such bank loan. These requirements may place conditions or restrictions on sales and purchases of bank loans.

Bank loans are not traded on an exchange and purchases and sellers of bank loans rely on market makers, usually the administrative agent for a particular bank loan, to trade bank loans. These factors, in addition to overall market volatility, may negatively impact the liquidity of loans. Difficulty selling a floating rate loan may result in a loss.

Borrowers may pay back principal before the scheduled due date when interest rates decline, which may require the replacement of the loan with a lower-yielding security. There may be less extensive public information available with respect to loans than for rated, registered or exchange listed securities.

Foreign securities risk: foreign securities involve special risks such as currency fluctuations, economic or financial stability, lack of timely or reliable financial information and unfavorable political or legal developments and delays in enforcement of rights. These risks are increased in emerging markets.

Interest Rate Risk: Debt securities will generally lose value if interest rates increase. U.S. Government securities can exhibit price movements resulting from changes in interest rates. Interest rate risk is generally higher for investments with longer maturities or durations. Treasury inflation protected securities ("TIPS") can also exhibit price movement as a result of changing inflation expectations and seasonal inflation patterns.

Liquidity risk: a particular investment may be difficult to purchase or sell. The inability to sell an illiquid security at an advantageous time or price.

Loss of money risk: an investment may lose money.

Market changes risk: investments may change because of broad changes in markets.

Management risk: investment management applies investment techniques and risk analyses in making investment decisions for your portfolios, but there can be no guarantee that these decisions will produce desired results.

Prepayment and call risk: when mortgages and other obligations are prepaid and when securities are called, it may require reinvestment in securities at a lower yield or fail to recover additional amounts paid for securities with higher interest rates, resulting in unexpected capital loss.

Regulatory risk: changes in government regulation may adversely affect the value of an investment.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Item 11A Code of ethics

We have adopted a Code of Ethics (the “Code of Ethics”) for all our officers and employees which sets forth our standards of conduct and requires compliance with federal securities laws. The Code of Ethics is based on the principle that the officers and employees owe a fiduciary duty to our clients and as fiduciary, we owe our clients a duty of honesty, good faith and fair dealing. In addition, our employees who are in a position to exploit information about client securities transactions or holdings must conduct their personal securities transactions in a manner that does not violate the federal securities laws, interfere with client portfolio transactions or otherwise take unfair advantage of their relationship to the clients.

Our employees have an ethical and legal obligation to avoid any conflicts of interest situations and to report potential conflicts and seek clarification when warranted. Among other things, the Code of Ethics prohibits the acceptance of gifts, services, trips, entertainment and other items of value and participation in personal or unrelated business transactions that create a conflict of interest with our firm or our clients.

We must not only adopt our Code of Ethics, but also must implement and enforce its provisions effectively. We have adopted numerous compliance procedures to monitor compliance with the Code of Ethics. These procedures include pre-clearance of personal transactions; reporting certain personal securities transactions; and requiring all employees to identify certain securities accounts along with a listing of certain securities they own at the time they join our firm and annually afterward. Annually, all employees must acknowledge and accept the Code of Ethics. Upon discovering a violation of the Code of Ethics, we may impose such sanctions as it deems appropriate, including among other things, a letter of censure, disgorgement of profits obtained in connection with the violation, the imposition of fines, restrictions on future personal trading, suspension, termination of employment, or criminal referral of the violator.

A copy of the Code of Ethics will be mailed, either electronically or through the postal service, to any client at any time upon request. Current and prospective clients may request a copy of WCM's Code of Ethics by contacting us at (866) 481-0783.

Item 11B Client transactions

It is our firm's policy that we will not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts. Principal transactions are transactions where an advisor, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to an advisory client. An agency cross transaction for an advisory client occurs when an advisor acts as a broker for a transaction in which one of the advisor's clients is on one side of the transaction and another person is on the other side of the transaction.

WCM may cross trade between client accounts under certain circumstances that benefit both clients and minimizes transaction costs. Cross trades occur when WCM effects a transaction between two advisory clients. Our firm does not receive any compensation on the transactions other than our advisory fee. Prior to executing the trade, it is determined that no client will be disfavored by the cross trade. The trade is executed at an independent broker at a price determined by the independent broker.

Our firm does not buy or sell for client accounts, securities in which our firm or a related person has a material financial interest.

Item 11C & 11D Personal trading

We do permit personal ownership by our officers and employees of the same securities owned by and recommended to our clients. This may occur when investment objectives are similar, and when clients complete transactions in securities already owned by officers/employees, or officers/employees complete transactions in securities already owned by clients. Officers/employees may not benefit, either directly or indirectly, from transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts. Officers and employees are required to disclose to the Compliance Officer the names of all broker/dealer firms with whom personal accounts are maintained, and to arrange for each broker/dealer firm to send duplicate statements to the Compliance Officer. The client's interest will supersede the interest of any officer or employee, and every reasonable attempt will be made to avoid conflicts of interest.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

Item 12A Recommending broker-dealers

WCM is retained to manage clients' accounts on a discretionary basis, and in such capacity, we are authorized to direct execution of portfolio transactions without specific consultation with the client on each trade. Clients may direct that we use particular broker-dealers to execute portfolio transactions. Clients who designate use of a particular broker-dealer should understand that (a) we will generally not attempt to negotiate commissions with designated broker-dealers; and (b) clients may pay higher commissions than they might have paid if they had not made such a designation. If a client does not designate a broker-dealer, we will select a broker/dealer to execute portfolio transactions. Our primary broker-dealers are Charles Schwab & Co. (Schwab) and Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC (Fidelity).

The Primary Custodian and Brokers We Use

We do not maintain custody of your assets. However, under SEC rules, we may be deemed to have custody of your assets if you give us authority to withdraw assets from your account (see Item 15 – Custody below). Your assets must be maintained in an account at a "qualified custodian," generally a broker-dealer or bank. We interface with a number of different custodians including Schwab and Fidelity, registered broker-dealers, member SPIC, as qualified custodians. We are independently owned and operated and are not affiliated with custodians. Schwab, Fidelity or a custodian designated by you will hold your assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when we instruct them to. You will open your account by entering into an account agreement directly with the custodian/broker. We do not open the account for you, although we may assist you in doing so. Even though your account will be maintained at a custodian/broker, we can still use other brokers to execute trades for your account as described below (see Your Brokerage and Custody Costs).

How We Select Brokers/Custodians

We seek to use a custodian/broker who will hold your assets and execute transactions on terms that are, overall, most advantageous when compared to other available providers and their services. We consider a wide range of factors, including, among others:

- Combination of transaction execution services and asset custody services generally without a separate fee for custody
- Capability to execute, clear and settle trades (buy and sell securities for your account)
- Capability to facilitate transfers and payments to and from accounts (wire transfers, check requests, bill payment, etc.)
- Breadth of available investment products (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds (etfs), etc.)
- Availability of investment research and tools that assist us in making investment decisions
- Quality of service
- Competitiveness of price of those securities (commission rates, other fees, etc.) and willingness to negotiate the prices
- Reputation, financial strength and stability
- Prior service to us and our clients
- Availability of other products and services that benefit us (see “Products and Services Available to Us From Our Primary Custodians/Brokers”)

Your Brokerage and Custody Costs

For our clients’ accounts that Schwab or Fidelity maintains, they generally do not charge you separately for custody services but are compensated by charging you commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that settle into your account. In addition to commissions, the custodian may charge you a flat dollar amount as a “prime broker” or “trade away” fee for each trade that we have executed by a different broker-dealer but where the securities bought or the funds from the securities sold are deposited (settled) into your account. These fees are in addition to the commissions or other compensation you pay the executing broker-dealer.

Products and Services Available to Us From Our Primary Custodians/Brokers

Our primary custody/broker relationships are through Schwab and Fidelity. They provide us and our clients with access to its institutional brokerage, trading, custody, reporting and related services, many of which are not typically available to retail customers. Schwab and Fidelity also makes available various support services. Some of those services help us manage or administer our client’s accounts; while others help us manage and grow our business. The support services generally are available on an unsolicited basis and may be at no charge to us. The following is a more detailed description of support services:

Services that Benefit You. The brokerage services by Schwab and Fidelity include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions and custody of client assets. The investment products available through Schwab or Fidelity include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients. The services described in this paragraph generally benefit you and your account.

Services that May Not Directly Benefit You. Schwab and Fidelity also makes available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients’ accounts. They include investment research, from Schwab and Fidelity as well as that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or a substantial number of our clients’ accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab or Fidelity. In addition to investment research, Schwab and Fidelity also make available software and other technology that:

- Provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements)
- Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple accounts
- Provide pricing and other market data
- Facilitate payment of our fees from our clients’ accounts
- Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting

Services that Generally Benefit Only Us. Schwab and Fidelity also offer other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. These services include:

- Educational conferences and events
- Consulting on technology, compliance, legal and other needs

- Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession

Schwab or Fidelity may provide some of these services. In other cases, it will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to us. Schwab and Fidelity may also discount or waive its fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party's fees.

Our Interest in Schwab and Fidelity Services

The availability of these services from Schwab and Fidelity benefits us because we do not have to produce or purchase them. Our interest in receiving Schwab and Fidelity services that benefit our business rather than based upon your interest in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of your transactions may give us an incentive to maintain your account at Schwab or Fidelity. This is a potential conflict of interest of our clients. We believe, however, that our selection of Schwab or Fidelity as custodian and broker is in the best interest of our clients. Our selection is primarily supported by the scope, quality and price of services (see How We Select Broker/Custodians) and not the services that benefit only us.

Our firm has no soft dollar arrangements.

Our firm has no incentive to select or recommend a broker-dealer based on our interest in receiving client referrals.

Our firm has no directed brokerage.

Item 12B Aggregate orders for securities

Since WCM is managing accounts with similar investment objectives, WCM may aggregate orders for securities for such accounts. The number of accounts included in a specific order is determined by a balance between an account's specific investment objective and the volume of eligible securities available from dealers, as well as the transaction costs that would be incurred by each account. WCM determines on an individual basis that the securities order is in the best interest of the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives. The terms negotiated for the aggregated transaction apply equally to each participating client. If there is more demand than available for a particular security transaction, the security is allocated in a fair manner using best efforts, taking into consideration cash availability in the relevant accounts.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

Client holdings are reviewed on a continuous and best efforts basis. All portfolio reviews are based on the investment objectives and constraints set forth in each client's investment policy statement. Portfolio reviews are scheduled at least annually with each client. Portfolio reviews may also be triggered by market conditions, the request of the client, a change in the client's investment objectives, or a rebalancing due to a change in the asset allocation. The assigned portfolio manager performs all client portfolio reviews

The custodian will provide you with a report that may include such relevant account and/or market related information such as an inventory of account holdings and account performance on a quarterly basis. You will also receive confirmations of each transaction executed for the account and brokerage statement no less frequently than quarterly directly from the custodian. WCM may also generate interim reports at the request of the client.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Item 14A Economic benefits

For Schwab and Fidelity custody accounts, we receive an economic benefit in the form of support products and services it makes available to us and other independent investment advisors. These products and services, how they benefit us, and the related conflicts of interest are described above (see Item 12 – Brokerage Practices). The availability to us of these products and services is not based on us giving particular investment advice, such as buying particular securities for our clients.

Item 14B Compensation for client referrals

WCM may pay, to professionals who refer clients to WCM, a solicitation or referral fee between 10% and 25% of the annual fee paid to WCM for varying lengths of time. The fee must be disclosed in writing to the client and acknowledged by the client via signature of a disclosure document. Payment of such a fee shall not increase the amount paid by the client for WCM's investment management services.

Item 15 Custody

Under government regulation, we are deemed to have custody of your assets if, for example, you authorize us to instruct the custodian (i.e. Schwab or Fidelity) to deduct our advisory fees directly from your account or if you give us authority to move your money to another person's account. However, the custodian maintains actual custody of your assets. You will receive account statements directly from the custodian at least quarterly. They will be sent by email or to the postal mailing address provided. You should carefully review those statements promptly when received. When applicable, to ensure all account transactions are proper, we recommend you compare statements you receive from us with the statement you receive directly from your custodian. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

WCM is retained to manage clients' accounts on a discretionary basis, and in such capacity, we are authorized to direct execution of portfolio transactions without specific consultation with the client on each trade. This discretion allows us the authority over the selection and amount of securities to be bought and sold into the clients account without obtaining prior consent. However, these purchases and sales may be subject to specific investment objectives, guidelines, or limitations previously set forth by the client. The granting of such authority will be evidenced by the client's execution of an investment advisory agreement and/or investment policy statement containing all applicable limitations to such authority.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

Item 17A Voting policy and procedures

Proxy Voting

In certain circumstances, and in accordance with the client's specific advisory agreement, WCM shall vote proxies related to securities held by any client in a manner that is in the best interest of the client. We shall consider only those factors that relate to the client's investment(s) or that are established by the client's written instructions. Such factors will include how its vote will economically impact and affect the value of the client's investment (keeping in mind that, after conducting an appropriate cost-benefit analysis, not voting at all on a presented proposal may be in the best interest of the client).

Proxy votes generally will be cast in favor of proposals that:

1. maintain or strengthen the shared interests of shareholders and management
2. increase shareholder value
3. maintain or increase shareholder influence over the issuer's board of directors and management
4. maintain or increase the rights of shareholders

Proxy votes generally will be cast against proposals having the opposite effect. In voting on each and every issue, WCM and our employees shall vote in a prudent and timely fashion and only after a careful evaluation of the issue(s) presented on the ballot. In exercising its voting discretion, WCM and its employees shall avoid any direct or indirect conflict of interest raised by such voting decision. We will provide adequate disclosure to the client if any substantive aspect or foreseeable result of the subject matter to be vote upon raises an actual or potential conflict of interest to WCM. Consistent with SEC Rule 206(4)-6, we will keep certain records required by applicable law in connection with its proxy voting activities for clients and shall provide proxy-voting information to clients upon their written or oral request. A copy of WCM's proxy-voting policies and procedures are available to clients upon request.

Item 17B Proxy delivery

If we do not have authority to vote client securities, the client will receive their proxies or other solicitations directly from their custodian or a transfer agent. Clients may contact us with any questions regarding a particular solicitation.

Item 18 Financial Information

Item 18A Prepayment of fees

WCM does not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance.

Item 18B Impaired ability

Our firm does not foresee any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments to our clients.

Item 18C Bankruptcy

WCM has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time.
