Item 11 – Code of Ethics

Monarch Partners Asset Management LLC has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts, restrictions on political contributions and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at Monarch Partners Asset Management LLC must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

Monarch Partners Asset Management LLC has limited its covered persons’ personal securities trading to selling positions that they owned as they joined the firm. Covered persons will not be able to purchase stocks or options. With this being said, the Firm anticipates that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with clients’ investment objectives, it will cause accounts over which the Firm has management authority to effect, and will recommend to investment advisory clients or prospective clients, the purchase or sale of securities in which the Firm, its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position of interest. Monarch Partners Asset Management’s employees and persons associated with the Firm are required to follow Monarch Partners Asset Management LLC’s Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors and employees of the Firm and its affiliates may not, trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for the Firm’s clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of the Firm will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to divest from their own personal accounts. Under the Code certain classes of securities (ETF’s, Mutual Funds) have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of the Firm’s clients. In addition, the Code requires pre-clearance of many transactions, and restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics, and to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between the Firm and its clients.

Monarch Partners Asset Management LLC’s clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm’s Code of Ethics by contacting Hank Lawlor, Chief Compliance Officer, at 617-419-2200, or hlawlor@monarchpartners.com.

It is Monarch Partners Asset Management LLC’s policy that the Firm will not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts at this time. The Firm will also not cross trades between client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an adviser, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to any advisory client. A principal transaction may also be deemed to have occurred if a security is crossed between an affiliated hedge fund and another client account. An agency cross transaction is defined as a transaction where a person acts as an investment adviser in relation to a transaction in which the investment adviser, or any person controlled by or under common control with the investment adviser, acts as broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction. Agency cross transactions may arise where an adviser is dually registered as a broker-dealer or has an affiliated broker-dealer. We reserve the right to re-visit this policy in the future.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

In general, Monarch Partners Asset Management LLC's policy regarding the selection of brokers and payments of commissions seeks best execution, and the degree of skill required by the broker-dealer. In selecting a broker-dealer, the Firm also takes into account certain factors specific to a particular broker-dealer such as trading capacity of the firm, its financial stability, industry reputation, its ability to achieve prompt and reliable executions at favorable prices, the operational efficiency at which it effects transactions, its responsiveness to the Firm's requests and the scope of its ancillary services. Such ancillary services include the quality of research coverage, economic or geopolitical coverage, bond capacity, back office and processing capabilities.

The commissions paid by the Firm's clients shall comply with the Firm's duty to obtain "best execution". However, a client may pay a commission that is higher than another qualified broker-dealer might charge to effect the same transaction where the Firm determines in good faith, that the commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of broker-dealers services, including among other things, the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Consistent with the foregoing, while the Firm will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client transactions.

If the client requests the Firm to arrange for the execution of securities brokerage transactions for the client's account, the Firm shall direct such transactions through the broker-dealers that the Firm reasonably believes will provide best execution. Transactions may be cleared through other broker-dealers with whom the Firm and the Financial Institutions have entered into agreements for prime brokerage clearing services. The Firm shall periodically and systematically review its policies and procedures regarding recommending broker-dealers to its client in light of its duty to obtain best execution.

Client accounts are traded on an aggregated basis when consistent with the Firm's obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. The Firm will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the order. When the partial order purchases a small amount of shares, those shares may be allocated to a smaller subset of those accounts. Monarch Partners has designed procedures to allocate those shares on a rotational basis to not favor one account over another.

Consistent with obtaining best execution, brokerage transactions may be directed to certain broker-dealers in return for investment research products and/or services which assist the Firm in its investment decision-making process, generally referred to as “Soft Dollar Transactions”. Monarch Partners evaluates and determines that these services qualify as research and trade execution services as provided in the Section 28(e) safe harbor of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such research generally will be used to service all of the Firm’s clients, but brokerage commissions paid by one client may be used to pay for research that is not used in managing that client’s portfolio. Research services received from broker dealers within our last year include some or all of the following: sell side research reports, market data, economic data, trade execution services, discussions with research analysts, fundamental analysis, company financial data, meetings with corporate executives, seminars and conferences that related to investment research. If a portion of these services is used for non-research or non-trade execution related purposes, Monarch Partners will pay for a portion of these services with its own funds. The receipt of investment research products and/or services as well as the allocation of the benefit of such investment research products and/or services poses a conflict of interest.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

For those clients to whom the Firm provides investment management services, the Firm monitors those portfolios as part of an ongoing process while regular account reviews are conducted on at least a quarterly basis. Such reviews are conducted by the Firm’s Chief Compliance Officer. All investment advisory clients are encouraged to discuss their needs, goals and objectives with the Firm and to keep the Firm informed of any changes thereto. The Firm shall contact ongoing investment advisory clients at least annually to review its previous services and/or recommendations and to discuss the impact resulting from any changes in the client’s financial situation and/or investment objectives.

Unless otherwise agreed upon, clients are provided with quarterly account holdings, transactions, and performance calculations from the broker-dealer or custodian for the client accounts. Those clients to whom the Firm provides investment advisory services will also receive a report from the Firm that may include such relevant account and/or market related information such as and inventory of account holdings and account performance on a quarterly basis.
