4. ADVISORY BUSINESS

A. OWNERSHIP/ADVISOR HISTORY

National Christian Financial Advisors, Inc (“NCFA”, “the Firm” or “we”) is owned by Beverly J. Webb and Raynell J. Webb. The Firm’s Chief Executive Officer and Chief Compliance Officer is Hakeem J. Webb. The Firm was formed as a Connecticut corporation on September 6, 2006. It was subsequently registered as an investment adviser in January 2011. Mr. Webb is also the Firm’s sole investment adviser representative and he has worked in the securities industry since November 1993.

B. ADVISORY SERVICES OFFERED

Prior to the Adviser-Client relationship, the Firm may offer a complimentary general consultation to discuss services available, to give a prospective Client time to review services desired, and to determine the possibility of a potential relationship. Investment advisory services begin only after the Client and Firm formalize the relationship with a properly executed Client Agreement.

After engaging the Firm, the Client will be asked to share in a data gathering and discovery process in an effort to determine the Client’s stated needs, goals, intentions, time horizons, risk tolerance and investment objectives, based upon information provided by the Client and the nature of services requested.

The following services are offered by the Firm:

Portfolio Management Services:

The Firm offers two types of Portfolio Management Services, the 7-Mountain Portfolio and also individualized portfolios. With the individualized portfolios, the Firm works with each Client to formulate a portfolio based upon his/her objectives, time frame, risk parameters and other investment considerations. The investment philosophy of the Firm is to use principals of value, safety and quality to seek investment options globally. The Firm places heavy emphasis on risk control, believing that avoiding losses allows appreciation potential of equities to be realized.

The Firm believes in active management for its portfolio management service accounts. Active management is an investment approach based on informed, independent investment judgment with the Firm moving in and out of positions in an effort to capture gains or stem losses. This is the opposite of passive management that is often a buy and hold philosophy that seeks to match performance of the overall market (or some part of it) by mirroring an index or composite of the market.

In addition to the individualized portfolio services the Firm offers the 7-Mountain Portfolio. The 7-Mountain Portfolio is created to make investments in companies, mutual funds, and exchanged traded funds by practicing moral and socially responsible investing within the combined framework of Judeo-Christian principles and the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops Socially Responsible Investment Guidelines. The portfolio will follow this combined guideline by using an approach that focuses on Christian values screening of portfolio companies, proactive dialogue with those companies whose practices conflict with such guidelines, and potential exclusion of those companies that are unwilling to alter their practices over a reasonable period time.

The 7-Mountain Portfolio monitors investment selections for policies and activities on various issues including but not limited to:

- abortion
- pornography
- antifamily entertainment
- non-married lifestyles
- alcohol
- tobacco
- gambling
- weapon of mass destruction
- human rights
- environmental irresponsibility
- and fair employment practices

In monitoring investment selection, the Firm will utilize screening services provided by third parties and other independent research resources.

Some investments will be immediately screened out of the portfolio, but there may be times when an investment is made in the portfolio whose policies and activities are inconsistent with our moral and social values. In such cases, we may attempt to influence the violating company's policies through, among other efforts. If our efforts are unsuccessful over a reasonable period of time, we may sell the company's securities or otherwise exclude future investments in such companies.

Non-Discretionary Qualified Plan Consulting

The Firm will offer advice on Client's employer sponsored qualified plans for a fixed monthly fee. The advice is offered on a non-discretionary basis, which means it is up to each Client to act upon the recommendations of the Firm. Clients are not obligated to follow the Firm's recommendations or to pursue the recommendations through it.

The Firm will review the Client's current asset allocation of his/her employer sponsored qualified plan along with the available investment options. After the review, the Firm may recommend changes to the Client's asset allocation. The Firm will continue to monitor the investments in the Client's account and make periodic recommendations.

Financial Planning:

The Firm offers Clients financial planning services to evaluate their financial situation, goals and risk tolerance. Through a series of personal interviews and the use of questionnaires the Firm will collect pertinent data, identify goals, objectives, financial problems, potential solutions, prepare specific recommendations and implement recommendations. As a result of these actions, the Firm's advice may be provided on financial and cash management, risk management, financial issues relating to divorce or marital issues, charitable donation planning, estate planning, tax issues, retirement planning, educational funding, goal setting, or other needs as identified by the Client and Firm. The Firm may offer comprehensive planning services or the Client may desire advice on certain planning components; the Firm can tailor services as desired by the Client. At the conclusion of the Financial Planning Service the Firm shall present the Client with a written financial plan.

Selection and Monitoring of Third Party Investment Advisers:

After an initial meeting with the Client and when deemed appropriate, the Firm may recommend the services of an independent investment adviser (“Third Party Adviser”). The recommendation will depend on the Client’s circumstances, goals and objectives, strategy desired, account size, risk tolerance, or other factors. The Firm and Client will work together to determine which Third Party Adviser may be appropriate. Clients are never obligated to use a recommended Third Party Adviser.

The Firm shall review Third Party Advisers prior to making a recommendation to the Client. The Firm shall consider the following factors during its review: fees, reputation, performance, financial strength, management, price, reporting capabilities, Client’s financial situation, Client’s goals, Client’s needs, and Client’s investment objectives. After its review the Firm shall present the Client with one or more recommendations.

If the Client wishes to proceed with the recommendation, the Firm shall enter into a Co-Adviser relationship with the recommended Third Party Adviser. The Co-Adviser relationship means the Firm and the Third Party Adviser shall have separate rolls while serving the Client. In effect, the Client shall engage both the Firm and the Third Party Adviser to serve his/her accounts and the Adviser and Third Party Adviser shall provide separate services to the Client.

Under this arrangement, the Third Party Adviser will be responsible for portfolio management, best execution, portfolio reporting, trading, trade error resolution, and custodian reconciliations. While the Firm shall maintain its relationship with the Client by monitoring the status of the Client’s accounts with the Third Party Adviser, make recommendations about the Third Party Adviser that could include changing to a different Third Party Adviser, meeting the Client at least annually and acting as the Client’s primary financial adviser. All questions regarding the Third Party Adviser’s services and performance shall be directed to the Firm.

As a result of the Firm and the Third Party Adviser having different roles, the Client shall engage each separately. The Client will sign a Recommendation and Monitoring Third Party Adviser Service Agreement with the Firm. This agreement outlines the services provided to the Client by the Firm and the fees associated with those services. It will also allow the Firm the ability to monitor performance of the Third Party Adviser on behalf of the Client. The Client will also sign a separate agreement with the Third Party Adviser that will detail its services and fees.

When utilizing the services of a Third Party Adviser, Clients will be given a copy of their Form ADV Part 2 or a substitute brochure. Clients are encouraged to read and understand this disclosure document.

C. TAILORED SERVICES

As described above, all of the Firm’s services are tailored to a Client’s needs, goals and objectives.

D. WRAP PROGRAM

The Firm does not sponsor a wrap program. However, as part of its Selection and Monitoring of Third Party Investment Adviser, the Firm may recommend the use of a Third Party Adviser's wrap program. When utilizing the services of a Third Party Adviser, Clients will be given a copy of their Form ADV Part 2 or a substitute brochure. Clients are encouraged to read and understand this disclosure document.

Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to Firm's fee and the Firm does not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

D. SELECTION AND MONITORING OF THIRD PARTY ADVISERS FEE

The Client shall be charged two separate fees. The first fee shall be charged by the Firm and the second fee shall be charged by the Third Party Adviser.

Third Party Adviser Fee

The Third Party Adviser fee will vary from adviser-to-adviser and it will be based upon the Client's asset under management with the Third Party Adviser. The Client will be given the recommended Third Party Adviser's ADV Part 2A or similar disclosure document that will state its fees. Additionally, the Firm shall discuss the Third Party Adviser's fees with the Client upon recommendation.

The Firm will not share in any portion of the Third Party Adviser's fee. The Firm does not receive any referral fees or solicitor fees from the Third Party Adviser. Additionally, the Client pays the same fee as other Clients of the Third Party Adviser. The Third Party Advisers do not make their portfolios directly available to Clients. The Third Party Advisers require a Client to use a primary adviser such as this Firm that will maintain the adviser-Client relationship.

Third Party Adviser Billing

The Third Party Adviser shall request the Client provide written authorization to withdraw its fee directly from the Client's account.

NCFA's Fee

The Selection and Monitoring Services fee will be a percentage of the assets under management as reported by the Third Party Adviser. The Fee is 1.00%, but can be negotiated. The Fee is due quarterly in arrears and it is based on the Client's quarter-end account value as reported by the Third Party Adviser.

Under some circumstances the Firm's fees may be lower than the stated rate and can be negotiated. Accordingly, rates may vary based on a variety of factors. For example, in determining fees, rates, and minimums, the Firm may aggregate related accounts and, for billing purposes, treat them like one account.

Fees will not be based upon a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the funds or of any portion of the funds under advisory contract. Fees for services to be performed will not be collected six or more months in advance. Fees will be calculated, accrued and due quarterly in arrears.

The Firm may from time to time unilaterally amend its fees and billing arrangements. Any change will only become effective after thirty (30) days prior written notice. If the Client does not accept the amended fee or billing arrangements, he/she may terminate the service at any time.

NCFA's Fee Billing

The Firm offers Clients two options regarding its fee billing.

Option 1 – Client's can elect to have the Firm bill the Client quarterly by invoice. Upon receipt of the Client's quarterly statement from the Third Party Adviser, the Firm shall send a billing statement to the Client that indicates the fee to be withdrawn and how it was calculated. The fee is due upon receipt of the billing statement. A Client may object to the calculation of Firm's fee by notifying Firm at the address or telephone number shown on each billing statement.

Option 2 – A Third Party Adviser may offer the Clients the ability to have the Firm's fee directly withdrawn from the Client's account at the same time the Third Party Adviser withdraws its own fees. The Third Party Adviser shall request the Client provide written authorization to deduct its fees directly from the Client's account. When providing the written authorization, the Client may have the option to provide the same written authorization to have the Firm's fee directly withdrawn from the Client's account. After the deduction, the Third Party Adviser shall forward the Firm's fee directly to it.

Clients are reminded that the fees for each adviser's services are separate.

This option is only available when it is a service provided by the Third Party Adviser. Some but not all Third Party Advisers offer this service.

Termination of Selection and monitoring Services

A Client may terminate this service for any reason within the first five business days after signing the contract without any cost or penalty. Thereafter, the contract may be terminated at any time by giving ten (10) days written notice to the Firm at National Christian Financial Advisors, Inc 7421 Douglasville Blvd., Ste N251, Douglasville, GA 30135. Upon notice of termination, unearned fees will be refunded on a prorated basis according to upon the number of days that services were rendered.

6. PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE BY SIDE MANAGEMENT

The Firm does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a Client).

7. TYPES OF CLIENTS

The Firm's services are offered to individuals, pension plans, corporations and other businesses entities. The Firm does not require a minimum account size or Client net worth for any service.

8. METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

A. METHODS OF ANALYSIS AND INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

With respect to the Firm's individual portfolio management services, the Firm utilizes an individualized asset allocation method for each Client account. When deciding on the asset allocation for a Client's account, the Firm studies various market indicators such as financial newspapers and magazines, research prepared by other advisers, company press releases, prospectuses, and other market related filings. After studying the market indicators the Firm allocates assets among various securities such as, common stocks, bonds, mutual funds, or Exchange Traded Funds.

When managing the 7-Mountain Portfolio the Firm, with the use of independent software and internet programs, attempts to use an approach that focuses on Christian values screening of companies, proactive dialogue with those companies whose practices conflict with such values, and potential exclusion of those companies that are unwilling to alter their practices over a reasonable period of time. The Firm will attempt to recommend investments in companies that do not support, benefit and invest in immoral lifestyles, violates human rights, environmentally irresponsible, etc. Due to a lack of investments in certain management strategies, this may not always be possible.

B. INVESTMENT RISKS

All investments bear different types and degrees of risk and investing in securities involves risk of loss that Clients should be prepared to bear. While we recommend various securities that are designed to provide appropriate investment diversification, some investments have significantly greater risks than others. Obtaining higher rates of return on investments entails accepting higher levels of risk. Recommended investment strategies seek to balance risks and rewards to achieve investment objectives. Clients need to ask questions about risks they do not understand. We would be pleased to discuss them.

We strive to render our best judgment on behalf of our Clients. Still, we cannot assure or guarantee Clients that investments will be profitable or assure that no losses will occur in an investment portfolio. Past performance is an important consideration with respect to any investment or investment adviser but is not a reliable predictor of future performance. We continuously strive to provide outstanding long-term investment performance, but many economic and market variables beyond our control can affect the performance of an investment portfolio.

C. RECOMMENDED SECURITIES AND THEIR RISKS

The Firm recommends several types of securities. They and their risks are as follows:

Corporate and Governmental Bonds

Definition. A bond is a debt investment in which an investor loans a certain amount of money, for a certain amount of time, with a certain interest rate, to a company or the government. A corporate bond is a bond issued by a corporation. It is a bond that a corporation issues to raise money in order to expand its business. The term is usually applied to longer-term debt instruments, generally with a maturity date falling at least a year after their issue date. (The term "commercial paper" is sometimes used for instruments with a shorter maturity.) A government bond is a bond issued by a national government denominated in the country's own currency.

Interest rate risk. This is the risk that a rise in interest rates will cause the price of a fixed rate debt security to fall. Generally, a bond with a longer maturity or weighted average maturity of a bond, the greater the interest rate risk will be.

Credit risk. This is the risk that an issuer of a bond could suffer an adverse change in financial condition that results in a payment default, security downgrade, or inability to meet a financial obligation.

Liquidity risk. This is the risk that the Firm may not be able to sell the bond in a timely manner at a desired price.

Prepayment risk and extension risk. Prepayment risk is the risk that the principal on a bond or any fixed income security with a call option may be prepaid at any time, which could reduce yield and market value. The rate of prepayments tends to increase as interest rates fall, which could cause the average maturity of the portfolio to shorten. Extension risk may result from a rise in interest rates, which tends to make bonds and other callable fixed income securities more volatile.

Exchange Traded Funds (“ETF”)

Definition. An exchange-traded fund (ETF) is an investment fund traded on stock exchanges, much like stocks. An ETF holds assets such as stocks, commodities, or bonds and trades at approximately the same price as the net asset value of its underlying assets over the course of the trading day. Most ETFs track an index, such as the S&P 500.

ETF investments and have risks similar to stocks. There are risks involved with investing in ETFs including the risk of principal (i.e. possible loss of money). The share price may trade above or below the purchase price.

Market Risk. Since the ETF invests most or a substantial portion of its assets in stocks, it is subject to stock market risk. Market risk involves the possibility that the value of the ETF's investments in stocks will decline due to drops in the stock market. In general, the value of the ETF will move in the same direction as the overall stock market in which the ETF invests, which will vary from day to day in response to the activities of individual companies, as well as general market, regulatory, political and economic conditions.

Trading Risk. Although ETFs will be listed on the Exchange, there can be no assurance that an active or liquid trading market for them will develop or be maintained. In addition, trading in the ETF on the Exchange may be halted due to market conditions or for reasons that, in the view of the Exchange, make trading in the ETF inadvisable. Further, trading in the ETF on the Exchange is subject to trading halts caused by extraordinary market volatility pursuant to the Exchange “circuit breaker” rules. There can be no assurance that the requirements of the Exchange necessary to maintain the listing of the ETF will continue to be met or will remain unchanged.

Value Stock Risk. Value stocks are subject to the risk that their intrinsic value may never be realized by the market or that their prices may go down. While the ETF's investments in value stocks may limit its downside risk over time, the ETF may produce more modest gains than riskier stock funds as a trade-off for this potentially lower risk.

Mutual Funds (open and closed end)

Definition. A mutual fund is a professionally managed type of collective investment scheme that pools money from many investors and invests typically in investment securities (stocks, bonds, short-term money market instruments, other mutual funds, other securities, and/or commodities such as precious metals). The mutual fund will have a fund manager that trades (buys and sells) the fund's investments in accordance with the fund's investment objective.

Risks. Every type of investment, including mutual funds, involves risk. Risk refers to the possibility that you will lose money (both principal and any earnings) or fail to make money on an investment. A mutual fund's investment objective and its holdings are influential factors in determining how risky a fund is. Reading the prospectus will help a Client to understand the risk associated with that particular fund.

Generally speaking, risk and potential return are related. This is the risk/return trade-off. Higher risks are usually taken with the expectation of higher returns at the cost of increased volatility. While a fund with higher risk has the potential for higher return, it also has the greater potential for losses or negative returns. The school of thought when investing in mutual funds suggests that the longer your investment time horizon is the less affected you should be by short-term volatility. Therefore, the shorter your investment time horizon, the more concerned you should be with short-term volatility and higher risk.

Different mutual fund categories have inherently different risk characteristics and should not be compared side by side. A bond fund with below-average risk, for example, should not be compared to a stock fund with below average risk. Even though both funds have low risk for their respective categories, stock funds overall have a higher risk/return potential than bond funds.

Of all the asset classes, cash investments (i.e. money markets) offer the greatest price stability but have yielded the lowest long-term returns. Bonds typically experience more short-term price swings, and in turn have generated higher long-term returns. However, stocks historically have been subject to the greatest short-term price fluctuations—and have provided the highest long-term returns.

Mutual funds face risks based on the investments they hold. For example, a bond fund faces interest rate risk and income risk. Bond values are inversely related to interest rates. If interest rates go up, bond values will go down and vice versa. Bond income is also affected by the change in interest rates. Bond yields are directly related to interest rates falling as interest rates fall and rising as interest rise. Income risk is greater for a short-term bond fund than for a long-term bond fund.

Similarly, a sector stock fund (which invests in a single industry, such as telecommunications) is at risk that its price will decline due to developments in its industry. A stock fund that invests across many industries is more sheltered from this risk defined as industry risk. Stock funds also have the same risks as described above under equities.

The Firm's Code of Ethics covers all supervised persons and it describes its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its Clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of Client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at the Firm must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

B. MATERIAL INTEREST IN SECURITIES

The Firm, its owners and investment adviser representatives do not recommend the purchase or sale of securities in which they have a material financial interest.

C. INVESTING IN THE SAME SECURITIES

On occasion, the Firm, its owner and investment adviser representatives may buy or sell for their own accounts securities that are the same as, similar to, or different from those that they recommend to their Clients for purchase or sale. Differences can arise due to variations in personal goals, investment horizons, risk tolerance, and the timing of purchases and sales. The Firm attempts to mitigate the conflict of interest to the best of its ability through the enactment of the Firm's code of ethics, trading policies, and its fiduciary responsibilities. Nonetheless, the Firm generally attempts to place Client transactions ahead of its own, the owners and investment adviser representative's trades. When using the Firm's average price account, the Firm may trade all accounts at the same time. The associates of the Firm are aware of their fiduciary duty to their Clients and the prohibitions against the use of any insider information. Records of all associates' proprietary trading activities will be kept by the Firm, available to regulators to review on the premises.

12. BROKERAGE PRACTICES

A. RECOMMENDATION CRITERIA

When the Firm recommends brokers or custodians, it will seek broker-dealers who offer competitive commissions costs together with reliable services. A Client's choice of another broker-dealer is acceptable if proven feasible. The Firm has and continues to recommend TradePMR for transaction execution. The Firm recognizes its fiduciary responsibility in negotiating brokerage commissions, assuring best execution practices and assuring adequate investment availability/inventory on behalf of its Clients. We do not receive compensation with respect to execution of trades at TradePMR.

With the use of independent broker-dealers, a Client may incur a ticket charge or sales commission for the sale or purchase of securities. The Firm does not receive any portion of the ticket charge or sales commission. It also does not receive or use any soft dollars or research from the independent third-party broker-dealers.

The Firm does not receive Client referrals or any other incentive from TradePMR.

Some Clients may direct us to a specific broker-dealer to execute securities transactions for their accounts. When so directed, we may not be able to effectively negotiate lower brokerage commissions or achieve best execution on Clients' transactions. This can result in substantially higher fees, charges or dealer concessions in one or more transactions for the Clients' account because the Firm cannot negotiate favorable prices.

B. TRADE AGGREGATION

When trading multiple accounts for the same security, the Firm will aggregate orders to a single block order against an average price account. The average price account will allocate proportionate shares to each Client's account. It will also provide Clients with an average price for the securities transaction or transactions, which reduces the transaction costs for the Client.

13. REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

On a quarterly basis the Firm's investment adviser representatives meet with Clients either in person, by phone or through video conference. In addition to the quarterly reviews the Firm's investment adviser representatives review Client accounts on a semi-annual basis for rebalancing purposes.

B. OTHER REVIEWS

Additional reviews are conducted periodically depending on market conditions, economic or political events, or by changes in a Client's financial situation (such as retirement, termination of employment, physical move or inheritance).

C. REPORTS

14. CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

A. OTHER COMPENSATION

B. CLIENT REFERRALS

The Firm does not pay for Client referrals or use solicitors.

15. CUSTODY

All Client funds, securities and accounts are held at third-party custodians. The Firm does not take possession of a Client's securities or funds.

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains Client's investment assets. The Firm urges each Client to carefully review such statements.

16. INVESTMENT DISCRETION

The Firm's Portfolio Management Services are discretionary. The Firm's discretionary authority is obtained when a Client signs an investment management agreement. The agreement allows the Firm to buy and/or sell securities the Firm has selected, within the tolerance agreed to by the Client, and in the amounts the Firm deems suited to the agreed upon portfolio structure. It also allows the Firm to place each such trade without the Client's prior approval. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular Client account, and any other investment policies, limitation or restrictions.

Financial Planning, Qualified Plan Consulting, and Selection and Monitoring of Third Party Advisers services are nondiscretionary. A non-discretionary investment account means the Client retains full discretion to supervise, manage, and direct the assets of the account. The Client maintains full power and authority to purchase, sell, invest, reinvest, exchange, convert, and trade the assets in the Account in any manner deemed appropriate and to place all orders for the purchase and sale of Account assets with or through brokers, dealers, or issuers selected by the Client. The Client is free to manage the account with or without the recommendation of the Firm and all with or without prior consultation with the Firm.

17. VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Unless otherwise mutually agreed in writing, the Firm will not be responsible for responding to proxies that are solicited with respect to annual or special meetings of shareholders of securities held in Clients' accounts.
