Advisory Business

Vuefolio is a privately owned business which offers personal investment advisory services to our clients. The service is provided to our clients through the Internet as well as the mobile, tablet and other technologies that connect to the internet.

The principal owners of Vuefolio, who each own more than 25% of the company, are Oindrila Ray and Sameer Gupta.

Vuefolio offers investment advice on college savings which is tailored to our individual client's investment goals, risk preference, allocation choices, market exposure and their personal savings goals. Our clients can access their personalized advice through a secured website: <https://www.vuefolio.com> . Vuefolio will be available to the public during 2013.

Vuefolio may request additional investment related information from the client in order to provide the best investment advice to our clients. It is up to the client to provide the additional information. Incomplete and/or incorrect information provided by the client may lead to investment advice which is not personalized or accurate for that particular client.

Vuefolio will recommend mostly direct sold 529 plans and in some cases an advisor sold 529 plan if Vuefolio deems the advisor sold 529 plan to have better investment options and lower fees as opposed to the direct sold plan for any particular state. You may designate Vuefolio to monitor and execute transactions in your 529 account by signing and notarizing a "Authorized Agent" form, "Power of Attorney", "Limited Power of Attorney" forms. These forms are available from the website of the 529 plan that you are considering as an investment. Vuefolio and you will be using the forms which can be downloaded from the 529 plan website. Signing the "authorization" or the "power of attorney" form will allow Vuefolio to monitor and/or rebalance your current investments, as well as assign and distribute your future contributions amongst the various investment options available. As an investor in a direct sold 529 plan you will also be able to conduct similar transactions in the event that you do not authorize Vuefolio to do so.

Withdrawal of funds: Vuefolio will not withdraw any funds from your 529 plans without your prior approval.

Vuefolio advice may also contain recommendations to buy, sell or exchange certain asset classes in your investment accounts. Vuefolio does not have the discretionary management authority to trade on behalf of our client nor make investment decisions for our client, relating to any particular securities. The company does not provide continuous and regular supervisory management services, as distinguished from advice based on the client's individual market position.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies, and Risk of Loss

Vuefolio recommends that its clients maintain a balanced and diversified portfolio of securities. These include U.S. and foreign equities, U.S. corporate and government bonds, foreign corporate and government bonds, as well as mutual funds and ETFs which invest in these and other asset classes. The allocation of assets between different security classes will be recommended by Vuefolio to the client based on our characterization of the client's investment goals and risk tolerance. Vuefolio shall also endeavor to recommend long-term investment holdings to its clients, though this will be subject to the client's investment goals and horizons. Vuefolio may allow its clients to customize and add to the metrics that have been determined by Vuefolio to have an impact on the client's portfolio.

On an as needed basis (as determined by Vuefolio), Vuefolio shall review the client's college savings portfolio and determine whether it is still aligned with the allocation as discussed above. If required, Vuefolio will recommend the necessary transactions required to rebalance the portfolio. This analysis will use a proprietary model of risk determination which uses both current and historical fundamental and pricing data for the securities in the portfolio. Vuefolio will obtain this data from reliable sources in order to ensure that the data used in our models is of high quality and generally error-free. Also, the quality of the advice which Vuefolio provides its clients is dependent on the completeness of the information provided by the client to us.

Vuefolio has a proprietary projection model for college costs based on over 40 years of historical college cost data available from the U.S. Department of Education. Based on client responses and our proprietary model, Vuefolio will recommend a savings plan for the client. Vuefolio will recommend that its clients invest for college in state sponsored 529 plans whenever appropriate. Vuefolio is not affiliated with any state 529 plans and offers unbiased recommendations of 529 plans based on many metrics such as fees, expense ratios, diversification asset allocations of the underlying funds as well as the client's college savings goals.

Vuefolio does not guarantee the results of the investment advice or strategies to its clients. Vuefolio is not responsible for the performance of the state 529 plans. Financial markets change daily and often unpredictably and sometimes have large movements within a short time frame. Investing in any securities inherently involves risks of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.
