Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Method of Analysis and Investment Strategy

CLASS 500 was established in 2013 with the goal of providing positive absolute returns based on a specially developed investment program. CLASS 500

Class 500's investment program is based on Mr. Dekovic and Mr. Persic's proprietary trading algorithms which have been in development since 2004. Class 500 will strictly trade with most liquid instruments based on S&P500 index, such as SPY, SSO, SDS and SSO, etf-s, or ES futures. The trading algorithms the have been developed are built with strong emphasis on money management, and low drawdowns are a top priority in Class 500's trading. The trading algorithm's incorporate both trend following and reversal to mean perspective. The trading approach is such that results will not be correlated to market movement but are intended to provide positive absolute returns. Class 500 intends to use leveraged financial instruments and use margin accounts. Because of that their clients will have to be thoroughly informed about possible risks associated with such approach and confirm that they are ready to assume such risks. Another priority is to provide clients with total transparency and to provide this service through managed accounts where a client will at any time have insight into the value of his or her account, portfolio, transactions, and positions.

Mr. Dekovic and Mr. Persic have traded their own portfolios using the same algorithms for last few years and intend to do so in the future in a way that client funds will have the same or prioritized treatment. Offering this managed account program offers the benefit that Class 500 will not hold client assets, but will trade each account reducing counterparty risk.

If a client expresses his or her interest to acquire different investment products from those offered, Class 500 will provide the client with fundamental and technical analysis of such product(s) and help the client with advice.

Investment Philosophy

Liquidity

CLASS 500 will invest only in the most liquid instruments. Specifically S&P 500 related instruments, ETFs, and ES futures.

Money Management

CLASS 500 intends to enforce strict entry, profit in stop price targets and take a disciplined approach with regard to the maximum drawdown that will be tolerated by a portfolio.

CLASS 500's investment approach is based on quantitative analysis of stock markets and it incorporates both mean reversion and trending aspects of market behavior.

Risk Management

CLASS 500 realizes that there are many risks associated with providing investment advisory and assets management services. There is an old saying that those who engage with markets should expect unexpected. In that regard it is CLASS 500's main goal to manage the Clients exposure to all kinds of risks associated with this practice.

CLASS 500 will use the following strict procedures:

- Get to know the Client's financial situation and his or her risk aversion in order to offer the most suitable instrument for the Client's risk profile.
- Ascertain that the Client has a complete understanding of the nature of the offering and possible outcome of CLASS 500's investment decisions.

By using managed accounts service through a major broker (with A- credit rating) CLASS 500 will significantly:

- Reduce counter-party risks, as clients will have their own accounts at a major broker which offers account protection, and in the event of CLASS 500's closure, Client accounts will be protected.
- Reduce currency risks, as client will have option to choose their base currency
- Reduce security risks, as will use brokers security infrastructure
- Offer maximum transparency as clients will have 365/24/7 real-time view on their portfolio, its value, positions, trades etc.
- Reduce liquidity risks, as client will be able to withdraw or deposit their funds at any given moment

By investing solely in S&P related instruments CLASS 500 will significantly:

- Reduce market risks associated with owning particular company
- Reduce liquidity risks, as we will trade only most liquid instruments

- Reduce political risks associated with investing in developing countries

CLASS 500 will provide the following practices:

- To reduce risk of technological failure CLASS 500 will use multiple independent telecommunications channels through which they will engage market orders
- To prohibit any ethical problems. CLASS 500 and its managers will trade their private funds in a same way and manner that they trade Client funds, in other words, CLASS 500 will bundle orders together with orders for their Clients.

CLASS 500 intends to monitor their risk management practices and improve on them continuously.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

The minimum account size that shall be accepted by CLASS 500 is five thousand U.S. dollars (USD $5,000) and the Client may add to or withdraw funds from its investment account (the "Investment Account") at any time as long as the Investment Account Assets remain equal to or in excess of such amount.

In order to become a Client, prospective Clients must represent and warrant to CLASS 500 that: (i) it has full capacity and authority to enter into the Agreement and to perform its obligations thereunder; (ii) it has all governmental and regulatory licenses, registrations and approvals required by law as may be necessary perform its obligations under the Agreement; (iii) it will not, by entering into the Agreement and performing its obligations hereunder, breach or cause to be breached any undertaking agreement, contract, statute, rule or regulation of any court or any governmental body or administrative agency or self-regulating authority having jurisdiction over it; and (iv) should it be acting on behalf of third-party investors, it has determined the extent of any information regarding CLASS 500 that is required to be provided to such third-party investors and takes sole responsibility therefore.

CLASS 500 may reject any person's request to become a Client of CLASS 500 for any reason.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

CLASS 500 has adopted a Code of Ethics (the “Code”) pursuant to Rule 204A-1 of the Investment Advisers Act and Rule 17j-1 of the Investment Company Act. CLASS 500’s Code sets forth standards of ethical and business conduct expected of access persons and addresses conflicts that may arise from personal trading by CLASS 500 personnel to ensure that CLASS 500’s fiduciary obligations to its clients are met as well as compliance with federal securities laws. The Code includes a personal trading policy and policies and procedures to detect and prevent insider trading. Additionally, the Code defines material, nonpublic information and the restrictions on trading on any such knowledge. The Code also includes policies and procedures on serving as officers, trustees and/or directors of outside organizations and participating in outside business activities. Additionally, the Code sets forth specific restrictions and limitations as to which employees may make political contributions, as well as preclearance requirements for certain political contributions.

All CLASS 500 personnel must acknowledge understanding and agree to comply with the Code initially upon employment and must certify on an annual basis that they have read and understand the code and have complied with it.

Clients or prospective clients may obtain a copy of the Code upon request.

Conflicts of Interest

Clients or investors should carefully consider the conflicts of interest described here and in the Agreement, as applicable.

Other Investment Accounts

The Client understands that CLASS 500, Mr. Dekovic or Mr. Persic may take actions for their own accounts that differ from advice given to or action taken for the Client. CLASS 500 is not obligated to buy, sell or recommend for the Client any security or other investment that CLASS 500, Mr. Dekovic or Mr. Persic may buy, sell or recommend for their own accounts. The Agreement does not limit or restrict in any way CLASS 500, Mr. Dekovic or Mr. Persic from buying, selling or trading in any securities or other investments for their own accounts.

Conflicts of interest may arise in the allocation of investment opportunities among accounts that CLASS 500 advises. CLASS 500 will seek to allocate investment opportunities believed appropriate for the Client’s account and other accounts advised by CLASS 500 among such accounts equitably and in a manner consistent with the best interests of all accounts involved. But, there can be no assurance that a particular investment opportunity that comes to the attention of CLASS 500 will be allocated in any particular manner.

To address the conflicts of interest posed by this type of trading, CLASS 500 maintains the Code, as described above. Specifically, the Code requires that CLASS 500 personnel obtain written pre-clearance for transactions that exceed a de minimis level. The Code also establishes minimum holding periods for such securities. Additionally, the Code requires access persons to submit transactions reports and initial and annual holding reports showing all transactions in which the person has, or by reason of such transaction acquires, any direct or indirect beneficial ownership in covered securities, with limited exceptions for securities such as shares of mutual funds not advised by CLASS 500. This enables CLASS 500 to determine with reasonable assurance any indications of front-running or other appearance of a conflict of interest.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Brokerage Practices

Class 500's objective in selecting brokers and dealers and in effecting portfolio transactions is to seek the best combination of price and execution with respect to its accounts' portfolio transactions. The best net price, giving effect to brokerage commissions, spreads and other costs, is normally an important factor in this decision, but a number of other judgmental factors are considered as they are deemed relevant. In applying these factors, Class 500 recognizes that different broker-dealers may have different execution capabilities with respect to different types of securities. In determining whether a particular broker-dealer is likely to provide best execution, Class 500 takes into account all factors that it deems relevant to the broker-dealer's execution capability.

Client-Directed Brokerage Transactions

While CLASS 500 generally requires clients to use Interactive Brokers, LLC as the custodian and broker for Managed Accounts, CLASS 500 will accept in limited instances direction from Clients as to which broker-dealer is to be used. If the Client directs the use of a particular broker-dealer, CLASS 500 asks that the Client also specify in writing (i) general types of securities for which a designated firm should be used and (ii) whether the designated firm should be used for all transactions, even though CLASS 500 might be able to obtain a more favorable net price and execution from another broker-dealer in particular transactions.

Clients, who, in whole or in part, direct CLASS 500 to use a particular broker-dealer to execute transactions for their accounts should be aware that, in so doing, such decision may adversely affect CLASS 500's ability to, among other things, obtain volume discounts on aggregated orders or to obtain best price and execution by, for example, executing over-the-counter stock transactions with the market makers for such securities. Additionally, as noted above, transactions for a client that directs brokerage are generally unable to be aggregated for execution purposes with orders for the same securities for other accounts managed by CLASS 500.

Accordingly, directed transactions may be subject to price movements, particularly in volatile markets, that may result in the client receiving a price that is less favorable than the price obtained for the aggregated order. Under these circumstances, the direction by a client of a particular broker or dealer to execute transactions may result in higher commissions, greater spreads, or less favorable net prices than might be the case if CLASS 500 could negotiate commission rates or spreads freely, or select brokers or dealers based on best execution. Consequently, best price and execution may not be achieved.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Review of Accounts

On a continuous basis, CLASS 500 monitors and reviews portfolio activity in the Managed Accounts. Mr. Dekovic or Mr. Persic may employ various computer programs in conducting periodic account reviews which include monitoring for account restrictions, consistency with investment objectives and strategy descriptions. More frequent reviews may be triggered by material changes in variables such as the client's individual circumstances, or the market, political or economic environment.

Clients receive monthly accounts statements directly from the Custodian. CLASS 500 urges clients to carefully review official custodial records.

Mr. Dekovic or Mr. Persic will meet with Clients upon request. Clients agree to a minimum of two (2) meetings yearly with Mr. Dekovic or Mr. Persic to review and discuss the Investment Management Services provided under the Agreement. Such meetings shall be scheduled to take place in person at a mutually convenient time and location and if both Mr. Dekovic or Mr. Persic and the Client agree, such meeting may be conducted by telephone.

Client understands and agrees that the Investment Management Services are a diversification opportunity for the Client's investment portfolio, not a complete investment program. There can be no assurance that CLASS 500 will achieve the Client's investment objectives or avoid substantial losses. The Client should not engage CLASS 500 with the expectation of sheltering income. Clients are urged to consult with their business, tax and legal advisers before engaging CLASS 500.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Brokerage for Client Referrals

Presently, CLASS 500 does not have any such referral arrangements. Should CLASS 500 ever direct some Client brokerage business to brokers who refer prospective investors to CLASS 500, third parties will be compensated in accordance with Rule 206(4)-3 under the Investment Adviser's Act of 1940. Because such referrals, if any, are likely to benefit CLASS 500 but will provide an insignificant (if any) benefit to the Client, CLASS 500 will have a conflict of interest with the Client when allocating Client brokerage business to a broker who has referred investors to CLASS 500. To prevent Client brokerage commissions from being used to pay investor referral fees, CLASS 500 will not allocate Client brokerage business to a referring broker unless CLASS 500 determines in good faith that the commissions payable to such broker are reasonable in relation to those available from non-referring brokers offering services of substantially equal value to the Client.

Item 15 – Custody

Custody of the Client's assets will be maintained at Interactive Brokers, LLC. The Client agrees to inform CLASS 500 immediately if it is dissatisfied with CLASS 500's decisions or actions, or if it dissatisfied with Interactive Brokers, LLC's handling of the Investment Account. The Client will be solely responsible for paying all fees or charges of the Custodian. The Client authorizes CLASS 500 to give the Custodian instructions for the purchase, sale, conversion, redemption, exchange or retention of any security, cash or cash equivalent or other investment for the Client. The Client shall pay all fees and expenses of the Custodian. All transactions will be consummated by payment to or delivery by, the Custodian, of all cash or securities due to or from the Investment Account.

CLASS 500 shall at no time have custody or physical control of any of the Investment Account Assets and it is the responsibility of the Client to reach an agreement with the Custodian. CLASS 500 shall instruct all brokers or dealers executing orders on behalf of the Investment Account to forward to the Custodian and the Client copies of all brokerage confirmations promptly after execution of transactions. CLASS 500 shall have no responsibility or liability with respect to custodial arrangements or the acts, omissions or other conduct of the Custodian.

The term "Custodian" for purposes of this Agreement shall mean Interactive Brokers, LLC, or subject to the approval of CLASS 500, another financial institution designated by the Client in Exhibit A of the Agreement (the "Custodian"). The Custodian shall maintain assets of the Client in an account suitable for investing as determined by the Custodian (the "Investment Account") and as agreed to by CLASS 500 in its sole and absolute discretion.

The Client shall cause the Custodian to accept instructions from CLASS 500 to execute transactions for the Investment Account and to provide CLASS 500 daily and monthly reports concerning the status of the Investment Account and such other information relating to the Investment Account or the Investment Account Assets as CLASS 500 may from time to time request.

CLASS 500 is deemed to have a form of custody of Client funds and securities whenever it is given the authority to have fees deducted directly from client accounts. However, this is the only form of custody that CLASS 500 will have over individual Client accounts.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

In its full and absolute discretion and without any obligation on its part to give prior notice to the Client, CLASS 500 shall have sole, complete and full power and authority to invest and reinvest all of the Investment Account Assets in such securities as CLASS 500 in its sole and absolute discretion shall consider to be in the best interest of the Client.

In connection therewith, CLASS 500 shall have sole, complete and full power and authority to: (i) issue orders for the Managed Account to a broker or dealer; (ii) instruct the Custodian to exercise or abstain from exercising any option, privilege or right held in the Managed Account; (iii) monitor the correct collection of income on the Managed Account by the Custodian; and (iv) take any other action with respect to securities or other property in the Managed Account as needed to serve the best interest of the Client.
