Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

EPG does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7 – Types of Clients

EPG provides portfolio management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, charitable foundations, trusts, institutions, and 457 plan.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

EPG provides ALM and Investment Advisory Services* and our recommendations are customized to the risk/reward profile of our investment clients. Within the investment advisory services, EPG provides both fixed income and equity management. Investment decisions are based on relevant research obtained from external sources, in-house expertise, ratings of acceptable financial ratings services and the evaluation of relevant factors pertaining to the type of security under consideration.

Fixed Income Management

EPG works with the client to implement high-performance fixed income investment recommendations designed to enhance overall returns. EPG employs fundamental analysis to determine an economic and inflation outlook, which in turn, drives an interest rate outlook. The level of interest rates, the shape of the yield curve, and targeted sector spreads are evaluated on an ongoing basis.

Prior to recommending a purchase, an assessment is made of each security to determine its appropriateness given the client's investment objectives and policy parameters. As with all clients, bond purchases would be rated investment grade or better. EPG considers the interest rate and credit risk embedded in the overall balance sheet and ALM modeling discipline with each purchase or sale recommendation we make, and select securities that optimize net interest income, consistent with liquidity, interest rate risk and credit tolerance.

A client's portfolio is constructed from our selected securities and, consistent with the profile and policy parameters, is structured to consist of the following:

- Liquidity Holdings: Highest rated, shortest dated fixed income securities that provide near-term liquidity.
- Total Return Holdings: High quality fixed income securities that have the potential for gains realization prior to maturity.
- Foundation Holdings: High quality securities characterized by incremental yield for maturity, incremental yield for credit, incremental yield for option risk, and the likelihood of being held to maturity.

Equity Management

EPG's equity investing portfolio management is client focused and complements institutional client's strategic/business objectives. It is an active process consisting of quality selection criteria and ongoing security evaluation.

The buy discipline begins with fundamental analysis in determining appropriate buy candidates. Prior to making a buy recommendation, an assessment is made of each security to determine its appropriateness given the client's investment policy parameters.

A pre-purchase rationale outlining the suitability and rationale of an investment recommendation is submitted for client approval. Pre-purchase documentation also consists of relevant security information, which may include, where applicable, security description, earnings estimates, yield analysis and other pertinent data.

Active Portfolio Management

EPG actively manages the investment process by employing a buy/sell discipline based on:

- Target Price: For fixed income securities, a target spread and/or price is created to benchmark what EPG believes to be full valuation. For equities, a target price is set based on the client's earnings, outlook, and portfolio objectives.
- Security Outlook: EPG monitors and assesses changes in interest rates and credit ratings to capture potential changes that may impact security performance. EPG monitors the changes in the overall sector, fundamentals of the company and market conditions to determine a buy, sell or hold position.
- Client Objectives: We recommend buy or sell actions that integrate investment management practices with client objectives.

 Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.*

Employees may not purchase securities that have been recommended for purchase to a client or the client base until two days after the recommendation has been disseminated. Similarly, Employees may not sell securities that have been recommended for sale to a client or the client base(1) until two days after the recommendation has been disseminated.

The equity manager maintains an online folder that includes: 1.) All individual and bank client buy and sell recommendations and 2.) All general buy and sell recommendations that have been added to a client or client base. A recommendation is considered "Disseminated" or "Distributed" on the day the recommendation has been added to the online folder. All employees are required to review this recommendation folder prior to trading in their own account to ensure compliance with EPG's Personal Trading Policy.

Further, in the event EPG is establishing a new position in client accounts by introducing a security to the client base for the first time, employees must first confirm with EPG's Equity Manager that all clients have had an opportunity to purchase the security before it can be purchased in their own account.

EPG's Personal Trading Policy extends to all accounts that are managed by an EPG employee, where the employee makes investment decisions and/or executes trades, to include a spouse, child, or family member account.

Finally, employees may not purchase an IPO or Limited Placement Security without the explicit consent of the president. Community Bank stocks will not be allowed for trading.

EPG reviews quarterly, employee's personal trades and annually, brokerage statements to ensure compliance of this policy. Should any part of this policy be violated, the president will take appropriate action up to and including termination.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

EPG Inc. provides Institutional clients with a list of Brokers at the time of the execution of any advisory agreement. However, clients may direct EPG to execute transactions through a specified broker-dealer, aware that we may be unable to achieve most favorable execution of their transactions or cost them more money. Further, EPG does not have any soft-dollar agreements with any brokerage firms or brokers. EPG deals only with established firms of national reputation. Each firm has a strong financial condition and lengthy operating history. EPG typically has longstanding relationships with sales representative (s) at each firm listed. Generally, we deal only with the most experienced representatives at a given firm; thus their expertise is quite strong. EPG does not deal with individual brokers who have been restricted to trade by State or Federal regulators (or by self-regulatory organizations). Broker/dealers with whom we become dissatisfied are eliminated from our list.

Procedure

EPG interviews brokerage firms before adding them to the broker list, to determine their financial condition, and expertise. EPG obtains broker Identification numbers for the Central Registration Depository. This allows EPG to search the database on the FINRA site for any restrictions or disclosures against the firm or trader.

In an effort to assist Institutional Clients with requirements designated by State and Federal authorities, EPG Incorporated makes the following information available:

-  Resume and Central Registration Depository (CRD) identification number for the trader, at specified brokerage firm, with whom EPG executes client transactions;
-  Instructions for the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) Broker Check;
-  List of current quarterly Standard & Poor's ratings for all appropriate brokers.

This service allows Clients to obtain background information concerning formal enforcement actions against the dealer, its affiliates or associated personnel.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

For Institutional Clients, informal reviews are conducted by EPG staff and implemented on an ongoing basis. Each account is priced monthly and portfolios are updated as needed. Meetings with Institutional Clients are at the client's request and/or at EPG's recommendation.

For Individual Clients, accounts are reviewed at least quarterly, and managed on an ongoing basis by qualified Senior Management. At present, EPG's Senior Management members are responsible for reviewing all individual accounts. EPG has no Individual Clients with accounts managed on a discretionary basis.

Pricing information for client accounts is reviewed by the President and entered into Axys by the portfolio accounting system manager. Only these two positions have access to the information manual and related access codes etc. to enact any changes to pricing or position descriptions. These manuals and related data will be kept in a secure position. The portfolio reports are reviewed by clients for accuracy at the beginning of each month comparing EPG prices against their custody statements. (the client receives a "Market Value Report" on the first day of the month which prices all securities the client holds) Also, portfolio reports will be reviewed by the Fixed Income manager at EPG as well as the Equity manager at EPG, on a monthly basis. Any discrepancies will be documented and brought to the President and portfolio accounting system managers attention. Follow up on the discrepancies will then be undertaken by the fixed income and equity managers to ensure corrections were made. For any client identified discrepancies, research is immediately undertaken, the proper price is verified and changes made, if necessary. Once the pricing is completed, a hard copy of the price file is printed as back-up, for reference as needed. The Chief Compliance Officer of EPG will also periodically spot check IDC prices listed for securities in the portfolio to ensure accuracy of pricing and will verify that ongoing review is occurring by the fixed income manager, equity manager, and portfolio accounting system manager.

For Institutional Clients, reports are issued periodically, providing all pertinent data regarding a client's securities holdings and account activity that has been received during the prior month. This information includes cost, market value; various yield calculations and quality ratings, as well as percentage distributions and maturity patterns. Clients periodically receive an investment letter.

For Individual Clients, monthly statements from the custodian are mailed directly to the client. EPG maintains their portfolios in the Axys system, reviewed monthly against the custody statement, and used for internal purposes only.

EPG offers each client an investment strategy for fixed income and equity securities and specific buy and sell recommendations and reasons supporting such recommendations.

EPG's account executives engage in regular phone contact with the clients for the purpose of presenting and monitoring the implementation of recommended investment strategy. Clients may elect to meet quarterly with personnel of the Registrant for the purpose of reviewing portfolio strategy.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

EPG has entered into two solicitation agreements (see item 10) for client referrals. With the exception of these two agreements, EPG does not receive any economic benefits, sales awards, or other prizes from non-clients.

Item 15 – Custody

EPG does not have custody, either directly or indirectly, of any client funds or securities nor has the authority to obtain possession of them. For institutional clients, should they elect, EPG will maintain their investment portfolio on the AXYS portfolio system. For Individual Clients, monthly statements from the custodian are mailed directly to the client. EPG maintains their portfolios in the Axys system and is used for internal purposes only. Furthermore, EPG will only engage in client relationships which do not create a situation where it could be considered to have direct or indirect custody of client assets. Custody of client's funds must be maintained with qualified custodians.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

EPG has institutional and individual clients. Within these types, accounts are classified as only non-discretionary. Non-discretionary accounts require that EPG obtain approval from a client before executing trades in their account. When recommending securities and determining amounts, EPG observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to EPG in writing.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, EPG does not have any authority to and does not vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients. The Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in client portfolios.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about the adviser's financial condition. EPG has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
