Item 4 – Advisory Business

NBS Financial Services is an investment advisor registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) and is a corporation formed under the laws of the State of California.

- Joseph “Geordie” Crossan is the President and Owner of NBS Financial Services, Inc.
- NBS Financial Services, Inc. has been registered as an investment advisor with the SEC since May 1984.

General Description of Primary Advisory Services

We are in the business of advising clients who want to develop and implement an intelligent, effective long-term investment strategy, customized to their personal goals and resources.

The following are brief descriptions of the primary advisory services of NBS Financial Services. A more detailed description of our advisory services is provided in Item 5 – Fees and Compensation so that clients and prospective clients can review the description of services and description of fees in a side-by-side manner.

Financial Planning Services - NBS Financial Services provides advisory services in the form of financial planning services. Financial planning services do not involve the active management of client accounts, but instead focus on a client’s overall financial situation. Financial planning can be described as helping individuals determine and set their long-term financial goals, through investments, tax planning, asset allocation, risk management, retirement planning, and other areas. The role of a financial planner is to find ways to help clients understand their overall financial situation and to help clients set financial objectives.

Asset Management Services - NBS Financial Services provides advisory services in the form of asset management services through our Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program. Asset management services involve providing clients with continuous and on-going supervision over client accounts. This means that NBS Financial Services will continuously monitor a client’s account and make trades in client accounts when necessary.

Outside Money Managers - NBS Financial Services provides advisory services by referring clients to outside, or unaffiliated, money managers that are registered or exempt from registration as investment advisors. Third-party money managers are responsible for continuously monitoring client accounts and making trades in client accounts when necessary.

Specialization.

The firm specializes in Retirement Planning, which is our process of planning for retirement specifically in terms of developing a comprehensive retirement plan. We use Monte Carlo modeling to run thousands of simulations based on many crucial factors such as multiple income sources, risk tolerance, market volatility, tax efficient disbursement, changing income needs over time, varied inflation rates, and required minimum distributions from IRAs. This tool helps to increase the transparency of the retirement process and provides a framework for open and honest discussion on the realities of retirement.

When providing Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Services, NBS Financial Services typically constructs each client's account holdings using mutual funds, equities, and individual bonds to build diversified portfolios. It is not our typical investment strategy to attempt to time the market but we may increase cash holdings modestly as deemed appropriate, based on a client's risk tolerance and our expectations of market behavior. We may modify our investment strategy to accommodate special situations such as low basis stock, stock options, legacy holdings, inheritances, closely held businesses, collectibles, or special tax situations. (Please refer to Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss for more information.)

Tailor Advisory Services to Individual Needs of Clients

The services of NBS Financial Services are always provided based on the individual needs of each client. This means, for example, that the client is given the ability to impose restrictions on the accounts we manage for you, including specific investment selections and sectors. We work with each client on a one-on-one basis through interviews and questionnaires to determine the client's investment objectives and suitability information.

Client Assets Managed by NBS Financial Services

The amount of clients assets managed by NBS Financial Services totaled $212,541,965 as of December 31, 2013. $207,427,105 is managed on a discretionary basis and $5,114,860 is managed on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

In addition to the information provide in Item 4 – Advisory Business, this section provides additional details regarding our firm’s advisory services along with descriptions of each service’s fees and compensation arrangements.

Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program

NBS Financial Services provides investment supervisory services within our Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program. Asset Allocation focuses attention on the overall composition of the portfolio rather than the traditional method of analyzing and evaluation the individual components. Asset Allocation is the process of selecting a mix of asset classes and the efficient allocation of capital to those assets by matching potential rates to the client’s tolerance for risk. As your advisor, we examine and design portfolios on individual client risk-reward parameters and on portfolio objectives. Our Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management program typically includes financial planning services, and we generally will use the traditional six-step planning process for clients who have executed an agreement for our Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program services.

Within this program we employ modern portfolio theory, which attempts to maximize portfolio expected return for a given amount of portfolio risk, or equivalently minimize risk for a given level of expected return, by carefully choosing the proportions of various assets. Our process may include one or all of the following approaches: Strategic Asset Allocation which is the process of determining within a portfolio the target long term allocations to the available asset classes, and Dynamic Asset Allocation wherein the asset mix may be modified in tune with prevailing market conditions most often to protect the portfolio.

To provide the investment supervisory services within our Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program, we utilize integrated investment systems which include computer models and ancillary services required to develop and manage the client’s portfolio in a sophisticated asset allocation program.

Recommendation of Outside Money Managers

In addition, as part of our Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program, NBS Financial Services may refer part or all of a client’s assets to non-affiliated portfolio managers (Outside Money Managers), who are also Registered Investment Advisors. When NBS Financial Services recommends client assets for management by an Outside Money Manager, clients are charged the normal advisory fee charged by NBS Financial Services as well as the agreed upon charge between the client and the Outside Money Manager. NBS Financial Services reviews and monitors the performance of the Outside Money Managers to integrate the assets managed by the Outside Money Manager(s) with the assets of the overall client portfolio.

Fees for Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program Services are computed as a percentage of assets under management on a sliding scale. The current fee schedule is as follows:

Account Value	Annual Fee
Up to $2,000,000	1.00%
$2,000,001 to $5,000,000	0.80%
$5,000,001 to $10,000,000	0.65%
$10,000,001 and over	0.50%

Some accounts may be under a historical fee schedule that is no longer offered.

For Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management services, the fee will be payable quarterly. Quarterly fees are assessed in advance and due on the first day of each calendar quarter. The fee is based on the value of assets under supervision as reflected in the account valuation by the custodian of such assets as of the close of business on the last day of the previous quarter.

Fees may be paid directly by the client; or fees may be deducted from the client's account and paid directly to NBS Financial Services by the custodian holding the client's fund and securities. However, the following criteria must be met when payment of client advisory fees is made to NBS Financial Services by the custodian: 1) the client provides written authorization permitting the fees to be paid directly from the client's account held by the independent custodian; 2) the custodian agrees to send to the client a statement, at least quarterly, indicating all amounts disbursed from the account including the amount of advisory fees paid directly to NBS Financial Services; 3) NBS Financial Services sends to the client a bill showing the amount of the fee, the value of the client's assets on which it was based, and the specific manner in which the fee was calculated, to assist the client in verifying the accuracy of the amount billed.

After the first five days, for the Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program, services will continue until either party terminates the Agreement on ten (10) days written notice.

Financial Planning Services and Financial Consultative Services

Financial Planning Services

NBS Financial Services provides financial plans consistent with the individual client's financial and tax status and risk/reward objectives. Planning may focus on investments, insurance, taxes, retirements, and/or estate plans. Generally we employ the traditional six-step planning process. For specific reasons, clients may request segmented plans to focus on a particular need.

Clients may request Financial Planning Services only. Clients are not required to contract for our Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program services in order to receive Financial Planning Services.

If the client has contracted for Financial Planning Services only, the advisory fee will be computed at the rate of $250/hour. Typically, fees for Financial Planning Services range from $1500 to $2500 based upon the hours needed to perform the services, which is fully disclosed on the Advisory Agreement.

For Financial Planning Services, we will provide an estimated fee for time and charges before commencing services, and generally one-half of the estimated fee is payable upon signing the Advisory Agreement for Financial Planning. The balance is due and payable upon delivery of the written plan.

After the first five days for Financial Planning Services, the client may terminate the agreement at any time and a refund of the unearned fees will be made based upon the time and effort expended before termination. The Agreement for Financial Planning Services will terminate upon delivery of the financial plan. Upon delivery of the financial plan, no refunds will be made.

Financial Consultative Services

NBS Financial Services, Inc. also offers hourly Financial Consulting Services, which involves a specialized look at a particular aspect of the client's financial situation without engaging in the aforementioned planning arrangements. Clients may request Financial Consulting services only. Clients are not required to contract for our Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program services in order to receive Financial Consulting Services.

If the client has contracted for Financial Consulting Services only, the advisory fee will be computed at the rate of $100-$250/hour depending on the planner who is providing the service, and the complexity of the consulting task. For Financial Consulting Services, the specific rate and range of charges will be agreed upon in advance. The agreed upon fee is due and payable upon completion of agreed upon consultation.

General Information on Advisory Services and Fees

Fees may be negotiable for all of our services, and the criteria would be determined on a case by case basis. Typical negotiability factors include the amount of assets under management, and the complexity of the client's financial situation and circumstances.

Fees are not collected for services to be performed more than six months in advance. The client may terminate the Advisory Agreement without penalty within five business days of entering into the Advisory Agreement.

Any controversy or claim, including but not limited to, errors and omissions arising out of or relating to our Advisory Agreement or the breach thereof, shall be settled by arbitration in California in accordance with the civil code. If arbitration, any judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrator(s) may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof. The agreement to arbitrate does not constitute a waiver of the client's right to seek judicial forum where such waiver would be void under the federal securities laws. Arbitration is final and binding on the parties.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Item 6 of the Form ADV Part 2 instructions is not applicable to this Disclosure Brochure because NBS Financial Services does not charge or accept performance-based fees. Performance-based fees are fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets held within a client's account.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

NBS Financial Services generally provides investment advice to the following types of clients:

- Individuals
- High-Net Worth Individuals
- Pension and profit sharing plans
- Trusts, estates, or charitable organizations
- Corporations or business entities other than those listed above

All clients are required to execute an agreement for services in order to establish a client arrangement with NBS Financial Services, an Outside Money Manager, and/or the sponsor of third-party money manager platforms.

Minimum Investment Amounts Required

As reflected in the NBS Financial Services fee schedule, we will open an account in the Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program at any size. However, we recommend that our clients start with a minimum portfolio of $250,000. There are no recommended minimums for clients retaining our Financial Planning Services.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

NBS Financial Services uses the following methods of analysis in formulating investment advice:

Mutual Fund and/or Separate Account Manager Selection and Performance Review

To select the most appropriate mutual funds and/or managers, we feel that the "three P's" of People, Process, and Performance are the important determinants of an investment organization's success or failure.

To determine the caliber of the management team, we investigate the culture of the firm, the reputation of the team, the degree of turnover in the organization and the ownership structure.

We look for consistent approaches that have been rewarded consistently. We prefer managers that do not fluctuate from their style as the markets gyrate, but instead have the strength of their convictions. In the same way, we feel that bottom-up stock pickers will be able to add value more consistently than sector-rotators or market-timers.

In evaluating performance, it is important to analyze managers and funds in a risk-adjusted context. Has the portfolio been concentrated in two or three sectors that have done well over the given time period? Has the manager shifted into alternative asset classes dramatically over the market cycle? We prefer to compare a manager's returns to a carefully matched benchmark index, and to a carefully matched peer group of investment managers. To facilitate our performance analysis, we utilize statistical and analytical approaches such as factor analysis and regression analysis to more accurately determine the value that a manager has added, and to determine the level of confidence we can assign to such out performance.

In addition to these considerations, we also review the size of the fund or portfolio, its turnover, its expense ratio, its use of derivatives, its use of leverage, and its policy toward currency hedging (if applicable).

Equity Management and Research Methodology

Our stock portfolios are invested in companies that we have determined to be world-class companies that are dominant in their respective industries, whose businesses we believe should experience enduring growth across market cycles. As long-term investors, we believe the compounding of investment returns over time is the most important driver of wealth creation. History, however, tells us the winners of yesterday may not be the winners of tomorrow; we are ever vigilant to changes in the economy and/or marketplace that may affect our holdings.

We employ both “growth” and “value” investment styles. It is important that these companies offer outstanding long-term growth potential, and equally important we do not overpay for that potential. Additionally, we believe strongly in diversification by industry sectors and will over weight and/or under weight industries based upon an Economic Forecast. Securities are often sold when objectives are met, fundamentals deteriorate, a holding becomes disproportionately large, valuation reaches our “target price” or when a more attractive alternative is identified. Although holding periods may vary widely, and our best performing stocks are often held for long periods of time, average annual portfolio turnover is roughly 25%. Capital gains considerations play an important and integral role in the selling process for taxable portfolios.

We adhere to a rigorous quantitative and qualitative security selection process in building our stock portfolios for each client. This process incorporates a six-point system for analyzing stocks. We believe that this system, combined with our independence, gives us an edge as we develop our ideas, forecasts and recommendations. This research process begins with an Economic and Industry Forecast, followed by Growth Analysis, Financial Strength Analysis, Management Assessment, Risk Analysis and finally Valuation Analysis. In addition, NBS Financial Services uses the following methods of analysis in formulating investment advice:

Charting - The set of techniques used in technical analysis in which charts are used to plot price movements, volume, settlement prices, open interest, and other indicators, in order to anticipate future price movements. Users of these techniques, called chartists, believe that past trends in these indicators can be used to extrapolate future trends.

Cyclical - Analyzes the investments sensitive to business cycles and whose performance is strongly tied to the overall economy. For example, cyclical companies tend to make products or provide services that are in lower demand during downturns in the economy and higher demand during upswings. Examples include the automobile, steel, and housing industries. The stock price of a cyclical company will often rise just before an economic upturn begins, and fall just before a downturn begins. Investors in cyclical stocks try to make the largest gains by buying the stock at the bottom of a business cycle, just before a turnaround begins.

Fundamental - A method of evaluating a security by attempting to measure its intrinsic value by examining related economic, financial and other qualitative and quantitative factors. Fundamental analysts attempt to study everything that can affect the security's value, including macroeconomic factors (like the overall economy and industry conditions) and individually specific factors (like the financial condition and management of companies). The end goal of performing fundamental analysis is to produce a value that an investor can compare with the security's current price in hopes of figuring out what sort of position to take with that security (underpriced = buy, overpriced = sell or short). This method of security analysis is considered to be the opposite of technical analysis. Fundamental analysis is about using real data to evaluate a security's value. Although most analysts use fundamental analysis to value stocks, this method of valuation can be used for just about any type of security.

Technical - A method of evaluating securities by analyzing statistics generated by market activity, such as past prices and volume. Technical analysts do not attempt to measure a security's intrinsic value, but instead use charts and other tools to identify patterns that can suggest future activity. Technical analysts believe that the historical performance of stocks and markets are indications of future performance.

Investment Strategies

At NBS Financial Services, Inc., we are constantly reviewing the changes that are taking place and the tools that are available within the investment industry. We are dedicated to providing what we feel are superior investment management programs.

Numerous studies have shown that the asset allocation decision is arguably the most important decision an investor can make.

By utilizing a disciplined approach, we believe investors will be able to build sound portfolios with a diverse mix of assets, and will be better prepared to "stay the course" when their portfolio is buffeted by the turbulent winds of the capital markets. Comprised with complementary assets, these portfolios are designed to deliver attractive rates of return within the context of acceptable levels of risk.

During periods of euphoria in the market, it is easy for investors to be swept up and purchase securities near their peak. The reverse is also true, as panic often spreads during periods of unfavorable returns, resulting in an emotional response rather than one based upon reason. A disciplined, strategic investment process can help investors achieve their long-term investment goals by positioning them within an attractive mix of assets and securities. We believe further value can be added by periodically re-balancing these investments, and by utilizing a rational valuation framework to help determine which opportunities are particularly attractive at any point in time.

At NBS, we have built a comprehensive investment management program to help investors: 1) match their risk tolerance, time horizon, and investment objectives with an appropriate strategic mix of suitable investments; 2) modestly favor asset classes that appear undervalued, and modestly underweight those that appear overvalued; and 3) select specific investment vehicles that are able to add value within each targeted asset class.

To determine the investment vehicles most capable of adding value to a client's portfolio, NBS is not constrained by proprietary research or fund offerings, or existing manager relationships. As an independent adviser, our organization is clearly focused on the client's objective - to increase return at an acceptable level of overall risk.

NBS Financial Services uses the following investment strategies when managing client assets and/or providing investment advice:

Long term purchases. Investments held at least a year.

Short term purchases. Investments sold within a year.

Trading. Investments sold within 30 days.

Option writing including covered options, uncovered options, or spreading strategies. Options are contracts giving the purchaser the right to buy or sell a security, such as stocks, at a fixed price within a specific period of time.

Risk of Loss

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Therefore, you should never assume that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy will be profitable. Investing in securities (including stocks, mutual funds, and bonds) involves risk of loss. Further, depending on the different types of investments there may be varying degrees of risk. You should be prepared to bear investment loss including loss of original principal.

Because of the inherent risk of loss associated with investing, our firm is unable to represent, guarantee, or even imply that our services and methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate you from losses due to market corrections or declines. There are certain additional risks associated when investing in securities through our investment management program.

- Market Risk – Either the stock market as a whole, or the value of an individual company, goes down resulting in a decrease in the value of client investments. This is also referred to as systemic risk.
- Equity (stock) market risk – Common stocks are susceptible to general stock market fluctuations and to volatile increases and decreases in value as market confidence in and perceptions of their issuers change. If you held common stock, or common stock equivalents, of any given issuer, you would generally be exposed to greater risk than if you held preferred stocks and debt obligations of the issuer.
- Company Risk. When investing in stock positions, there is always a certain level of company or industry specific risk that is inherent in each investment. This is also referred to as unsystematic risk and can be reduced through appropriate diversification. There is the risk that the company will perform poorly or have its value reduced based on factors specific to the company or its industry. For example, if a company's employees go on strike or the company receives unfavorable media attention for its actions, the value of the company may be reduced.
- Fixed Income Risk. When investing in bonds, there is the risk that issuer will default on the bond and be unable to make payments. Further, individuals who depend on set amounts of periodically paid income face the risk that inflation will erode their spending power. Fixed-income investors receive set, regular payments that face the same inflation risk.

- Options Risk. Options on securities may be subject to greater fluctuations in value than an investment in the underlying securities. Purchasing and writing put and call options are highly specialized activities and entail greater than ordinary investment risks.
- ETF and Mutual Fund Risk – When investing in an ETF or mutual fund, you will bear additional expenses based on your pro rata share of the ETF's or mutual fund's operating expenses, including the potential duplication of management fees. The risk of owning an ETF or mutual fund generally reflects the risks of owning the underlying securities the ETF or mutual fund holds. Clients will also incur brokerage costs when purchasing ETFs.
- Management Risk – Your investment with our firm varies with the success and failure of our investment strategies, research, analysis and determination of portfolio securities. If our investment strategies do not produce the expected returns, the value of the investment will decrease.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

This item is not applicable to this Disclosure Brochure because there are no legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our business or integrity.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

NBS Financial Services is not and does not have a related company that is a (1) broker/dealer, municipal securities dealer, government securities dealer or broker, (2) investment company or other pooled investment vehicle (including a mutual fund, closed-end investment company, unit investment trust, private investment company or "hedge fund," and offshore fund), (3) other investment adviser or financial planner, (4) futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, or commodity trading advisor, (5) banking or thrift institution, (6) lawyer or law firm, (7) pension consultant, (8) or (9) sponsor or syndicator of limited partnerships.

Other Business Activities

NBS Financial Services and its principals and/or agents are licensed to sell insurance, and are in the business of selling insurance products. Insurance sales account for approximately 5% or less of our combined revenues. Investment advisory clients may implement insurance through NBS Financial Services. A conflict of interest arises as a result of NBS Financial Services acting as both insurance agent/broker and investment advisor, since NBS Financial Services receives compensation for the advice it renders as well as insurance commissions received. Therefore, incentive exists for NBS Financial Services to increase revenues by recommending insurance products.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Financial West Group, Inc. is a registered broker-dealer and member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA). Some advisory affiliates are licensed with various life, disability, and other insurance companies. These advisory affiliates may recommend insurance products offered by these insurance companies. If advisory clients purchase these insurance products through us, we may receive the normal commissions or fees associated with the sale of the insurance product. Thus, a conflict of interest exists between our interests and those of our advisory clients. The client is under no obligation to purchase insurance products we recommend, or to purchase insurance products either through us or through these insurance companies.

Generally advisory clients will not be advised on real estate; however, Robert V. Johanson and Kenneth C. Butler are licensed individually as a Real Estate Brokers. Third-Party Money Managers

As described in Item 4 – Advisory Business and Item 5 – Fees and Compensation, NBS Financial Services has formed relationships with independent, third-party money managers (Outside Money Managers).

NBS Financial Services may recommend clients work directly with third-party money managers. When we refer clients to a third party money manager, NBS Financial Services will receive a portion of the fee charged by the third party money manager. Therefore, NBS Financial Services has a conflict of interest in that we will only recommend third party money managers that will agree to compensate our firm by paying us a portion of the fees billed to your account managed by the third party money manager.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

It is recommended that employees of NBS maintain their securities accounts at Charles Schwab & Co. Inc. and be linked to NBS Financial Services, Inc. portfolio management system for monitoring. In an instance where an employee or affiliate of NBS maintains a securities account outside of Schwab Institutional, periodic statements and trade confirmations must be provided for review.

Schwab provides NBS Financial Services with access to its institutional trading and custody services, which are typically not available to Schwab retail investors. These services are not contingent upon NBS Financial Services committing to Schwab any specific amount of business (assets in custody or trading commissions). Schwab's brokerage services include the execution of securities transactions, custody, research, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require significantly higher minimum initial investment.

For NBS Financial Services' clients' accounts maintained in its custody, Schwab generally does not charge separately for custody services but is compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related or asset based fees for securities trades that are executed through Schwab or that settle into Schwab accounts. Schwab Institutional also makes available to NBS Financial Services other products or services that benefit NBS Financial Services but may not directly benefit clients' accounts. Many of these products and services may be used to service all or some substantial number of NBS Financial Services' accounts, including accounts not maintained Schwab.

Schwab's products and services that assist NBS Financial Services in managing and administering clients accounts include software and other technology that (i) provides access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements); (ii) facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts; (iii) provide research, pricing and other market data; (iv) facilitate payment of NBS Financial Services' fees from some of its accounts; and (v) assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting.

Schwab Institutional also offers other services intended to help NBS Financial Services manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include: (i) compliance, legal and business consulting; (ii) publications and conferences on practice management and business succession; and (iii) access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants and insurance providers. Schwab Institutional may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or part of the fees of a third party providing these services to NBS Financial Services. Schwab Institutional may also provide other benefits such as educational events or occasional business entertainment of NBS Financial Services personnel. While as a fiduciary, NBS Financial Services endeavors to act in its clients' best interests, NBS Financial Services' recommendation that clients maintain their assets in accounts at Schwab may take into account availability of some of the foregoing products and services and other arrangements not solely on the nature of cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by Schwab, which may create a potential conflict of interest.

In the event that a client directs NBS Financial Services to use a particular broker or dealer, NBS Financial Services may not be authorized to negotiate commissions and may be unable to obtain volume discounts or best execution. In addition, under these circumstances a disparity in commission charges may exist between the commissions charged to clients who direct NBS to use a particular broker or dealer.

Handling Trade Errors.

NBS Financial Services has implemented procedures designed to prevent trade errors; however, trade errors in client accounts cannot always be avoided. Consistent with its fiduciary duty, it is the policy of NBS Financial Services to correct trade errors in a manner that is in the best interest of the client. In cases where the client causes the trade error, the client will be responsible for any loss resulting from the correction. Depending on the specific circumstances of the trade error, the client may not be able to receive any gains generated as a result of the error correction. In all situations where the client does not cause the trade error, the client will be made whole and any loss resulting from the trade error will be absorbed by NBS Financial Services if the error was caused by NBS Financial Services. If the error is caused by the broker-dealer, the broker-dealer will be responsible for handling the trade error. If an investment gain results from the correcting trade, the gain will remain in the client's account unless the same error involved other client account(s) that should also receive the gains and it is not permissible for all clients to retain the gain. NBS Financial Services may also confer with a client to determine if the client should forego the gain (e.g., due to tax reasons).

NBS Financial Services will never benefit or profit from trade errors.

Block Trading Policy

Transactions implemented by NBS Financial Services for client accounts are generally effected independently, unless the firm decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. This process is referred to as aggregating orders, batch trading or block trading and is used by the firm when NBS Financial Services believes such action may prove advantageous to clients. When NBS Financial Services aggregates client orders, the allocation of securities among client accounts will be done on a fair and equitable basis. Typically, the process of aggregating client orders is done in order to achieve better execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates or to allocate orders among clients on a more equitable basis in order to avoid differences in prices and transaction fees or other transaction costs that might be obtained when orders are placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will be averaged as to price and will be allocated among the firm's clients in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client account on any given day. When NBS Financial Services determines to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which NBS Financial Services may invest, the firm will do so in accordance with the parameters set forth in the SEC No-Action Letter, SMC Capital, Inc. It should be noted, NBS Financial Services does not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of aggregation.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Account Reviews and Reviewers

All advisory accounts are reviewed no less frequently than monthly using computerized systems and statements prepared by the custodian, to assure the client's objectives are being met. In addition, any activity in an advisory account triggers production of a daily activity report generated by the custodian broker/dealer. Each activity report is reviewed when it is generated.

The activity in securities held by advisory accounts and securities being considered as possible recommendations are monitored by NBS Financial Services, Inc. advisors by means of computerized systems. Substantial or unusual activity in a security or the release of a research report, press release, or company announcement will trigger a review of the appropriateness of a security for advisory accounts.

Statements and Reports

Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Program clients receive quarterly evaluation reports.

Financial Planning clients receive a written Financial Plan at the time of services, and no ongoing reports are prepared for Financial Planning clients, unless NBS Financial Services is specifically retained by the client to do so.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Compensation for Referrals

NBS Financial Services, Inc. does not participate in a program in which it is required to compensate for referrals. In some instances, NBS Financial Services continues to pay Charles Schwab & Co. Inc. a Participation Fee on historically referred client's accounts that are maintained in custody at Schwab and a Non-Schwab Custody Fee on all accounts that are maintained or transferred to another custodian. The Participation Fee paid by NBS is a percentage of the value of the assets in the clients account. NBS Financial Services pays Schwab the Participation Fee for so long as the referred client's account remains in custody at Schwab. The Participation Fee is billed to NBS Financial Services quarterly and may be increased, decreased, or waived by Schwab from time to time. The Participation Fee is paid by NBS Financial Services and not by the client. NBS Financial Services has agreed not to charge clients referred through the Service fees or costs greater than the fees or costs NBS Financial Services charges clients with similar portfolios who were not referred through the Service.

NBS Financial Services generally pays Schwab a Non-Schwab Custody Fee if custody of a referred client's account is not maintained by Schwab, or assets in the account are transferred from Schwab. This fee does not apply if the client was maintained by Schwab, or assets in the account are transferred from Schwab. Additionally, this fee does not apply if the client was solely responsible for the decision not to maintain custody at Schwab. The Non-Schwab Custody Fee is a one-time payment equal to a percentage of the assets placed with a custodian other than Schwab. The Non-Schwab Custody Fee is higher than the Participation Fees that an Advisor (such as NBS Financial Services) generally would pay in a single year. Thus, NBS Financial Services will have an incentive to recommend that those client accounts be held in custody at Schwab.

For accounts of NBS Financial Services' clients maintained in custody at Schwab, Schwab will not charge the client separately for custody but will receive compensation from NBS clients in the form of commissions or other transaction-related compensation on securities trades executed through Schwab. Schwab also will receive a fee (generally lower than the applicable commission on trades it executes) for clearance and settlement of trades executed through broker-dealers other than Schwab.

Schwab's fees for trades executed at other broker-dealers are in addition to the other broker-dealers' fees. Thus, NBS Financial Services may have an incentive to cause trades to be executed through Schwab rather than another broker-dealer. NBS Financial Services, nevertheless, acknowledges its duty to seek best execution of trades for client's accounts. Trades for client accounts held in custody at Schwab may be executed through a different broker-dealer than trades for NBS Financial Services' other clients. Thus, trades for accounts custodied at Schwab may be executed at different times and different prices than trades for other accounts that are executed at other broker-dealers.

Participation of Interest in Client Transactions

As described above, Joseph "Geordie" Crossan is associated with Financial West Group, Inc. as Registered Representative and/or Principal. Financial West Group, Inc. is a registered broker-dealer, and FINRA member. We may recommend the purchase of securities, asset management or insurance products offered by Financial West Group, Inc. If our clients purchase these products through us, we will receive commissions or fees, which may be discounted or offered on the normal commission or fee schedule. Thus, a conflict of interest arises as a result of Mr. Crossan, acting as both Registered Representatives and advisory affiliates, since they receive compensation for the advice they render as well as brokerage and insurance commissions for the transactions they recommend. The client is under no obligation to purchase products either through us or Financial West Group, Inc.

Occasionally, NBS Financial Services may recommend the purchase of securities, asset management or insurance products offered by Financial West Group, Inc. or fee schedule. Item 15 – Custody

Custody, as it applies to investment advisors, has been defined by regulators as having access or control over client funds and/or securities. In other words, custody is not limited to physically holding client funds and securities. If an investment advisor has the ability to access or control client funds or securities, the investment advisor is deemed to have custody and must ensure proper procedures are implemented.

NBS Financial Services is deemed to have custody of client funds and securities whenever NBS Financial Services is given the authority to have fees deducted directly from client accounts. However, this is the only form of custody NBS Financial Services will ever maintain. It should be noted that authorization to trade in client accounts is not deemed by regulators to be custody.

For accounts in which NBS Financial Services is deemed to have custody, the firm has established procedures to ensure all client funds and securities are held at a qualified custodian in a separate account for each client under that client's name. Clients or an independent representative of the client will direct, in writing, the establishment of all accounts and therefore are aware of the qualified custodian's name, address and the manner in which the funds or securities are maintained. Finally, account statements are delivered directly from the qualified custodian to each client, or the client's independent representative, at least quarterly. Clients should carefully review those statements and are urged to compare the statements against reports received from NBS Financial Services. When clients have questions about their account statements, they should contact NBS Financial Services or the qualified custodian preparing the statement.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Through its Asset Allocation and Portfolio Management Services and upon receiving written authorization from a client, NBS Financial Services will maintain trading authorization over client accounts. Upon receiving written authorization from the client, NBS Financial Services may implement trades on a discretionary basis. When discretionary authority is granted, NBS Financial Services will have the authority to determine the type of securities, the amount of securities that can be bought or sold, and the broker or dealer to be used for the client's portfolio without obtaining the client's consent for each transaction. However, it is the policy of NBS Financial Services to consult with the client prior to making significant changes in the account even when discretionary trading authority is granted by the client.

If you decide to grant trading authorization on a non-discretionary basis, we will be required to contact you prior to implementing changes in your account. Therefore, you will be contacted and required to accept or reject our investment recommendations including:

- The security being recommended
- The number of shares or units
- Whether to buy or sell

Once the above factors are agreed upon, NBS Financial Services will be responsible for making decisions regarding the timing of buying or selling an investment and the price at which the investment is bought or sold. If your accounts are managed on a non-discretionary basis, you need to know that if you are not able to be reached or are slow to respond to our request, it can have an adverse impact on the timing of trade implementations and we may not achieve the optimal trading price.

All clients have the ability to place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments that may be purchased in an account. Clients may also place reasonable limitations on the discretionary power granted to our firm so long as the limitations are specifically set forth or included as an attachment to the Advisory Services Agreement.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

NBS Financial Services does not vote proxies on behalf of your account. It is your responsibility to vote all proxies for securities held in your accounts managed by our firm. You will receive proxies directly from your account custodian or transfer agent and such documents will not be delivered by our firm. Although we do not vote client proxies, if you have a question about a particular proxy feel free to contact us.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Item 18 is not applicable to this Disclosure Brochure. NBS Financial Services does not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance. Therefore, we are not required to include a balance sheet for our most recent fiscal year. We are not subject to a financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments to clients. Finally, NBS Financial Services has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time.
