Our Services

The investment management business has undergone an incredible evolution. However, through it all, the basic need for a fiduciary that ultimately understands and is responsible for the investment of client assets has remained remarkably constant.

Albert Heeg Investment Management is a unique firm. We provide investment advice to Captive and Commercial Property and Casualty Insurance Company investment portfolios. Albert Heeg Investment Management acts as “Chief Investment Officer” for the insurance company portfolio. We use our “Five Star” process to establish client goals, develop portfolio risk parameters, determine appropriate asset allocation, select the best portfolio managers and monitor the results.

We differentiate ourselves in the following ways:

1. We are Investment Advisors in the purest sense of the word. By design, we do not trade portfolio securities, thereby allowing us to manage the portfolio without conflict of interest.
2. With complete independence and objectivity, we search, select and hire the top performing investment managers. Understanding the client's profile, we focus on finding the best manager fit.
3. We manage the managers. We hire separate account managers for each asset class and then benchmark and test the performance of each manager.
4. We involve the client in the process. We strive to educate the client and raise their understanding of portfolio management.

Our Five Star Process

The Five Star Process is our proven method for building your insurance portfolio from the ground up. We stick to this annual process, because time and time again, clients have gained our trust, and experienced our commitment to building long term relationships that have their best interests in mind.

We will establish risk parameters, investment time frames, identify asset classes, appropriate benchmarks, and performance expectations. In this role, we may advise you to keep some of your existing strategies and we may make new recommendations. We are not selling any products and therefore, all recommendations are made with your best interests in mind.

METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

Methods of Analysis

Asset Allocation Program:

Asset Allocation provides a system for diversifying a portfolio in order to reduce volatility and to protect a portfolio from significant decline in value. It applies the concepts of Modern Portfolio Theory as developed by Professors Harry Markowitz (University of Chicago) and William Sharpe (Stanford University). Markowitz was awarded the Nobel Prize in Economics in 1990 for the development of Modern Portfolio Theory.

Major emphasis is on the client's financial goals and objectives and its comfort level as to asset allocation among the economic benefits of (1) safety of principal, (2) income, and (3) growth. Specific strategies are then recommended to meet its objectives. Fundamental analysis is also utilized by AHIM, such as earnings growth, sales growth, price earning ratios, book value, dividend record, etc. in making an informed decision.

Our firm uses Morningstar's EnCorr software for asset allocation analysis. Developed by Ibbotson, EnCorr software provides us with the tools to research, create, analyze and implement optimal asset allocation strategies for our clients. We also utilize EnCorr's Monte Carlo Simulation tool to project possible future returns and wealth values for selected portfolios/assets. The simulated returns are sorted (highest to lowest) and organized into probability percentile ranges. The simulated returns are then used to calculate wealth values.

Other than planning for short-term liquidity needs, investment strategies are developed and employed to meet mid-range goals (3-5 years) and long-term financial plans, with heavy emphasis on income tax impact, risk tolerance, and professional management.

Investment Strategies

In advising its clients, AHIM, on a discretionary basis, selects separate account investment managers and general securities for inclusion in the client portfolio, and periodically adjusts, upward or downward, the percentage of each account's assets invested in various types of equity, bond, mutual fund and money market cash equivalents.

In making its investment decisions, AHIM researches and monitors the broad spectrum of asset allocation systems, separate managers, mutual funds and general investments available in the marketplace and then selects those managers or investments that have achieved an acceptable performance record within the securities industry. AHIM also monitors general economic conditions, trends in interest rates and inflation, and various financial market indices.

Investment Portfolio Development:

To further describe and illustrate the development of a portfolio structure, Albert Heeg Investment Management utilizes MorningStar's EnCorr Software for asset allocation analysis. Developed by Ibbotson Associates, EnCorr software provides us with the tools to research, create, analyze and implement optimal asset allocation strategies for our clients. The software is made up of six progressive subsets:

1. EnCorr Analyzer enables us to perform historical data analysis and create historical input files. We can examine the historical performance of data series from as early as 1926 and create graphs, charts and tables of statistical data. Historical analysis can be performed with data supplied by Ibbotson Associates, third party managers, as well as, our own user-defined data. With EnCorr Analyzer software, we can:

- a) Perform in-depth data analysis on historical capital markets
- b) View and graph data series
- c) Construct asset allocation inputs for portfolio optimization
- d) Create portfolios and performance benchmarks.

2. EnCorr Inputs Generator creates, refines and tests inputs for use in optimization. Its main feature is to build input files, which hold the required settings to run an optimization. We customize the input files by selecting assets from our own database, from the Ibbotson database or by entering our own constructed inputs. We can also open previously created input files in order to update/edit the contents.

3. EnCorr Optimizer develops, tests and analyzes an investor's asset allocation. It is based on Mean Variance Optimization (MVO), originally developed by Nobel Prize winner Harry Markowitz. Mean Variance Optimization is the process of identifying portfolios that have the highest possible return for a given level of risk, or the lowest possible risk given for a return. The Optimizer contains three main sections:

- a) Optimization Inputs: The Optimization Inputs section is the tabular section where the optimization case is created. In this section, we can select inputs, define current holdings, create any constraints, and refine the asset classes (inputs).
- b) The Efficient Frontier: The Efficient Frontier section is composed of the efficient frontier and other linked windows. In this section, we can create/view different portfolios on or off the efficient forecast, as well as, the probabilities of a portfolio achieving specific returns.
- c) Monte Carlo Simulation: This enables us to generate return and wealth percentile tables and graphs projecting the probability distribution of possible future returns and wealth values for selected portfolios/assets. The simulated returns are sorted (highest to lowest) and organized into probability percentile ranges. The simulated returns are then used to calculate wealth values.

4. EnCorr Attribution software allows us to determine which investment offers the best performance relative to a benchmark by reviewing historical averages. The Attribution track and examine a manager's policy, market timing and security selection decisions.

5. EnCorr Allocator software implements an asset allocation plan by searching for the manager mix that will bring the desired result. Allocator identifies whether the desired asset allocation is achievable with a given set of managers. It designates an optimal manager mix while minimizing tracking error.

6. EnCorr Scenario Builder software tests an asset allocation plan under a variety of market and economic conditions to determine how well it performs. It performs “what if” analysis under numerous market and economic conditions and demonstrates how investment vehicles perform under varying scenarios.

Portfolio Manager Database.

To assist us in interviewing and selecting investment managers, we subscribe to Informa Investment Solution’s PSN Enterprise. PSN Enterprise is a web based application powered by the PSN investment manager database, the most comprehensive data source for separate account information. This software will also provide connectivity to managed accounts, open ended mutual funds, closed end funds, exchange traded funds, hedge funds, fund of funds, stocks, variable annuities and other investment content as well. PSN boasts a global database of more than 2,000 investment managers, representing more than 10,000 domestic, global and international investment products. PSN gives us the ability to measure performance, conduct detailed statistical analysis, assess risk and monitor manager style drift. PSN also allows us to rank the investment managers in their respective universe. Information provided by Informa’s PSN Enterprise is accurate and GIPS compliant.

Using a criteria specifically design for our client, we narrow down the field to a handful of possible managers and personally interview each of them at their office. We want to observe each manager and their surroundings to understand, in their opinion, what makes them unique. To prepare for these meetings we study the firm’s statistics. During our on site visits, we go into these statistics in detail. We want to understand the manager’s investment philosophy. We ask the “hard questions.” Ultimately, we want to comprehend their business strategy and feel comfortable with what they’re telling us. But, before any manager selection is made, we typically watch the manager’s performance for 6 months and regularly report back to our client.

At no time during this process do we receive any direct or indirect compensation from any manager or investment company. Each search process is strictly professional and in keeping with ethical standards. We always have a group of managers who we are interviewing and watching.

Risk of Loss

Although AHIM makes every effort to preserve each client’s capital and achieve real growth of wealth, investing in the markets involves risk of loss that each client should be prepared to bear, specifically:

Asset allocation risk

The allocations to the various asset classes and market sectors could cause the client’s portfolio to under perform other strategies with a similar investment objective.

Risks of stock investing

Stocks generally fluctuate in value and may decline significantly over short time periods. The value of a stock in which a client invests may decline due to general weakness in the stock market or because of factors that affect a company or a particular industry.

Risks of bond investing

Bonds have two main sources of risk. Interest rate risk is the risk that a rise in interest rates will cause the price of a debt security held by the client to fall. Securities with longer maturities typically suffer greater declines than those with shorter maturities. Mortgage backed securities can react somewhat differently to interest rate changes because falling rates can cause losses of principal due to increased mortgage prepayments and rising rates can lead to decreased prepayments and greater volatility. Credit risk is the risk that an issuer of a debt security will default (fail to make scheduled interest or principal payments), potentially reducing income distributions and market values. This risk is increased when a security is downgraded or the perceived creditworthiness of the issuer deteriorates.

DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

Albert Heeg Investment Management and its employees have no reportable disciplinary history.

OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS

AHIM is not involved in any other financial industry activities or has any affiliations. As described under Types of Advisory Services AHIM does recommend and select investment managers to our clients; we do not receive any compensation either directly or indirectly for these recommendations.

CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

Code of Ethics

We do not buy or sell securities for our clients. We hire investment managers that execute trades. We maintain strict guidelines and a Code of Ethics of all our employees designed to assure that we, and persons associated with us, may not benefit, directly or indirectly, from transactions made for the accounts of clients and that no other conflict of interest exists. The Code of Ethics addresses at a minimum:

1. Requirement for all supervised persons to comply with all federal securities laws.
2. Reporting and review of all personal transaction reports for AHIM's defined Access Persons.
3. Pre-clearance for any purchases of IPOs or Private Placements by AHIM's defined Access Persons.
4. Prohibition against insider trading.
5. Protection of client information.
6. We provide a copy of our Code of Ethics to our clients or to prospective clients upon request.

BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Selecting Brokerage Firms

AHIM hires the investment managers for our clients and these investment managers are responsible for selecting the brokers and clerks who seek to obtain the most favorable prices and best execution available.

Research and Soft Dollars

We do not receive research, other products or services in connection with client securities transactions ("soft dollar benefits").

REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

Periodic Reviews

The nature and frequency of account reviews depends on the type of investment account being managed. Reviews are conducted by AHIM professional staff to ensure that the accounts are being managed in accordance with stated investment objectives and policies. Accounts are generally monitored on a daily, monthly or quarterly basis, depending upon the needs of the client. Based on these reviews, AHIM may either make or recommend securities purchases or sales for its clients.

At least quarterly, AHIM attempts to determine if there have been any changes in the client's financial situation. Annually, AHIM reviews with its clients their investment objectives and strategies, as well as the performance of their accounts. From time to time, AHIM may communicate with its clients via newsletter.

We are available each and every day. Also, as part of our service model, we schedule quarterly meetings with the Investment Committee at their work site.

Regular Reports

Albert Heeg Investment Management produces a quarterly GOLD BOOK for each client. The GOLD BOOK is designed to provide most of the information Investment Committee members require so that they can stay informed and make educated decisions regarding their investments. This GOLD BOOK reports on portfolio income, includes portfolio manager returns versus benchmark performance, asset class weightings, industry comparatives and risk measurement data. In addition this book contains custodian and compliance reports, securities watch lists, security impairment details and reports on investment committee study issues.

CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

AHIM welcomes client referrals but, does not have any referral arrangements or is involved in any compensation other than what is described under Fees and Compensation above.

CUSTODY

Account Statements

All client assets will be held by a qualified bank custodian or registered broker dealers. Clients receive monthly account statements from their custodians and we urge them to compare our reports against their respective custodial statements.

INVESTMENT DISCRETION

Discretionary Authority for Trading

Clients provide us discretionary authority to hire and fire other investment managers selected on their behalf. Investment managers have discretionary trading authority.

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Proxy Voting

Our clients are all considered “sophisticated” and we believe should vote proxies themselves. We limit our proxy services to providing them all the appropriate requested information, as well as, other background information that they may need in order to satisfactorily vote their proxy. Clients receive proxy voting information directly from their custodian. Some clients may chose to have their Investment Manager vote their proxy.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

We do not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance and such are not required to include our most current balance sheet. We have not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.
