Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Investment Objectives -

The Fund's investment objective is to seek long-term capital appreciation while attempting to provide reduced risk and volatility. The Fund pursues this objective by allocating its assets in accordance with a pre-determined macro-economic theme among a select group of portfolio managers ("Portfolio Managers"). These Portfolio Managers generally employ diversified and sector-specific long/short equity strategies focused on G8 Countries; event driven arbitrage strategies; distressed debt strategies; and make global macro-economic trend investments, as well as, to a lesser extent, global private equity/debt investments. The Investment Manager selects the Portfolio Managers and determines the portion of the Fund's assets to be allocated to each Portfolio Manager (see "The Investment Program"). The assets of the Fund may be invested in limited partnerships, joint ventures, other investment companies and similar entities managed by Portfolio Managers ("Portfolio Funds"). In addition, on occasion, the Fund may retain Portfolio Managers to manage and invest select portions of its assets through separately managed accounts.

In selecting Portfolio Managers, the Investment Manager considers numerous factors, including, but not limited to, the reputation and integrity of the Portfolio Manager, the depth and continuity of the investment team, demonstrated superior investment skills with respect to its strategy, the ability of the Portfolio Manager to implement its investment strategies, consistency of past returns, risk control philosophy and procedures to monitor risk and control the use of leverage, capital under management and the historical growth thereof, and significant personal investment by the Portfolio Manager and its affiliates in the investment program. The Investment Manager regularly evaluates each Portfolio Manager to determine whether its investment program is consistent with the Fund's investment objective. Based on prevailing economic conditions and expectations regarding changes in these conditions, as well as its evaluations of the Portfolio Managers, the Investment Manager allocates and reallocates the Fund's assets among Portfolio Managers and may terminate or add Portfolio Managers. To ensure diversification, no more than 20% of the net asset value of the Fund (determined at the time of an investment) may be invested in the investment program of any single Portfolio Manager.

Portfolio Managers invest in a wide range of domestic and foreign instruments, including, but not limited to, equities, equity-related instruments and fixed income and other debt-related instruments. The Investment Manager expects that Portfolio Managers will utilize both over-the-counter and exchange traded securities (including derivative instruments), trade on margin and engage in short sales.

Risk of Loss -

The Fund's investment program is speculative and entails substantial risks. There can be no assurance that the investment objectives of the Fund or the Portfolio Funds in which the assets of the Fund are invested will be achieved or that their investment programs will be successful. In particular, each Portfolio Manager's use of leverage, short sales, derivative and futures transactions, investment in foreign equity and debt securities and instruments, and its potentially limited diversification can, in certain circumstances, result in significant losses to the Fund. Investors should consider the Fund as a supplement to an overall investment program and should invest only if they are willing to undertake the risks involved. Investors could lose some or all of their investment.

Each Portfolio Manager generally charges an asset-based fee and receives performance-based allocations. The asset-based fees of the Portfolio Managers are generally expected to range from .5% to 2%, and the performance-based allocations of the Portfolio Managers are generally expected to range from 15% to 25% of net capital appreciation.

The performance-based allocation received by a Portfolio Manager may create an incentive for the Portfolio Manager to make investments that are riskier or more speculative than those that might have been made in the absence of the performance-based allocation.

Moreover, the Managing Member receives a performance-based allocation from the Fund, which gives rise to similar risks. In addition, because a performance-based allocation is calculated on a basis that includes unrealized appreciation of a Portfolio Fund's assets, the performance-based allocation may be greater than if it were based solely on realized gains.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

There are no legal or disciplinary events against the Adviser.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

The Portfolio Managers may manage other accounts for themselves, other clients and other investment companies, and may have financial incentives to favor certain of such accounts over the Fund. Any of their proprietary accounts and other client accounts, including other investment companies, will compete with the Fund for specific trades, or may hold positions opposite to positions maintained on behalf of the Fund. The Portfolio Managers may give advice and recommend securities to, or buy or sell securities for, their respective portfolio or managed accounts in which the Fund's assets are invested, which advice or securities may differ from advice given to, or securities recommended or bought or sold for, other accounts and customers even though their investment objectives may be the same as, or similar to, those of the Fund. Underlying Managers may select a broker or dealer that charges a commission or compensation in excess of that which another firm might have charged for effecting the same transaction in recognition of the value of the factors listed above, including research and brokerage services and products provided by the broker, and research services provided by a third party but delivered through the broker.

Research services obtained by use of brokerage commissions arising from one account may be used by Underlying Managers in the management of other client accounts and proprietary investment activities, and may not in all cases benefit the relevant account directly. Research services and products received by Underlying Managers may include, among other things, industry publications and periodicals, company research, analyses and recommendations, quotation and market information services, economic forecasts, access to industry/market information, trading and risk management tools and research and modeling related software.

Services, other than research and brokerage services, and other benefits obtained by the use of brokerage commissions arising from an account may be used by an Underlying Manager only for the benefit of the relevant account, and such services will be limited to services that would otherwise constitute an expense borne by such account.

Under the foregoing policies, Underlying Managers may allow an account to pay higher brokerage commissions than might be obtainable if transactions were effected through brokers that do not provide research or other services.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

SS&C Technologies is the Fund's administrator (the "Administrator"). The Fund contracts with SS&C Technologies to provide financial record-keeping services to the Fund, including the preparation of interim statements and computation of the net asset value of the Fund. SS&C Technologies also prepares capital statements for the Members on an interim basis and perform other accounting, administrative and secretarial tasks for the Fund.

The agreement with the Administrator provides that the Administrator shall not be liable to the Fund for any action or inaction in connection with the services rendered under the agreement in the absence of gross negligence or willful default on the part of the Administrator or its agents. In addition, the Fund indemnifies the Administrator from and against liabilities and expenses arising out of the Administrator's actions pursuant to the agreement, other than liabilities and expenses arising out of the gross negligence or willful default of the Administrator.

The Administrator receives customary fees paid out of Fund assets based upon the nature and extent of the services performed by the Administrator for the Fund.
