Item 4: Advisory Business

A. Description of the Firm

Wise Capital Management Inc. was formed as a corporation under the laws of the Province of Ontario on November 14, 2000.

The firm is registered as a portfolio manager with the Ontario Securities Commission, the Alberta Securities Commission, and the Quebec Financial Markets Authority. Wise Capital Management Inc. is also registered as an investment adviser with the Securities & Exchange Commission in the United States.

The principal owner is Samuel Wiseman.

B. Types of Services

Wise Capital Management is a portfolio management firm, providing discretionary investment management strategies for pension funds, corporations, and private individuals.

Through the collection of 'know-your-client' information, we aim to understand the general investment needs and objectives of the client and any other factors necessary to be able to determine whether a proposed investment strategy or our investment product based upon the attributes and associated risks of the investment product that we propose to that client is suitable. This is determined through the collection of 'know-your-client' information.

We will consider client requests or restrictions, for example if the client does not want to invest in a certain country.

Assets Under Management

As of December 31, 2013, total discretionary assets was $197,333,536 USD. These are entirely Canadian clients.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

Wise Capital is compensated through fees that are based on a percentage of the assets under management, and performance based fees for certain accounts.

Fees are negotiable.

For global small cap equity mandates, the fee schedule is:

First $5 million: 0.80%

Next $10 million: 0.70%

Remaining balance: 0.60%

For accounts $40 million plus, we are willing to negotiate a lower base fee in exchange for a performance-based incentive fee.

Clients may select either to deduct fees from clients assets or bill clients for fees incurred. For clients that are billed, this is generally done on a quarterly basis. For those where we deduct fees, this is generally done on a monthly or quarterly basis.

Clients pay transaction costs and custodial fees as described in the custodian's account forms.

Fees are always paid in arrears.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We set up different trades for performance-based fee accounts than for non-performance based fee accounts.

We ensure fair and equitable trade allocation among client accounts. When possible, we use block trades and allocate shares fairly using an average price. When the total trade is not large enough for all eligible clients to participate fully, the trade is generally allocated pro-rata to ensure that some clients are not given preferential treatment or routinely traded first.

Item 7: Types of Clients

Generally our clients include pension plans and high net worth individuals. Our assets under management are 78% institutional.

Our plan is a $1 million minimum account size for US accounts.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

A. Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

The methods of analysis and investment strategies involve the use of quantitative models, fundamental analysis of companies, and creating diversified portfolios. We use Thomson One to follow earnings releases and track risk characteristics. Our process includes ranking securities in relation to the rest of the market, modeling them, and speaking with company management.

Wise Capital cannot assure investment performance and all investments have associated with them risks to capital and to income.

B. Risks of Strategies Used

All Cap Equity:

An investment in Canadian All Cap Equity will bear various inherent risks. This includes general equity risk, where the price of a company's stock may fluctuate with the market and overall economic conditions.

Global Small Cap Equity:

Small cap companies will generally experience higher risk and fluctuation of the market value of securities, as small companies are generally more sensitive to economic conditions. There is exposure to country risk, as changing economic conditions in a particular foreign country may impact the value of the companies held. There is also foreign currency risk, where changes in the value of the foreign currency versus the value of the local currency may impact the value of the securities held in local terms

Global Equity:

There is exposure to country risk, as changing economic conditions in a particular foreign country may impact the value of the companies held. There is also foreign currency risk, where changes in the value of the foreign currency versus the value of the local currency may impact the value of the securities held in local terms.

High Income:

As this strategy contains fixed income securities, there is interest rate risk as the price of these securities will fluctuate with the movement of interest rates. There is also credit risk, in that there is risk that the issuer of the fixed income securities may default on its obligations, or it may be impacted by credit rating downgrades that would impact the value of the securities.

C. Risks of Securities

We primarily invest in public equities. Investing in equities involves various risks, including market risk, sector risk, economic risk.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

There are no legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

A. Broker-Dealer Registration

Neither Wise Capital Management nor any of our management persons are registered, or have an application pending to register, as a broker-dealer or a registered representative of a broker-dealer.

B. Futures and Commodities Registration

Neither Wise Capital Management nor any of our management persons are registered, or have an application pending to register, as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, a commodity trading advisor, or an associated person of the foregoing entities.

C. Arrangements with Related Persons

Neither Wise Capital Management nor any of our management persons have any relationship or arrangement that is material to our advisory business or to its clients with any related person.

D. Recommendation of Investment Advisers

We do not recommend or select other investment advisers for our clients and receive compensation directly or indirectly from those advisers that creates a material conflict of interest, nor have other business relationships with those advisers that create a material conflict of interest.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

A. Code of Ethics

Wise Capital Management's standards of practice and investment policies always include those of the CFA Institute and the Ontario Securities Commission regulations. All staff must also abide by the regulations of other jurisdictions in which we are registered.

The most current policies, dated February 21, 2012, are available at wisecapitalmanagement.com, and a copy can be sent to any client or prospective client upon request.

B. Conflicts in Material Financial Interest in Securities

By following the standards of practice of the CFA Institute, we have a fiduciary responsibility to act in the best interests of our clients and to place the interests of our clients before their own. When there is a material financial interest, the employee must disclose this to the Chief Compliance Officer. Employees are required to provide the Chief Compliance Officer with copies of their statements of personal holdings which is also used to determine if there is a material financial interest.

C. Conflicts in Personal Trading

Any employee or associate of WiseCap, must with respect to any and all trades or transactions in securities that the employee or associate proposes to engage in, or engages in, obtain pre-clearance from the CIO before transacting the trade or transaction. If such pre-clearance is not obtained from the CIO, the employee or associate may not engage in the trade or transaction.

This pre-clearance requirement applies to any and all trades or transactions for both the employee's or associate's own account, or any other account the employee or associate may have decision making power over and/or decision making input, including accounts of relatives, or accounts with respect to which the employee or associate acts as trustee or fiduciary.

D. Conflicts in buying or selling securities at the same time

We ensure fair and equitable trade allocation among client accounts. When possible, we use block trades and allocate shares fairly using an average price.

For personal trading, a non-trading window is applied for securities in which Wise Capital is trading a security, knows it will be trading a security, or is contemplating a trade in a particular security, subject to certain conditions described further in the Wise Capital policies and procedures manual.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

In selecting broker-dealers for client transactions we seek best execution, and consider factors such as execution ability, commission rate, responsiveness, financial condition, and reputation among other factors. In determining the reasonableness of commissions we consider what the cost for a trade would be if it were to be done with other broker-dealers.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Client accounts are reviewed at least annually with the client. The reviews typically have at least two representatives from Wise Capital in attendance, and are headed either by the Chief Investment Officer, or a Portfolio Manager.

Private wealth clients receive monthly account statements from the custodian, or quarterly if there is no activity on the account. Clients can also access electronic reports on demand from the NDEX system, if they want to have more frequent reports. Institutional clients make their own arrangements for custody.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Referral arrangements are documented and disclosed in writing to the client. These arrangements typically are calculated from a percentage of the client's assets under management.

Item 15: Custody

Clients will receive monthly statements from the custodian, or quarterly if there is no activity on the account. Clients should carefully review these statements.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

We accept discretionary authority to manage securities on behalf of clients. In doing so, we abide by our investment policies, and discharge our duties with reasonable diligence in the circumstances then prevailing. The procedure, before assuming this responsibility, involves the signing of an investment management agreement between the client and Wise Capital Management.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

We vote for all proxies for our clients except when instructed otherwise. A copy of the voting policies is available upon request.

Item 18: Financial Information

Wise Capital Management does not require or solicit prepayment of client fees. We do not have custody of client funds or securities. Wise Capital Management has never been the subject of a bankruptcy petition.
