Item 11 - Code of Ethics and Participation Personal Trading/Interest in Client Transactions

Code of Ethics Pursuant to Rule 204A-I of the Advisers Act and Personal Trading

Pursuant to Rule 204A-I of the Advisers Act, Gavekal has adopted a Code of Ethics and a Personal Account Dealing (“PAD”) Policy that establishes various procedures with respect to investment transactions in accounts in which employees of Gavekal or related persons have a beneficial interest or accounts over which an employee has investment discretion.

The Code of Ethics was adopted to avoid possible conflicts of interest, avoid the inappropriate use of material, nonpublic information and ensure the propriety of its the employee and principal trading activity.

The foundation of the Code of Ethics is based on the underlying principles that:

- Employees of Gavekal must at all times place the interests of clients first;
- Employees of Gavekal must make sure that all personal securities transactions are conducted consistent with the PAD policy. All transactions should avoid any actual or potential conflicts of interest or any abuse of an individual’s position of trust and responsibility; and

- Employees of Gavekal should not take inappropriate advantage of their positions. The receipt of investment opportunities, perquisites, or gifts from persons seeking business with Gavekal could call into question the exercise of an employee's independent judgment.

Employees of Gavekal must obtain written authorization from the CCO prior to making a personal investment. The spirit of this Code of Ethics and the PAD Policy is to discourage frequent trading in personal employee accounts. Employees may not engage in any outside business activities or invest in private companies before obtaining authorization from Compliance.

The prior written authorization of personal investment is valid only until the close of trading on the business day for which it was issued. In addition, all transactions are subject to a 60-day holding period.

All Gavekal employees must ask their brokers to send their brokerage statements to the CCO directly. Alternatively, all Gavekal employees should provide duplicate copies of brokerage statements to Compliance. These records are used to monitor compliance with the foregoing policies.

Our Code of Ethics and PAD Policy is available to any investor or prospective investor upon request.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

The Firm does not, as a principal, buy securities for itself from, or sell securities that it owns, to any client. Nor does it act as a broker or an agent to effect securities transactions for compensation for any client.

Item 12 - Brokerage Practices

Best Execution

The SEC has taken the view that an investment adviser at all times owes a fiduciary duty to its clients to obtain best execution of their transactions. In general, to meet its duty of "best execution", Gavekal must execute transactions so that the total cost or proceeds of each transaction are the most favorable under the circumstances. When a broker-dealer is used, Gavekal may consider the full range of a broker's services, including among others: the value of research and/or brokerage services provided, execution capabilities, commission rates, financial responsibility, administrative resources, and responsiveness. In addition, in seeking best execution, Gavekal may also use a variety of execution methods.

Best execution is determined on a trade-by-trade basis, and should result in the best qualitative execution, not necessarily the best possible commission cost. A key element of the duty of best execution is obtaining the best price at which securities transaction are executed. Best price is considered to be the highest price that a client can sell a security and the lowest price that a client can purchase a security. Other components of best execution are timeliness of having a transaction executed by a broker, the value of research provided, the responsiveness of the broker to the Firm, and the financial responsibility of the broker.

Typically, to achieve best execution, the Firm may aggregate or batch client orders when a transaction is done that is to be allocated amongst various accounts. If aggregation of trading is not utilized or available in such situations, Gavekal is required to disclose to clients that it will not aggregate transactions and the fact that clients may pay higher commissions or mark-ups as a result.

Soft Dollars

Section 28(e) of the Exchange Act provides a safe harbor for persons who exercise investment discretion over accounts to pay for research and brokerage services with commission dollars generated by account transactions. The controlling principle to be used to determine whether something is “research” is “whether it provides lawful and appropriate assistance to the money manager in the performance of his or her investment decision making responsibilities.”

Therefore, Section 28(e) prevents such manager from being deemed to have acted unlawfully or to have breached a fiduciary duty as long as such manager has determined in good faith that the amount of the commission was reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services provided.

The CCO will continuously review trade activity to determine that trades are being handled correctly, are in compliance with guidelines and objectives and that only approved counterparties are being used.

As such, Gavekal shall only soft the following services:

- (a) Research and advisory services;
- (b) Economic and political analysis;
- (c) Portfolio analysis including valuation and performance measurement;

Item 15 - Custody

The amended and revised Rule 206(4)-2 of the Advisers Act sets forth extensive requirements regarding possession or custody of client funds or securities. The Rule requires advisers that have custody of client funds or securities to implement a set of controls designed to protect those client funds or securities from being lost, misused, misappropriated or subject to the advisers' financial reverses. Advisers with custody of client fund or securities must maintain them with "Qualified Custodians." "Qualified Custodians" under the amended rule include banks and savings associations and registered broker-dealers.
