Item 4 Advisory Business

Description

Cornerstone Capital Inc. is a registered investment adviser primarily based in New York, NY. We are organized as a corporation under the laws of the State of Delaware. In addition to the Investment Management Services and the Research Services we provide that are described herein, we have been providing consulting and other non-investment advisory services since August 2013. Erika Michele Karp is the principal and majority owner of Cornerstone Capital Inc.

Cornerstone Capital Inc.'s investment strategy seeks to systematically incorporate and articulate sustainability into the investment advisory services it offers. To implement our strategy, we seek to utilize environmental, social and governmental ("ESG") standards to measure an issuer's or an Underlying Manager's adherence to, or adoption of, sustainability.

Currently, we offer the following investment advisory services, which are personalized to each individual client and described more fully below:

- Investment management services (the "Investment Management Services"), which include (i) direct investment management services, (ii) selection of approved third party investment managers (the "Underlying Managers") to manage all or a portion of client's portfolio (consistent with our sustainability investment strategy) and (iii) Additional Services (as described below); and
- Research services (the "Research Services"), which include (i) publication of a subscription newsletter titled Journal of Sustainable Finance & Banking (the "Journal"), (ii) providing advice related to the content of the Journal via personal conference calls with certain clients and (iii) conducting seminars and speaking engagements at which we provide investment advice on various topics.

We also offer the Investment Management Services pursuant to a wrap fee program known as the Cornerstone Portfolio Solutions wrap fee program (the "Wrap Fee Program"). The Wrap Fee Program is described in a separate Wrap Fee Program Brochure that can be located at the SEC's website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov or from us upon request.

Cornerstone Capital Inc. offers the Investment Management Services and/or the Research Services using the name Cornerstone Capital Inc. d/b/a Cornerstone Capital Group ("Cornerstone Capital Group"). Cornerstone Capital Group also provides consulting and other non-investment advisory services.

Cornerstone Capital Inc. also offers the Investment Management Services using the names Cornerstone Capital Inc. d/b/a Cornerstone Capital Investment Management and Cornerstone Capital Inc. d/b/a Cornerstone Capital Group Investment Management (collectively, "Cornerstone Capital Investment Management").

As used in this brochure, the words "we", "our" and "us" refer to Cornerstone Capital Inc., Cornerstone Capital Group or Cornerstone Capital Investment Management, or a group or division of any of the foregoing, as applicable, and the words “you”, “your” and “client” refer to you as either a client or prospective client of our firm.

Investment Management Services

We offer discretionary and non-discretionary Investment Management Services. Our investment advice is tailored to meet our clients’ needs and investment objectives. If you retain our firm for Investment Management Services, we will meet with you to determine your investment objectives, risk tolerance, and other relevant information at the beginning of our advisory relationship. We will use the information we gather to develop a strategy that enables our firm to give you continuous and focused investment advice and/or to make investments on your behalf. As part of our Investment Management Services, we will invest your assets according to an investment portfolio specifically tailored for you. Once we construct an investment portfolio for you, we will monitor your portfolio’s performance on an ongoing basis, and will rebalance the portfolio as required by changes in market conditions and in your financial circumstances.

The investment portfolios recommended by our portfolio management team may consist of mutual funds, exchange traded funds (“ETFs”) and/or allocations to Underlying Managers to manage all, or a portion of, your investment portfolio. In addition, we may provide investment advice regarding individual stocks, bonds, and other securities, financial instruments, interests and/or any other property (collectively, “Securities”). You may request that we refrain from recommending a particular Underlying Manager, ETF or mutual fund or certain types of Securities. You must provide these restrictions to our firm in writing.

If you invest with Underlying Managers, you will be required to sign an agreement directly with the recommended Underlying Manager(s). You may terminate your advisory relationship with the Underlying Manager according to the terms of your agreement with the Underlying Manager. You should review the applicable account documents and, if applicable, each Underlying Manager’s brochure, for specific information on how you may terminate your advisory relationship with the Underlying Manager. You should contact the Underlying Manager directly for questions regarding your advisory agreement with the Underlying Manager.

If you participate in our discretionary Investment Management Services, we require you to grant our firm discretionary authority to manage your account. Discretionary authorization will allow us to rebalance your portfolio among mutual funds, ETFs, Securities and Underlying Managers without your approval prior to each transaction. Discretionary authority is typically granted by the Cornerstone Capital Investment Management Client Agreement (the “Client Agreement”) you sign with our firm and the appropriate trading authorization forms. You may limit our discretionary authority (for example, limiting the types of securities that can be purchased for your account) by providing our firm with your restrictions and guidelines in writing. If you enter into non-discretionary arrangements with our firm, we must obtain your approval prior to executing any transactions on behalf of your account and hiring or firing any Underlying Managers. Regardless of whether you hire us on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis, any Underlying Manager(s) hired for your account will actively manage your portfolio and will assume discretionary investment authority over your account either as a separately managed account and/or by you placing your assets in private investment funds or other investment vehicles managed on a discretionary basis by such Underlying Manager(s).

In addition to the foregoing, we may provide to clients one or more of the following additional services (the “Additional Services”) which may include, but is not limited to: (i) financial planning advice; (ii) development of a financial summary; (iii) development of a financial management strategy; (iii) financial reporting; and/or (iv) access to our research products. We may provide the Additional Services as part of our fees for Investment Management Services or for an additional charge as described below.

Research Services

As part of our Research Services we offer, via a paid annual subscription, access to the Journal. In addition, certain clients that subscribe to the Journal may, for a premium fee, receive personal advice regarding research analysis related to the Journal via personal conference calls with our research analysts. In addition, as part of our Research Services, we may conduct, and charge a fee to attend, seminars, events, workshops and speaking engagements where we discuss and present thematic macro research on topics related to sustainability and relevant ESG factors. We do not make any investment decisions for our research clients. While we provide advice based on the research conducted and presented to the client, the client makes its own investment decision based on factors it, in its sole discretion, deems relevant. Our Investment Review Committee (“IRC”), consisting of Erika Karp (CEO), John Wilson (Head of Corporate Governance, Engagement and Research) and Michael Geraghty (Global Market Strategist), review and approve research topics. In addition, Journal articles must be approved by the IRC prior to publication.

The IRC meets both on a weekly and an as-needed basis to review and vet research and ideas presented in the Journal and other published reports. The mission of the IRC is to further our ability to offer well analyzed, well-articulated, independent review of our research offerings including our positions on global market strategy, global sector strategy, quantitative analysis, allocation recommendations among risk asset classes, and global thematic research. Topics for discussion in these meetings include, but are not limited to, market and sector valuations (current, historic and relative), economic and geopolitical outlooks, structural and competitive dynamics across industries and companies, industry trends around environmental, social and governance measures and metrics, financial analyses of trends in earnings, margins, cash flows, capital expenditures, taxation issues, and other applicable risk factors.

Assets Under Management

As of the date of this brochure, we do not have any discretionary or non-discretionary assets under management.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

Investment Management Services

The fees we charge for our Investment Management Services are based on a percentage of your assets we manage and are negotiable depending on individual client circumstances. The fees charged to your account for the Investment Management Services may be up to 150 basis points (i.e., 1.5%) of total assets under management.

In addition to the foregoing fees, we may charge fees in respect of the assets for which we provide Additional Services as part of our fees for Investment Management Services or in an amount up to 150 basis points (i.e., 1.5%) per annum of total assets under management.

The foregoing fees are billed and payable quarterly in advance based on the net asset value of your account on the last day of the previous quarter. If the Client Agreement is executed at any time other than the first day of a calendar quarter, our fees will apply on a pro rata basis based on the net asset value of your account at the time you execute the Client Agreement, which means that the advisory fee is payable in proportion to the number of days in the quarter for which you are a client. Such Fees shall be payable by check or wire transfer to the account designated by us.

You may terminate the Client Agreement upon 30 days' written notice to our firm. You will incur advisory fees only in proportion to the number of days in the quarter for which you are a client. If you have pre-paid advisory fees that we have not yet earned, you will receive a prorated refund of those fees.

Our fees are exclusive of any fees charged by Underlying Managers or mutual fund or ETF managers to whom we allocate client assets. Fees charged with respect to assets allocated to Underlying Managers are set forth in the separate account agreement with the Underlying Managers or fund offering documents, as applicable. Fees charged with respect to an investment in a mutual fund or ETF are set forth in such mutual fund's or ETF's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee and other fund expenses. We do not share in any portion of the fees charged by Underlying Managers, mutual funds or ETFs. However, the mutual funds and ETFs may share some of these fees with custodians that we use for your account. Consequently, in addition to the brokerage and custodial fees that you pay to custodians, the brokers and custodians we use for your accounts may receive additional indirect fees from you based on your investments in mutual funds and ETFs. To fully understand the total cost you will incur, you should review all fees charged by Underlying Managers, mutual funds, ETFs and our firm.

In addition, our fees do not include brokerage and transaction fees, costs and charges, and other related costs and expenses that will be incurred by you regarding the trading and maintenance of your account. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers and other third parties such as commissions, custodial fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to our fees, and we do not receive any portion of these commissions, fees and costs.

Research Services

Subject to certain exceptions, we charge a fixed annual fee for subscription to the Journal and a fixed annual premium fee for subscribers that wish to receive personal advice regarding research analysis related to the Journal. Generally, the fixed subscription fee is $1,800 and the fixed premium fee is $3,600. The foregoing fixed fees are negotiable with respect to certain clients in our sole discretion and on occasion we may charge additional fees to certain clients based on the amount of personal advice provided.

We generally do not, although we may, charge fees for clients to attend, seminars, events, workshops and speaking engagements at which we provide investment advice. To the extent we charge fees for such services, such fees are negotiable. We also provide seminars, workshops and speaking engagements for our consulting clients for which we charge fees that are negotiable. In addition, clients will incur transaction costs in implementing the investment decisions based on the research we provide.

Fees for Research Services may be paid to us in the form of hard dollars or soft dollars directed by our clients to Cornerstone Capital Group. We do not deduct fees for Research Services directly from client accounts.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not accept performance-based fees or participate in side-by-side management. Performance-based fees are fees that are based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of a client's account. Side-by-side management refers to the practice of managing accounts that are charged performance-based fees while at the same time managing accounts that are not charged performance-based fees. Our fees for Investment Management Services and Research Services are calculated as described in Item 5 above, and are not charged on the basis of a share of capital gains upon, or capital appreciation of, the funds in your advisory account.

Our firm charges different fees for Investment Management Services and Research Services. Clients should be aware that there exists the potential that our firm receives fees attributable to each advisory service for conflicting advice. For example, the portfolio management team may recommend an Underlying Manager that concentrates on a sector that is given a negative outlook by the research team. Cornerstone Capital Inc. has procedures designed and implemented to monitor that the portfolio management team is aware of the research team's views and takes such views into consideration when making portfolio management decisions.

Item 7 Types of Clients

We offer Investment Management Services and/or Research Services to individuals, corporations, partnerships, investment management firms, investment funds, individual retirement accounts, pension plans and other ERISA accounts, trusts, charitable organizations, foundations, endowments and family offices.

In general, we do not require a minimum dollar amount for Research Services or to open and maintain an Investment Management Services account. However, we reserve the right not to accept a research client or an investment management client. We also reserve the right not to provide certain Research Services to an existing research client, for any or no reason, and/or to terminate an existing client's Investment Management Services account if it falls below a minimum size which, in our sole opinion, is too small to effectively manage.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Investment Management Services

Our investment process involves the selection of Underlying Managers, and, with respect to the mutual funds and ETFs in which we invest, the due diligence on managers of such mutual funds and ETF's (together with the Underlying Managers, the "Managers"), based on various factors, including, among others, performance, strategies, methods of analysis, fees and a client's financial needs, investment goals, risk tolerance, and investment objectives.

Prospective Managers are identified by members of our Research Services group (the "Research Division") through commercially available databases, direct solicitations by the managers, due diligence and referrals from third parties. The Research Division gathers disclosed information about the Managers (and, if applicable, the mutual funds and ETFs) on commercial databases, as well as additional information as may be delivered to us by the Managers.

In the course of our due diligence on mutual funds, ETFs and Underlying Managers, the Research Division employs both quantitative analysis and qualitative analysis as relevant. Quantitative analysis assesses the prospective Manager's historical performance, risk levels, and portfolio characteristics. Qualitative analysis is done concerning the prospective Managers' investment experience, continuity of staff, academic qualifications of investment professionals, and adherence to its investment strategies. In addition, members of the Investment Policy Committee ("IPC") (consisting of Phil Kirshman (CIO), Erika Karp (CEO), John Wilson (Head of Corporate Governance, Engagement & Research and Nicola Shelbourne (Treasurer)) may meet with representatives of prospective Managers. We also review the portfolio fundamentals and underlying holdings from the standpoint of both valuation and sector concentration and review the offering documents of each prospective Manager.

Our due diligence process relies on traditional metrics including performance history of the model over various time frames and considering various measures of risk-adjusted performance. Additionally, we consider the Manager's history, management team, investment process, assets under management, and the Manager's ESG standards integration process. Managers may be recommended based on their individual merits, their correlation (or lack thereof) to other recommended managers, and thematic considerations.

Prior to recommending an Underlying Manager, the Research Division screens manager performance through PSN Enterprise, one of the industry's leading databases, which covers over 8,400 different separate account manager strategies. For mutual funds and ETFs we use the Morningstar database to evaluate performance history of a particular mutual fund to ETF. Post-purchase, Underlying Manager, mutual fund and ETF performance is calculated through Pershing LLC and by Addepar, our portfolio reporting vendor. We do not conduct separate performance calculations on managers, mutual funds or ETFs.

PSN Enterprise, Morningstar, Pershing LLC and Addepar have their own data checks and process to verify the accuracy of the performance data they provide. We do not conduct additional audits of their data.

An Underlying Manager recommended by the Research Division must be approved by the IPC as an approved Underlying Manager prior to being eligible to be recommended to clients by our portfolio management team. In addition, the Research Division periodically monitors the Underlying Manager to make a determination regarding whether its management and investment style remains aligned with its stated management and investment style. See Item 10 for certain potential conflicts of interest regarding the due diligence, recommendation and approval of Underlying Managers.

Our investment strategies and advice may vary depending upon each client's specific financial situation. For specific clients, we seek to build a portfolio of Managers or solutions that will appropriately diversify their portfolio to achieve the optimal risk-adjusted expected returns to accomplish the goals stated in their investment policy statement. As such, we determine investments and allocations based upon your predefined objectives, risk tolerance, time horizon, financial horizon, financial information, liquidity needs, and other various suitability factors. Your restrictions and guidelines may affect the composition of your portfolio. After gathering information about your financial situation and objectives, the portfolio management team will recommend allocation amounts among the recommended mutual funds, ETFs, Underlying Managers and/or Securities taking into consideration your financial situation and objectives in light of the mutual funds', ETFs', and/or Underlying Managers' performance, strategy, methods of analysis, investment objectives portfolio risks and fees and Cornerstone's outlook on the potential performance of specific Securities.

In addition, we evaluate Securities for which we provide advice based on their sector, their relevance within such sector and using price earnings metrics.

We act as portfolio manager for your account with respect to the selection of mutual funds, ETFs and Securities as we deem appropriate having regard to your investment objective, strategy and guidelines. We do not believe that this causes any conflict of interest with the fact that we may also recommend Underlying Managers for your account.

Research Services

In formulating research, we look at, among other things: market and sector valuations (current, historic and relative), economic and geopolitical outlooks, structural and competitive dynamics across industries and companies, industry trends around environmental, social and governance measures and metrics, financial analyses of trends in earnings, margins, cash flows, capital expenditures, taxation issues, and other applicable risk factors. In addition, while the investment processes of all market participants vary, our research efforts focus on enhancing those processes by systematically incorporating ESG factors. These factors are intended to help better align our clients' values with their investments. We believe that there is empirical evidence that this type of fundamental analysis adds value to the investment process over the long term.

Certain Risk Factors

There can be no assurances that a client will achieve its investment objective or that the strategies pursued and methods utilized by us will be successful under all or any market conditions. Past performance is no guarantee of future performance. Investing in financial instruments involves the risk of loss of principal that clients should be prepared to bear. We do not represent or guarantee that our services or methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate clients from losses due to market corrections or declines.

At any point in time the value of ESG factors may be discounted by the securities markets in the aggregate valuation of securities.

Investment Management Risk Factors

A brief explanation of the material risks associated with the Investment Management Services' significant investment strategies follows. Risk factors of particular Underlying Managers, mutual funds and ETFs may be set forth in the account and/or fund documents of the Underlying Managers, mutual funds and ETFs as well as in the Forms ADV Part 2A of the respective Underlying Managers and respective managers for the mutual funds and ETFs.

Monitoring Managers. Although we will attempt to monitor the overall performance of each Manager, we must ultimately rely on each Manager to operate in accordance with the investment strategy and guidelines laid out by such Manager and the accuracy of the information provided to the account by such Manager. If a Manager does not operate in accordance with its investment strategy or guidelines, or if the information furnished by a Manager is not accurate, the account may sustain losses with respect to some or all of its investments despite our attempt to monitor the investment. The Managers will not coordinate their investment strategies with each other and at times may take positions which are the same as, or opposite from, positions taken by other Managers.

Open-end Mutual Fund Trading. The value of an open-end mutual fund may fall more quickly or rise more slowly than the stock or bond markets as a whole. This risk is exacerbated in investments which are concentrated in particular types of securities or particular market sectors. Risk is involved in mutual fund selection as well as in determining entry and exit strategies. Most open-end mutual fund shares can only be traded at the end of each day, potentially increasing losses on days of steep overall market declines. In addition, some funds only permit trading well before the market closes.

Closed-end Mutual Fund Trading. Closed-end mutual funds ("CEFs") are traded on an exchange, and thus the price of a CEF is based on market factors, not the net asset value of the CEF. As such, there is a risk that a CEF's price is less than the net asset value of the CEF's assets. Moreover, CEFs, as an investment sector, could fall out of favor.

Exchange Traded Funds. ETFs represent shares of ownership in either funds or unit investment trusts that hold portfolios of common stocks or bonds, which are designed to generally correspond to the price and yield performance of their underlying indexes, either broad stock market, stock industry sector, international stock or U.S. bond. ETF shareholders are subject to risks similar to those of holders of other diversified portfolios. A primary consideration is that the general level of stock or bond prices may decline, thus affecting the value of an equity or fixed income exchange traded fund, respectively. This is because an equity (or bond) ETF represents an interest in a portfolio of stocks (or bonds). When interest rates rise, bond prices will generally decline, adversely affecting the value of fixed income ETFs. Moreover, the overall depth and liquidity of the secondary market may also fluctuate. An exchange traded sector fund may also be adversely affected by the performance of that specific sector or group of industries on which it is based. International investments may involve risk of capital loss from unfavorable fluctuations in currency values, differences in generally accepted accounting principles, or economic or political instability in other nations. Although ETFs are designed to provide investment results that generally correspond to the price and yield performance of their respective underlying indexes, ETFs may not be able to exactly replicate the performance of the indexes because of their expenses and other factors.

Research Risk Factors

A brief explanation of the material risks associated with the Research Services follows.

Advice based on our research analysis may be based upon certain assumptions. We make no representations as to the reasonableness of such assumptions or the likelihood that such assumptions will coincide with actual events. Our research should not be relied upon for that purpose. We cannot offer any guarantees or promises that your financial goals and objectives will be met.

Any forward-looking opinions, assumptions, assessments, or similar statements (collectively, “Statements”) included in our research constitute only our subjective views, estimations or intentions, are subject to change due to many factors, including fluctuating market conditions and economic factors. Such Statements involve inherent risks, many of which cannot be predicted or quantified and are beyond our control. The Statements may be based upon certain assumptions and we make no representations as to the reasonableness of such assumptions or the likelihood that such assumptions will coincide with actual events and the Statements should not be relied upon for that purpose. Future evidence and actual results could differ materially from those set forth in, contemplated by, or underlying these Statements, which are subject to change without notice. In light of the foregoing, there can be no assurance and no representation is given that these Statements are now, or will prove to be, accurate or complete. We do not undertake any responsibility or obligation to revise or update such Statements.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

We do not have any disciplinary or legal events to report.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Through its provision of consulting and other non-investment advisory services, Cornerstone Capital Group may form business relationships with companies it analyzes in the course of providing its Research Services. We do not believe this creates a conflict since we do not conduct or provide research on specific issuers. However, we may reference or mention a specific issuer as part of our sector-based or thematic research. The IRC will maintain a “grey list” of companies with which Cornerstone Capital Group has a business relationship. Companies on the grey list will not be referenced or mentioned in our research pieces. The IRC will monitor the grey list periodically.

The Research Division may provide Research Services to Underlying Managers or their affiliates for which we receive compensation. Receipt of such compensation from Underlying Manager’s that are our research clients may cause us to have an incentive to recommend or select such Underlying Managers for Investment Management Services or Wrap Fee Program clients. In addition, the Research Division may conduct due diligence and make recommendations regarding the use of certain Underlying Managers. In conducting due diligence of Underlying Managers the Research Division may have an incentive to recommend Underlying Managers that purchase research from our firm. In addition, the IPC is charged with approving Underlying Managers for our platform for use by the portfolio management team in the Investment Management Services or the Wrap Fee Program. Certain members of the IPC know which Underlying Managers have purchased research from our Research Division. Consequently, such members of the IPC may have an incentive to approve Underlying Managers to our platform.

These potential conflicts of interest are mitigated due to the fact that the due diligence, recommendation and approval process of Underlying Managers is based primarily on pre-determined objective factors and is not based on whether or not an Underlying Manager purchases research from Cornerstone Capital Group. In addition, the Chief Compliance Officer (who is not a member of the IPC, the portfolio management team or the Research Division) reviews the due diligence, recommendation and approval processes of Underlying Managers to monitor that such due diligence, recommendations and approvals are consistent with Cornerstone’s fiduciary obligations and are not based on whether or not an Underlying Manager purchases research from us. Furthermore, the portfolio management team making the allocation decisions to the Underlying Managers on a client-by-client basis will not have access to information regarding the compensation we receive with respect to our research services.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Description of Our Code of Ethics

We have adopted a Code of Ethics (the “Code”) which sets forth the ethical and fiduciary principles and related compliance requirements under which we operate and the procedures for implementing those principles. The Code includes provisions that govern fiduciary duty, client opportunities, insider trading, personal trading, gifts and entertainment, political contributions, outside business activities and confidentiality.

The principals and employees (collectively, “Employees”) of Cornerstone Capital Inc. and their related accounts are permitted to maintain personal securities accounts provided that such accounts are disclosed to Cornerstone Capital Inc. and that any personal trading is consistent with applicable law and with the Code.

Under the Code, Employees may invest in financial instruments that are recommended to, or traded on behalf of, clients, subject to written pre-clearance by the Chief Compliance Officer and a holding period of 5 business days; provided, however, that the following transactions are not subject to such pre-clearance and holding period requirements: (i) transactions in equities that do not, as calculated on a daily basis, exceed .1% of the average daily trading volume for the three-month period immediately preceding such transaction and (ii) trades in open-end mutual funds.

The Code also contains policies and procedures that, among other things:

- prohibit Employees from taking personal advantage of opportunities belonging to clients,
- prohibit trading on the basis of material nonpublic information, and
- place limitations on personal trading by Employees and impose preclearance and reporting obligations with respect to trading.

Our Code is available to any client or prospective client upon request by contacting Joel Beck, Cornerstone Capital Inc.’s Chief Compliance Officer, at (212) 874-7400.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

We do not engage in principal transactions with client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an adviser, acting as principal for its own account, buys from or sells any security to any advisory client. Neither our firm nor any persons associated with our firm has any material financial interest in client transactions beyond the provision of investment advisory services as disclosed in this brochure.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

We do not have investment management discretion or recommend the purchase or sale of any securities through our provision of Research Services. Accordingly, the selection or recommendation of broker-dealers for client transactions is inapplicable with respect to our provision of Research Services.

In connection with the execution of direct securities transactions, to the extent we are authorized to do so by the client, we will determine the broker to be used and the commission rate paid. However, when we allocate client assets to Managers, the Manager will determine the broker to be used and the commission paid, including negotiating the amount of such broker’s commission. Information about brokerage used by Managers is contained in the separate account agreement with an Underlying Manager or the offering memorandum or prospectus, as applicable.

We do not adhere to any rigid formulas in making selection of brokers, but will weigh a combination of criteria. For the most part, we will seek the best combination of brokerage expenses and execution quality but we are not required to select the broker that charges the lowest transaction cost. While trade price is often a significant quantitative factor in best execution, we also evaluate qualitative execution factors, such as research capabilities, success of prior research recommendations, ability to execute trades, nature and frequency of sales coverage, depth of services provided, including back office and processing capabilities, financial stability and responsibility, reputation, commission rates, markups and markdowns, responsiveness to our firm and the value of research and brokerage products and services provided by such brokers. The determinative factor is not the lowest possible commission cost alone.

In certain cases, clients may request that their own brokers be used. We will use reasonable efforts to accommodate such client requests. However, we cannot guarantee that we can accommodate such requests. Where we are able to accommodate your request to direct the selection of brokerage, it should be noted that you:

- may be restricting our ability to obtain as favorable overall execution as might otherwise be obtainable;
- that your account may forego benefits from savings on execution costs that may otherwise be obtained, most notably by aggregating brokerage orders for various accounts;
- pay higher prices than other client accounts that did not direct brokerage;
- may miss limited opportunity investments afforded to other clients that did not direct brokerage; and
- that there may be additional credit and/or settlement risk in using the broker you select.

We do not engage in soft dollar arrangements with broker-dealers with respect to our Investment Management Services.

From time to time, it may be appropriate for more than one of the accounts managed by us to trade in the same securities at the same time. We may aggregate sale and purchase orders of financial instruments held by a client with similar orders being made simultaneously for other clients, if, in our reasonable judgment, such aggregation is reasonably likely to result in an overall economic benefit to a client based on an evaluation that a client is benefited by relatively better purchase or sale prices, lower commission expenses or beneficial timing of transactions, or a combination of these and other factors. Allocations to client accounts are made on a trade-by-trade basis pursuant to a pro-rata allocation methodology based on the amount of assets in each client's account. Exceptions to such allocation methodology may be made based on the following factors, among others: investment objectives and restrictions; risk-management requirements; adherence to any limits or investment guidelines; capital availability in each client account for trades of the type under consideration; liquidity/availability of securities; and eligibility to participate in the transaction. If the orders are aggregated, each of the accounts will have its same day orders filled on an average price basis (such that each receives the same price).

If an order is only partially filled on the date of placement, that portion of the order that has been filled will be allocated to all participating accounts pro-rata based on the amount of assets in each participating client's account. Exceptions may be made to allocation of partially filled orders for transactions in Securities in a situation in which pro rata allocation would result in de minimis positions that would not be meaningful, such as an odd lot.

Although our goal is to be fundamentally fair on an overall basis with respect to all clients, there can be no assurance that on a trade-by-trade basis that one client will not be treated differently from another. If Cornerstone Capital Inc. did not manage multiple client accounts, each client individually may be able to receive or sell a greater percentage of all securities purchased or sold. Consequently, when multiple clients participate in limited opportunity trades, each participating account reduces the opportunity available to other participating accounts.

If you are recommended to a mutual fund, ETF or Underlying Manager, please refer to the prospectus of such mutual fund or ETF, or the disclosure brochure of such Underlying Manager, for trading practice information.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

With respect to clients that receive Investment Management Services, the portfolio management team monitors individual client accounts on an ongoing basis and will conduct formal account reviews at least annually to make a determination whether the Investment Management Services provided are consistent with your stated investment goals and objectives. In addition, the Chief Compliance Officer will monitor on an annual basis that allocations to Underlying Managers are only made to approved Underlying Managers and that investment allocations comply with particular client investment guidelines. Additional reviews may be conducted based on various circumstances, including, but not limited to:

- contributions and withdrawals,
- year-end tax planning,
- market moving events,
- security specific events, and/or,
- changes in your risk/return objectives.

We will provide you with regular written reports in conjunction with account reviews. Such reports may include account balances, changes in value relative to performance benchmarks when applicable and asset allocation summaries. You will receive trade confirmations and monthly or quarterly statements from your account custodian(s).

We do not review client accounts that receive our Research Services.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

See Item 10 for additional information regarding compensation we receive from third parties that are not clients.

We do not compensate any persons for client referrals.

Item 15 Custody

We do not have actual custody of any client assets. We are deemed to have custody under Rule 206(4)-2 under the Advisers Act (the “Custody Rule”) if we deduct advisory fees from an Investment Management Services client’s account without preapproval. We also may be deemed to have custody under the Custody Rule for other reasons. Generally, Investment Management Services clients will receive account statements at least quarterly from their custodians including all clients over which we are deemed to have custody of their assets. Clients are urged to carefully review all custodian accounts statements they receive and contact us if they have any questions. Clients are also urged to compare the account statements they receive from their custodians to any account statements they receive from us and to contact us if they have any questions upon conducting such a review.

We do not have custody of our Research Services’ clients assets if all they receive from us are Research Services.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

We do not have, as a result of providing Research Services to clients, discretionary authority to manage securities accounts on behalf of clients. We may have authority, without obtaining specific client consent, to determine the types and amounts of securities to be bought and sold pursuant to an Investment Management Services client’s Client Agreement. Limitations on our authority may be imposed by such Client Agreement.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

We do not have, and will not accept, as a result of providing Research Services to clients, authority to vote client securities.

With respect to our Investment Management Services, except as otherwise agreed with you, we will not vote proxies on behalf of your advisory accounts. At your request, we may offer you advice regarding corporate actions and the exercise of your proxy voting rights. If you own shares of applicable securities, you are responsible for exercising your right to vote as a shareholder.

In most cases, you will receive proxy materials directly from the account custodian. However, in the event we were to receive any written or electronic proxy materials, we would forward them directly to you by mail, unless you have authorized our firm to contact you by electronic mail, in which case, we would forward any electronic solicitation to vote proxies.

The Underlying Managers with whom you invest may vote proxies for securities purchased on your behalf if authorized to do so by you, either with respect to all proxies or with respect to specific votes on specific topics or shareholder proposals.

In addition, if any Assets are invested in Securities the issuers of which are named in or subject to a class action lawsuit, we will not take any action or render any advice with respect to such class action lawsuit, including but not limited to, participating in such class action lawsuit.

Item 18 Financial Information

We have no financial condition that impairs our ability to meet contractual commitments to clients, and have not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
