Item 4 – Services, Fees and Compensation

Clear Investment Research is an investment adviser registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) and is a limited liability company (LLC) formed under the laws of the State of Georgia.

Clear Investment Research offers asset management services through a traditional fee based program or through a wrap fee management program. Clients may elect to pay expenses under a “traditional” payment option meaning that advisory services are provided for a fee but transaction services are billed separately on a per-transaction basis, or may elect the bundled “wrap fee” payment option meaning that advisory services (including asset management) and transaction cost (including ticket charges) are provided for one fee. Whenever a fee is charged for services described in this Wrap Fee Program Brochure, we will receive all or a portion of the fee charged.

When making the determination of whether one of the advisory programs available through Clear Investment Research is appropriate for your needs, you should bear in mind that fee-based accounts, when compared with commission-based accounts, often result in lower costs during periods when trading activity is heavier, such as the year an account is established. However, during periods when trading activity is lower, the fee-based account arrangements may result in a higher annual cost for transactions. Thus, depending on a number of factors, the total cost for transactions under a fee account versus a commission account can vary significantly. Factors which affect the total cost include account size, amount of turnover, type and quantities of securities purchased or sold, commission rates and your tax situation. It should also be noted that lower fees for comparable service may be available from other sources. The exact fees and other terms will be outlined in the agreement between you and Clear Investment Research.

You should discuss the advantages and disadvantages of fee-based and commission-based accounts with your adviser representative and you should read this Wrap Fee Disclosure Brochure carefully as it explains, in detail, our Asset Management Services.

Asset Management Services

Clear Investment Research offers asset management services, which involves Clear Investment Research providing you with continuous and ongoing supervision over your accounts. Clear Investment Research Asset Management Services are offered in a wrap fee program and also on a non-wrap fee (traditional fee) basis. In providing asset management services, Clear Investment Research will continuously monitor your account and make trades in your accounts when necessary. Your account will be managed by Clear Investment Research based on your financial situation, investment objectives and risk tolerance. Clear Investment Research will actively monitor your account and will make management recommendations and decisions regarding buying, selling, reinvesting or holding securities, cash or other investments.

We recommend that your assets to be allocated to our Asset Management Services Program be maintained in a brokerage account with Fidelity, an SEC registered broker/dealer and member NYSE/SIPC. Fidelity is the qualified custodian for accounts established through our Asset Management Services Program. You will appoint Clear Investment Research as your investment adviser of record on specified accounts. Your account will consist only of separate account(s) held by the qualified custodian under your name. Clear Investment Research does not act as custodian and does not have direct access to your funds and securities except to have advisory fees deducted from your account with your prior written authorization. The qualified custodian will maintain physical custody of all funds and securities of your Account, and you will retain all rights of ownership (e.g., right to withdraw securities or cash, exercise or delegate proxy voting and receive transaction confirmations) for your account.

You will authorize Clear Investment Research to have trading authorization on your account and we will provide asset management services. You will authorize discretionary management in your agreement for our Asset Management Services. If you have authorized us to provide asset management services on a discretionary basis, we will make all decisions to buy, sell or hold securities, cash or other investments in your managed account in our sole discretion without consulting with you before making any transactions. You must provide us with written authorization to exercise this discretionary authority, and you can place reasonable restrictions and limitations on our discretionary authority.

Fees charged for our asset management services are negotiable based on the type of client, the complexity of the client's situation, the composition of the client's account (i.e., equities versus mutual funds), the potential for additional account deposits, the relationship of the client with the investment adviser representative, and the total amount of assets under management for the client.

For our asset management services, client will be charged the following annual fee based upon the amount of assets under management:

Account Value	Annual Max. Fee
First $500,000	2.25 %
Next $1,500,000	1.75 %
Next $3,000,000	1.50%
Over $5,000,000	1.25%

Clear Investment Research, LLC may negotiate a different annual fee if we believe that it is reasonable in relation to: (1) services provided and (2) the fees charged by other investment advisers offering similar services/programs. However, our annual investment advisory fee may be higher than that charged by other investment advisers offering similar services/programs. In addition to our compensation, you may also incur charges imposed at the exchange traded fund or mutual fund level (e.g., advisory fees and other fund expenses).

The investment advisory fees will be deducted from your account and paid directly to us by the qualified custodian(s) of your account. You will authorize the qualified custodian(s) of your account to deduct fees from your account and pay such fees directly to Clear Investment Research, LLC. See Item 15 – Custody for more details.

You should review your account statements received from the qualified custodian(s) and verify that appropriate investment advisory fees are being deducted. The qualified custodian(s) generally will not verify the accuracy of the investment advisory fees deducted.

The only compensation received by Clear Investment Research for asset management services is the annual fee as specified in the client's advisory services agreement. Clear Investment Research receives no other forms of compensation in connection with providing asset management services.

Clear Investment Research, LLC does not receive any portion of such commissions or fees from you or the qualified custodian. In addition, you may incur certain charges imposed by third parties other than Clear Investment Research, LLC in connection with investments made through your account including, but not limited to, mutual fund sales loads, 12(b)-1 fees and surrender charges, variable annuity fees and surrender charges, IRA and qualified retirement plan fees, and charges imposed by the qualified custodian(s) of your account. Management fees charged by Clear Investment Research, LLC are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by investment company securities that may be recommended to you. A description of these fees and expenses are available in each investment company security's prospectus.

Clear Investment Research believes that its annual fee is reasonable in relation to: (1) services provided and (2) the fees charged by other investment advisers offering similar services/programs. However, our annual investment advisory fee may be higher than that charged by other investment advisers offering similar services/programs. In addition to our compensation, you may also incur charges imposed at the mutual fund level (e.g., advisory fees and other fund expenses).

Each client participating in our Asset Management Services will have the option to elect whether or not to bundle the transaction ticket fees that are charged by the qualified custodian as part of the fee for asset management services. If you elect to have transaction ticket fees that are charged by the qualified custodian bundled with the fee for our Asset Management Services, then the transaction ticket fees charged by the qualified custodian will be billed directly to Clear Investment Research by the qualified custodian for your account. If you elect not to bundle the transaction ticket fees charged by the qualified custodian with the fee for asset management services, then the transaction ticket fees will be billed directly to your account by the qualified custodian. Clear Investment Research will not receive any portion of such transaction ticket fees.

The asset management services continue in effect until terminated by either party (i.e., Clear Investment Research or you) by providing written notice of termination to the other party. Since fees are billed in arrears, upon receipt of written notice of termination, fees will be determined on a pro rata basis using the number of days services are actually provided during the final period.

Block Trading

We may elect to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. This process is referred to as aggregating orders, batch trading or block trading and is used by our firm when Clear Investment Research believes such action may prove advantageous to clients. If and when we aggregate client orders, allocating securities among client accounts is done on a fair and equitable basis. Typically, the process of aggregating client orders is done in order to achieve better execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates or to allocate orders among clients on a more equitable basis in order to avoid differences in prices and transaction fees or other transaction costs that might be obtained when orders are placed independently.

Clear Investment Research uses the pro rata allocation method for transaction allocation.

Under this procedure, pro rata trade allocation means an allocation of the trade at issue among applicable advisory clients in amounts that are proportional to the participating advisory client's intended investable assets. Clear Investment Research will calculate the pro rata share of each transaction included in a block order and assigns the appropriate number of shares of each allocated transaction executed for the client's account.

If and when we determine to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which Clear Investment Research or our associated persons may invest, we will do so in accordance with the parameters set forth in the SEC No-Action Letter, SMC Capital, Inc. Neither we nor our associated persons receive any additional compensation as a result of block trades.

Suitability and Investment Strategy

Clear Investment Research will assist clients in determining their objective(s), investment strategy, and investment suitability, prior and subsequent to opening an Asset Management account. Clients must contact us to notify of any changes in their investment objective(s) and/or financial situation. Investment strategies used to implement investment advice include, but are not necessarily limited to, long term purchases (investments held at least a year).

Item 5 – Account Requirements and Types of Clients

Minimum Account Size

We do not require any minimum asset account size or minimum annual fee to provide Asset Management services.

Types of Accounts

Clear Investment Research generally provides investment advice to the following types of clients:

- High net worth individuals
- Pension and profit sharing plans

You are required to execute a written agreement with Clear Investment Research specifying the particular advisory services in order to establish a client arrangement with Clear Investment Research.

Item 6 – Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

Clear Investment Research and its Investment Adviser Representatives act as the portfolio manager(s) for accounts receiving our Asset Management Services. Our Asset Management Service is considered a wrap fee program. For this service, we do not allow the use of portfolio managers that are not associated with Clear Investment Research. In other words, the only portfolio managers selected for managing client assets for our Asset Management Services are Investment Adviser Representatives of Clear Investment Research. Therefore, conflicts of interest present in other wrap fee programs that make available both affiliated and unaffiliated portfolio managers are not present in our wrap fee program. Because our Asset Management Services program does not provide for outside portfolio managers, we do not have procedures designed to select outside portfolio managers.

Participation in Wrap Fee Programs

As referenced in Item 4 - Services, Fees and Compensation, Clear Investment Research offers asset management services through a traditional fee based program or through a wrap fee management program. From a management perspective, there is not a fundamental difference in the way we manage accounts that have elected the traditional payment option versus those that have elected the bundled wrap fee payment option. The only significant difference is the way in which transaction costs are paid.

General Description of Other Advisory Services

The following are descriptions of the primary advisory services of Clear Investment Research. Please understand that a written agreement, which details the exact terms of the service, must be signed by you and Clear Investment Research before we can provide you the services described below.

Retirement Consulting Services

We offer retirement consulting services to companies offering pension and retirement plans and provide a wide variety of services focusing on our clients' specific needs. The following are examples of some of the general areas that may be covered as part of our services:

- Current plan review
- Vendor search
- Plan design and implementation
- Investment policy statement implementation
- Manager searches
- Compliance review
- Communication plan implementation
- Investment committee implementation
- Investment review

The above list is not all inclusive and is provided only to give clients a general idea of the types of consulting services offered. Services are negotiable depending on clients' individual needs. At no time do we maintain custody of plan assets. Typically, our consulting services focus on providing investment advice to the plan. In addition, we provide consulting services focusing on plan design, compliance matters and problem solving.

Fees may be paid as a flat annual fee or as a percentage of total plan assets under advisement as you and we determine jointly. Flat annual fees start at $10,000 and increase based on the size and complexity of the plan or, if charged as a percentage, range from .05% to 2.25% annually. Typically, fees are charged quarterly and will be charged in arrears. All fees are negotiable based on the complexity of the services contracted for and the anticipated amount of work involved in providing those services, the size of the plan and the number of plan participants. See Item 14, Client Referrals and Other Compensation, for additional discussion about referrals. The amount of the fee and the manner in which it is calculated and billed are fully disclosed to clients prior to services being provided.

Either party may terminate services by providing written termination to the other party. If services are terminated within five business days of executing a client agreement, services are terminated without penalty. Termination is effective sixty days after receipt of the written notice. In some instances the termination period may be waived if agreed to by all parties executing the client agreement. Clients are responsible for paying fees for services completed prior to the effective date of termination. If fees are paid in advance, we refund any unearned fees to clients. If services are terminated mid-period, a prorated fee is charged based on the number of days services are provided during that period and the percentage of work completed by us for that period.

Limits Advice to Certain Types of Investments

We provide investment advice on any investment product that may be suitable for each client's specific circumstances, needs, goals and objectives.

It is not our typical investment strategy to attempt to time the market, but we may increase cash holdings modestly as deemed appropriate based on your risk tolerance and our expectations of market behavior. We may modify our investment strategy to accommodate special situations such as low basis stock, stock options, legacy holdings, inheritances, closely held businesses, collectibles, or special tax situations.

Tailor Advisory Services to Individual Needs of Clients

Clear Investment Research's asset management services are always provided based on your individual needs. This means, for example, that when we provide asset management services, you are given the ability to impose restrictions on the accounts we manage for you, including specific investment selections and sectors. We work with you on a one-on-one basis through interviews and questionnaires to determine your investment objectives and suitability information.

We will not enter into an investment adviser relationship with a prospective client whose investment objectives may be considered incompatible with our investment philosophy or strategies or where the prospective client seeks to impose unduly restrictive investment guidelines.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Performance-based fees are defined as fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets held in a client's account. Clear Investment Research does not charge or accept performance-based fees.

Methods of Analysis

We use fundamental analysis when considering investment strategies and recommendations for clients.

Fundamental analysis is a method of evaluating a security by attempting to measure its intrinsic value by examining related economic, financial and other qualitative and quantitative factors. Fundamental analysts attempt to study everything that can affect the security's value, including macroeconomic factors (like the overall economy and industry conditions) and individually specific factors (like the financial condition and management of a company). The end goal of performing fundamental analysis is to produce a value that an investor can compare with the security's current price in hopes of figuring out what sort of position to take with that security (underpriced = buy, overpriced = sell or short). Although most analysts use fundamental analysis to value stocks, this method of valuation can be used for just about any type of security.

The risk associated with fundamental analysis is that it is somewhat subjective. While a quantitative approach is possible, fundamental analysis usually entails a qualitative assessment of how market forces interact with one another in their impact on the investment in question. It is possible for those market forces to point in different directions, thus necessitating an interpretation of which forces will be dominant. This interpretation may be wrong, and could therefore lead to an unfavorable investment decision.

Investment Strategies

We use long term investment horizons (securities held at least a year) when implementing investment advice to clients.

Primarily Recommend One Type of Security

We do not primarily recommend one type of security to clients. Instead, we recommend any product that may be suitable for each client relative to that client's specific circumstances and needs.

Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss, including loss of original principal. Past performance of any security is not necessarily indicative of future results. Therefore, do not assume that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy will be profitable. We do not provide any representation or guarantee that clients' specific goals will be achieved. Further, depending on the different types of investments, there may be varying degrees of risk:

- Market Risk – Either the stock market as a whole, or the value of an individual company, goes down resulting in a decrease in the value of client investments. This is also referred to as systemic risk.
- Equity (stock) market risk – Common stocks are susceptible to general stock market fluctuations and to volatile increases and decreases in value as market confidence in and perceptions of their issuers change. If you held common stock, or common stock equivalents, of any given issuer, you would generally be exposed to greater risk than if you held preferred stocks and debt obligations of the issuer.
- Company Risk. When investing in stock positions, there is always a certain level of company or industry specific risk that is inherent in each investment. This is also referred to as unsystematic risk and can be reduced through appropriate diversification. There is the risk that the company will perform poorly or have its value reduced based on factors specific to the company or its industry. For example, if a company's employees go on strike or the company receives unfavorable media attention for its actions, the value of the company may be reduced.
- Fixed Income Risk. When investing in bonds, there is the risk that the issuer will default on the bond and be unable to make payments. Further, individuals who depend on set amounts of periodically paid income face the risk that inflation will erode their spending power. Fixed-income investors receive set, regular payments that face the same inflation risk.

- Options Risk. Options on securities may be subject to greater fluctuations in value than an investment in the underlying securities. Purchasing and writing put and call options are highly specialized activities and entail greater than ordinary investment risks.
- ETF and Mutual Fund Risk – When investing in a an ETF or mutual fund, you will bear additional expenses based on your pro rata share of the ETF's or mutual fund's operating expenses, including the potential duplication of management fees. The risk of owning an ETF or mutual fund generally reflects the risks of owning the underlying securities the ETF or mutual fund holds. You may also incur brokerage costs when purchasing ETFs.
- Management Risk – Your investment with our firm varies with the success and failure of our investment strategies, research, analysis and determination of portfolio securities. If our investment strategies do not produce the expected returns, the value of the investment will decrease.

Voting Client Securities

We do not vote proxies on behalf of clients. You will receive proxies directly from the qualified custodian or transfer agent; we will not provide you with the proxies. You are encouraged to read through the information provided with the proxy-voting documents and make a determination based on the information provided. Although we do not vote client proxies, if you have a question about a particular proxy feel free to contact us. However, you will have the ultimate responsibility for making all proxy-voting decisions.

Item 7 – Client Information Provided to Portfolio Managers

Only Investment Adviser Representatives of Clear Investment Research serve as portfolio managers for our Asset Management Services Program. Our associated Investment Adviser Representatives are responsible for gathering all information provided by you. We will interview and work with you to gather all information needed relative to your investment objectives and needs in order to provide management services through our Asset Management Services Program. You are responsible for promptly contacting your Investment Adviser Representative to notify us of any changes to your financial situation that will impact or materially influence the way we manage your accounts. Since we do not use any outside portfolio managers, we do not share your information with any outside portfolio managers.

Item 8 - Client Contact with Portfolio Managers

There are no restrictions placed on your ability to contact and consult with our portfolio managers. It is the policy of Clear Investment Research to provide for open communications between the Investment Adviser Representatives and clients. These procedures were distributed to all associated persons, and the associated persons acknowledged they have read, understand and agree to abide by our policies and procedures. The policies include:

- Associated persons cannot prefer their own interests to that of the client
- Associated persons cannot purchase or sell any security for their personal accounts prior to implementing transactions for client accounts
- Associated persons cannot buy or sell securities for their personal accounts when those decisions are based on information obtained as a result of their employment, unless that information is also available to the investing public upon reasonable inquiry
- We maintain a list of all securities holdings for the firm and all associated persons; this list is reviewed on a regular basis by our Chief Compliance Officer

Any associated person not observing our policies, or violating any applicable state and federal advisory practice regulations, is subject to sanctions up to and including termination.

Account Reviews

Investment reviews are based on the criteria adopted in the Investment Policy Statement. The Investment Policy Statement is adopted by the Asset Management client or by the Retirement Consulting client's investment committee.

The investment committee can include the Chief Financial Officer, Chief Executive Officer, Chief Compliance Officer, Human Resources staff and certain other employees. We generate investment reports providing detailed information so the committee members can make informed decisions. In certain circumstances, we recommend adding, removing and/or replacing the investment options of the retirement plan. We send reports to each Retirement Consulting client's investment committee as contracted for, and each report is customized for the client and includes commentary specific to the client.

The Retirement Consulting client reviews are performed on the client's schedule four times per year. Asset Management client reviews are performed on the client's schedule at least once per year.
