Item 4-Advisory Business

Firm Description

Shelter Rock Management, LLC hereinafter (“the Adviser”) was founded in 2006.

The Adviser provides personalized confidential investment management to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations and small businesses.

The Adviser is a fee-only investment management firm. The firm does not sell securities on a commission basis. The firm is not affiliated with entities that sell financial products or securities. The Adviser does not act as a custodian of client assets. The client always maintains asset control. Any conflicts of interest arising out of the Adviser or its associated persons are disclosed in this brochure.

Sean Chaitman is the principal owner and 100% stockholder.

Types of Advisory Services

Shelter Rock Management, LLC (“the Adviser”) provides investment Advisory services to its clients on a discretionary and non-discretionary basis. The Advisory services include, among other things, providing advice regarding asset allocation and the selection and monitoring of investments including mutual funds, indices, fixed income and individual equities. A clients relationship may include a blend of services listed below and is guided by the stated objectives of the client.

The Strategic Income Strategy

The Strategic Income Strategy is a fixed-income managed account strategy that is primarily invested in a diversified portfolio of short and intermediate-term corporate bonds. The strategy may also contain a minority weighting in multi-strategy bond mutual funds and/or ETFs and have up to 20% in preferred and common stocks. The strategy seeks to provide current income while seeking to preserve capital.

Conservative Allocation

The Conservative Allocation Strategy will generally have between 60% to 80% in bonds and cash and 20% to 40% in equities. The strategy has a flexible asset allocation enabling the manager to opportunistically invest in a wide variety of asset classes and securities including individual bonds, stocks, MLPs, mutual funds and/or ETFs. The strategy seeks to produce consistently attractive returns over every investment cycle while preserving capital.

Equity Income

The Equity Income Strategy will generally have between 50% to 75% in stocks and 25% to 50% in bonds and cash. The strategy has a flexible asset allocation enabling the manager to opportunistically invest in a wide variety of asset classes and securities including individual stocks, bonds, MLPs and/or ETFs. The strategy seeks to generate growth and income while preserving capital over a wide variety of market cycles.

Customized Accounts

Shelter Rock manages customized conservative, moderate and aggressive strategies that contain mutual funds, individual stocks, individual bonds, ETFs and MLPs. Mutual funds and ETFs/Indices for clients will be selected on the basis of any or all of the following criteria: the fund's performance history under the current manager(s); the industry sector(s) and geographic exposure of the fund's investments; the Advisers' assessment of the level of risk being taken in order to achieve returns; the fund's investment objectives; the fund's management style and philosophy; the fund's management fee structure; the fund's tax efficiency and the level of assets in the fund. The Adviser will also attempt to select mutual funds and indices with the goal of appropriately diversifying clients based on individual risk tolerance, investment objectives and investment horizon. Individual stocks will generally be selected in companies believed to be undervalued based on free cash flow metrics. The manager will select individual bonds by carefully balancing expected returns versus credit and interest rate risks.

401K

Shelter Rock provides 401K services to corporate clients. This includes helping companies evaluate 401K plan administrators, creating and monitoring mutual fund menu's available to participants, constructing investment models for conservative through aggressive risk tolerances and providing retirement, asset allocation and investment guidance.

As of December 31, 2014 the Adviser managed approximately $49,325,000 in assets for 111 clients with $44,616,000 managed on a discretionary basis and $4,709,000 on a non-discretionary basis.

Types of Agreements

Agreements may not be assigned without client consent. The following agreements define the typical client relationships.

Investment Management Agreement

Client's financial affairs including investment time horizon, financial objectives and risk profile are reviewed. The Adviser and client mutually agree to an asset allocation. Investments in the client's asset allocation may include mutual funds, exchange traded funds (ETFs) and other indices, individual bonds, individual stocks, Master Limited Partnerships (MLPs), certificates of deposit (CDs) and individual U.S. government bonds/securities. Once an asset allocation is agreed upon, the Adviser will manage the client's account on a discretionary basis according to the asset allocation. As a client's goals and objectives change over time, the Adviser may discuss modifications to the initial asset allocation. Asset allocation adjustments will occur in the event that they are mutually agreed upon by the client and the Adviser. The scope of work and fee for an Advisory Service Agreement is provided to the client in writing prior to the start of the relationship.

Asset Management

Investments may include mutual funds, exchange traded funds (ETFs) and other indices, individual bonds, individual stocks, Master Limited Partnerships (MLPs), certificates of deposits (CDs) and individual U.S. government bonds/securities.

Investments will be purchased or sold through a brokerage account. The brokerage firm charges a fee for stock trades and fees may be associated with bond trades. The brokerage firm may charge a fee for mutual fund purchases and other securities that the Adviser invests in. Initial public offerings (IPOs) may be available through the Adviser.

Termination of Agreement

A Client may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying the Adviser in writing. Clients shall be charged pro rata for services provided through to the date of termination. If the client made an advance payment, the Adviser will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

The Adviser may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying the client in writing. If the client made an advance payment, the Adviser will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

Item 5-Fees and Compensation

Investment Management

The Adviser bases its fees on a percentage of assets under management.

The Adviser will bill clients for all fees. Management fees will be deducted directly from Client's accounts unless client requests to manually pay fees. All management fees are paid quarterly in arrears. Fees are payable on the first day of the calendar quarter. Fees are based on the account's asset value as of the last business day of the prior calendar quarter. Fees for corporate 401(K) clients are based on the average of the plan's assets for the most recent quarter. Fees for 401(K) clients may also be based on the plan asset value as of the last business day of the quarter in the event that it is required by the 401(k) provider selected by the corporate client. The fees for the first quarter under management will be prorated.

All services have a $250,000 minimum except for the Strategic Income Strategy which has a $500,000 minimum. The Adviser may waive these minimum service levels at its discretion. Shelter Rock Management's fee schedule is as follows:

Annualized Management Fees
Strategy	Fee
Strategic Income	1.00%
Conservative Allocation	1.25%
Equity Income and Customized Accounts	1.50%
401(K)	Plans up to $500,000	Plans up to $1,000,000	Plans up to $5,000,000	Plans over $5,000,000
	1.00%	.075%	0.60%	0.50%

In limited instances, fees may be negotiable.

If an Advisory relationship with Shelter Rock Management is terminated prior to December 31, the management fee will be prorated for 7 days after written notification is received to terminate the relationship.

An Advisory client will have a period of five (5) business days from the date of signing the investment Advisory agreement to unconditionally rescind the agreement. Thereafter, either party may terminate the investment Advisory agreement with 7 days written notice.

Fee Billing

As mentioned above investment management fees are billed quarterly, in arrears, meaning that Shelter Rock invoices client's after the three-month billing period has ended. Payment in full is expected upon invoice presentation. Fees are deducted from the client account to facilitate billing as authorized by the investment management agreement.

Item 6-Performance Fees

The Adviser does not use a performance-based fee structure.

Item 7-Types of Clients

Description

The Adviser generally provides investment advice to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans and corporations or business entities.

Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

The Adviser requires a minimum of $250,000 to establish a new Advisory account; however, the minimum may be waived at the sole discretion of the Adviser.

Item 8-Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods may include fundamental analysis and technical analysis. The main sources of information include company filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, financial newspapers and magazines, research materials prepared by others, annual reports, prospectuses and company press releases.

Investment Strategies

Strategies may include long-term purchases of investment securities, short-term purchases and trading purchases. The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time.

The Adviser's strategies do not involve frequent trading.

Investment Risks

All investments including the investment accounts managed by the Adviser have risks that are borne by the investor. This includes the risks described below:

Market Risks:

- General Investment Risks Including Market Volatility: The performance of any investment is subject to numerous factors which are neither within the control of nor predictable by the Adviser. Such factors include a wide range of economic, political, competitive, technological and other conditions (including acts of terrorism and war) that may affect investments in general or specific industries or companies. The securities markets may be volatile, which may adversely affect the ability of the Adviser to realize profits. Additionally, specific investments in the Adviser's strategies may require more time than others to realize an expected return and may experience a pricing correction in a faster-than-expected time, subjecting the Adviser to reinvestment risk.
- Material Non-Public Information: By reason of their responsibilities in connection with other activities of the Adviser and/or its affiliates, certain principals or employees of the Adviser and/or its affiliates may acquire confidential or material non-public information or be restricted from initiating transactions in certain securities. The Adviser will not be free to act upon any such information. Due to these restrictions, the Adviser may not be able to initiate a transaction that it otherwise might have initiated and may not be able to sell an investment that it otherwise might have sold.
- Fixed Income Interest Rate And Credit Risk: The price of most fixed income securities move in the opposite direction of the change in interest rates. For example, as interest rates rise, the price of many fixed income securities fall. This risk is usually greater for longer-term and higher rated fixed income securities. If the Adviser holds a fixed income security to maturity, the change in its price before maturity may have little impact on the Adviser's performance; however, if the Adviser has to sell certain fixed income securities before their maturity date, an increase in interest rates could result in a loss to the Adviser. All fixed income securities contain default and repayment of principal risk. Default and repayment of principal risks are the ability of a bond issuer to repay scheduled interest payments and principal upon a bond's maturity in the event of an issuer's financial hardship. In general, lower rated fixed income securities including high yield bonds are more at risk of default and principal repayment than higher rated securities including investment grade bonds. The Adviser's strategies may include investments in fixed income securities that are un-rated or below investment grade that have the potential for higher returns than investment grade bonds, but also have greater credit, volatility and liquidity risk.
- Fixed Income Call Option Risk: Many bonds, including agency, corporate and municipal bonds, and all mortgage-backed securities, contain a provision that allows the issuer to "call" all or part of the issue before the bond's maturity date. The issuer usually retains this right to refinance the bond in the future if market interest rates decline below the coupon rate. For callable bonds the cash flow pattern is not known with certainty and the capital appreciation potential of a bond may be reduced because the price of a callable bond may not raise much above the price at which the issuer may call the bond. The Adviser seeks to mitigate bond call risk by analyzing the yield to call for individual bonds prior to making purchases, but there can be no assurance that it can avoid all risks associated with bonds that may be called.

- Investments in Non-U.S. Securities: The Adviser may invest and trade a portion of its assets in non-U.S. securities including ADRs, foreign bonds and mutual funds that invest in international securities. International securities generally have greater volatility, political, economic and currency risks than domestic securities. Additionally, they may involve differences in accounting methods.
- Diversification: Depending on an investor's objectives, the Adviser may manage certain accounts in a non-diversified manner. For these investors assets may be concentrated in a limited number of holdings which may cause greater volatility based on the individual holdings than would otherwise be the case if assets were invested in a more diversified manner.
- Liquidity: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Securities where there is a ready market that is traded through an exchange are generally more liquid. Securities traded over the counter or that do not have a ready market or are thinly traded are less liquid and may face discounts in price level in a liquidation situation. Additionally, certain types of securities including small and mid-capitalization stocks and non-investment grade bonds tend to be less liquid and more volatile than other securities including large capitalization stocks and investment grade bonds. The Adviser makes investments in a variety of different types of securities in its managed accounts including those types that may be less liquid and more volatile than other types.

Regulatory Risks:

- Strategy Restrictions: Certain institutions may be restricted from directly utilizing investment strategies of the type in which the Adviser may engage. Such institutions, including entities subject to ERISA, should consult their own advisors, counsel and accountants to determine what restrictions may apply and whether an investment in the Adviser is appropriate.
- Trading Limitations: For all securities, instruments and/or assets listed on an exchange, including options listed on a public exchange, the exchange generally has the right to suspend or limit trading under certain circumstances. Such suspensions or limits could render certain strategies difficult to complete or continue and subject the Adviser to loss. Also, such a suspension could render it impossible for the Adviser to liquidate positions and thereby expose the Adviser to potential losses.
- Tax Risk: The tax aspects of an investment in the Adviser are complicated and each investor should have them reviewed by professional advisers familiar with such investor's personal tax situation and with the tax laws and regulations applicable to the investor and private investment vehicles as applicable.

- Conflicts of Interest: In the administration of client accounts, portfolios and financial reporting, the Adviser faces inherent conflicts of interest which are described in this brochure. Generally, the Adviser mitigates these conflicts through its Code of Ethics and fiduciary responsibilities as a registered investment adviser which provides that the client's interest is always held above that of the Firm and its associated persons.
- Accuracy of Public Information: The Adviser selects investments, in part, on the basis of information and data filed by issuers with various government regulators or made directly available to the Adviser by the issuers or through sources other than the issuers. Although the Adviser evaluates all such information and data and sometimes seeks independent corroboration when it's considered appropriate and reasonably available, the Adviser is not in a position to confirm the completeness, genuineness or accuracy of such information and data, and in some cases, complete and accurate information is not available. Investments may not perform as expected if information is inaccurate.

Item 9-Legal and Disciplinary Information

The firm and its employees have not been involved in legal or disciplinary events related to past or present investment clients.

Item 10-Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

The Adviser does not currently have any other financial industry affiliations.

Item 11-Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

The Adviser has adopted a Code of Ethics which establishes standards of conduct for its supervised persons. The Code of Ethics includes general requirements that such supervised persons comply with their fiduciary obligations to clients and applicable securities laws, and specific requirements relating to, among other things, personal trading, insider trading, conflicts of interest and confidentiality of client information. It requires supervised persons to report their personal securities transactions and holdings quarterly to the Adviser's Compliance Officer, and requires the Compliance Officer to review those reports. It also requires supervised persons to report any violations of the Code of Ethics promptly to the Adviser's Compliance Officer. Each supervised person of the Adviser receives a copy of the Code of Ethics and any amendments to it and must acknowledge in writing having received the materials. Annually, each supervised person must certify that he or she complied with the Code of Ethics during that year. Clients and prospective clients may obtain a copy of the Adviser's Code of Ethics by contacting the Compliance Officer of the Adviser.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

Under the Adviser's Code of Ethics, the Adviser and its managers, members, officers and employees may invest personally in securities of the same classes as are purchased for clients and may own securities of the issuers whose securities are subsequently purchased for clients. If an issue is purchased or sold for clients and any of the Adviser, managers, members, officers and employees on the same day purchase or sell the same security, either the clients and the Adviser, managers, members, officers or employees shall receive or pay the same price or the clients shall receive a more favorable price. The Adviser and its managers, members, officers and employee may also buy or sell specific securities for their own accounts based on personal investment considerations, which the Adviser does not deem appropriate to buy or sell for clients.

Personal Trading

The Chief Compliance Officer of the Adviser is Sean Chaitman. He is the sole investment representative of the Adviser. He conducts personal trading reviews ensure that his personal trading does not affect the markets, and that clients of the firm receive preferential treatment.

Item 12-Brokerage Practices

Brokerage Selection and Soft Dollars

The Adviser may recommend brokerage firms as qualified custodians and for trade execution. The Adviser does not receive fees or commissions from any of these arrangements.

In selecting brokers or dealers to execute transactions, Adviser will seek to achieve the best execution possible but this does not require it to solicit competitive bids and does not have an obligation to seek the lowest available commission cost. Adviser is not required to negotiate "execution only" commission rates, thus the client may be deemed to be paying for research and related services (i.e., "soft dollars") provided by the broker which are included in the commission rate. It is the policy and practice of the Adviser to strive for the best price and execution for costs and discounts which are competitive in relation to the value of the transaction and which comply with Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Nevertheless, it is understood that the Adviser may pay compensation on a transaction in excess of the amount of compensation that another broker or dealer may charge so long as it is in compliance with Section 28(e), and the Adviser makes no warranty or representation regarding compensation paid on transactions. In negotiating mark-ups or mark-downs, the Adviser will take into account the financial stability and reputation of brokerage firms and the brokerage and research services provided by such brokers, although the client may not, in any particular instance, be the sole direct or indirect beneficiary of the research services provided. The Adviser has no obligation to deal with any broker or group of brokers in executing transactions in portfolio securities.

Order Aggregation

The Adviser may from time to time purchase and/or sell the same security for many accounts, even though each Client account is individually managed. When possible, the Adviser may also aggregate the same transaction in the same securities for many Clients for whom the Adviser has discretion to direct brokerage. Clients in aggregated transactions each receive the same price per unit, although they may pay differing brokerage commissions depending upon the nature of their directed brokerage arrangement, if any.

If more than one price is paid for securities in an aggregated transaction, each client in the aggregated transaction will receive the average price paid for the block of securities in the same aggregated transaction for the day. If the Adviser is unable to fill an aggregated transaction completely, but receives a partial fill of the aggregated transaction, the Adviser will allocate the filled portion of the transaction to clients based on an equitable rotational system as follows:

- The Adviser must ensure that adequate and full disclosure of its allocation and bunching practices has been made prior to the transaction.
- All clients/investors, accounts or funds participating in the aggregated order shall receive an average share price with all other transaction costs shared on a pro-rata basis.
- Aggregate transactions must not be executed unless the intended and resultant aggregation is consistent with its duty to seek best execution and any terms found in the Adviser's written agreements.
- Aggregated orders filled in their entirety shall be allocated among clients/investors, accounts or funds in accordance with an allocation statement created prior to the execution of the transaction(s); partially filled orders shall be allocated pro-rata based on the allocation statement and the variance from the modeled allocation of a security. Where this method prescribes an odd-lot that is less than 100 shares for an account, the allocation will be rounded up to a whole lot. Client/investor funds held collectively for the purpose of completing the transaction may not be held in this commingled manner for any longer than is practical to settle the transaction.
- Each client/investor, account or fund that participates in an aggregated order will participate at the average share price for all the Adviser's transactions in that security on a given business day, with transaction costs shared pro-rata based on each client/investor's, account's or fund's participation in the transaction.
- Investments resulting from any aggregated order must be consistent with the specific investment objective(s) of each client/investor, account or fund as detailed in any written agreements. No additional compensation shall result from the proposed allocation. No Client/investor, account or fund will be favored over any other Client/investor, account or fund as a result of the allocation.
- Pre-allocation statement(s) specifying the participating Client/investor accounts and the proposed method to allocate the order among the clients/investors, accounts or funds are required prior to any allocated order. Basis for establishing pre-allocations may include pro-rata of account assets to assets for the specific strategy, executing broker and variance from modeled position holding as factors. Should the actual allocation differ from the allocation statement, such trade may only be settled with the approval of the CCO or another appropriately qualified and authorized principal of the Adviser.

In cases where the Client has negotiated the commission-rate directly with the broker, the Adviser will not be able to obtain more favorable commission rates based on an aggregated trade. In such cases, the Client will be precluded from receiving the benefit of any, possible commission discounts that might otherwise be available a result of the aggregated trade.

Directing Brokerage for Client Referrals

The Adviser and its associated persons do not receive client referrals from broker dealers or third parties as consideration for selecting or recommending brokers for client accounts.

Directed Brokerage

The Adviser may allow clients to direct brokerage but the Adviser does not require clients to direct brokerage. In the event that a client directs the Adviser to use a particular broker or dealer, the Adviser may not be authorized under those circumstances to negotiate commissions and may not be able to obtain volume discounts or best execution. In addition, under these circumstances a disparity in commission charges may exist between the commissions charged to clients who direct the Adviser to use a particular broker or dealer and other clients who do not direct Adviser to use a particular broker or dealer which may result in higher trading expenses to the client who directs brokerage. The Adviser may place orders for transactions in certain securities initially only for those accounts which are held in custody at banks or at brokerage firms that permit the Adviser to place trades for accounts held in custody at that firm with other brokerage firms. Therefore, accounts held in custody at firms which do not permit the Adviser to place transactions with other brokerage firms may not be able to participate in the initial transaction and may not be able to participate in the same gains or losses as other Clients whose accounts are not so restricted. In cases where trading or investment restrictions are placed on a Client's account, the Adviser may be precluded from aggregating that Client's transaction with other accounts which may result in less favorable security prices and/or higher transaction costs.

Item 13-Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

Account reviews are performed quarterly by Advisers Sean Chaitman, Chief Investment and Chief Compliance Officer. He will consider the client's current security positions and the likelihood that the performance of each security will contribute to the investment objectives of the client.

Review Triggers

Accounts are reviewed quarterly or more frequently when market conditions dictate. Other conditions that may trigger a review are changes in the tax laws, new investment information, and changes in a client's financial or personal situation.

Client Reports

Clients may receive periodic reports that may include account valuation, performance stated in dollars and as a percent, and portfolio attribution. Clients receive statements of account positions and account valuation no less than quarterly from the account custodian.

Item 14-Client Referrals and Other Compensation

The Adviser may from time to time employ/engage solicitors to whom it will pay cash or a portion of the fees paid by investors referred to it by those solicitors. All solicitors who refer clients will comply with the requirements of the jurisdiction where they operate. When applicable the solicitor will be licensed as investment Advisers or notice filed in the applicable jurisdiction.

The Adviser's referral agreement is in compliance with the federal regulations as set out in 17 CFR Section 275.206(4)-3, and where state law requires, each client is given a copy of the referral agreement prior to or at the time of entering into an Advisory contract.

Item 15-Custody

Policy

The Adviser does not accept or permit the Firm or its associated persons from obtaining custody of client assets including cash, securities, acting as trustee, provide bill paying service, have password access to control account activity or any other form of controlling client assets. All checks or wire transfer to fund client accounts are required to be made out to/sent to the account custodian and transferred to the custodian by the end of the next business day.

Account Statements

All assets are held at qualified custodians and the custodians provide account statements not less than quarterly to clients at their address of record. Clients should carefully review such statements for any discrepancies or inaccuracies.

Performance Reports

Pursuant to recent amendments to Rule 206(4) under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, the Securities and Exchange Commission now requires advisers to urge clients to compare the information set forth in their statement from the Adviser with the statements received directly from the custodian to ensure accuracy of all account transactions.

Item 16-Investment Discretion

The Adviser contracts for discretionary authority to transact portfolio securities accounts on behalf of clients. Discretionary authority is granted by the Adviser's investment management agreement. The Adviser has the authority to determine, without obtaining specific client consent, the securities to be bought or sold, and the amount of the securities to be bought or sold. The firm's discretionary authority regarding investments may however be subject to certain limitations. These limitations are recognized as the restrictions and prohibitions placed by the Client on transactions in certain types of business or industries. All such restrictions are to be agreed upon in writing at the account's inception.

The Adviser may make broker-dealer recommendations. Generally, these recommendations are based on the Adviser's perception of the breadth of services offered by the broker-dealer and their quality of trading execution. However, the client may pay commissions or fees that are higher or lower than those that may be obtained from elsewhere for similar services.

Item 17-Voting Client Securities

The Adviser will not vote nor advise clients how to vote proxies for securities held in client accounts. The client clearly keeps the authority and responsibility for the voting of these proxies. The Adviser does not give any advice or take any action with respect to the voting of these proxies. For accounts subject to the provisions of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (“ERISA”), the plan fiduciary specifically keeps the authority and responsibility for the voting of any proxies for securities held in plan accounts. The Adviser promptly passes along any proxy voting information to the clients or their representatives.

Item 18-Financial Information

The Adviser does not have any financial impairment that will preclude the firm from meeting contractual commitments to clients. The Adviser meets all net capital requirements that it is subject to and the Adviser has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition in the last 10 years. The Adviser is not required to provide a balance sheet as it does not serve as a custodian for client funds or securities, and does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per client, and six months or more in advance.

Business Continuity Plan

General

The Adviser has a Business Continuity Plan in place that provides detailed steps to mitigate and recover from the loss of office space, communications, services or key people.

Disasters

The Business Continuity Plan covers natural disasters such as snow storms, hurricanes, tornados, and flooding. The Plan covers man-made disasters such as loss of electrical power, loss of water pressure, fire, bomb threat, nuclear emergency, chemical event, biological event, T-1 communications line outage, Internet outage, railway accident and aircraft accident.

Alternate Offices

Alternate offices are identified to support ongoing operations in the event the main office is unavailable. It is our intention to contact all clients within five days of a disaster that dictates moving our office to an alternate location.

Information Security Program

Information Security

The Adviser maintains an information security program to reduce the risk that your personal and confidential information may be breached.

Privacy Practices

Below is a summary of the Adviser's Privacy Policy regarding client personal information. A complete version of the Privacy Policy is contained in your client Advisory agreement and may be obtained by contacting the Compliance Officer of the Adviser.
