Item 2: Educational Background and Business Experience

Mr. Marco D'Attanasio began his career in financial services in 1997 as an Analyst at HSBC, London. In this role Mr. D'Attanasio effectively demonstrated his abilities whilst analysing exotic derivatives and devising and coding pricing and risk management models. This role also saw Mr. D'Attanasio gain his first experience with the sales force, due to his involvement with the structuring of new products. In 1998, Mr. D'Attanasio joined JP Morgan in a similar role, working closely with traders and the salesforce, again structuring pricing and modeling new products.

Later in 1998, Mr. D'Attanasio joined Royal Bank of Canada, as a proprietary trader, working primarily in event-driven investments. He moved through the ranks quickly, being promoted twice over the course of two years. In 2002, Mr. D'Attanasio became responsible for the risk arbitrage/equity long-short desk for Europe and Asia, managing two analysts. Following this, Mr. D'Attanasio was appointed head of relative value trading for Europe and Asia, increasing the number of subordinates directly reporting in to him to nine, distributed both in London and Hong Kong.

In 2004, Mr. D'Attanasio became a founding partner in Hadron Capital LLP, becoming the Firm's CIO. The Firm is an FCA regulated limited liability partnership that is responsible for managing the Hadron Fund, a multistrategy hedge fund incorporated in the Cayman Islands, as well as the Hadron Alpha Select Fund, a UCITS compliant fund.

Mr. D'Attanasio also possesses a degree in physics from Pisa University, a PhD in theoretical physics from Parma University, and spent his early career working as both a researcher and a lecturer at well regarded institutions including Universite Paris VI and Southampton University.

Item 3: Disciplinary Information

Mr. D'Attanasio has not been the subject of any material legal or disciplinary events required to be disclosed in this Item.

Item 4: Other Business Activities

Mr. D'Attanasio has no outside business interests.

Item 5: Additional Compensation

Mr. D'Attanasio has no information applicable to this Item.

Item 6: Supervision

Mr. D’Attanasio is accountable to the Hadron Management Board. Hadron reports to the funds’ Boards of Directors on a quarterly basis. Mr. D’Attanasio is also overseen by Jim Nolan, Hadron’s CCO (+44 020 7469 5915) with respect to his compliance with Hadron’s Code of Ethics and other compliance policies.
