Item 4 – Advisory Business

Make Money with Peace of Mind

Our asset management firm helps people preserve and consistently grow their liquid assets. Avoiding large losses is our most important consideration and it is reflected in the way all of our portfolios are designed and managed. We have found that people want to focus on the important things in life and not worry about their finances. The “preservation” and “consistent growth” of a person’s liquid assets with individual attention and objective advice is the core mission of Buffalo Capital Corporation (BCC).

Over time a good investment program will provide returns greater than certificates of deposit, T-Bills and inflation. All of our portfolios have the primary objective of achieving absolute returns. Absolute return means that you don’t lose money in a calendar year regardless of the direction of the markets. There is no guarantee or assurance that one will achieve our goal of a positive return every calendar year.

Portfolio Management is based upon a conservative, market-driven approach to money management that utilizes mutual funds as the primary investment vehicle. Mutual funds provide the most flexible and cost effective access to the best managers in building a multi-manager portfolio. Our management style incorporates a tactical asset allocation component in addition to strategic asset allocation.

Buffalo Capital Corporation, a California corporation, is a registered investment advisor founded in 1981. The majority owner is the Vieth Family Trust. This trust is controlled by Jeffrey Vieth who is the President and Chief Compliance Officer of Buffalo Capital Corporation. Kurt Beimfohr, Senior Vice President of Buffalo Capital Corporation, is a minority owner through the Kurt Beimfohr Trust.

As of December 31, 2014 client assets under management totaled $102,253,529.79. Virtually all of these client assets are managed on a discretionary basis.

Buffalo Capital Corporation provides portfolio management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, corporate pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates and charitable institutions.

In addition to separately managed accounts, Buffalo Capital Corporation provides portfolio management services as a sub-advisor to clients of non-affiliated registered investment advisors.

Buffalo Capital Corporation (BCC) offers investment advisory services for a fee based on assets under management. BCC does not normally bill on an hourly basis, does not charge subscription fees, does not participate in wrap fee programs and does not receive commissions.

Approximately 87% of our fee revenue is for managing investment advisory accounts and providing investment advisory services. Investment advisory services means giving continuous investment advice to a client (making investments for a client) based on the individual needs of the client. Individual needs include, for example, the nature of other client assets and the client's personal and family obligations.

The balance of our fee revenue (approximately 13%) is for managing investment advisory accounts not involving investment advisory services. These accounts are typically clients who are referred to us by outside solicitors or non-affiliated registered investment advisors.

We also manage assets as a sub-advisor to non-affiliated registered investment advisors. In some cases we just provide model portfolios to a non-affiliated registered investment advisor for them to use in the management of their client assets.

Since Buffalo Capital Corporation obtains full discretion from clients to buy and sell mutual funds and other securities within client accounts, clients may not impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

From time to time we will hold certain securities, such as individual stocks, in a client's account at their specific request. We will not liquidate these positions until the client requests that we do so.

We do not normally provide advice on individual stocks or bonds. On an occasional basis, we furnish advice (such as financial planning advice) to clients on matters not involving securities. We do not charge a fee for this advice.

Kensington Analytics LLC (Kensington) is an entity important to Buffalo Capital Corporation's investment strategies. Pursuant to a consulting agreement, Kensington provides information and opinions as to the overall market environment as well as to the future direction of specific market sectors. Kensington Analytics LLC is an independent firm and has no ownership interest in Buffalo Capital Corporation.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Management Fees- Separately Managed Accounts. As compensation for services rendered, the Client agrees to pay Buffalo Capital Corporation (BCC) a management fee. Lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources. The asset-based management fee is determined in accordance with the following schedule:

- High Income Plan, Managed Income Plan and Personalized Investment Plan

Value of accounts		Annual Fee
First	$ 250,000	1.75%
Next	750,000	1.50%
Next	1,000,000	1.25%
Next	1,000,000	1.00%
All amounts over	3,000,000	.75%

The management fee is calculated on the sum of all assets under management for each Client whether the Client has one account or multiple accounts. The fee is computed quarterly and is deemed payable in advance. The fee is payable on the effective date of this agreement prorated to the next billing date. Thereafter, the fee is payable on the first day of each calendar quarter (i.e., January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1). The fee is refundable on a prorata basis upon receipt of written notice from the Client requesting termination of this agreement.

Management Fees- Sub-Advisor. As compensation for sub-advisory service to clients of non-affiliated registered investment advisors (RIA) BCC is paid an annual fee by the client. The fee is negotiable and may vary depending on the strategies and services provided. The fee will be paid quarterly in advance and will be based on a percentage of each non-affiliated RIA client's assets managed by BCC.

Management Fees- Model Portfolios. As compensation for providing model portfolios to a non-affiliated RIA for their use with their clients, we are paid an annual fee by the non-affiliated RIA. The fee is paid quarterly and is based on the total assets of the non-affiliated RIA's clients that utilize the model portfolios.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation (continued)

All mutual funds and variable insurance products charge separate fees (management fees and other operating expenses) as described in their applicable prospectuses. Clients pay their pro-rata share of these fees in addition to those fees charged by Buffalo Capital Corporation.

BCC utilizes “no transaction fee” mutual funds as well as “transaction fee” mutual funds depending on the portfolio strategy. Exchange Traded Funds (ETF’s) are also used. The transaction fees and commissions for these vehicles are charged and retained by the custodian brokerage firm. BCC does not participate in any of these fees or commissions.

For special circumstances, the fee structure and/or billing plan may be negotiated between the applicant and the Client.

The Investment Advisory Agreement will remain in effect until either party receives written notice of termination. The agreement is not assignable by Buffalo Capital Corporation (BCC) without consent of the Client. Should there be a change in control of BCC resulting in an assignment of this Agreement, BCC will notify the Client and BCC/Successor will continue to provide the services previously provided to the Client by BCC. If the Client continues to accept such services provided by BCC/Successor without written objection during the 60 day period subsequent to receipt of the written notice from BCC/Successor, BCC/Successor will assume that the Client has consented to the assignment and BCC/Successor will become the advisor to the Client under the terms and conditions of the Investment Advisory Agreement.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees

Currently there are no clients with a performance fee arrangement and there are no plans at this time to enter into performance fee arrangements with any clients.

In the past, Buffalo Capital Corporation has entered into performance fee arrangements with qualified clients: such fees are subject to individualized negotiation with each such client. Buffalo Capital Corporation will structure any performance or incentive fee arrangement in accordance with the provisions of California Corporations Code Section 260.234.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

Buffalo Capital Corporation provides portfolio management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, corporate pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates and charitable institutions.

In addition to separately managed accounts, Buffalo Capital Corporation provides portfolio management services as a sub-advisor to clients of non-affiliated registered investment advisors.

We also provide model portfolios to non-affiliated registered investment advisors for them to use with their clients.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Avoiding large losses is our most important consideration and it is reflected in the way all of our portfolios are designed and managed.

Portfolio management is based upon a conservative, market-driven approach to money management that utilizes mutual funds as the primary investment vehicle. Mutual funds provide the most flexible and cost effective access to the best managers in building a multi-manager portfolio. Our management style incorporates a tactical asset allocation component in addition to strategic asset allocation.

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor, including the risk that an investor may lose a part or all of his or her investment. Risk refers to the uncertainty that the actual return the investor realizes could differ from the expected return. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Avoiding large losses is our most important consideration and it is reflected in the way all our portfolios are designed and managed.

Buffalo Capital Corporation has three different investment plans that it currently offers. These plans are: High Income Plan (HIP), Managed Income Plan (MIP) and Personalized Investment Plan (PIP). Detailed information on each plan can be found on the following pages.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss (Continued)

HIGH INCOME PLAN (HIP) A BOND MARKET MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

Client Risk Profile:

Very Conservative

Suitability:

For intermediate to long-term investors who seek to avoid loss during every calendar year and outperform the Barclays Aggregate Bond Index, while maintaining 100% liquidity at all times.

Portfolio Objective:

To avoid large losses and provide a positive total return during all calendar years as well as the opportunity for current cash distributions, if desired, by emphasizing fixed income (bonds) with little to no exposure to equities (stocks). This portfolio should experience a low level of downside principal volatility.

Management Style:

Market-driven defensive

Investment Vehicles:

High Income Plan portfolios utilize high yield bond and money market mutual funds. In normal market environments, high yield bond funds typically provide dividend income that is appreciably higher than T-Bills and CD's. Money market mutual funds are considered cash equivalents and accrue dividend income on a daily basis.

Investment Strategy:

Buffalo Capital's High Income decision model is designed to signal changes in the direction of high yield bond prices. Historically, long-term trends in the economic cycle (expansion, recession and recovery) have had a greater influence on high yield bond fund performance than short-term changes in interest rates. This reduction in short-term volatility allows for easier identification of major trends in the high yield bond market as compared to other sectors.

Portfolio Management Process:

When our decision model generates a "buy" signal, we move assets from money market funds to high yield bond funds, allowing our clients to benefit from high dividends and participate in potential capital gains due to rising high yield bond prices. When our decision model generates a "sell" signal, we sell the high yield bond funds and move assets into money market funds in order to preserve capital and profit while awaiting the next buying opportunity in the high yield bond market. Not all trades will be profitable. Occasionally "buy" signals are followed by "sell" signals which result in a loss.

MANAGED INCOME PLAN (MIP)
A BOND MARKET MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

Client Risk Profile:

Conservative

Suitability:

For intermediate to long-term investors who seek to avoid loss during every calendar year and outperform the Barclays Aggregate Bond Index, while maintaining 100% liquidity at all times.

Portfolio Objective:

To avoid large losses and provide a positive total return during all calendar years as well as the opportunity for current cash distributions, if desired, by emphasizing fixed income (bonds) with little exposure to equities (stocks). This portfolio should experience a relatively low level of downside principal volatility.

Management Style:

Market-driven defensive

Investment Vehicles:

Managed Income Plan portfolios utilize mutual funds and/or exchange traded funds (ETFs) that invest in high yield bonds, floating rate bank loans, municipal bonds, convertible bonds, government bonds and money market instruments.

Investment Strategy:

Buffalo Capital's High Income decision model is used to signal changes in the direction of high yielding securities. These securities are more sensitive to credit quality than changes in interest rates. High yielding securities tend to move in the same direction as the current economic cycle, i.e. expansion, recession and recovery.

Portfolio Management Process:

When our decision model generates a "buy" signal, we purchase funds that invest in high yielding securities, normally high yield bonds, allowing our clients to benefit from high dividends and participate in potential capital gains due to rising prices. When our decision model generates a "sell" signal, we sell the high yielding funds and move assets into U.S. Government bond funds or money market funds. Not all trades will be profitable. Occasionally "buy" signals are followed by "sell" signals which result in a loss.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss (Continued)

PERSONALIZED INVESTMENT PLAN A DIVERSIFIED STOCK & BOND MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

Client Risk Profile:

Tailored to each client's personal risk profile ranging from very conservative to aggressive.

Suitability:

For long-term investors who seek to outperform U.S. Treasury Bills and Certificates of Deposit (CD's), and increase their wealth at a rate greater than inflation without taking undue risk and maintaining 100% liquidity at all times.

Plan Objective:

To provide a total return as measured by current income and growth of capital through diversification and risk management that is consistent with the client's specific objectives.

Management Style:

Market-driven defensive

Investment Vehicles:

Personalized Investment Plan portfolios utilize stock, bond and money market mutual funds. Stock or equity mutual funds enable investors to be "owners" of corporations. Bond or fixed income mutual funds enable investors to be "lenders" to corporations and the U.S. Government. Generally, stocks provide growth in a portfolio and bonds generate income. Some of the stock funds used have a higher beta or more volatility than the stock market. Some of the stock funds used are designed to increase in value when stock prices decline. Money market mutual funds are considered a cash equivalent and accrue dividend income on a daily basis.

Investment Strategy:

Buffalo Capital's Personalized Investment Plan portfolios are tailored to meet each individual client's personal objectives and risk profile. Our more aggressive portfolios will allocate more capital to equity (stock) assets, while our more conservative portfolios will be skewed towards fixed income (bond) assets. The utilization of a balanced approach with wide diversification across asset classes and sectors reduces overall portfolio volatility and risk.

Additionally, these portfolios have the flexibility to invest a percentage of the portfolio's assets tactically, utilizing our High Income Plan decision model to move assets between money market and high yielding mutual funds. Not all trades will be profitable. Occasionally these models generate "buy" signals that are followed by "sell" signals which result in a loss.

PERSONALIZED INVESTMENT PLAN

Portfolio Management Process:

Our portfolio management process is based upon a conservative, market-driven approach that utilizes mutual funds as the primary investment vehicle. Mutual funds provide the most flexible and cost effective access to the best money managers in constructing a multi-manager portfolio. Our management style combines strategic asset allocation with a tactical asset allocation overlay.

Step One: Objective Setting

We seek to obtain a clear understanding of your investment goals based on your expectations and time horizon as well as your ability and willingness to assume risk in order to establish an appropriate portfolio strategy consistent with your investment objectives.

Step Two: Asset Allocation

Our asset allocation process begins with our assessment of the impact of various factors such as economic indicators, monetary policy and political developments on the financial markets. We then implement a portfolio strategy that is consistent with your goals and objectives by deploying assets across equity (stocks), fixed income (bonds) and cash asset classes.

Step 3: Sector Allocation

Sector selection adds further diversification to the portfolio matrix by allocating across a variety of sectors which may or may not include large, mid or small cap, value or growth equity funds, as well as U.S. Government or corporate fixed income funds. Each portfolio consists of a “core position” which trades a few times per year, in addition to a “tactical position” which trades frequently.

Step 4: Mutual Fund Selection

While we primarily select funds with a demonstrated track record of consistently superior returns, it is critical to look beyond historical performance and understand the unique characteristics of each fund. We routinely conduct internal research and meet face-to-face with fund providers to ensure we have a thorough understanding of manager philosophy and fund investment style.

Step 5: Portfolio Review Process

The portfolio review process consists of the daily monitoring of the stock and bond markets and based on our decision models, the increase, reduction or hedging of the client’s equity and/or fixed income assets consistent with our defensive management style. In addition, sector allocations are changed based upon our forward-looking assessment of investment risks and opportunities within the current economic cycle.

Four typical Personalized Investment Plan portfolios and client risk profiles are as follows:

High Income Portfolio

Client Risk Profile – Very Conservative

A portfolio designed to avoid large losses and provide a positive total return during all calendar years, as well as the opportunity for current cash distributions, if desired, by emphasizing fixed income (bonds) with little to no exposure to equities (stocks). Pursuit of this objective should result in a low level of downside principal volatility.

Managed Income Portfolio

Client Risk Profile – Conservative

A portfolio designed to avoid large losses and provide a positive total return during all calendar years, as well as the opportunity for current cash distributions, if desired, by emphasizing fixed income (bonds) with little to no exposure to equities (stocks). Pursuit of this objective should result in a relatively low level of downside principal volatility.

Capital Preservation Portfolio

Client Risk Profile – Conservative

A portfolio designed to provide a positive total return, the potential for capital appreciation and the opportunity for current cash distribution, if desired, by emphasizing fixed income (bonds) over equities (stocks). Pursuit of this objective should experience a relatively low level of downside principal volatility.

Growth & Income Portfolio

Client Risk Profile - Moderate

A portfolio designed to provide long term growth of capital with limited current cash distributions, by balancing fixed income (bonds) and equities (stocks). Pursuit of this objective will experience downside principal volatility.

Capital Appreciation

Client Risk Profile – Aggressive

A portfolio designed to provide long term growth of capital with no current cash distribution by balancing equities (stocks) and fixed income (bonds). Pursuit of this objective will experience downside principal volatility.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisors are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of Buffalo Capital Corporation or the integrity of Buffalo Capital Corporation's management.

The firm and its employees have not been involved in legal or disciplinary events related to past or present investment clients.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Buffalo Capital Corporation (BCC) offers investment advisory services for a fee based on assets under management. BCC does not normally bill on an hourly basis, does not charge subscription fees, does not participate in wrap fee programs and does not receive commissions.

The officers and employees of Buffalo Capital Corporation purchase and sell mutual funds that are also recommended to clients.

These transactions are generally made at the same time and price as for clients based on BCC's decision models, but the officers and employees of Buffalo Capital Corporation reserve the right to effect transactions independent of its decision models. In addition, officers and employees of BCC may purchase mutual funds, individual equities, ETF's, individual bonds, options and commodity futures that are not recommended to clients.

Jeffrey Vieth, President of Buffalo Capital Corporation, has held a State of California Life and Health Insurance license since 1972. Mr. Vieth receives commissions from various insurance companies and agencies for insurance products purchased by individuals. These individuals on a rare occasion may also be clients of Buffalo Capital Corporation. These insurance products are neither securities nor investment products and are unrelated to the business activities of Buffalo Capital Corporation. As a general practice, Mr. Vieth does not recommend insurance products to BCC clients.

Mr. Vieth is also President and owner of The Vieth Company, DBA Swiss Reserve Corporation of America, a California Corporation, which provides contract office services to individuals and small companies.

Mr. Vieth spends more than 95% of his time committed to business activities on the business of Buffalo Capital Corporation.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

Employees of Buffalo Capital Corporation shall not divulge or discuss privileged information regarding its clients with anyone other than the client's solicitor, the custodian of the client's assets if applicable or a fellow employee.

Employees of Buffalo Capital Corporation shall not take or have the ability to take possession of client assets.

Employees of Buffalo Capital Corporation shall answer all inquiries from clients and solicitors in a timely and courteous manner.

Employees of Buffalo Capital Corporation shall follow all rules of the Investment Advisor Act and the rules and regulations of the various states in which we do business.

The officers and employees of Buffalo Capital Corporation purchase and sell mutual funds that are also recommended to clients. These transactions are generally made at the same time and price as for clients based on BCC's decision models, but the officers and employees of Buffalo Capital Corporation reserve the right to effect transactions independent of its decision models. Since mutual funds are normally priced once each day at the close of the markets, we do not believe these transactions create any conflicts of interest.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Buffalo Capital Corporation (BCC) recommends custodian brokerage firms where mutual funds can be traded for a nominal transaction fee and in some cases no transaction fee. BCC also recommends custodian brokerage firms where stocks, bonds, options and exchange traded funds (ETF's) can be traded with good execution and competitive commissions. BCC does not share in any of these transaction fees or commissions. The discount custodian brokerage firms provide to BCC, at no cost, software which enables BCC to monitor client accounts efficiently and periodic newsletters dealing with compliance issues. BCC does not receive referrals from third party custodians (discount brokerage firms).

BCC primarily recommends mutual funds. Since mutual funds are normally priced once each day at the close of the markets, all clients receive the same price. Therefore, it is neither possible nor necessary to aggregate orders to purchase and sell mutual funds.

When BCC trades ETF's block trades are utilized so that all clients obtain the same price.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Buffalo Capital Corporation manages portfolios through a continuous review process (tactical allocation) plus a regular periodic review process (strategic allocation). These reviews are conducted by an officer of Buffalo Capital Corporation. Currently that is either Jeffrey Vieth (President) or Kurt Beimfohr (Senior Vice President).

The continuous review process consists of the daily monitoring of the stock and bond markets, our analysis of the economic climate and the signals provided by our tactical decision models. Reviews may result in the increase, reduction or hedging of the clients' equity and/or fixed income assets consistent with our defensive management style.

All accounts are reviewed on a timely basis to verify the accuracy of individual account transactions at the time a transaction is made. These reviews are made by administrative personnel under the direct supervision of an officer of Buffalo Capital Corporation.

Buffalo Capital Corporation sends quarterly update letters to its clients along with quarterly reports and invoices in January, April, July and October. Custodian brokerage firms provide a gain/loss summary (Form 1099) for tax purposes for taxable accounts.

The brokerage firm and/or mutual fund will provide a confirmation directly to the client following each transaction and a monthly and/or quarterly statement which summarizes all activity in the account.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Applicant directly compensates Solicitors for Client referrals by paying them an amount up to fifty percent of the management fees received by applicant. Client receives a copy of a "Solicitors Agreement" disclosing this compensation and Client signs an agreement that he has received and understands this disclosure document. Under this arrangement, the Client is not paying a higher management fee to Buffalo Capital Corporation than would be the case if there is not a solicitor.

Item 15 – Custody

All client accounts are maintained at independent third party custodians (brokerage firms or insurance companies). Buffalo Capital Corporation will not have access to the Client's funds except that with the Client's written authorization, Buffalo Capital Corporation will liquidate management fees and service fees directly from the Client's account. The account registration is and shall remain in the name the Client elects. Client may have multiple accounts, e.g., a joint tenants account plus an IRA account plus a trust account, all controlled by same Client.

The Client agrees that Buffalo Capital Corporation will have full discretion to transfer monies from fund to fund within the account without prior notification. Buffalo Capital Corporation will exercise its best judgment in making these transfers.

All accounts are 100% liquid. Upon a Client's request, Buffalo Capital Corporation will have the custodian send a check payable to the Client for all or part of Client's investment.

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the custodian brokerage firm, insurance company, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. Buffalo Capital Corporation urges you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that we may provide to you. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Buffalo Capital Corporation (BCC) usually receives discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account.

When selecting securities and determining amounts, Buffalo Capital Corporation observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to Buffalo Capital Corporation in writing.

BCC determines which stock or bond mutual fund and which money market fund the Client's money will be invested in. BCC will have full discretion to transfer monies from fund to fund within the family of mutual funds, within the brokerage account or within the variable insurance policy without prior notification. BCC will exercise its best judgment in making these transfers.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, Buffalo Capital Corporation does not have any authority to and does not vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in client portfolios.

The Client understands that Buffalo Capital Corporation does not, and will not, vote proxies on securities owned by the Client. Proxy statements are mailed directly to the Client by the custodian so that the Client may or may not vote according to the Client's desire.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisors are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about Buffalo Capital Corporation's financial condition.

Buffalo Capital Corporation has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
