Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

Recommendation of a Broker Custodian

We generally recommend Charles Schwab and Company, Inc. of San Francisco, California. Schwab is a member of the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) and Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC).

In recommending this broker, we have evaluated them and have determined they offer our clients an excellent blend of service, financial strength, competitive commission rates, access to mutual funds otherwise not available to us or our clients, among other factors. We participate in back office and support programs sponsored by Schwab. The programs and services provided, including trading platforms that are essential to our service arrangements and capabilities. We generally do not accept clients who direct us to use other broker custodians. As part of our participation in these programs, we receive benefits that we would not receive if we did not offer investment advice. Not all advisors require a client to direct the use of specific and recommended brokers.

Schwab also makes available to QFSI other products and services that benefit QFSI but may not benefit its clients' accounts. Some of these other products and services assist QFSI in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technologies that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements) facilitate trade execution, provide research, pricing information and other market data. In addition, Schwab may make available, arrange and/or pay for these types of services rendered to QFSI rendered by third parties.

Even though we recommend specific broker custodians, you should evaluate each broker to ensure that the broker selected will provide the best blend of service and cost.
