ITEM 2: MATERIAL CHANGES

Registered Investment Advisers are required to report updates in the business and service information contained in their firms' Form ADV 1 and ADV 2 Brochures according to the following schedule: 1) Promptly throughout the year when changes occur and; 2) No less than annually, within 90 days of the Adviser's fiscal year end.

This Form ADV 2A Brochure represents the October 2015 amendment prepared by Pointe Capital Management, LLC ("Pointe Capital Management"). This Brochure was filed with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") on October 22, 2015. The following data was updated in this amendment:

- The ADV 2A cover page was amended to remove the New York City office address information since that office address is utilized to meet with clients and prospective clients but is not a permanent office location.
- Item 4 has been updated to reflect the addition of a new registrant, Kenneth M. Solak, Director of Business Development.
- Item 4 has also been updated to reflect that Pointe Capital Management leases conference rooms in an office building at 250 Park Avenue, New York, NY to meet with clients and prospective clients.
- Items 5 and 14 have been updated to remove a policy. In the past, Pointe Capital Management suggested it would consider reducing investment management fees for clients who provided word-of-mouth referrals over time. Such an event was an extremely rare occurrence and the policy no longer exists since a discounted fee results in indirect compensation and a conflict of interest in connection with such clients.
- Item 5.A(1) was amended to reflect the Adviser's annual management fee for Master Limited Partnerships (MLPs) as a stand-alone strategy for institutional clients. This annual fee is 0.75%.

The staff of Pointe Capital Management enjoys hearing from our clients. If you have questions or would like additional information about our services, please do not hesitate to contact us at (313) 882-7100, or via email to paul@pointecapital.com.

Thank you.

The Adviser has no affiliated entities.

Pointe Capital Management is headquartered in Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan. The Adviser also leases conference rooms in an office building at 250 Park Avenue, New York, NY, (212) 572-6401, to meet with clients and prospective clients.

Charles Huebner, Paul Huebner and Jeffrey Huebner, CFA® are Managing Members of Pointe Capital Management and hold equal ownership. Paul Huebner also holds the position of Chief Compliance Officer. At this writing, Pointe Capital Management has 7 investment managers and an 8th registrant who is the Director of Business Development.

B. TYPES OF ADVISORY SERVICES

Pointe Capital Management, LLC, ("Pointe Capital Management", "PCM" or the "Adviser"), is a fee only Registered Investment Adviser. The term "fee only" means that Pointe Capital Management and its Advisory Representatives will not accept commissions in connection with securities or insurance recommendations. Pointe Capital Management is only compensated for advisory services via a percentage of assets under management; hourly fees and via annual fees depending upon the services requested and scope of the engagement.

"Advisory Representatives" are those persons authorized by the firm to deliver financial and investment advisory services. Advisory Representatives of Pointe Capital Management are not registered representatives of any broker/dealer and the Representatives are not insurance agents.

The Adviser is not a broker/dealer or custodial firm. Any transactions in securities will be executed by an unaffiliated broker/dealer firm of clients' choosing. Investment accounts will be held by the client's selected custodian.

Pointe Capital Management may offer a complimentary general consultation to discuss services available, to give a prospective client time to review services desired, and to determine the possibility of a potential client-Adviser relationship. Services begin only after the Adviser's Form ADV 2 is delivered and the client and Adviser formalize the relationship with a properly executed Client Agreement.

After the formal engagement and depending upon the scope of the engagement, the Adviser and client will share in a data gathering and discovery process in an effort to determine the client's needs, goals, intentions, time horizons, risk tolerance and investment objectives, based upon information provided by the client and the nature of services requested. The client and Adviser may complete a risk assessment, investment policy statement or similar document, depending upon the nature of services to be provided.

Pointe Capital Management offers Investment Management Services and Consultation Services.

1. Investment Management Services are ongoing in nature, focus solely on portfolio management as described below. Pointe Capital Management's investment advisory services are generally limited to the discretionary and/or non-discretionary management of investment portfolios in accordance with the investment objective(s) of the client. The Adviser does not provide financial planning services. However, the Adviser may provide consulting services on investment-related matters for which the Adviser may or may not receive additional compensation, as further described herein.

2. Consultation Services are dependent upon the nature and scope of services to be provided. Consultation Services are either hourly or based upon an annual fee as described on page 9. The services and fees are agreed upon at the time of engagement.

Investment Management Services involve ongoing and continuous portfolio management. Pointe Capital Management focuses on providing individualized services that are tailored to meet the stated needs and objectives of the client. In the delivery of initial and ongoing services and based upon the client's level of participation, the Adviser will normally include a comprehensive review of the overall aspects of a client's current financial situation and consider both long and short-term objectives and goals, or as directed by the client. Thus, a certain degree of the Adviser's services will often touch on general financial planning issues that may be of a concern to the client. Pointe Capital Management places a focus is on liquidity, diversification, risk control and cash flow through the use of multiple publicly available investments.

Clients engaging the Adviser for Investment Management Services must play an active role. The Adviser requests the client to participate in the financial and investment review; the development of an investment policy or similar document, if applicable; the development of the investment plan to be followed; as well as participation in reviews and the ongoing advice and recommendations.

Investment Management Services generally begin with an initial data-gathering interview in an effort to determine the client's stated individual needs, goals, time horizons and risk tolerance. Pointe Capital Management utilizes the information provided by the client to prepare recommendations for investments, which may include planning for long-range goals (i.e., retirement planning or college funding) or other segments of an investment plan that may be desired. After an analysis and data-gathering process and depending upon the nature of services desired, the Adviser may prepare reviews, analysis, asset allocation recommendations, and may recommend specific investments.

Pointe Capital Management can tailor services to focus only on certain portfolio components or the Adviser can provide comprehensive portfolio management services, depending upon the client's wishes and/or the nature of the engagement.

The Adviser welcomes the opportunity to provide individualized services. However, where investment management services or information are limited, clients must understand that comprehensive investment needs and or objectives may not be fully considered due to the client's option not to receive limited services, the lack of information received, and/or client disclosure.

Depending on the nature of services to be provided, Pointe Capital Management generally develops and utilizes an asset allocation profile that is consistent with the client's desired rate of return, time horizon and risk tolerance based upon the client's input. The Adviser can both design and implement portfolio recommendations. Where an existing portfolio has been designed by the client or another party, Pointe Capital Management can provide recommendations for re-design, adjustments or re-balancing.

Once the portfolio has been implemented or transferred for services, Pointe Capital Management can provide continuous monitoring, recommendations and investment advice as outlined in the engagement for services. The ongoing Investment Management Services is then based upon the investment strategy or policy agreed upon between Pointe Capital Management and the client. In providing ongoing Investment Management Services, the Adviser will manage investor funds in accordance with an investment plan as selected by the client and the Adviser will remain available for ongoing advice and recommendations. The Adviser will monitor the portfolio in accordance with the directives provided. Investment Management Services are continuous in nature and therefore are ongoing until terminated by either party.

Unless otherwise directed by the client, Pointe Capital Management will generally seek to allocate a client's assets among various investments, taking into consideration the client's strategic portfolio framework developed with clients. The Adviser attempts to construct a diversified portfolio of investment recommendations that are within its realm of expertise. In each case, the stated individual needs, goals and desires of clients are taken into consideration.

Pointe Capital Management primarily allocates its client's investment management assets, on a discretionary and/or non-discretionary basis among mutual funds, exchange traded funds (ETFs), Master Limited Partnerships (MLPs), closed-end funds, individual debt and equity securities, separately managed accounts, and/or options in accordance with the investment objectives of the client. The Adviser may also consider other types of investments or may remain available to consult with clients on U.S. government securities, municipal bonds and other fixed-income securities, or existing holdings in variable products, commercial paper, options (securities), warrants, and various other types of investments. The Adviser may also provide advice about real estate investment trusts (REITs), and any type of investment held in a client's portfolio at the beginning of the advisory relationship.

The Adviser may recommend that clients that are "accredited investors" as defined under Rule 501 of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, invest in private placement securities, which may include debt, equity, and/or pooled investment vehicles when consistent with the client's investment objectives. When the Adviser recommends that the client invest in private placement securities, the Adviser shall receive no additional compensation but shall continue to receive applicable investment advisory fees on the client's assets under management.

Pointe Capital Management will generally seek to allocate the client's assets among various investments, taking into consideration the overall management style and portfolio framework selected by the client. The Adviser attempts to construct a diversified portfolio of investment recommendations that are within its realm of expertise. In each case, the stated individual needs, goals and desires of clients are taken into consideration.

Certain clients may desire to place or keep certain assets within their account(s) that are selected by client and are not the subject of investment advice by Adviser. These are "self-directed" assets. The Adviser will have no responsibility to review or in any way manage "self-directed" assets in client accounts and the Adviser accepts no liability to those clients in connection with any loss relating to the "self-directed" assets. The Adviser has/will not pass on the suitability of self-directed assets. Should the Adviser ever agree to assist clients with self-directed implementation it may do so only as a value-added service at the client's request. The Adviser will therefore not manage this facet of the client's portfolio unless specifically agreed in writing.

Services and investment recommendations in connection to assets invested in a corporate retirement plans are limited to those offered within the plan and via the plan's contracted service providers.

Clients engaging investment advisory services are expected to play an active role. The Adviser requires the client to participate in the formation of the investment plan, the development of investment advice and recommendations as well participating and providing input in connection with the ongoing services provided. Clients may call the office during regular business hours to discuss their portfolio or ask questions, but the Adviser recommends that clients initiate a meeting with the Adviser no less than annually. However, clients are obligated to immediately inform the Adviser of any changes in their financial situation to provide the Adviser with the opportunity to review the portfolio to ensure it is still structured to help meet the client's stated needs and objectives.

The Adviser's Investment Management Services are based upon the client's stated individual needs, objectives and directives. In providing ongoing Investment Management Services, Pointe Capital Management will manage investor funds in accordance with an investment policy/strategy or plan as selected by the client and the Adviser will remain available for ongoing advice and recommendations. The Adviser will provide ongoing monitoring of the portfolio in accordance with the directives provided.

If services desired go outside the scope of Investment Management Services, the Adviser may be available to provide Consultation Services. In such cases, the Adviser may request a new or amended Client Agreement and additional fees may apply. The Adviser will not engage in additional services without the client's direction.

Pointe Capital Management is also available to provide Consultation Services on an hourly basis or via an annual engagement. The Adviser can tailor services as desired by the client.

Advice may be provided on general issues relating to investments, portfolios, or other issues of interest to clients. The engagement for services may be focused on a specific issue or may be more comprehensive in nature, as determined at the time of engagement.

Where Consultation Services are not comprehensive in nature and only focus on certain areas of client interests, needs or is otherwise limited, clients must understand that a client's overall financial and investment needs and objectives may not be considered as a result of time and/or service restraints placed on the Adviser's services. The services provided terminate upon delivery unless otherwise agreed in writing.

Consultation Services will not include any portfolio monitoring, reviews, follow-ups, or other services unless specifically agreed to in writing. The advice provided may include recommendations for updates and reviews but it is the client's responsibility to follow-up and secure additional services under a new or amended agreement unless the engagement provides for a project which specifically includes such services.

Implementation of any advice or recommendations pertaining to securities and/or non-securities matters, in whole or in part, is entirely at the client's discretion via the service provider(s) of the client's choice.

When providing Consultation Services in connection with investments within retirement plans, the advice and any recommendations are limited to plan offerings and the service provider(s) selected by the plan providers.

During the course of any advisory services, Pointe Capital Management's Advisory Representatives may suggest the client work closely with the client's attorney, accountant, insurance agent, and the client's custodian. Clients requiring assistance on issues relating to matters outside of investment advisory topics should consult their personal tax adviser, legal counsel, or other professionals for expert opinions.

C. CLIENT TAILORED SERVICES AND CLIENT IMPOSED RESTRICTIONS

Pointe Capital Management focuses on providing individualized services. The Adviser can tailor services to focus only on certain portfolio components, depending upon the client's wishes and/or the nature of the engagement. However, where client services or information are limited, clients must understand that comprehensive financial and/or investment needs and objectives may not be fully considered due to the client's option to receive limited services, the lack of information received, and/or client disclosure.

The Adviser and client will share in a data gathering and discovery process in an effort to determine the client's stated needs, goals, intentions, time horizons, risk tolerance and investment objectives, based upon information provided by the client and depending upon the nature of services requested. The client and Adviser may complete a risk assessment, investment policy statement or similar document, depending upon the nature of services to be provided.

Clients may not impose restrictions in investing in certain securities or types of securities in accordance with their values or beliefs unless otherwise agreed by the Adviser in writing. Clients are welcome to set parameters on the Adviser's limited discretionary authority in writing as to types of investments and amounts purchased or sold.

Where clients retain authority to implement recommendations, they are welcome to do so in whole or in part via the financial services provider(s) of their choice.

Clients may make additions to and withdrawals from their account at any time, subject to the Adviser's right to terminate an account. Clients may withdraw account assets on notice to the Adviser, subject to the usual and customary securities settlement procedures. Pointe Capital Management normally designs its portfolios as long-term investments and assets withdrawals may impair the achievement of a client's investment objectives.

D. WRAP FEE PROGRAMS

Pointe Capital Management does not sponsor and is not contracted to manage a wrap fee program.

E. AMOUNTS OF ASSETS UNDER MANAGEMENT

Pointe Capital Management's fiscal year end assets under management (as of the close of business 12/31/2014) totaled $352,754,240 in 352 accounts. Of this total, $352,313,833 in 350 accounts was managed on a limited discretionary basis and $440,407 in 2 accounts was managed on a non-discretionary basis. Up to 75% of the Adviser's managed assets were owned by clients who meet the definition of high net worth individuals. Up to 25% of the managed assets belonged to non-high net worth individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, charitable organizations and corporations or other businesses.

ITEM 5: FEES, COMPENSATION AND TERMINATION OF SERVICES

A. FEE SCHEDULES

Pointe Capital Management is only compensated for advisory services as follows: A percentage of assets under management and hourly fees or annual fees (which are dependent upon the nature and scope of the engagement).

1. Advisory fees for Investment Management Services are agreed upon at the time of engagement and are based on a number of factors. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, the Adviser's annual Investment Management fees are payable quarterly in advance and based upon the market value of the portfolio, as determined by the client's custodian, on the last market day of each of the preceding quarter.

Pointe Capital Management's annual fee will vary (between 0.75% and 1.00%) depending upon the market value of the assets under management and the type of investment management services to be rendered, as outlined on the following page:

PORTFOLIO VALUEANNUAL FEE

Up to $5,000,000	1.00%
$5,000,001 - $10,000,0000.80%
$10,000,001 - $20,000,000	0.75%
above $20,000,001	Determined at Engagement

The annual management fee for Master Limited Partnerships (MLPs) as a stand-alone strategy for institutional clients is 0.75%.

The Adviser calculates its quarterly fee by multiplying the portfolio balance by $\frac{1}{4}$ of the Adviser's annual fee. Where services are initiated at any time other than the beginning of a calendar quarter, the advisory fee for that quarter will be pro-rated.

The Adviser, in its sole discretion, may agree to modify its management fee (higher or lower) based upon certain criteria (i.e., scope and complexity of services, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, portfolio size, institutional clients, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client, account retention, pro bono activities, etc.). The Adviser may aggregate multiple accounts or the portfolios of family members to take advantage of a lower billing rate based on reaching the next breakpoint.

In the event the Adviser agrees in writing to manage securities that do not have a readily available market value, the Adviser and Client agree to seek at least two independent resources for valuation services.

If assets are deposited into or withdrawn from an account after the inception of a quarter, the fee payable with respect to such assets may be adjusted or prorated based on the number of days remaining in the quarter as set forth in the Client Agreement.

During the engagement, Investment Management fees may be modified in certain circumstances due to significant changes in the scope of the engagement, nature and/or complexity of services. The Adviser reserves the right to modify the management fee with a 30-day written notice such as when the scope of the engagement or complexity of services has changed. Should the client decide not to accept the fee adjustment, the client is welcome to terminate services at any time.

In the event that Investment Management clients desire services outside the scope of the Adviser's engagement, Pointe Capital Management is available to provide additional services at the Adviser's hourly consultation rate as described in Item 2 in this section. The hourly rate would be agreed to at the time of the request for additional services and will be dependent upon the nature and complexity of the services desired. Pointe Capital Management will not engage in services resulting in additional fees without the expressed authorization of the client.

Either party may immediately terminate the agreement for Investment Management Services by written notice to the other. In the event either party terminates the Adviser's Investment Management Services the Adviser shall calculate a pro-rated refund of unearned fees which will be promptly refunded to the client. If termination occurs within five business days of entering into an agreement for such services and the client has not received the Adviser's ADV Part 2 Brochure at least 48 hours prior to engagement, no fees shall be due or the client shall be entitled to a full refund of prepaid fees.

2. Fees for Consultation Services are determined at the time of engagement based upon the time and effort required and/or the nature and complexity of services.

The Adviser's consulting fees are negotiable, but generally range from $300 to $800 on an hourly rate basis, depending upon the level and scope of the services and the professional rendering the consulting services and if the client has engaged the Adviser for any other services (such as investment management). In lieu of an hourly fee, the Adviser may charge either an annual fixed fee retainer, charged quarterly in advance. In such cases, the retainer will be determined at the time of engagement and will depend upon the scope of the engagement, the anticipated time and effort and the complexity and nature of services.

Consultation Services will normally be provided only after the Adviser and the client enter into a written agreement setting forth the terms and conditions of the engagement and describing the scope of the services to be provided and the portion of the fee that is due from the client prior to the Adviser commencing services.

For hourly billing, the Adviser generally requires one-half of the consulting fee payable upon entering the written agreement. The balance is generally due upon completion of the agreed upon services. Either party may terminate the agreement by written notice to the other. In the event the client terminates the Adviser's consultation services the balance of the Adviser's unearned prepaid fees (if any) shall be promptly refunded to the client. If termination occurs within five business days of entering into an agreement for such services and the client has not received the Adviser's ADV Part 2 Brochure at least 48 hours prior to engagement, no fees shall be due or the client shall be entitled to a full refund of prepaid fees.

During the course of an engagement, should the client's condition change during the course of services such that new advice, recommendations, re-evaluation or research are required, additional fees may apply. The Adviser will not engage in additional services that result in fees without the client's approval.

B. PAYMENT OF FEES

1. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, Investment Management fees are payable quarterly in advance. Payment of Investment Management fees may be made directly to the Adviser (via a mailed invoice) or through a debit directly to the client's account by the qualified custodian holding the client's funds and securities. The Adviser follows the criteria required by the SEC's Investment Advisers Act of 1940, when payment is made via a qualified custodian: 1) The client provides written authorization permitting the fees to be paid directly from the client's account held by the independent qualified custodian and the authorization is limited to withdrawing contractually agreed upon Investment Adviser fees; (2) The client will directly receive regular (monthly or quarterly) reports from the qualified custodian which reflect the Adviser's fee deduction; (3) The frequency of fee withdrawal shall be specified in the written authorization/agreement; (4) The custodian of the account shall be advised in writing of the limitation on the Adviser's access to the account and; (5) The client shall be able to terminate the written billing authorization or agreement at any time.

It is important to note that custodial firms do not verify advisory fees. Clients should review their custodial statements carefully. If a client should have any questions or concerns in connection with advisory fee deductions, they should promptly contact Pointe Capital Management. If at any time during the engagement, the client fails to receive the custodial account statements directly, it is important to promptly notify Pointe Capital Management and the custodial firm(s).

If the designated account(s) do not contain sufficient funds to pay advisory fees, the client can leave standing orders to deduct fees via other accounts. In the absence of alternate instructions, the Adviser will issue an invoice for advisory fees to the client and payment is expected with 10 days of the invoice date or as may otherwise be agreed in writing.

2. Consultation fees are invoiced directly. Pointe Capital Management may require a retainer equal to ½ the proposed project fee in order to schedule services. In these cases, the project balance is due upon the delivery of services. Where a fixed fee is agreed upon for services of a longer term, the fee is invoiced quarterly in advance of services.

C. CLIENTS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR FEES ASSOCIATED WITH INVESTING

Clients are responsible for the payment of all third party fees associated with investing. Clients may pay transaction and brokerage commission to their broker/dealer or other service providers ("Financial Institution[s]") as well as any fees associated with their particular accounts (e.g., account opening, maintenance, transfer, termination, wire transfer, retirement plan, trust fees, and all such applicable third party fees, deferred sales charges, oddlot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. All fees paid to the Adviser for advisory services are separate from the fees and expenses charged to shareholders of ETF's or mutual fund shares offered by mutual fund companies. If a mutual fund previously purchased by or selected by a client should impose a sales charge, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. Pointe Capital Management does not receive any portion of these investment-related fees. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to the Adviser's fees. A complete explanation of the expenses charged by a mutual fund or ETF is contained in the respective mutual fund prospectus. Clients are encouraged to read each prospectus and securities offering documents.

Portfolio additions may be in cash or securities provided that the Adviser reserves the right to liquidate any transferred securities, or decline to accept particular securities into a client's account. The Adviser may consult with its clients about the options and ramifications of transferring securities. However, clients are hereby advised that when transferred securities are liquidated, they are subject to transaction fees, fees assessed at the mutual fund level (i.e. contingent deferred sales charge) and/or tax ramifications. Pointe Capital Management does not receive any portion of these fees.

D. PREPAYMENT OF FEES

Pointe Capital Management collects fees quarterly and in advance in connection with Investment Management Services.

The Adviser may require a pre-paid retainer for Consultation Services as described on the prior page. Alternatively, an agreed upon annual fixed fee will be invoiced quarterly and in advance of services.

As previously noted in the service sections of this Brochure, clients who do not receive the Adviser's Form ADV Part 2 Brochure at least 48 hours prior to engagement have the right to terminate the Adviser's services within 5 business days of signature without penalty (no fees due or prepaid fees will be promptly refunded). Alternatively: Investment Management services may be immediately terminated upon receipt of written notice by either party. If the termination occurs prior to the end of a billing period, the Adviser will only charge for services provided up until the effective date of termination. The Adviser reserves the right to liquidate the portfolio upon termination, unless specific instructions are provided.

Consultation Services terminate upon the delivery of services unless ongoing services are engaged pursuant to the Client Agreement. These services otherwise may be immediately terminated prior to the conclusion of services upon written notice from either party and the client will only be invoiced for time incurred by the Adviser up until the effective date of termination or prepaid but unearned fees will be promptly refunded.

E. OTHER COMPENSATION FOR THE SALE OF SECURITIES OR OTHER INVESTMENT PRODUCTS TO CLIENTS

Pointe Capital Management is a fee-only Registered Investment Adviser. Neither the Adviser nor its supervised persons accept any compensation/commission for the recommendation of securities or non-securities products including asset-based sales charges or service fees from the sale of mutual funds.

ITEM 6: PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

Pointe Capital Management's investment advisory fees are not "performance based". Therefore, the Adviser does not engage in side-by-side management services.

ITEM 7: TYPES OF CLIENTS AND MINIMUM CONDITIONS

Pointe Capital Management is available to provide consulting and investment management services to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, institutional clients, corporations and business entities.

Pointe Capital Management desires a minimum relationship size of $5 million for clients seeking Investment Management Services. At the Adviser's discretion, the minimum relationship size may be waived where special circumstances exist. Examples of special circumstances include, but are not limited to: Prospective clients who have the ability to meet the minimum within a reasonable time period; where future portfolio assets may be transferred to meet the minimum; pre-existing relationships and family members of advisory personnel.

The Adviser reserves the right to decline to provide investment advisory services to any person or entity in its sole discretion and for any reason.

If an account is subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended, (“ERISA”), the Adviser acknowledges that Adviser is a fiduciary within the meaning of the Act and the ERISA Client is a named fiduciary with respect to the control or management of the assets in the Account. In each instance, the Client will agree to obtain and maintain a bond satisfying the requirements of Section 412 of ERISA and to include the Adviser and the Adviser’s principals, agents, and employees under those insured under that bond and will deliver to the Adviser a copy of the governing plan documents. If the Account assets for which the Adviser provides services represent only a portion of the assets of an employee benefit plan, Client will remain responsible for determining an appropriate overall diversification policy for the assets of such plan.

ITEM 8: METHOD OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

A. METHODS OF ANALYSIS AND INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

The Adviser believes each client presents a unique set of goals, values, interests, objectives, time horizons and challenges. Pointe Capital Management provides individualized attention to each type of investor who engages the Adviser for services.

Based upon information provided by the client, the Adviser attempts to evaluate an investor’s risk tolerance, time horizon, goals and objectives through an interview and data-gathering process in an effort to determine an investment plan or portfolio to best fit the investor’s profile. Client participation and the client’s delivery of accurate and complete information are critical to the Adviser’s process. During the data-gathering process and in performing its services, the Adviser shall not be required to verify any information received from the client or from the client’s other professionals (e.g., attorney, accountant, etc.) and is expressly authorized to rely on such information.

The Adviser may recommend the services of itself, its Advisory Representatives in their individual capacities as investment managers, and other professionals to implement its recommendations. Clients are advised that a conflict of interest exists if the Adviser recommends its own services. Any professional referrals (i.e., insurance agents/firms, accounting professionals, legal professionals, etc.) are solely a courtesy and the Adviser receives no direct or indirect compensation in return for referrals. The client is under no obligation to act upon any of the recommendations made by the Adviser and/or engage the services of any such recommended professional, including the Adviser itself. The client retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any of the Adviser’s recommendations.

Pointe Capital Management provides individualized Investment Management Services to its clients. The Adviser can provide advisory services for portfolios ranging from conservative to aggressive, each designed to meet the varying needs of and within the direction set forth by the investors. The Adviser selects the portfolio best suited to their individual stated needs after clients have defined their objectives, risk tolerance and time horizons and the client approves the selection. Clients must promptly notify the Pointe Capital Management if there are ever any changes in their financial situation or investment objectives or if they wish to impose any reasonable restrictions upon the Adviser's management services.

The Adviser may utilize one or more of the following methods of analysis. However, the Pointe Capital Management takes the position that no single strategy can be relied upon to outperform the market. As outlined in this section, the Adviser's goal in its analysis is not to time the market.

1. Fundamental Analysis involves the analysis of financial statements, the general financial health of companies, and/or the analysis of management or competitive advantages. Fundamental analysis is about using real data to evaluate a security's value. Although most analysts use fundamental analysis to value stocks, this method of valuation can be used for just about any type of security. For example, an investor can perform fundamental analysis on a bond's value by looking at economic factors, such as interest rates and the overall state of the economy, and information about the bond issuer, such as potential changes in credit ratings. For assessing stocks, this method uses revenues, earnings, future growth, return on equity, profit margins and other data to determine a company's underlying value and potential for future growth. In terms of stocks, fundamental analysis focuses on the financial statements of the company being evaluated. Fundamental Analysis does not provide a trade signal; It simply provides implied information to an analyst about whether the company may be worth purchasing at the given price.

Very broadly described, this type of analysis involves a method of evaluating a security that entails attempting to measure its intrinsic value by examining related economic, financial and other qualitative and quantitative factors. Fundamental analysts attempt to study everything that can affect the security's value, including macroeconomic factors (like the overall economy and industry conditions) and company-specific factors (like financial condition and management). The end goal of performing fundamental analysis is to produce a value that an investor can compare with the security's current price, with the aim of determining what sort of position to take with that security (underpriced = buy, overpriced = sell or short). This method of security analysis is considered to be the opposite of technical analysis.

Fundamental analysis is performed on historical and present data, but with the goal of making financial forecasts. There are several possible objectives:

- ❖ to conduct a company stock valuation and predict its probable price evolution,
- ❖ to make a projection on its business performance,
- ❖ to evaluate its management and make internal business decisions,
- ❖ to calculate its credit risk.

Fundamental analysis is not without its drawbacks and problems. For one, this method can be tedious and time consuming. Once a trend in the fundamentals of the company is established, normally, the future growth will be extrapolated using that trend. The extrapolation is a subjective exercise and should be cautiously assessed. As an example, the trend may still be up but the market may already be saturated and thus there is a higher chance of the trend flattening rather than continuing upward. Extrapolation may not always work and may result in a wrong call. In addition, fundamental analysis involves a time delay as the financial data the analyst is reviewing is always from the previous year or previous quarter. Even if a fundamentally strong company at the right price is identified, it does not mean that the company's shares are going to move anytime soon. Therefore, some holdings may need to be held for quite some time.

The stock's position in the market is also driven by investor sentiment, which can sometimes swing in extremes. As a result, stock prices of companies can reach extremely overvalued levels or extremely undervalued levels. When the share price becomes overvalued, a fundamental analyst will stay out or they will exit too early. As the share price reaches extremely overvalued levels, the fundamental analyst might miss out the biggest gain in the share price. This type of analyst may also buy when the price drops within a value range and yet the stock price could head lower still well into oversold regions before recovering.

As with any data produced by a third party, there is always the possibility that the company's data has been manipulated. Enron is a good example. It does happen and it can be very difficult to detect. Thus, an analyst is limited by the information that is published.

- 2. Technical Analysis is a method of evaluating securities by analyzing the statistics generated by market activity, such as past prices and volume. There are multiple technical analysis methods that can be employed. Generally speaking, technical analysts do not attempt to measure a security's intrinsic value, but instead use charts and other tools to identify patterns that can suggest future activity.

The field of technical analysis is based on three assumptions:

1. The market discounts everything.
2. Price moves in trends.
3. History tends to repeat itself.

This type of analysis can be broadly described as a method of evaluating securities by analyzing statistics generated by market activity, such as past prices and volume. Technical analysts do not attempt to measure a security's intrinsic value, but instead use charts and other tools to identify patterns that can suggest future activity. It is a discipline for forecasting the direction of prices through the study of past market data, primarily price and volume. Technical analysts lean towards the belief that the historical performance of stocks and markets are likely indications of future performance. Simply put, technical analysis deals with reading stock charts and this process is broadly described as a method of evaluating securities by analyzing statistics generated by market activity, such as past prices and volume. Technical analysts do not attempt to measure a security's intrinsic value, but instead use charts and other tools to identify patterns that can suggest future activity. It is a discipline for forecasting the direction of prices through the study of past market data, primarily price and volume. Technical analysts lean towards the belief that the historical performance of stocks and markets are likely indications of future performance.

Technical Analysis can be difficult, as analysts need to learn various indicators and patterns and understand how they relate to investor sentiment and behavior. Analysts also have to devise methods of how these issues may impact stock price. Like other analysis methods, technical analysis is not 100% percent accurate or reliable. Relative success depends on the analyst, the analysis tools and the stock or market itself. Often there can be contradicting results which may result in a situation where no trade can be made. An example of this exists when the overall market is heading in one direction and the particular share price is pointing to the opposite direction.

The interpretation of technical indicators is subjective. The same indicator could be interpreted as bullish by one side of the camp and as bearish by the other side of the technical camp. The subjective aspect of technical analysis gives way to another drawback of technical analysis which is the validation of a biased view. The analyst may have already formed a view based on the state the economy is currently or the situation of the market and sector the company is operating in. An example of this is gold "bugs" who are entrenched in the idea that gold may perform in a certain way. This is obviously not a wise use of technical analysis but human nature as it is, it can happen.

3. Cyclical Analysis is a method that generally looks at cycles that can impact that market, depending upon the type of securities. This analysis method takes into consideration that there are cyclical and noncyclical securities.

Cyclical stocks are stocks that follow the general economic environment and are fairly easy to identify. The automotive industry is a prime example of a cyclical sector. Cyclical stocks do well in times of economic prosperity and generally suffer greater during times of economic recession or hardship. Conversely, health care stocks are an excellent example of non-cyclical stocks as there will always be a need for health care, regardless of the economic situation. These stocks typically have consistent profits, rather than spikes.

Historically, the difference between cyclical and noncyclical stocks has been cash flow. The cash flow of cyclical stocks is affected by the movement of the economy in general. A major category of cyclical stocks is retail consumer products. When the market swings up, cyclical stocks make big upward swings and when it swings down, they move way down. Their movement is widely followed as indicators of the overall health of the economy. However, some cyclical companies attempt to alleviate the impact of cyclical changes by diversifying their product line, expanding to overseas markets and segmenting a cyclical division out to its own stock symbol. Additionally, technology has minimized the impact of cyclical organizations.

Noncyclical stocks are less affected by a downturn in the economy. Referred to as "defensive industries," they are the types of goods that are purchased regardless of the economy. These may include food, insurance and drugs. Analysts attempt to use their knowledge about the cyclical nature of certain industries to predict revenues, interpret earnings reports and make judgments about the overall financial health of a company.

Generally speaking, the stock prices of cyclical companies tend to increase when analysts predict positive news about the future of the economy. If investors feel the market is moving up, cyclical stocks may offer growth opportunities. If they feel the market is moving down, noncyclical stocks may provide stability.

Given the up-and-down nature of the economy and, consequently, that of cyclical stocks, successful cyclical investing requires careful timing. Investors can also lose substantial amounts if they buy at the wrong point in the cycle. Cyclical stocks tend to respond more violently than growth stocks to economic changes. They can suffer mammoth losses during severe recessions and can have a hard time surviving until the next boom. Predicting an upswing can be difficult, especially since many cyclical stocks start doing well many months before the economy comes out of a recession. When things do start to change for the better, dramatic swings from losses to profits can often bring profits but there is never any guarantee. Pointe Capital Management invests for the long-term and does not necessarily attempt to time the market.

4. Other. Pointe Capital Management's investment strategies may be based upon a number of concepts and determined by the type of investor. Services are customized for each individual client.

The basis for Pointe Capital Management's investment recommendations is the Nobel Prize winning investment strategy called "Modern Portfolio Theory ("MPT"). MPT is a sophisticated investment decision approach that permits an investor to classify, estimate and control both the kind and the amount of expected risk and return. Fundamental to MPT is the ability to statistically quantify the relationship between risk and return, thus determining the extent of compensated risk.

MPT states that the risk for individual stock returns has two components:

1) Systematic Risk - These are market risks that cannot be diversified away. Interest rates, recessions and wars are examples of systematic risks. 2) Unsystematic Risk - also known as "specific risk", this risk is specific to individual stocks and can this risk can be "diversified away" as one increases the number of stocks within a managed portfolio. This also represents the component of a stock's return that is not with general market moves. For a well-diversified portfolio, the risk - or average deviation from the mean - of each stock contributes little to portfolio risk. Instead, it is the difference (or co-variance) between an individual stock's levels of risk that determines overall portfolio risk. As a result, investors benefit from holding diversified portfolios instead of individual stocks.

MPT does have its short-comings. It often requires investors to rethink notions of risk. Sometimes it demands that the investor take on a perceived risky investment in order to reduce overall risk. That can be uncomfortable to certain investors who are not familiar with the benefits of sophisticated portfolio management techniques. Furthermore, MPT assumes that it is possible to select stocks whose individual performance is independent of other investments in the portfolio. However, market historians have shown that there are no such instruments; in times of market stress, seemingly independent investments do, in fact, act as though they are related. The basic premise of MPT is that the market is hard to beat and investors who beat the market are those who take above-average risk. MPT is just that – a theory.

Pointe Capital Management believes that risk reduction is a key element to long-term investment success therefore Pointe Capital Management implements plans by using strategic diversified asset allocation. Strategic Asset Allocation is a lifetime investment approach, wherein selected asset classes and the weightings of these asset classes focus on the overall investment objective and risk tolerance of the client. The concept of asset allocation or spreading investments among a number of asset classes (domestic equities v. foreign equities; large cap stocks v. small cap stocks; growth stocks v. value stocks; municipal bonds v. corporate bonds v. government bonds) is Pointe Capital Management's guiding strategy.

Negative asset class correlation (the measure of the degree of movement between investments) of the varying asset classes within the portfolio is carefully analyzed to help reduce volatility without sacrificing the effectiveness of the portfolio in an effort to achieve expected yields.

Strategic Asset Allocation in a range (% of total assets) is a relatively passive investment style, wherein the assets and weightings are set and are carefully monitored to maintain risk control. This strategy places a great emphasis on minimizing portfolio turnover and trading/transaction costs.

MLP Strategies: Pointe Capital Management utilizes a long-only, separately managed account structure dedicated to its Master Limited Partnership (MLP) strategy. An MLP is an entity structure of limited partnerships and limited liability companies, with publicly traded partnership interests. The underlying business interests of the MLPs primarily operate in industries related to energy infrastructure. The Adviser's MLP investment strategy involves the application of a fundamentally based five-step research process, valuation and macro/sector analysis and seeks to achieve long-term growth. The Adviser takes the position that the distribution growth of MLPs creates a natural hedge against inflation. As discussed in the section addressing fundamental analysis, no strategy is without its drawbacks and limitations. Additional information regarding MLPs is found in the Item 8.C of this Brochure.

Recommendations for or purchases of investments will be based on publicly available reports and analysis. In the case of mutual funds, recommendations will be based on reports and analysis of performance and managers, and certain computerized models for asset allocation and investment timing. Tactical asset allocation (market timing, stock selection and track record investment) is discouraged.

Portfolio holdings or recommendations are generally judged by (managers' or investments') experience, track record and performance of like-kind investments. The Adviser will actively manage each portfolio. Investors should generally expect to remain fully invested within the ranges of their selected asset allocation plan at all times unless restated by the client. However, at times the Adviser will not find attractively prices investments and may hold cash until it deems appropriate. The Adviser generally looks to the long-term when developing advice and its recommendations are based upon information provided by the client.

It is important that the client promptly notifies the Adviser of any change in the client's financial condition so the Adviser has the opportunity to assess any possible changes needed in the advice, recommendations or investment strategies. Changing conditions in the client's financial life or significant changes in market conditions may warrant a collaborative effort with the client to modify their strategic investment framework, which consequently may also trigger changes to investment holdings within the portfolio.

Pointe Capital Management attempts to be conscious and sensitive to tax-related investment considerations. However, Pointe Capital Management is not a tax professional. Clients are encouraged to seek the guidance of their tax professional in an effort to understand how their investments (proposed or implemented) will affect their overall tax situation.

It is important to understand that investing in securities involves a risk of loss that a client should be prepared to bear.

B. MATERIAL RISKS INVOLVED

Please review the aforementioned section (A) which discusses the strategies utilized and their drawbacks and limitations. Pointe Capital Management takes the general position that investors with diverse portfolios have a better chance of making a profit because it is difficult to accurately predict all variables that affect marketable securities. It is important to understand that no single strategy can be relied upon to outperform the market.

As outlined below, Pointe Capital Management's goal in its analysis is not to time the market. The Adviser may utilize long-term trading; short-term trading; short sales; margin transactions; options writing strategies (including covered options, uncovered options or spreading strategies).

Pointe Capital Management seeks to utilize investment strategies that are designed to capture equity, fixed income and cash. Frequent trading, when done, can affect investment performance, particularly through increased brokerage and other transaction costs and taxes. Short sales, margin transactions and options writing generally hold greater risk and clients should be aware that there is a chance of material risk of loss using any of those strategies.

As previously noted, clients may make additions to and withdrawals from the account at any time, subject to the Adviser's right to terminate an account. Clients may withdraw account assets on notice to the Adviser, subject to the usual and customary securities settlement procedures. The Adviser generally designs its client portfolios as long-term investments and assets withdrawals may impair the achievement of a client's investment objectives. Additions may be in cash, cash equivalents and securities provided that the Adviser reserves the right to liquidate any transferred securities, or decline to accept particular securities into a client's account. The Adviser may consult with its clients about the options and ramifications of transferring securities when provided pre-notification of the client's intentions. In such cases, clients are advised that when transferred securities are liquidated, they are subject to transaction fees, fees assessed at the mutual fund level (i.e., contingent deferred sales charge) and/or tax ramifications.

Clients may choose to make self-directed securities transactions, which are investments that are not reviewed and/or not recommended by the Adviser. In such cases, the Adviser has not passed on the suitability of said investments and while the Adviser may assist with client-directed implementation as a value-added service at the client's request, the Adviser will not manage these types of investments unless agreed in writing.

It is important to understand that investing in securities involves a risk of loss that a client should be prepared to bear.

C. RISKS OF SPECIFIC SECURITIES UTILIZED

Pointe Capital Management generally seeks investment strategies that do not involve significant risk or unusual risk beyond that of the general domestic and / or international equity and bond markets.

Investments in individual stocks and even mutual funds can be risky. Some risks can be controlled and some risks can be guarded against but no investment strategy can carry guarantees from loss. Certain market risks cannot be controlled, such as market or economic conditions. Certain strategies may be employed to adjust portfolios or the Adviser and client may agree to hold the portfolio's course. Thoughtful investment selections that meet a client's stated goals and risk profile may help keep individual stock and bond risks at an acceptable level.

Fixed income investments generally are utilized as a portfolio diversification element as well as for income deriving investments outside of equity exposure. There are certain risks involved in investing in all types of bonds: Government, Municipal, and Corporate. The following is an overview of the types of risks that one should consider in terms of bond investments:

Interest rate risk; reinvestment risk; inflation risk; mark risk, selection risk, timing risk, and price risk. Additional risks for some government agency, corporate and municipal bonds may include: Legislative risk (a change in the tax code could affect the value of taxable or tax-exempt interest income); Call risk (some corporate, municipal and agency bonds have a "call provision" entitling their issuers to redeem them at a specified price on a date prior to maturity. Declining interest rates may accelerate the redemption of a callable bond, causing an investor's principal to be returned sooner than expected. In that scenario, investors have to reinvest the principal at the lower interest rates. Additional risks for corporate and municipal bonds may include: Credit risk; default risk; event risk and duration risk.

As noted in Item 8.A, Pointe Capital Management utilizes a long-only, separately managed account structure dedicated to its Master Limited Partnership (MLP) strategy. The underlying business interests of the MLPs primarily operate in industries related to energy infrastructure. Therefore, the portion of an investment portfolio utilizing this particular strategy would involve concentrated holdings in the energy infrastructure sector. Portfolios that concentrate in a particular sector or particular type of security could experience greater volatility than portfolios that invest in a broader range of investments or securities. MLPs trade on an exchange on days the exchange is open. Certain securities may experience limited trading volume as a result of market capitalization size, number of shares floated by the company, or other macro or micro circumstances. Where limited trading volume exists, the ability to acquire or dispose of a particular security may be limited and could result in a unfavorable impact on the prevailing market price. MLPs and Energy Infrastructure companies are subject to unique risk in the marketplace and these include but are not limited to: Commodity price risk; acquisition risk; depletion of natural gas and/or oil reserve; adverse weather conditions; interest rate risk; terrorist attack and changes in the tax and/or regulatory environment.

On occasion, the Adviser may recommend that clients that are “accredited investors” as defined under Rule 501 of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, invest in private placement securities, which may include debt, equity, and/or pooled investment vehicles when consistent with the client’s investment objectives. When the Adviser recommends that the client invest in private placement securities, the Adviser shall receive no additional compensation but shall continue to receive applicable investment advisory fees on the client’s assets under management.

For investors, securities purchased through a private placement typically fall into the realm of alternative assets - investments that often have a low correlation to public markets and offer essential diversification to portfolios dominated by traditional stocks and bonds. It is important to note that investments in private placements carry a high degree of risk for various reasons. Securities sold through private placements are not publicly traded and, therefore, are less liquid. Additionally, investors may receive restricted stock that may be subject to holding period requirements. Companies seeking private placement investments tend to be in earlier stages of development and have not yet been fully tested in the public marketplace. As disclosed in the offering document(s), an offering may present risks that are unique to the investment, including risks related to the operation of the business. Investing in private placements requires high risk tolerance, low liquidity concerns, and long-term commitments. Investors must be able to afford to lose their entire investment. For those reasons, these offerings are generally available only to certain institutional investors and high net worth individuals and entities.

Clients are hereby advised to read each offering document carefully before investing. Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns. Investing in securities involves A risk of loss that all clients should be prepared to bear.

ITEM 12: BROKERAGE PRACTICES

A. FACTORS USED TO SELECT CUSTODIANS AND/OR BROKER/DEALERS

Pointe Capital Management is a fee-only investment advisory firm. The Adviser recommends the services of Pershing, LLC ("Pershing") and participates in the custodial firms' institutional program for independent advisers, Pershing Adviser Solutions, LLC.

Factors which the Adviser considers in recommending Pershing or any other broker-dealer, to clients include their respective financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, research, and service (to the client and the Adviser).

Pershing has been in the business for nearly 70 years and has execution capabilities in over 65 exchanges throughout the world. As the largest provider of services, Pershing also provides professional and comprehensive support services to various financial services firms, including independent investment advisers. Pershing enables the Adviser to obtain many mutual funds without transaction charges and other securities at nominal transaction charges. The commissions and/or transaction fees charged by Pershing may be higher or lower than those charged by other broker-dealers.

If the client requests the Adviser to arrange for the execution of securities brokerage transactions for the client's account, the Adviser shall direct such transactions through broker-dealers that the Adviser reasonably believes will provide best execution. Transactions may be cleared through other broker-dealers with whom the Adviser and the Financial Institution(s) have entered into agreements for prime brokerage clearing services. The brokerage commissions and/or transaction fees charged by Pershing or any other designated broker-dealer are exclusive of and in addition to the Adviser's fee.

The Adviser shall periodically and systematically review its policies and procedures regarding recommending broker-dealers to its client in light of its duty to obtain best execution. The Adviser's Chief Compliance Officer, Paul Huebner, remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the Adviser's brokerage arrangements and any corresponding perceived conflict of interest such arrangement may create.

The commissions paid by the Adviser's clients shall comply with the Adviser's duty to obtain "best execution." However, a client may pay a commission that is higher than another qualified broker-dealer might charge to effect the same transaction where the Adviser determines, in good faith, that the commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer's services, including among others, the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Consistent with the foregoing, while the Adviser will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client transactions.

1. RESEARCH AND OTHER SOFT DOLLAR BENEFITS

Pointe Capital Management receives general research, discounts on products and various back-office support services in connection with client securities transactions from Pershing, LLC, ("Pershing"), the Adviser's recommended custodial firm. These benefits are known as "soft dollar" benefits.

Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (15 U.S.C. § 78bb (e)), establishes a safe harbor for money managers who use client funds to purchase brokerage and research services for their managed accounts. Under Section 28(e), a money manager is protected from liability for a breach of fiduciary duty solely on the basis of having paid more than the lowest commission rate for "brokerage and research services provided by a broker-dealer," the manager determines in good faith that the amount of the commission is reasonable in relation to the value of such services.

Pointe Capital Management participates in Pershing's institutional program for independent Registered Investment Advisers. While there is no direct linkage between the investment advice given and the participation in a custodial firm's institutional program, economic benefits are received by the Adviser which would not be otherwise, if the Adviser did not give advice to clients.

In fulfilling its duties to its clients, Pointe Capital Management endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the Adviser's receipt of economic benefits from a broker-dealer/custodian creates a conflict of interest since these benefits may influence the Adviser's choice of broker-dealer over another broker-dealer that does not furnish similar fee benefits, software access/discounts, systems support, back office administrative support or other services.

Services received that benefit clients include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions and custody of client assets. The investment products available through Pershing include some which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum investment by our clients. Pershing's services described in this paragraph generally benefit you and your account.

Services that may not directly benefit clients are those products and services that Pershing makes available to the Adviser but may not directly benefit our clients or their accounts. These products and services assist the Adviser in managing and administering our clients' accounts and include investment research (both the broker/dealers' and that of third parties). We may use this research to service all or some substantial number of our clients' accounts, including those maintained away from the broker/dealer providing the research. In addition to research, these service providers also make available software and other technology that provides access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements); facilitates trade execution and allocation of orders for multiple accounts; provides pricing and other market data, facilitates payment of advisory fees from client accounts and assists with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting.

Services that generally benefit only the Adviser are those other benefits intended to help the Adviser manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services include educational conferences and events as well as technology. Services include access to general compliance, legal and business consulting as well as publications and conferences on practice management and business succession. The service provider may also offer access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants and insurance providers. Service providers may provide these services themselves and in other cases, they will arrange for third-party vendors to provide services to the Adviser. Pershing may also discount or waive fees for some services or pay all or a portion of a third-party's fees. Pershing may also provide us with other benefits such as occasional business entertainment of our personnel.

2. BROKERAGE FOR CLIENT REFERRALS

Pointe Capital Management does not engage in referral arrangements with broker/dealers or other third parties in exchange for using a broker/dealer or third party.

3. CLIENTS DIRECTING USE OF BROKER / DEALER / CUSTODIAN

Consultation clients are welcome to utilize any service provider they may choose and are welcome to implement any advice or recommendations in whole or in part.

As outlined in Item 1 of this section, the client may direct the Adviser in writing to use a particular broker-dealer to execute some or all transactions for the client. In that case, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with that broker-dealer, and the Adviser will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to "batch" client transactions for execution through other broker/dealers with orders for other accounts managed by the Adviser (as described below). As a result, the client may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case. If the Adviser agrees to the arrangement, Pointe Capital Management will continue to use the client's preferred service provider until the client directs otherwise in writing. Subject to its duty of best execution, the Adviser may decline a client's request to direct brokerage if, in the Adviser's sole discretion, such directed brokerage arrangements would result in additional operational difficulties.

B. AGGREGATION (BLOCK) TRADING FOR MULTIPLE CLIENT ACCOUNTS

Transactions for each client generally will be effected independently, unless the Adviser decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. The Adviser may (but is not obligated to) combine or "batch" such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among the Adviser's clients differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Due to the individualized nature of services, however, large orders of securities are not always consistent with the nature of the Adviser's services. Aggregation is undertaken in firms processing large orders of large orders of securities in order to realize more effective trade execution and the cost efficiencies that come from executing larger order sizes. In each case, the Adviser strives to allocate investment opportunities or trades among its clients in a manner that is fair and equitable and based upon the client investment objectives.

Normally, under this procedure, when allocations are undertaken, transactions will generally be averaged as to price and allocated according to the Adviser's standard allocation procedure. This procedure considers the circumstances of each trade and always strives for fairness and cost-effectiveness to the client. In most cases when the Adviser executes only a partial fill of a targeted buy order, allocations will prioritize complete fills for clients with the most available cash as a percentage of portfolio assets. Likewise, when the Adviser executes only a partial fill of a targeted sell order, allocations will prioritize complete fills for clients with the least available cash as a percent of portfolio assets. To the extent that the Adviser determines to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which the Adviser's Advisory Representatives may invest, the Adviser shall normally do so in accordance with applicable rules promulgated under the SEC's Investment Advisers Act and no-action guidance provided by the staff of the SEC. An allocation statement will be prepared and any special circumstances or conditions will be outlined in connection with each event.

Certain issues may impact the Adviser's allocation under the particular circumstances and in such cases, the allocation will be made based upon other relevant factors, which may include: (i) when only a small percentage of the order is executed, shares may be allocated to the account with the smallest order or the smallest position or to an account that is out of line with respect to security or sector weightings relative to other portfolios, with similar mandates; (ii) allocations may be given to one account when one account has limitations in its investment guidelines which prohibit it from purchasing other securities which are expected to produce similar investment results and can be purchased by other accounts; (iii) if an account reaches an investment guideline limit and cannot participate in an allocation, shares may be reallocated to other accounts (this may be due to unforeseen changes in an account's assets after an order is placed); (iv) in cases where a small proportion of an order is executed in all accounts, shares may be allocated to one or more accounts on a random basis. The Adviser receives no additional benefit as a result of the proposed aggregation.

The Adviser may utilize the custodian's prime broker program whereby the custodial firm may effect clients' over-the-counter securities transactions on an agency basis. Typically, the service providers execute transactions based upon a number of factors.

These factors include: Size of order, trading characteristics of the security, favorable execution prices, access to reliable data, availability of efficient transaction processing and possible price reductions. In filling these orders, the service provider may transact with a market-making broker-dealer ("market maker") on the other side of the trade. A market maker may mark-up/down the price of securities for which it makes a market, which is a cost that will be incurred by the client in addition to any agency commissions assessed by the client's service provider. Normally, best price and execution is obtained for over-the-counter securities transactions by executing directly with the market maker on a principal basis. Therefore, in some cases, clients may incur transaction costs, in addition to any commissions charged by their services provider, when trades in over-the-counter securities are effected on their behalf through that broker on an agency basis. The Adviser's choice to utilize the service provider's prime broker program or similarly termed service available through the selected service provider may limit or eliminate the Adviser's ability to obtain best price and execution in each case. In certain cases, a security may be purchased through another service provider and in such cases, the security purchased is then transferred to the client account at the client's selected custodian, and a "trade away" delivery fee is assessed to the client account.

Broker custody of client assets may limit or eliminate the Adviser's ability to obtain best price and execution of transactions in over-the counter securities.

In connection with Master Limited Partnerships (MLPs), the Adviser's employee-related accounts in the MLP Strategy do not receive Initial Public Offering (IPO) allocations as the Adviser does not generally receive a full allocation for these types of IPOs. Employee-related accounts would buy these MLP investments once they were publicly traded in the secondary market.

Trade error policy: The Adviser seeks to conduct trading in a precise manner. On rare occasions, trade errors may occur. In such cases, the Adviser will act promptly to ensure the error is corrected promptly and where applicable, the client is made whole. The Adviser's process is to correct trade errors via its trade error accounts established with its preferred custodial firms. Pershing's policy on trade errors is to reimburse clients for any loss if the amount is $100 or less. If the loss is greater than $100 the Adviser will reimburse the client for a loss. Conversely, if there is any gain from the trade error, Pershing posts the gain to the Adviser's account in accordance with their current internal policy and these funds are retained to cover future trading errors.

ITEM 13: REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

A. FREQUENCY AND NATURE OF PERIODIC REVIEWS

The Investment Management Services provided by Pointe Capital Management are ongoing and involve continuous review and advice regarding the client's investment portfolio. The Adviser will conduct frequent internal reviews (no less than quarterly) of the client's portfolio. The timing of Internal portfolio reviews may also be guided by the underlying assets of the portfolio, individual circumstances as reasonably known by the Adviser, market conditions and the request of the client.

The Adviser requires that client reviews (via phone or in person) occur at least annually and, of course, at the client's request. However, Pointe Capital Management encourages frequent communications with the Adviser in order to continually review the client's situation and ongoing investment strategies. Clients are encouraged to call the office any time during business hours. Clients are obligated to notify the Adviser immediately if there is a change in the client's financial situation or if a change in the investment plan / strategy is desired in order to provide the Adviser with the opportunity to review the updated information and determine if there needs to be a change in the investment strategies.

Clients who do not desire intensive Investment Management Services may retain Pointe Capital Management on an hourly or project basis for Consultation Services, whereby the Adviser can provide financial or investment advice without ongoing monitoring or reviews of the account (unless otherwise outlined in the Client Agreement as may be the case with annual, ongoing services). Consultation Services terminate upon the delivery of services unless the Client Agreement provides for ongoing services. Advice provided during services may include recommendations for reviews or other follow-up services. It is then the client's responsibility to update his or her financial goals or investment strategies on his/her own or secure additional services from the Adviser under a new or amended Agreement.

B. REVIEWERS

Reviews are conducted by the Adviser's investment management personnel:

- Charles Huebner, Managing Member;
- Jeffrey Huebner, CFA®, Managing Member
- Paul Huebner, Managing Member and Chief Compliance Officer
- James Carroll, CFA®
- Daniel Willard, CFA®
- Jessica Willis, CFP®, CPWA®
- Elizabeth Ottaway, CFP®

C. FACTORS THAT MAY TRIGGER NON-PERIODIC REVIEWS

The timing of Internal portfolio reviews may also be guided by the underlying assets of the portfolio, individual circumstances as reasonably known by the Adviser, market conditions and the request of the client. Reviews may also be triggered by material market, economic or political events and as noted in Item B above, by reported changes in the client's financial situation (which may include but are not limited to: Termination of employment, physical relocation, inheritance or retirement).

D. CONTENT AND FREQUENCY OF REGULAR REPORTS

Clients can expect to receive normal confirmation statements from all transactions and a monthly/quarterly statement, directly from their custodial firm. The custodian's quarterly reports detail account value, net change, portfolio holdings, and all account activity. The Adviser may prepare additional portfolio data or post meeting communications at the Adviser's discretion. It is important that clients receive account statements directly from their custodial firm(s). Should a client find that custodial statements are not being received, the client must promptly communicate this issue to their custodial firm and Pointe Capital Management.

ITEM 14: CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

A. ECONOMIC BENEFITS PROVIDED BY THIRD PARTIES FOR ADVICE RENDERED TO CLIENTS (INCLUDES SALES AWARDS OR OTHER PRIZES)

Pointe Capital Management is a fee-only investment advisory firm and does not accept commissions or fees in connection with securities and/or insurance product sales. Therefore, the Adviser and its Advisory Representatives do not accept economic benefits in the form of sales awards, prizes or other compensation tied to “sales”, either directly or indirectly from any third party.

B. COMPENSATION TO NON-ADVISORY PERSONNEL FOR REFERRALS

On occasion, Pointe Capital Management may engage in a written agreement to compensate an unaffiliated party (such as an investment adviser or other professional) for client referrals. In many cases, the referring investment adviser may continue to act as the referred client’s primary investment adviser.

Each referring party will execute Pointe Capital Management’s Solicitor Agreement. At the time of each referral, the referring party is responsible for ensuring prompt delivery of certain disclosure materials to each referred investor. These disclosures include: Pointe Capital Management’s Form ADV 2, written disclosure materials, which detail the fees associated with referral services, and any other documentation required by securities rules and regulations.

Pointe Capital Management retains the right to decline advisory services to any referred investor and for any reason. In some cases, the services offered by the Adviser may not be a good match based on what is known about the referred investor or the investor may wish to engage in trading strategies that are not offered by the Adviser.

In the past, Pointe Capital Management had suggested at Item 5 this Brochure that it would consider reducing investment management fees for clients who provided word-of-mouth referrals over time. Such an event was an extremely rare occurrence and the policy no longer exists since a discounted fee results in indirect compensation and a conflict of interest in connection with such clients.

ITEM 15: CUSTODY

Pointe Capital Management does not take custody of client accounts (funds or securities) but does have access to deduct contractually agreed upon advisory fees and place trades, with appropriate client authorization. Client accounts are custodied at Pershing, Member FINRA, NYSE, SIPC, or the client’s selected custodial firm.

Clients can expect to receive regular and customary account statements from the custodian and should carefully review those statements. If clients find that statements are not being received directly, they must promptly contact Pointe Capital Management and their custodial firm.

In all cases, clients have a direct and beneficial interest in their securities (individual ownership), rather than an undivided interest in a pool of securities. Execution of transactions and custody of client funds and securities are services provided by the client's selected brokerage/custodial services provider(s).

The Adviser's access to client accounts is limited to directing transactions (where discretionary authority has been granted to the Adviser) or to directing transactions with the client's expressed authorization. Additionally, the Adviser will have access to coordinate the deduction of contractually agreed upon advisory fees via the client's custodian, where client authorization has been granted. In each instance where fee deduction occurs, it is important that clients receive custodial statements directly.

ITEM 16: INVESTMENT DISCRETION

Clients engaging the Adviser for Investment Management Services have the ability to leave standing instructions with the Adviser to refrain from investing in particular industries, invest in limited amounts of securities and to re-balance portfolios (also termed as "limited discretion").

With the client's authorization as provided in the custodial account forms and the Adviser's Client Agreement, Pointe Capital Management will maintain limited discretionary trading authority to execute securities transactions in the investor's portfolio within investor's designated investment objectives, to include the securities to be bought and sold, and the amount of securities to be bought and sold. The Adviser will never have full power of attorney nor will the Adviser ever have authority to withdraw funds or to take custody of investor funds or securities other than the ability to deduct advisory fees via the qualified custodian and only with the client's authorization.

The Adviser also may render non-discretionary investment management services to its clients relative to: (1) variable life/annuity products that they may own, and/or (2) their individual accounts held through employer-sponsored retirement plans. In so doing, the Adviser either directs or recommends the allocation of client assets among the various mutual fund subdivisions that comprise the variable life/annuity product or the retirement plan. The client assets shall be maintained at either the specific insurance company that issued the variable life/annuity product which is owned by the client, or at the custodian designated by the sponsor of the client's retirement plan. Investments and service providers relative to Plan offerings are limited to only those available through the respective Plans and are determined by the Plan Sponsor(s).

ITEM 17: VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Clients retain the authority to vote proxies and should ensure that proxy materials are mailed directly to them or their authorized third party. Normally, custodial account forms allow clients to provide directions relating to proxies. The Adviser will not take action with respect to any securities or other investments that become the subject of any legal proceedings, including bankruptcies.

While Pointe Capital Management does not vote proxies for clients, it is available to assist clients with questions and concerns relating to proxies. The Adviser does not engage in proxy-related discussions with non-clients and does not solicit proxies.

In the event Pointe Capital Management's advice is solicited by its clients, the Adviser shall abide by the following conditions:

- Pointe Capital Management will disclose any significant relationship with the issuer, its affiliates or a security holder proponent of the matter on which proxy voting advice is given, as well as any material interest of our Adviser in the matter.
- The Adviser will not accept any form of special consideration from any person, other than the security holder recipient thereof, in exchange for furnishing voting advice, and;
- Voting advice will not be furnished on behalf of any person soliciting proxies, or on behalf of a participant in an election contest subject to SEC Rule 14a-11.
- The Adviser shall not communicate with the press concerning a proxy.
- Pointe Capital Management does not solicit proxies.

Deviations from these policies will result in a prompt amendment of this Brochure and may require Pointe Capital Management to comply with SEC Proxy Registration Rules.

ITEM 18: FINANCIAL INFORMATION

A. BALANCE SHEET

Pointe Capital Management is not required to include a business balance sheet with this Brochure. The Adviser does not require nor solicit prepayment of more than $1200 in fees per client and six months or more in advance of services. Pointe Capital Management does not maintain custody of client funds or securities but has only limited access to managed accounts as necessary to engage in trading and to deduct contractually agreed upon quarterly investment management fees. Such access is only permitted with the appropriate client authorization.

B. FINANCIAL CONDITIONS REASONABLY LIKELY TO IMPAIR THE ADVISER'S ABILITY TO MEET CONTRACTUAL COMMITMENTS TO CLIENTS

Pointe Capital Management does not have any financial conditions that are likely to reasonably impair the Adviser's ability to meet contractual commitments to clients.

C. BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS IN PREVIOUS TEN YEARS

Pointe Capital Management has never been party to a bankruptcy.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: PRIVACY POLICY

As a federally regulated Registered Investment Adviser, Pointe Capital Management is covered under the definition of a "financial institution" in the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (the "Act"). The Adviser is therefore subject to Act as well as the rules of privacy imposed on Investment Advisors by the United States Securities and Exchange Commission's ("SEC") Privacy Rule ("Regulation S-P").

Privacy of nonpublic personal information is an issue that the staff of Pointe Capital Management takes seriously.

To maintain compliance with Regulation S-P and the Act, every broker, dealer, investment company and investment adviser is required to adopt policies and procedures reasonably designed to safeguard customer records and information.

In its role as an Investment Adviser, Pointe Capital Management routinely collects nonpublic personal information from clients and prospective clients. This information generally will include but is not limited to:

- Information provided from applications, forms and other information provided to us either verbally or in writing, and include but are not limited to your name, address, phone number, account information, social security number, assets, employment, income and debt;
- Information about your transactions, accounts, trading activity and parties to transactions; health and beneficiary information (such as may pertain to planning issues);
- Information from other outside sources;
- Any other data that is deemed to be nonpublic personal information as defined by the Act and the SEC's Privacy Rule.

Pointe Capital Management values our clients' trust and confidence. We will never sell the nonpublic personal information we obtain from consumers or clients.

All information provided by clients or prospective clients to Pointe Capital Management, (including the Adviser's personnel), and information and advice furnished by the Adviser to clients, shall be treated as confidential and shall not be disclosed to unaffiliated third parties, except as directed by clients with written authorization, by application to facilitate the investment advisory services offered by the Adviser via an unaffiliated financial services provider (such as the client's custodial firm), or as required by any rule, regulation or law to which the Adviser or its staff may be subject.

Pointe Capital Management maintains clients records in a controlled environment and records (electronic and otherwise) are only available to authorized persons of the Adviser who have a need to access client information in order to deliver advisory services, provide administrative support, or to respond to client requests. The Adviser has made reasonable efforts to help ensure that its electronic network is hack-proof and conducts periodic tests to check security.

Pointe Capital Management's position on protecting non-public personal information extends beyond the life of the Advisory Agreement. Client information is retained in a protected manner for the time period required by regulators (five years from the data of last use) and thereafter is safely destroyed via in-house shredding or a contracted secure shredding service.

Consumers (non-clients) who provide data during an initial consultation or for other purposes but do not go on to become clients of the Adviser also receive privacy protection. Original information is promptly returned in person or via the mail, if the Adviser's services are not engaged. Alternatively, if nonpublic personal information is contained in copies of documents, notes or some other media, this information will be securely filed for a period of up to one year (depending upon likelihood of engagement) before being shredded in-house or via our secure shredding service.

Clients are encouraged to discuss any questions regarding Pointe Capital Management's privacy policies and procedures.
