Item 4 – Advisory Business

Vista (formed in January 2001) is a fee-only investment advisor based in Portland, Oregon. We specialize in investment and wealth management for clients with more than $2,000,000 million to invest. Vista strives for investment success through a disciplined repeatable investment philosophy that utilizes index funds to maximize long-term returns by minimizing costs and taxes. We focus on true sources of returns, not on stock-picking or market-timing, by structuring portfolios to benefit from smarter combinations of asset classes.

We advise clients on other important areas of their financial lives, including retirement planning, concentrated positions, college savings plans and charitable giving. As each client's financial "quarterback", we work closely with their advisors in the areas of insurance, estate planning and taxes to develop a comprehensive wealth management plan to meet their goals.

Vista prepares a custom Investment Policy Statement for each client based on their particular situation and manages their money according to this Statement. Clients may always impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

As of 12/31/2015, Vista managed $920,040,172 discretionary assets.

Michael J. O'Reilly and Douglas E. Johanson are the principal owners of Vista, each owning 32.5% of the firm. Dougal T. Williams owns 18% of the firm, John Convery owns 8% of the firm, and Lindsey W. Williams, Robert D. Greenman, and Douglas L. Post each own 3% of the firm.

MISCELLANEOUS

Planning and Non-Investment Consulting/Implementation Services. To the extent specifically requested by the client, Vista will generally provide consulting services regarding non-investment related matters, such as estate planning, tax planning, insurance, etc. Neither Vista, nor any of its representatives, serves as an attorney, accountant, or insurance agent, and no portion of Vista's services should be construed as same. To the extent requested by a client, Vista may recommend the services of other professionals for certain non-investment implementation purposes (i.e. attorneys, accountants, insurance, etc.). The client is under no obligation to engage the services of any such recommended professional. The client retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any recommendation from Vista. Please Note: If the client engages any such recommended professional, and a dispute arises thereafter relative to such engagement, the client agrees to seek recourse exclusively from and against the engaged professional. Please Also Note: It remains the client's responsibility to promptly notify Vista if there is ever any change in his/her/its financial situation or investment objectives for the purpose of reviewing/evaluating/revising Vista's previous recommendations.

PLEASE NOTE: RETIREMENT ROLLOVERS-No Obligation/Conflict of Interest: A client leaving an employer typically has four options (and may engage in a combination of these options): i) leave the money in his former employer's plan, if permitted, ii) roll over the assets to his new employer's plan, if one is available and rollovers are permitted, iii) rollover to an IRA, or iv) cash out the account value (which could, depending upon the client's age, result in adverse tax consequences). Vista may recommend an investor roll over plan assets to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) managed by Vista. As a result, Vista and its representatives may earn an asset-based fee (see Please Note below). In contrast, a recommendation that a client or prospective client leave his or her plan assets with his or her old employer or roll the assets to a plan sponsored by a new employer will generally result in no compensation to Vista (unless you engage Vista to monitor and/or manage the account while maintained at your employer). Vista has an economic incentive to encourage an investor to roll plan assets into an IRA that Vista will manage or to engage Vista to monitor and/or manage the account while maintained at your employer. There are various factors that Vista may consider before recommending a rollover, including but not limited to: i) the investment options available in the plan versus the investment options available in an IRA, ii) fees and expenses in the plan versus the fees and expenses in an IRA, iii) the services and responsiveness of the plan's investment professionals versus Vista, iv) protection of assets from creditors and legal judgments, v) required minimum distributions and age considerations, and vi) employer stock tax consequences, if any. No client is under any obligation to rollover plan assets to an IRA managed by Vista or to engage Vista to monitor and/or manage the account while maintained at your employer. Please Note: Vista's engagement will generally include the management of the client's retirement account regardless of custodian or the client's decision to process a rollover. Vista's Chief Compliance Officer, John Convery, remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the above and the corresponding conflict of interest presented by such engagement.

Client Obligations. In performing its services, Vista shall not be required to verify any information received from the client or from the client's other professionals, and is expressly authorized to rely thereon. Moreover, each client is advised that it remains his/her/its responsibility to promptly notify Vista if there is ever any change in his/her/its financial situation or investment objectives for the purpose of reviewing/evaluating/revising Vista's previous recommendations and/or services.

Please Note-Use of Mutual Funds: Most mutual funds are available directly to the public. Thus, a prospective client can obtain many of the mutual funds that may be recommended and/or utilized by Vista independent of engaging Vista as an investment advisor. However, if a prospective client determines to do so, he/she will not receive Vista's initial and ongoing investment advisory services.

Please Note: Investment Risk. Different types of investments involve varying degrees of risk, and it should not be assumed that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy (including the investments and/or investment strategies recommended or undertaken by Vista) will be profitable or equal any specific performance level(s).

Private Investment Funds. Vista may provide investment advice regarding private investment funds. Vista, on a non-discretionary basis, may recommend that certain qualified clients consider an investment in a private investment fund. Vista's role relative to the private investment funds shall be limited to its initial and ongoing due diligence and investment monitoring services. If a client determines to become a private fund investor, the amount of assets invested in the fund(s) shall be included as part of "assets under management" for purposes of Vista calculating its investment advisory fee. Vista's clients are under absolutely no obligation to consider or make an investment in a private investment fund(s).

Please Note: Private investment funds generally involve various risk factors, including, but not limited to, potential for complete loss of principal, liquidity constraints and lack of transparency, a complete discussion of which is set forth in each fund's offering documents, which will be provided to each client for review and consideration. Unlike other liquid investments that a client may maintain, private investment funds do not provide daily liquidity or pricing. Each prospective client investor will be required to complete a Subscription Agreement, pursuant to which the client shall establish that he/she is qualified for investment in the fund, and acknowledges and accepts the various risk factors that are associated with such an investment.

Please Also Note: Valuation. In the event that Vista references private investment funds owned by the client on any supplemental account reports prepared by Vista, the value(s) for all such private investment funds shall reflect either the initial purchase and/or the most recent valuation provided by fund sponsor. If the valuation reflects the initial purchase price (and/or a value as of a previous date), the current value(s) (to the extent ascertainable) could be significantly more or less than the original purchase price.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Fees are generally negotiable and may vary from the schedule listed below.

Vista's standard fee schedule is as follows:

Annual fee

.95% of the first $1,000,000
.85% of the next $4,000,000
.70% of the next $5,000,000
.50% of the next $10,000,000
.30% of the amount over $20,000,000

Negotiable over $20,000,000

Annual fee – Institutional Client

.75% of the first $2,000,000
.60% of the next $3,000,000
.50% of the next $5,000,000
.40% of the next $10,000,000
.25% of the amount over $20,000,000

Annual fee below $2,000,000 initial investment

In the event that the initial investment by the client is below $2,000,000 Vista may charge a flat rate of $18,000 per year. Once the account value exceeds $2,000,000, the standard fee schedule listed above will apply. Please Note: If you maintain less than $2,000,000 of assets under Vista's management, and are subject to the $18,000 annual minimum fee, you will pay a higher percentage Annual Fee than referenced in the above fee schedule.

The specific manner in which fees are charged by Vista is established in a client's written Account Agreement with Vista. Vista will generally bill its fees on a quarterly basis. Clients will be billed in arrears each calendar quarter. Upon clients' authorization, Vista shall directly debit fees from client accounts. Management fees shall be prorated for each capital contribution and withdrawal made during the applicable calendar quarter (with the exception of de minimis contributions and withdrawals). Accounts initiated or terminated during a calendar quarter will be charged a prorated fee. Upon termination of any account, any earned, unpaid fees will be due and payable.

Vista's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which shall be incurred by the client. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third party investment and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus.

Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to Vista's fee, and Vista shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

Item 12 further describes the factors that Vista considers in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions).

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Vista does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7 – Types of Clients

Vista provides portfolio management services to individuals, trusts, estates, corporations and business entities, corporate pension and profit-sharing plans, charitable institutions, foundations, and endowments.

Vista generally requires a minimum aggregate relationship size of $2,000,000, although, in its sole discretion may waive or lower this account size requirement. Vista, in its sole discretion, may charge a lesser investment management fee and/or waive its account minimum based upon certain criteria (i.e. anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, negotiations with client, etc.).

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Please Note: Investment Risk. Different types of investments involve varying degrees of risk, and it should not be assumed that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy (including the investments and/or investment strategies recommended or undertaken by Vista) will be profitable or equal any specific performance level(s). Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Vista begins by developing a complete understanding of each client's financial goals, tolerance for risk, time horizon, and income needs. Based on this information, Vista writes an investment plan, designed to deliver the greatest chance of achieving long-term success. A key feature of the investment plan is the asset allocation—the way in which assets will be divided between different investments (stocks, bonds, real estate, cash). Academic studies have shown asset allocation to be the most important determinant of investment return and risk (these two characteristics always go hand in hand). Investing in capital markets involves uncertainty. It requires giving up a great deal of control and subjects investors to sudden, severe and upsetting short-term drops in the price of their investments. However, with risk comes the potential for higher returns over time, which actually reduce other risk—the risk of failing to reach real-life, long-term goals and the risk of inflation eroding principal.

Investing in stocks comes with a risk of loss. For example, the well-known Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Index has posted negative returns 29% of the calendar years from 1926-2009. However, this risk of loss diminishes over time, as only 14% of all five-year periods resulted in losses. Over all fifteen-year periods, returns were positive 100% of the time. Diversification is another method of reducing the risk of loss. Vista constructs investment portfolios consisting of U.S. stocks, international stocks (developed and emerging markets), U.S. and international real estate (via income-producing real-estate investment trusts, also known as REITs), bonds, and cash or cash equivalents (for example, money market funds). The work of Nobel Prize-winning economists has shown that combining such asset classes in a portfolio has historically resulted in higher returns with less risk, as compared to non-diversified portfolios.

For exposure to these asset classes, Vista invests primarily in index funds. An index fund is a basket (portfolio) of stocks which owns most or all of the securities in a market or market sector. In the management of an index fund, no attempt is made to pick “attractive” over “unattractive” securities or to time the market. Rather, by owning all the securities in the market sector and index fund mimics the market's performance. Index funds enjoy lower investment costs (management fees, transaction costs, and tax costs) as compared to “actively managed” funds. Consequently, index funds deliver superior long-term performance compared to the majority of actively managed funds.

Over time, differences in performance of the various asset classes will cause them to drift from their allocation targets. A disciplined rebalancing strategy restores the portfolio's target allocation once a minimum or maximum threshold has been exceeded. This disciplined process serves to keep risk at the appropriate level while minimizing trading costs and taxable gains.

Private Investment Funds. Vista may provide investment advice regarding private investment funds. Vista, on a non-discretionary basis, may recommend that certain qualified clients consider an investment in a private investment fund. Vista's role relative to the private investment funds shall be limited to its initial and ongoing due diligence and investment monitoring services. If a client determines to become a private fund investor, the amount of assets invested in the fund(s) shall be included as part of “assets under management” for purposes of Vista calculating its investment advisory fee. Vista’s clients are under absolutely no obligation to consider or make an investment in a private investment fund(s).

Please Note: Private investment funds generally involve various risk factors, including, but not limited to, potential for complete loss of principal, liquidity constraints and lack of transparency, a complete discussion of which is set forth in each fund’s offering documents, which will be provided to each client for review and consideration. Unlike other liquid investments that a client may maintain, private investment funds do not provide daily liquidity or pricing. Each prospective client investor will be required to complete a Subscription Agreement, pursuant to which the client shall establish that he/she is qualified for investment in the fund, and acknowledges and accepts the various risk factors that are associated with such an investment.

Please Also Note: Valuation. In the event that Vista references private investment funds owned by the client on any supplemental account reports prepared by Vista, the value(s) for all such private investment funds shall reflect either the initial purchase and/or the most recent valuation provided by fund sponsor. If the valuation reflects the initial purchase price (and/or a value as of a previous date), the current value(s) (to the extent ascertainable) could be significantly more or less than the original purchase price.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of Vista or the integrity of Vista’s management. Vista has no information applicable to this Item.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Vista is not actively engaged in a business other than giving investment advice. Vista does not sell products or services other than investment advice to clients.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

Vista has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at Vista must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

Vista anticipates that, in appropriate circumstances, consistent with clients' investment objectives, it may recommend to clients or prospective clients, the purchase or sale of securities in which Vista, its affiliates and/or clients, directly or indirectly, have a position of interest.

Vista's employees and persons associated with Vista are required to follow Vista's Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors and employees of Vista and its affiliates may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for Vista's clients.

The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of Vista will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of Vista's clients. In addition, the Code requires pre-clearance of many transactions, and restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics, and to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between Vista and its clients.

Certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with client accounts on an aggregated basis when consistent with Vista's obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the affiliated and client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. Vista will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the Order.

Vista's clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting Chris McKennie.

Vista also makes the following pledge to clients:

We believe our clients give us something more valuable than their money to manage; they give us their trust and confidence. We take this responsibility seriously and are dedicated to providing uncompromising financial stewardship.

We will:

- Always put your interests first.
- Adhere to the highest standards of ethical behavior and fiduciary responsibility.
- Accept no compensation that would impair our ability to give unbiased advice.
- Communicate candidly with you regarding all aspects of your financial life.
- Invest our personal assets in a manner consistent with yours.
- Continually educate ourselves regarding financial markets - both past and present.
- Keep a long-term perspective.
- Employ a team of talented, hardworking and friendly professionals.
- Help you set realistic goals and instill the discipline necessary to achieve them.
- Remain vigilant about minimizing fund expenses, transaction costs, and taxes.

It is Vista's policy that the firm will not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for client accounts. Vista will also not cross trades between client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an adviser, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to any advisory client. A principal transaction may also be deemed to have occurred if a security is crossed between an affiliated hedge fund and another client account. An agency cross transaction is defined as a transaction where a person acts as an investment adviser in relation to a transaction in which the investment adviser, or any person controlled by or under common control with the investment adviser, acts as broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction. Agency cross transactions may arise where an adviser is dually registered as a broker-dealer or has an affiliated broker-dealer.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

In the event that the client requests that Vista recommend a broker-dealer/custodian for execution and/or custodial services (exclusive of those clients that may direct the Vista to use a specific broker-dealer/custodian), Vista generally recommends that investment management accounts be maintained at Charles Schwab & Co. Inc ("Schwab"). Prior to engaging Vista to provide investment management services, the client will be required to enter into a formal Investment Advisory Agreement with Vista setting forth the terms and conditions under which Vista shall manage the client's assets, and a separate custodial/clearing agreement with each designated broker-dealer/custodian.

Factors that Vista considers in recommending Schwab (or any other broker-dealer/custodian to clients) include historical relationship with Vista's, financial strength, reputation, execution capabilities, pricing, research, and service. Although the commissions and/or transaction fees paid by Vista's clients shall comply with Vista's duty to obtain best execution, a client may pay a commission that is higher than another qualified broker-dealer might charge to effect the same transaction where Vista determines, in good faith, that the commission/transaction fee is reasonable. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer's services, including the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Accordingly, although Vista will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client account transactions. The brokerage commissions or transaction fees charged by the designated broker-dealer/custodian are exclusive of, and in addition to, Vista's investment management fee. Vista's best execution responsibility is qualified if securities that it purchases for client accounts are mutual funds that trade at net asset value as determined at the daily market close.

Non-Soft Dollar Research and Additional Benefits

Although not a material consideration when determining whether to recommend that a client utilize the services of a particular broker-dealer/custodian, Vista may receive from Schwab (or another broker-dealer/custodian, investment manager, platform or fund sponsor) without cost (and/or at a discount) support services and/or products, certain of which assist Vista to better monitor and service client accounts maintained at such institutions. Included within the support services that may be obtained by Vista may be investment-related research, pricing information and market data, software and other technology that provide access to client account data, compliance and/or practice management-related publications, discounted or gratis consulting services, discounted and/or gratis attendance at conferences, meetings, and other educational and/or social events, marketing support, computer hardware and/or software and/or other products used by Vista in furtherance of its investment advisory business operations.

As indicated above, certain of the support services and/or products that may be received may assist Vista in managing and administering client accounts. Others do not directly provide such assistance, but rather assist Vista to manage and further develop its business enterprise.

Vista's clients do not pay more for investment transactions effected and/or assets maintained at Schwab as a result of this arrangement. There is no corresponding commitment made by Vista to Schwab or any other any entity to invest any specific amount or percentage of client assets in any specific mutual funds, securities or other investment products as result of the above arrangement.

Vista's Chief Compliance Officer, John Convery, remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the above arrangement and any corresponding perceived conflict of interest such arrangement may create.

Directed Brokerage: Vista does not generally accept directed brokerage arrangements (when a client requires that account transactions be effected through a specific broker-dealer). In such client directed arrangements, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for their account with that broker-dealer, and Vista will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to "batch" the client's transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts managed by Vista. As a result, a client may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case. Please Note: In the event that the client directs Vista to effect securities transactions for the client's accounts through a specific broker-dealer, the client correspondingly acknowledges that such direction may cause the accounts to incur higher commissions or transaction costs than the accounts would otherwise incur had the client determined to effect account transactions through alternative clearing arrangements that may be available through Vista. Higher transaction costs adversely impact account performance. Please Also Note: Transactions for directed accounts will generally be executed following the execution of portfolio transactions for non-directed accounts.

To the extent that Vista provides investment management services to its clients, the transactions for each client account generally will be effected independently, unless the Vista decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. Vista may (but is not obligated to) combine or "bunch" such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates or to allocate equitably among Vista's clients differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will be averaged as to price and will be allocated among clients in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client account on any given day. Vista shall not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of such aggregation.

Tradeaway Fees. When beneficial to the client, individual fixed-income transactions may be effected through broker-dealers with whom Vista and/or the client have entered into arrangements for prime brokerage clearing services, including effecting certain client transactions through other SEC registered and FINRA member broker-dealers (in which event, the client generally will incur both the transaction fee charged by the executing broker-dealer and a “tradeaway” fee charged by the account custodian -Schwab or Pershing).

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Detailed reports of account holdings and performance and other information are provided to clients on a quarterly basis. Clients also receive a monthly statement from the custodian.

Vista will manage each client's portfolio using a customized Investment Plan.

Understanding the Client – Investment Plan

- Vista makes every effort to gain a complete understanding of a client's objectives, income requirements, risk tolerance, liquidity requirements, time horizon, tax considerations, unique needs and preferences, allowable investments and investment restrictions. Other topics which are addressed, as needed, in the Investment Plan include: retirement planning, estate planning, insurance, education costs and cash-flow management and how these areas impact/tie into the management of the portfolio. This information is obtained via client interviews and conversations. Vista has a suitability questionnaire/information sheet that is filled out in this process and the results are documented in a written Investment Plan that includes the recommended asset allocation. After presenting the Investment Plan, Vista waits for the client to sign and return a letter of approval before investing the assets. The original Investment Plan and approval letter are saved in the client's file as well as scanned into Vista's electronic record system.
- The Investment Plan is discussed with the client at each account review, a minimum of annually, to ensure the plan is still appropriate.
- Any change to the asset allocation must be documented with a "Change in Asset Allocation" form, signed by the client.
- Changes/Comments regarding other parts of the Investment Plan are clearly noted in our database (currently CRM Notes).
- A new Investment Plan is written as circumstances warrant.

Monitoring the Account

- Asset Allocation – No less than once a quarter, portfolio managers review client portfolios to determine whether or not they are within the maximum/minimum ranges of their respective target asset allocation. This is accomplished either by reviewing each account individually or via a Rebalancing Report listing all of the accounts for whom the portfolio manager is responsible. The Rebalancing report is generated and distributed on a quarterly basis, or more frequently if circumstances warrant. The order in which portfolios are reviewed is regularly altered so as to avoid the inadvertent prioritizing of one portfolio over another (always reviewing clients beginning with "A" first and "Z" last).

- Cash Balances for Income Clients –Portfolio managers monitor monthly reports which summarize the cash balances for those clients taking regular income withdrawals.
 - Cash Balances for Fees – Cash balances are reviewed prior to fees being withdrawn each quarter to ensure there are sufficient funds available.
 - No single individual security (funds excluded) will make up more than 10% of a client's total investable assets with Vista, unless client approval is obtained.
 - Individual investments, along with overall investment strategy are monitored and discussed on a company-wide basis at weekly investment meetings attended by a select number of investment advisor professionals. All investment advisor professionals meet monthly to review key decisions and practices..

In addition to monitoring accounts on a regular basis, Vista also takes seriously its responsibility to keep clients informed and knowledgeable regarding their portfolios

Review Procedures

- Vista's goal is to have an Account Reviews with each client no less than once a year. Account reviews are initiated by Vista and performed on a systematic basis. Face-to-face account reviews are the best way to ensure accounts are being managed in a manner consistent with each client's expectations. Lead Advisors and Portfolio Managers prepare thoroughly for each account review. At a minimum, Lead Advisor and Portfolio Managers are prepared to discuss the following items with each client:
 - Asset allocation
 - Current investments
 - Performance
 - Trading activity
 - Current Market Conditions
 - Contributions and Withdrawals
 - Taxes
 - Financial Planning (i.e. retirement/cash-flow planning)

- Review of the Investment Plan to include any changes in the client investment objectives.

If the client is unable or unwilling to meet, the Lead Advisor and Portfolio Manager will make a comprehensive review of the account and communicate any relevant questions or comments to the client via phone or email. This information will be noted in CRM.

- Clients are contacted via e-mail or phone, to review any account activity or major, market-moving event.
- Reports are sent quarterly detailing asset allocation, investments and performance.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Vista does not compensate any non-employee for client introductions. Vista may compensate Vista employees for referrals of clients that hire Vista as a result of their relationship with the employee. This bonus amount may vary over time. Vista does not charge clients introduced by a Vista employee fees or costs greater than the fees or costs Advisor charges its advisory clients who were not introduced by a Vista employee and who have similar portfolios under management with Advisor.

Item 15 – Custody

Vista does not custody any assets of clients. All assets are held in custody at either Charles Schwab & Co. Inc. or Pershing.

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. Vista urges you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that we may provide to you. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Vista usually receives discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold. In all cases, however, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account.

When selecting securities and determining amounts, Vista observes the investment policies, limitations and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. For registered investment companies, Vista's authority to trade securities may also be limited by certain federal securities and tax laws that require diversification of investments and favor the holding of investments once made.

Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to Vista in writing.

Block trades: Vista may bunch transactions for two or more clients if it is determined that the block trade is in the best interests of each client participating in the order and is consistent with Vista's duty to obtain best execution. The terms negotiated for the block trade will apply equally to all participating clients. The price of the securities purchased or sold in a block trade shall be at the average share price for all the transactions of the clients in that security on a given day, with all transactions costs shared on a pro rata basis.

Trade allocation: Every effort will be made to assure all clients involved in a block trade receive an execution the same day. In the event that block trade is not completely executed in one day, the trades will be allocated pro rata across accounts.

Trade errors: In the event of a trade error, the client will be made whole regardless of the cost to Vista. Vista will not benefit from trade errors that result in the purchase/sale of securities that have increased in value.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

Unless the client specifically requests otherwise, Vista will accept responsibility to vote proxies on behalf of the client. Vista will vote in the client's best interests, in a manner that maximizes the value of the client's investment. Vista will never put its own interests ahead of the client's. The client may, if they wish, direct Vista as to how they would like their proxy voted. If the account is subject to ERISA guidelines, proxies will be voted based solely on what maximizes the value of the client's investment (regardless of input from the client).

Vista does not anticipate there will be any occasions in which there will be a conflict of interest between Vista's best interests and those of the client. If a conflict occurs, however, Vista will disclose the conflict to the client and obtain client consent before voting.

Vista will consider the following factors prior to voting a proxy:

- How long a client is expected to hold the shares
- Size of the client's position in the stock
- Costs involved in the proposal

In general, it is expected Vista will accept the recommendation of the company's management as to how to vote the proxy. In general, Vista doesn't anticipate owning a stock unless it has confidence that management is acting in a way that maximizes long-term shareholder value.

Clients may obtain records of how Vista voted their proxies by calling or writing Vista at any time. Clients may also request a copy of our Proxy voting policy and procedures.

The chief compliance officer or chief investment officer will make the voting decision. Vista's chief compliance officer or chief investment officer or designee will be responsible for monitoring corporate actions and organizing and submitting proxies on time.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about Vista's financial condition. Vista has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

Item 19 – Business Continuity Plan

Vista has developed a Business Continuity Plan to maintain contact with you in the event of emergencies, natural disasters, communications interruptions, loss of internet services, office fire, theft of computers, or other situations that interrupt our normal business operations.

If we find it necessary to temporarily move our operations, we will attempt to notify you by telephone or email. Please understand that this may take from 24 to 48 hours.

A complete copy of our Business Continuity Plan may be viewed in our office during regular business hours.

The Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) charter is a globally respected, graduate-level investment credential established in 1962 and awarded by CFA Institute — the largest global association of investment professionals.

There are currently more than 90,000 CFA charter holders working in 134 countries. To earn the CFA charter, candidates must: 1) pass three sequential, six-hour examinations; 2) have at least four years of qualified professional investment experience; 3) join CFA Institute as members; and 4) commit to abide by, and annually reaffirm, their adherence to the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct.

High Ethical Standards

The CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct, enforced through an active professional conduct program, require CFA charter holders to:

- Place their clients' interests ahead of their own
- Maintain independence and objectivity
- Act with integrity
- Maintain and improve their professional competence
- Disclose conflicts of interest and legal matters

Global Recognition

Passing the three CFA exams is a difficult feat that requires extensive study (successful candidates report spending an average of 300 hours of study per level). Earning the CFA charter demonstrates mastery of many of the advanced skills needed for investment analysis and decision making in today's quickly evolving global financial industry. As a result, employers and clients are increasingly seeking CFA charter holders—often making the charter a prerequisite for employment.

Additionally, regulatory bodies in 22 countries and territories recognize the CFA charter as a proxy for meeting certain licensing requirements, and more than 125 colleges and universities around the world have incorporated a majority of the CFA Program curriculum into their own finance courses.

Comprehensive and Current Knowledge

The CFA Program curriculum provides a comprehensive framework of knowledge for investment decision making and is firmly grounded in the knowledge and skills used every day in the investment profession. The three levels of the CFA Program test a proficiency with a wide range of fundamental and advanced investment topics, including ethical and professional standards, fixed-income and equity analysis, alternative and derivative investments, economics, financial reporting standards, portfolio management, and wealth planning.

The CFA Program curriculum is updated every year by experts from around the world to ensure that candidates learn the most relevant and practical new tools, ideas, and investment and wealth management skills to reflect the dynamic and complex nature of the profession.

The CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™, CFP® and federally registered CFP (with flame design) marks (collectively, the “CFP® marks”) are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”).

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 62,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a Bachelor’s Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination, administered in 10 hours over a two-day period, includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board’s enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.
