Item 4: Advisory Business

A. Description of the Advisory Firm

Greenwood Capital Associates, LLC (also known as GCA) is a limited liability company organized under the state laws of South Carolina. GCA was formed and registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in 2001, at which time we acquired substantially all of the assets of Greenwood Capital Associates, Inc., an independent registered investment adviser founded in 1983.

GCA is principally owned by TCB Corporation. TCB acquired its ownership interest in GCA on July 31, 2008. While TCB Corporation is the majority owner of GCA, it is not its operator; and as an owner with a long-term horizon TCB Corporation is committed to ensuring GCA continues as an independent adviser.

GCA manages approximately $1 billion in assets nationwide through two distinct offerings, GCA Wealth and GCA Investments. GCA Wealth and its team of Private Client Advisors, provide investment advisory services for individuals, families, foundations, endowments and trusts. GCA Investments and its team of investment professionals develop and maintain investment strategies for both GCA Wealth and GCA Investments institutional clients.

B. Types of Advisory Services

GCA Wealth

Investment Advisory Services

GCA Wealth provides investment advisory services to individuals, high net worth individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, charitable organizations, corporations, and businesses on a discretionary basis. We also provide financial planning services to high net worth individuals.

GCA Wealth provides investment advice to clients regarding their investment assets based on the individual needs of each client. We gather and document these needs and other client profile information through various interviews, suitability, and investment profile statements. Depending on the complexity of the client's financial situation and their specific service requests, GCA may document and review the following information:

|------------------------|---------------------------------|
| ▪ financial situation, | ▪ tax considerations, |
| ▪ risk tolerance, | ▪ investment objectives, and |
| ▪ investment horizon, | ▪ any other issues important to |
| ▪ liquidity needs, | the client's state of affairs. |

Clients should notify us promptly in writing of any changes in their financial situation, investment objectives, or needs.

Financial Planning

GCA Wealth provides financial planning services to clients typically with aggregate assets under management greater than $1 million. Comprehensive financial planning is an evaluation of a client's current and future financial state by using currently known variables to model a client's future overall financial picture.

Financial plans and financial planning may include, but are not limited to, investment planning, life insurance, tax concerns, retirement planning, college planning, and debt/credit planning. There is currently no charge for these services. However, GCA reserves the right to charge clients for these services if they request financial planning services that are beyond the scope of our typical services.

In order to make informed recommendations on personal, tax, investment, risk management, retirement, education and estate planning, we gather required information through in-depth personal interviews and review of personal and financial documents. After careful review and analysis by Certified Financial Planners®, we make recommendations tailored towards the client's personal goals and objectives.

Should the client choose to implement any of our recommendations, we suggest the client work closely with their attorney, accountant, insurance agent, and/or any other professional adviser. In the event the client does not have established relationships with necessary professional(s) to implement recommendations, we may suggest appropriate professionals to assist them, such as accountants, attorneys, insurance agents, bankers, etc. Our recommendations for industry professionals may include working with experts from various financial service entities or divisions owned by TCB Corporation. Professionals within Countybank, Countybank Trust Services, Countybank Mortgage, Countybank Insurance Services, Inc., and/or Countybank Investment Services, Inc. may be recommended. All clients should be aware that the ownership relationship between TCB Corporation, its family of financial services, and GCA, presents a potential conflict of interest. GCA will always place its clients' interests at the forefront in any recommendations made for affiliated services and clients are never required to purchase any of these recommended services.

In offering financial planning, a conflict exists between the interests of the investment adviser and the interests of the client. The client is under no obligation to act upon the investment adviser's recommendation, and, if the client elects to act on any of the recommendations, the client is under no obligation to effect the transaction through the investment adviser or any recommended industry professionals for implementation of the financial plan.

GCA Investments

Institutional Investment Management

GCA Investments provides financial institutions with advisory and sub-advisory investment management services. We offer diverse investment strategies utilizing separate account management for various equity-oriented, balanced and fixed income portfolios.

GCA Wealth & GCA Investments

Investment Portfolio Accounts

GCA structures investment portfolio(s) based upon GCA Wealth client Investment Advisory and GCA Investments institutional client Investment Management needs, utilizing:

Diversified Asset Allocation—designing portfolios to meet particular investment goals (i.e. income, income & growth, etc.) as well as tax considerations. GCA Wealth Private Client Advisors discuss each client's particular circumstances to establish goals and objectives. Once the investment objective and time horizon is determined, the client's portfolio is designed utilizing investment strategies managed by GCA Investments and the client account is managed based on the overall asset allocation strategy. Individual security holdings within a client's Asset Allocation Model will be comprised of individual SMAs or ETFs/Mutual Funds, typically determined by size of the investment account.

Separately Managed Account (SMA)—providing an individual account with a flexible investment structure customized to stated investment objectives.

ETF/Mutual Fund Portfolio—affording the ability to diversify investments more completely and efficiently based upon account assets and/or income exposure needs.

GCA may recommend one or a combination of Diversified Asset Allocation strategies, SMA and ETF/Mutual Fund portfolios depending on each client's unique situation and circumstances. We reserve the right to accept non-discretionary accounts solely at our discretion.

Selection of Other Advisers

In order to further diversify a client's investment portfolio, GCA may recommend clients utilize additional money managers via a sub-advisory relationship through GCA. If so, clients will pay separate fees to the sub-adviser. The combined fees of GCA and the sub-adviser will not exceed any limit imposed by any regulatory agency. Before selecting sub-advisers for clients, GCA will always ensure those other advisers are properly licensed or registered as investment adviser.

Services Limited to Specific Types of Investments

GCA generally limits its Investment Advisory services and institutional Investment Management to mutual funds, equities, bonds, fixed income, debt securities, ETFs, real estate, hedge funds, REITs (real estate investment trusts), private placements, and government securities. GCA may use other securities as well to help diversify a portfolio when applicable.

C. Client Tailored Services and Client Imposed Restrictions

GCA offers the same suite of services to all of its clients. However, specific client financial plans and their implementation are dependent upon the Client Relationship Form which outlines each client's current situation (income, tax levels, and risk tolerance levels) and is used to construct a client specific asset allocation and account portfolio to aid in the selection of investment strategies that match restrictions, needs, and targets.

GCA will tailor an account portfolio for each individual client. This will include an interview session to get to know the client's specific needs and requirements as well as a plan that will be executed by GCA on behalf of the client. GCA will customize each client's portfolio based on their personal needs, wants, desires, restrictions and targets.

Clients may request restrictions in investing in certain securities or types of securities in accordance with their values or beliefs. However, if the restrictions prevent GCA from properly servicing the client account, or if the restrictions would require GCA to deviate from its standard suite of services, GCA reserves the right to end the relationship.

D. Wrap Fee Programs

A wrap fee program is an investment program where the investor pays one stated fee that includes management fees, transaction costs, fund expenses, and any other administrative fees. Greenwood Capital does not sponsor any wrap fee programs.

GCA Investments provides sub-advisory services to "wrap fee" programs sponsored by various broker-dealers. Currently GCA has entered into such arrangements with:

- Raymond James Financial Services
- Citigroup
- Stephens, Inc.

GCA receives a portion of the wrap fee from the sponsor for our services.

E. Amounts Under Management

Greenwood Capital Associates, LLC has the following assets under management:

Discretionary Amounts:	Non-discretionary Amounts:	Date Calculated:
$1,070,720,698	$0	December 31, 2015

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

A. Fee Schedule

GCA Wealth offers Investment Advisory services on a fee-only basis. GCA Investments offers institutional Investment Management on a fee-only basis. Broker-dealers and other financial institutions that hold client assets are referred to as custodians (custodian/broker-dealer.) GCA will determine the value of the assets in client investment portfolios which will be reflected in custodian/broker-dealer and GCA statements.

GCA's fee schedules for its various offerings are described under the corresponding headings below.

Investment Advisory Fees

Total Assets Under Management	Annual Advisory Fee
First $2,000,000	1.00%
Next $1,000,000	.80%
Balance above $3,000,000	.60%

Institutional Investment Management

Type of Account	Annual Management Fee
100% Equity
Large Cap	.50%
Mid Cap	.75%
Small Cap	1.00%
100% Fixed Income	.50%
100% Balanced	.50%

Institutional Investment Management fees are negotiable and may be reduced when services are provided to other Financial Advisers through a sub-adviser relationship.

Investment Advisory and Institutional Investment Management Fees

These fees are negotiable depending upon the needs of the client and complexity of the situation and the final fee schedule is included in the Investment Advisory Agreement. GCA fees are paid quarterly in arrears, and clients may terminate their contracts by providing GCA written notice as outlined in the Investment Advisory Agreement.

Because fees are charged in arrears, no refund policy is necessary. Clients may terminate their accounts without penalty within five (5) business days of signing the Investment Advisory Agreement.

GCA does not manage or assess a fee on client assets designated as "unsupervised." GCA assumes no responsibility for the market performance of these assets, which are shown on client statements as reference only.

GCA fees do not include mutual fund investment manager fees and other fees charged by mutual funds. A complete description of mutual fund fees are detailed and disclosed in the mutual fund's prospectus and statement of additional information.

Mutual Fund Fees

All fees paid to GCA for Investment Advisory and Investment Management services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and/or ETFs to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. GCA does not earn, nor does GCA accept, a sales charge for any recommended mutual fund. Clients should review both the fees charged by the funds and GCA's fees to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

If a client purchases mutual funds through the custodian/broker-dealer, the client may pay a transaction fee that would not be charged if the transactions were made directly through the mutual fund company. Also, mutual funds held in accounts at brokerage firms may pay internal fees that are different from funds held at the mutual fund company.

Clients may purchase shares of mutual funds directly from the mutual fund company without a transaction fee. However, these investments will not be part of GCA's advisory relationship. This means that these investments will not be included in GCA investment strategies, investment performance monitoring, or portfolio reallocations.

Please be sure to read item 12 entitled "Brokerage Practices," which follows later in this brochure for a description of factors that we consider in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client transactions.

Selection of Other Advisers Fees

In order to further diversify a client's investment portfolio, GCA may recommend clients utilize additional money managers via a sub-advisory relationship through GCA. If so, clients will pay separate fees to the sub-adviser. The combined fees of GCA and the sub-adviser will not exceed any limit imposed by any regulatory agency. Before selecting sub-advisers for clients, GCA will always ensure those other advisers are properly licensed or registered as investment adviser.

Financial Planning Fees

There is currently no charge for these services. GCA Wealth offers Financial Planning Services on a case-by-case basis as further documented in the Financial Planning Engagement Letter. However, GCA reserves the right to charge clients for these services if they request financial planning services that are beyond the scope of our typical services. GCA will fully disclose these fees and include a detailed breakdown of any such fees which the client must acknowledge in writing before proceeding.

B. Payment of Fees

Payment of Investment Advisory and Institutional Investment Management Fees

Client authorizes GCA to invoice custodian, trust, or other specified third-party directly for its fee when due, and client instructs custodian, trust, or other specified third-party to debit their account(s) for said fee, unless otherwise negotiated. Payment to GCA for these fees may be made by a direct deposit into the Adviser's account with the custodian, trust, or other specified third-party or other negotiated method between the Adviser and the Client. Fees are paid quarterly in arrears.

Payment of Other Adviser's Fees

Client authorizes GCA to invoice custodian directly, when appropriate, for Other Adviser's fees when due, and client instructs GCA to instruct custodian/broker-dealer to debit the account for said fee, unless otherwise negotiated. Fees are paid quarterly in arrears.

Payment of Financial Planning Fees

There is currently no charge for these services. GCA reserves the right to charge clients for these services if they request financial planning services that are beyond the scope of our typical services.

C. Clients Are Responsible For Third Party Fees

Clients are responsible for the payment of all third-party fees (i.e. custodian fees, brokerage fees, mutual fund fees, transaction fees, sub-adviser fees, etc.). Those fees are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by GCA. Please see Item 12 entitled “Brokerage Practices,” of this brochure regarding custodian/broker-dealer.

D. Prepayment of Fees

GCA collects its fees in arrears. It does not collect fees in advance.

E. Outside Compensation For the Sale of Securities to Clients

Neither GCA nor its supervised persons accept any compensation for the sale of securities or other investment products, including asset-based sales charges or service fees from the sale of mutual funds.

Item 6: Performance Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

A Performance Based Fee structure option is not available for any clients, new or existing.

Item 7: Types of Clients

GCA generally provides investment advisory services and asset management to the following types of clients:

- | | |
|------------------------------------|---|
| ▪ Individuals | ▪ Charitable Organizations |
| ▪ High-Net-Worth Individuals | ▪ Corporations or Other Business Entities |
| ▪ Banks and Thrift Institutions | ▪ State or Municipal Government Entities |
| ▪ Pension and Profit Sharing Plans | ▪ Other Investment Advisers |

Minimum Account Size

There is an account minimum, $250,000, which may be waived by GCA, based on the needs of the client and the complexity of the situation.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies & Risk of Investment Loss

A. Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Methods of Analysis

GCA’s methods of analysis include charting analysis, fundamental analysis, technical analysis and cyclical analysis. Investment and Asset Allocation analysis and selection, utilizing these factors, are performed by our Investment Committee.

Charting analysis involves the use of patterns in performance charts. GCA uses this technique to search for patterns used to help predict favorable conditions for buying and/or selling a security. Fundamental analysis involves the analysis of financial statements, the general financial health of companies, and/or the analysis of management or competitive advantages. Technical analysis involves the analysis of past market data; primarily price and volume. Cyclical analysis involves the analysis of business cycles to find favorable conditions for buying and/or selling a security.

Investment Strategies

The Investment Committee of GCA typically meets weekly to evaluate current economic, interest rate, and earnings data; current and potential shifts in monetary and fiscal policy; the strength of the dollar; as well as a broad spectrum of international economic information to identify where the economy is within the current economic cycle to determine which sectors and/or companies to overweight or underweight in our Investment Strategies and in our Diversified Asset Allocation Strategies.

Similarly, with regard to GCA's selection of fixed income securities, the Investment Committee incorporates a top-down methodology to determine how fixed income portfolios should be positioned relative to maturity/duration, credit quality, and industry exposure. GCA's objective is to preserve capital and maximize total return using investment grade corporate bonds, U.S. government and agency bonds and, where appropriate, tax-free municipal bonds.

GCA uses long term trading, short term trading and may use options writing (including covered options).

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

B. Material Risks Involved

Methods of Analysis

Charting analysis strategy involves using and comparing various charts to predict long and short term performance or market trends. The risk involved in solely using this method is that only past performance data is considered without using other methods to crosscheck data. Using charting analysis without other methods of analysis would be making the assumption that past performance will be indicative of future performance. This may not be the case.

Fundamental analysis concentrates on factors that determine a company's value and expected future earnings. This strategy would normally encourage equity purchases in stocks that are undervalued or priced below their perceived value. The risk assumed is that the market will fail to reach expectations of perceived value.

Technical analysis attempts to predict a future stock price or direction based on market trends. The assumption is that the market follows discernible patterns and if these patterns can be identified then a prediction can be made. The risk is that markets do not always follow patterns and relying solely on this method may not work long term.

Cyclical analysis assumes that the markets react in cyclical patterns which, once identified, can be leveraged to provide performance. The risks with this strategy are two-fold: 1) the markets do not always repeat cyclical patterns and 2) if too many investors begin to implement this strategy, it changes the very cycles they are trying to take advantage of.

Investment Strategies

Long term trading is designed to capture market rates of both return and risk. Frequent trading, when done, can affect investment performance, particularly through increased brokerage and other transaction costs and taxes.

Short term trading and options writing generally hold greater risk and clients should be aware that there is a material risk of loss using any of those strategies.

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

C. Risks of Specific Securities Utilized

GCA generally seeks investment strategies that do not involve significant or unusual risk beyond that of the general domestic and/or international equity markets. However, it may utilize options writing. Options writing generally hold greater risk of capital loss and clients should be aware that there is a material risk of loss using any of these strategies.

Mutual Funds: Investing in mutual funds carries the risk of capital loss. Mutual funds are not guaranteed or insured by the FDIC or any other government agency. You can lose money investing in mutual funds. All mutual funds have costs that lower investment returns. They can be of bond “fixed income” nature (lower risk) or stock “equity” nature.

Equity investment generally refers to buying shares of stocks by an individual or firms in return for receiving a future payment of dividends and capital gains if the value of the stock increases. There is an innate risk involved when purchasing a stock that it may decrease in value and the investment may incur a loss.

Treasury Inflation Protected/Inflation Linked Bonds: The risk of default on these bonds is dependent upon the U.S. Treasury defaulting (extremely unlikely); however, they carry a potential risk of losing share price value.

Fixed Income is an investment that promises to pay fixed periodic payments in the future that may involve economic risks such as inflationary risk, interest rate risk, default risk, repayment of principal risk, etc.

Debt securities carry risks such as the possibility of default on the principal, fluctuation in interest rates, and counterparties being unable to meet obligations.

Stocks & Exchange Traded Funds (ETF): Investing in stocks & ETFs carries the risk of capital loss (sometimes up to a 100% loss in the case of a stock holding bankruptcy). Investments in these securities are not guaranteed or insured by the FDIC or any other government agency.

Real Estate funds face several kinds of risk that are inherent in this sector of the market. Liquidity risk, market risk and interest rate risk are just some of the factors that can influence the gain or loss that is passed on to the investor. Liquidity and market risk tend to have a greater effect on funds that are more growth-oriented, as the sale of appreciated properties depends upon market demand. Conversely, interest rate risk impacts the amount of dividend income that is paid by income-oriented funds.

Hedge Funds are not suitable for all investors and involve a high degree of risk due to several factors that may contribute to above average gains or significant losses. Such factors include leveraging or other speculative investment practices, commodity trading, complex tax structures, a lack of transparency in the underlying investments, and generally the absence of a secondary market.

REITs have specific risks including valuation due to cash flows, dividends paid in stock rather than cash, and the payment of debt resulting in dilution of shares.

Precious Metal ETFs (Investing in Gold, Silver, Palladium Bullion backed “electronic shares” not physical metal): Investing in precious metal ETFs carries the risk of capital loss.

Long term trading is designed to capture market rates of both return and risk. Due to its nature, the long-term investment strategy can expose clients to various other types of risk that will typically surface at various intervals during the time the client owns the investments. These risks include but are not limited to inflation (purchasing power) risk, interest rate risk, economic risk, market risk, and political/regulatory risk.

Short term trading risks include liquidity, economic stability and inflation.

Options writing involve a contract to purchase a security at a given price, not necessarily at market value, depending on the market.

Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns. Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

A. Criminal or Civil Actions

There are no criminal or civil actions to report.

B. Administrative Proceedings

There are no administrative proceedings to report.

C. Self-regulatory Organization (SRO) Proceedings

There are no self-regulatory organization proceedings to report.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

A. Registration as a Broker/Dealer or Broker/Dealer Representative

Neither GCA nor its representatives are registered as or have pending applications to become a broker/dealer or as representatives of a broker/dealer.

B. Registration as a Futures Commission Merchant, Commodity Pool Operator, or a Commodity Trading Adviser

Neither GCA nor its representatives are registered as or have pending applications to become a Futures Commission Merchant, Commodity Pool Operator, or a Commodity Trading Adviser.

C. Registration Relationships Material to this Advisory Business and Possible Conflicts of Interests

TCB Corporation currently owns 83.5% of Greenwood Capital Associates, LLC. TCB Corporation is also the holding company for its wholly-owned subsidiary, Countybank, which includes Countybank Trust Services and Countybank Mortgage. Countybank Trust Services may provide trustee and/or custodial services for GCA clients, based on the client's direction.

Clients of GCA may also be clients of Countybank or its affiliates Countybank Insurance Services, Inc. and Countybank Investment Services, Inc. GCA clients are not obligated to purchase any products, including insurance and investments, through any company within the TCB Corporation family of companies.

Various GCA investment adviser representatives may also be licensed insurance agents. From time to time, they may offer clients advice or products from those activities. Clients should be aware that these services pay a commission and involve a conflict of interest, as commissionable products conflict with the fiduciary duties of a registered investment adviser. Greenwood Capital always acts in the best interest of the client; including the sale of commissionable products to advisory clients. Clients are in no way required to implement the plan through any representative of Greenwood Capital in their capacity as an insurance agent.

D. Selection of Other Advisers or Managers and How This Adviser is Compensated for Those Selections

In order to further diversify a client's investment portfolio, GCA may recommend clients utilize additional money managers via a sub-advisory relationship through GCA. If so, clients will pay separate fees to the sub-adviser. The combined fees of GCA and the sub-adviser will not exceed any limit imposed by any regulatory agency. GCA will always act in the best interests of the client, including when determining which sub-adviser to utilize on behalf of clients. Before selecting sub-advisers for clients, GCA will always ensure those other advisors are properly licensed or registered as investment adviser.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation/Interest in Client Transactions & Personal Trading

A. Code of Ethics

GCA has a written Code of Ethics that covers the following areas: Compliance with Laws and Regulations, Standards of Business Conduct, Prohibited Purchases and Sales, Personal Securities Transactions, Reporting Violations, Disclosure, and Recordkeeping. Our Code of Ethics is available free upon request to any client or prospective client.

B. Recommendations Involving Material Financial Interests

GCA does not recommend that clients buy or sell any security in which a related person to GCA or GCA has a material financial interest.

C. Investing Personal Money in the Same Securities as Clients

From time to time, representatives of GCA may buy or sell securities for themselves that they also recommend to clients. This may provide an opportunity for representatives of GCA to buy or sell the same securities before or after recommending the same securities to clients resulting in representatives profiting off the recommendations they provide to clients. Such transactions may create a conflict of interest. GCA will document any transactions that could be construed as a conflict of interest and will typically transact client business before their own when similar securities are being bought or sold.

D. Trading Securities At/Around the Same Time as Clients' Securities

From time to time, representatives of Greenwood Capital may buy or sell securities for themselves at or around the same time as clients. This may provide an opportunity for representatives of GCA to buy or sell securities before or after recommending securities to clients resulting in representatives profiting off the recommendations they provide to clients. Such transactions may create a conflict of interest. GCA will typically transact clients' transactions before their own when similar securities are being bought or sold.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

A. Factors Used to Select Custodians and/or Broker-Dealers

The Custodians recommended by GCA are based on their client service and their relatively low asset based pricing/transaction fees, as well as access to mutual funds and ETFs. GCA will never charge a premium or commission on transactions, beyond the actual costs imposed by Custodians.

Research and Other Soft-Dollar Benefits

Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (“Section 28(e)”) permits GCA, under certain circumstances, to pay a broker-dealer a commission for effecting a transaction in excess of the amount of commission another broker-dealer may have charged for effecting the same transaction. The additional commission is paid in recognition of the value of brokerage and research services provided by the broker-dealer. This practice is referred to as a “soft dollar” arrangement.

When GCA uses client brokerage commissions to obtain research or other products or services, we receive a benefit because we do not have to produce or pay for the research, products or services ourselves. Since the amount of compensation or the products or services received may vary depending on the broker-dealer recommended for client use, we may have a conflict of interest in making that recommendation.

The recommendation of specific broker-dealers may be based in part on the economic benefit to us and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided to you and our other clients.

Commissions and other fees for transactions executed through the broker-dealer may be higher than commissions and other fees available if you use another broker-dealer firm to execute transactions and maintain custody of your account.

Unless a client specifically directs otherwise through indication of a specific broker-dealer where GCA does not have a soft dollar arrangement, all client accounts may participate in the soft dollar arrangements. Research furnished by brokers-dealers may be used in servicing any or all clients. GCA may also use this research for accounts that did not pay commissions to the broker-dealer providing the research.

Research products and services GCA receives are in addition to, and not instead of, the services performed under our advisory agreements. Any advisory or other fees paid are not reduced as a result of the receipt of research products and services.

Brokerage and research services may include:

- furnishing advice as to:
 - the value of securities,
 - the advisability of investing in, purchasing or selling securities, and
 - the availability of securities or purchasers or sellers of securities;
- effecting securities transactions and performing functions incidental thereto (such as
 - clearance, allocation, settlement, and custody); and,
- furnishing analyses and reports concerning:
 - issuers,
 - industries,
 - securities,
 - economic factors and trends,
 - portfolio strategy, and
 - the performance of accounts.

In the case of research services, GCA believes that access to independent investment research is beneficial to its investment decision-making processes and, therefore, to its clients.

When selecting broker-dealers to place your trades, GCA may consider:

- the amount and nature of research,
- existing relationships,
- price,
- execution quality,
- reputation; and,
- other services provided by the brokers and the extent to which we rely on them.

GCA then attempts to allocate a portion of your brokerage on the basis of these considerations. A broker is not excluded from receiving business because it does not provide brokerage or research services. GCA believes that an allocation of brokerage business helps obtain valuable research and execution capabilities and to provide other benefits to our clients. Our selection of a broker-dealer to execute transactions for client accounts is not determined by the lowest possible transaction cost. The determining factor is whether the broker-dealer can provide, in our view, the best qualitative execution for client accounts.

Soft dollar products and services may be received in written form or through direct contact with individuals. Information as to particular companies and securities, as well as market, economic, or institutional areas and information, that assists in the valuation and pricing of investments may also be included.

Conduct outside of the safe harbor afforded by Section 28(e) is subject to the traditional standards of fiduciary duty under state and federal law. GCA intends to use commissions in a manner that comes within the safe harbor of Section 28(e).

GCA is required to monitor soft dollar arrangements to identify research products or services that have a mixed use (research and non-research). GCA then must make a reasonable allocation of the cost of the product according to its use. The portion that provides us assistance in the investment decision-making process may be paid for by commission (soft) dollars. Products and services that provide administrative or other non-research assistance to the firm are outside the safe harbor of Section 28(e) and must be paid for by GCA using its own funds. Examples of these products or services include:

- computer hardware;
- marketing; and
- management systems integrating trading and execution,
- accounting,
- record keeping, and
- other administrative matters.

GCA has a conflict of interest in making this research/non-research determination. We maintain records concerning mixed-use allocations and make a good faith review of these determinations on a quarterly basis.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

Some clients have been referred to GCA by a broker-dealer and have directed us to execute transactions through the same broker-dealer. GCA does not direct client transactions in exchange for referrals. However, clients who are referred to us by particular broker-dealers typically direct us to execute transactions through them. This creates a potential conflict of interest between client interest in obtaining best execution and our interest in receiving future client referrals from that broker-dealer.

Clients Directing Which Broker/Dealer/Custodian to Use

GCA allows clients to direct brokerage. GCA may be unable to achieve most favorable execution of client transactions if clients choose to direct brokerage. This may cost clients money because without the ability to direct brokerage, GCA may not be able to aggregate orders to reduce transactions costs resulting in higher brokerage commissions and less favorable prices. It is GCA's procedure to always place trade orders for our non-broker directed clients first, before placing any orders for the same security for our directed brokerage clients. As a result, directed brokerage clients may be systematically disadvantaged by this order placement practice. Not all investment advisers allow their clients to direct brokerage.

B. Aggregating (Block) Trading for Multiple Client Accounts

GCA may engage in block trading, which is the purchase or sale of a security for the accounts of multiple clients in a single transaction. If a block trade is executed, each participating client receives a price that represents the average of the prices at which all of the transactions in a given block were executed. Executing a block trade allows transaction costs to be shared equally and on a pro-rata basis among all of the participating clients. Block trading may also allow GCA to incur lower transaction costs or achieve better execution for clients. If the order is not completely filled, the securities purchased or sold are distributed among participating clients on a pro-rata basis or in some other equitable manner.

Block trades are placed only when it is reasonably believed that the combination of the transactions provides better prices for clients than placing individual transactions. Transactions for the accounts of GCA and our employees and advisory representatives may be included in block trades. They receive the same average price and pay the same commissions and other transaction costs as clients. In the case of a partial fill, the accounts of GCA and our advisory representatives and employees will receive a pro-rata distribution of the securities based on their pro-rata portion of the pre-trade order.

GCA is not obligated to include any client account in a block trade. Block trades will not be effected for any client's account if doing so is prohibited or otherwise inconsistent with that client's investment advisory agreement. No client will be favored over any other client.

Item 13: Reviews of Accounts

A. Frequency & Nature of Periodic Reviews

Client accounts are reviewed at least annually for any changes in suitability factors. In addition, accounts are reviewed quarterly for adherence to client investment and asset allocation strategy. Accounts are also reviewed upon triggering events such as: receipt of new money, change in your financial condition, a significant change in the market environment, or request to liquidate and distribute a significant portion of the portfolio. The advisers assigned to the account or our Investment Committee are responsible for such reviews.

All financial planning accounts are reviewed upon financial plan creation and plan delivery by the presenting adviser. There is only one level of review and that is the total review conducted to create the financial plan.

B. Factors That Will Trigger a Non-Periodic Review of Client Accounts

Reviews may be triggered by material market, economic or political events, or by changes in client's financial situations (such as retirement, termination of employment, physical move, or inheritance).

C. Content & Frequency of Regular Reports Provided to Clients

Each client will receive at least quarterly from the custodian, a written report that details the client's account including assets held and asset value.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

A. Economic Benefits Provided by Third Parties for Advice Rendered to Clients (Includes Sales Awards or Other Prizes)

GCA does not receive any economic benefit, directly or indirectly from any third party for advice rendered to Greenwood Capital clients.

B. Compensation to Non – Advisory Personnel for Client Referrals

Employees of GCA that are not advisory personnel may directly receive a portion of the first full year's Investment Advisory Fee for any client obtained by GCA through the employee's referral. As part of the TCB family of financial services, GCA participates in an internal referral program. Employees within TCB Corporation that are not employees of GCA may indirectly receive a referral reward for any client obtained by GCA through the individual's referral.

GCA has entered into a solicitation/marketing agreement directly with employees of Countybank, Countybank Mortgage Services (a division of Countybank), and Countybank Insurance Services, Inc. (a subsidiary of Countybank) for solicitation of GCA's SMA accounts. Compensation for these services is detailed in the agreement between GCA and each individual employee. Each GCA client obtained through these solicitation efforts will receive a solicitation disclosure document with details of the solicitation agreement and the calculation of the compensation that the solicitor will receive. All solicitation/referral fees paid to individuals are included in the investment advisory fees paid by the client and NO additional charges are added to cover these solicitation/referral fees.

Item 15: Custody

GCA, with client written authority, may invoice Custodian directly for its Investment Advisory fee when due, and Client instructs Custodian to debit the account for said fee, unless otherwise negotiated. If the client chooses to allow this direct fee deduction billing by their custodian, GCA would have constructive custody over that account and must have written authorization from the client to do so. Clients will receive all required account statements and billing invoices that are required in each jurisdiction, and they should carefully review those statements for accuracy.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

For those client accounts where GCA provides ongoing supervision, the client has given GCA written discretionary authority over the client's accounts with respect to securities to be bought or sold and the amount of securities to be bought or sold. Details of this relationship are fully disclosed to the client before any advisory relationship has commenced. The client provides Greenwood Capital discretionary authority via the Investment Advisory Agreement and in the limited power of attorney provision contained in the new account paperwork and contract between the client and the custodian.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities (Proxy Voting)

As authorized by the client, GCA has authority, pursuant to our Investment Advisory Agreement with clients, to vote proxies for all securities maintained in client portfolio on each client's behalf. GCA has adopted and implemented policies and procedures that we believe are reasonably designed to ensure that proxies are voted in the client's best interest. Proxy statements increasingly contain controversial issues involving shareholder rights and corporate governance, among others, which deserve careful review and consideration.

GCA generally votes with management on routine matters related to the operation of the company and not expected to have significant economic impact on the company or shareholders. In instances where material conflicts of interest may exist, we will resolve any such conflict by voting any such proxies in the best interest of the clients. In doing so, we will follow the guidelines and factors set forth in our proxy voting procedures.

GCA will work with each custodian to ensure receipt of proxies. However, if the custodian is not able to facilitate this procedure, clients will be notified that we will not be voting the proxies.

Clients may obtain from us a record of how proxies were voted on behalf of their accounts upon request. Also, clients may obtain a complete copy of our Proxy Voting Policy & Procedures upon request.

For those assets managed by a sub-adviser, GCA will permit the sub-adviser to vote proxies for the holdings which the sub-adviser is managing if the sub-adviser's proxy voting policy and practices are in keeping with GCA's proxy voting policy. If a sub-adviser's proxy voting policy is materially different from GCA's, GCA will notify the client.

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients.

- Senior Accountant, Elliott Davis LLC, December 1983 to August 1987

Professional Designation(s):

Certified Public Accountants (CPA) are licensed and regulated by their state boards of accountancy. While state laws and regulations vary, the education, experience and testing requirements for licensure as a CPA generally include minimum college education (typically 150 credit hours with at least a baccalaureate degree and a concentration in accounting), minimum experience levels (most states require at least one year of experience providing services that involve the use of accounting, attest, compilation, management advisory, financial advisory, tax or consulting skills, all of which must be achieved under the supervision of or verification by a CPA), and successful passage of the Uniform CPA Examination. In order to maintain a CPA license, states generally require the completion of 40 hours of continuing professional education (CPE) each year (or 80 hours over a two year period, or 120 hours over a 3 year period). Additionally, all American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) members are required to follow a rigorous Code of Professional Conduct which requires that they act with integrity, objectivity, due care, competence, fully disclose any conflicts of interest (and obtain client consent if a conflict exists), maintain client confidentiality, disclose to the client any commission or referral fees, and serve the public interest when providing financial services.

In addition to the Code of Professional Conduct, AICPA members who provide personal financial planning services are required to follow the Statement on Standards in Personal Financial Planning Services (the Statement). Most state boards of accountancy define financial planning as the practice of public accounting and therefore have jurisdiction over CPAs practicing in this discipline; state boards would likely look to the Statement as the authoritative guidance in this practice area regardless of specific or blanket adoption of AI CPA standards.

The Personal Financial Specialist (PFS®) credential demonstrates that an individual has met the minimum education, experience, and testing required of a CPA in addition to a minimum level of expertise in personal financial planning. To attain the PFS credential, a candidate must hold an unrevoked CPA license, certificate or permit, none of which are in inactive status; fulfill 3,000 hours of personal financial planning business experience; complete 75 hours of personal financial planning CPE credits; pass a comprehensive financial planning exam and be an active member of the AICPA. A PFS credential holder is required to adhere to AICPA's Code of Professional Conduct and the Statement on Standards in Personal Financial Planning Services, when providing personal financial planning services.

To maintain their PFS credential, the recipient must complete 60 hours of financial planning CPE credits every three years. The PFS credential is administered through the AICPA.

The Chartered Financial Consultant (ChFC) designation program focuses on the comprehensive financial planning process as an organized way to collect and analyze information on a client's total financial situation; to identify and establish specific financial goals; and to formulate, implement, and monitor a comprehensive plan to achieve those goals. The ChFC program provides financial planners and others in the financial services industry with in-depth knowledge of the skills needed to perform comprehensive financial planning for their clients. Candidates must pass an examination for the following six required courses and two elective courses to earn the ChFC designation:

Required Courses

- Financial Planning: Process and Environment
- Fundamentals of Insurance Planning
- Income Taxation
- Planning for Retirement Needs
- Investments
- Fundamentals of Estate Planning
- Financial Planning Applications

Elective Courses

- The Financial System in the Economy
- Estate Planning Applications
- Financial Decisions for Retirement

As a general rule, candidates should plan to spend 50-70 hours studying for each course. The program can be completed as quickly as a candidate desires, but most students complete their designation requirements within 15-24 months. Each exam is a two-hour, 100-question, computer-administered exam. National exams are given throughout the year at local testing centers

Candidates must meet experience requirements and ethical standards, including three years of business experience immediately preceding the date of use of the designation; an undergraduate or graduate degree from an accredited educational institution qualifies as one year of business experience and, when using formal education as qualifying experience, the remaining two years must immediately precede the date of the award.

Each designee who falls in one of the following categories must complete 30 hours of continuing education every two years. Designees who do not fall into one of these categories are exempt from CE requirements:

- Licensed insurance agent/broker/consultant
- Licensed security representative/registered investment advisor
- Financial consultant, attorney, accountant, employee benefits specialist, and any other individual who provides insurance, employee benefits, financial planning, or estate planning advice and counsel to the public

If insurance products are purchased through Ms. Bane's affiliation with Countybanc Insurance Services, Inc., commissions may be earned.
