Item 4      Advisory Business

StoneRidge Investment Partners, LLC (“StoneRidge”) is a suburban Philadelphia-based emerging and minority-owned Registered Investment Adviser. StoneRidge was formed in 1999 by a team of equity investment professionals formerly with Meridien Investment Company, a division of First Union.

In 2009, Beltraith Capital LLC (“Beltraith”), a syndicate led by Steven L. Sanders, acquired a 55% ownership interest in StoneRidge. Sanders became Chief Executive Officer and Chief Investment Strategist to lead the company. Today, Beltraith’s equity stake in StoneRidge totals 73.76%.

On July 24, 2015, StoneRidge consummated a transaction which merged the fixed income division of StoneRidge with PMG Advisors, LLC (renamed StoneRidge PMG Advisors, LLC). At the same time, Beltraith acquired a 62.23% equity stake in StoneRidge PMG Advisors, LLC. In addition, Beltraith created Emstone Advisers, LLC; a specialty fixed income money management firm, through a partnership with Emerald Asset Management. Beltraith owns a 62.23% equity stake of Emstone Advisers, LLC. Emerald Asset Management owns the remaining 37.77%. Mr. Sanders is the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Investment Strategist of the three Beltraith entities.

In September 2016, formed a new affiliated entity, Beltraith DSCP Management, LLC (“Beltraith DSCP”), which has applied to become an SEC-registered investment adviser. Beltraith DSCP is relying upon the “related adviser” provisions of Rule 203A-2(b) under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (“Advisers Act”) to qualify for federal investment adviser registration. Beltraith DSCP will provide investment advisory services to private pooled venture capital vehicles that seek investment opportunities in technology and tech-enabled growth stage companies. Mr. Sanders is one of the principal owners of Beltraith DSCP.

StoneRidge advisory services are limited to offering equity management to institutional investors and other investment advisers. Equity products include: Large Cap Core, Large Cap High Quality, Small-Mid Cap Growth, Small Cap Growth, Small Cap Core, Quantitative Small Cap Equity, Balanced Core Equity and Low Volatility Small - Mid Cap Growth Equity.

In advising our institutional equity clients, StoneRidge adheres to the restrictions and guidelines imposed by clients.

StoneRidge serves as sub-adviser to two Counsel Trust Company Collective Investment Funds (CIFs) for tax qualified pension and profit sharing plans and related trusts as well as governmental plans. In addition, StoneRidge serves as sub-adviser to one Counsel Trust Company Common Trust Fund (CTF) for taxable accounts. The investment management mandate for one CIF is Large Cap Core Equity and for the remaining CIF and CTF, it is a Quantitative Small Cap Growth Equity product. In addition, StoneRidge serves as portfolio manager to a Counsel Trust Company managed 3(c)(1) fund. This unregistered 3(c)(1) fund was established to facilitate the investment of IRA monies.

The mandate is the Quantitative Small Cap Growth Equity product. Counsel Trust Company serves as trustee (“the Trustee”) to these funds and charges participating investors an annual fee based on assets under management. StoneRidge receives a portion of the fee charged by the Trustee each quarter for its investment advisory services.

StoneRidge engages in certain sub-advisory arrangements wherein StoneRidge may serve as a sub-adviser or engage other sub-advisers. Under the terms of a sub-advisory agreement, the adviser is responsible to set fees and other terms guiding the client relationship. Applicable client assets are managed under the sub-advisory agreement to ensure that all terms of client services are equitable.

As of December 31, 2016, StoneRidge managed $779,153,613 in equity discretionary assets for institutional investors and other investment advisers, including public funds, Taft-Hartley plans, unregistered private funds, insurance companies, and foundations.

Item 5      Fees and Compensation

StoneRidge provides investment advisory services. The fee structure is subject to negotiation and may vary from time to time. Fees are negotiable based on a range of factors, including relationship dynamics and the resources necessary for StoneRidge to effectively achieve client objectives and meet client service requirements. Clients are permitted to choose whether to be billed or to have StoneRidge deduct the fees directly from their custodial account.

A written advisory agreement entered into with each client describes fee arrangements. Fees are generally billed quarterly in arrears on the first day of each calendar quarter, based on the total market value of all assets in the Account (including cash) on the last day of the prior quarter; at the request of some clients, fees are billed a quarter in advance. If a cash flow representing more than 10% of the market value of the account should occur, separate fee calculations will be made for the periods before and after the large cash flow. Those separate calculations will then be combined to determine the total amount due for the period. In the event a client terminates his relationship with StoneRidge prior to the end of any calendar quarter, the fee will be prorated accordingly.

A client may terminate the investment advisory agreement without penalty or termination charges with thirty (30) days written notice to StoneRidge. In the event of termination, pre-paid fees will be returned to clients on a pro rata basis. The fee schedule used below represents our standard schedule.

Item 6      Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

StoneRidge does not have any clients who are charged performance based fees or side-by-side management fees as defined by the SEC. A performance based fee is defined by the SEC as “an investment advisory fee based on a share of capital gains on, or capital appreciation of client assets. ## Item 8      Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

StoneRidge utilizes a blend of fundamental research, technical analysis, and quantitative tools to make investment decisions. The various strategies offered by Stoneridge are as follows:

- ◆ Large Cap Core Equity – focuses on finding momentum oriented securities at a relative discounted price. This strategy can use the Russell 1000 or S&P 500 Indices as a benchmark.
- ◆ High Quality Large Cap Equity – focuses on finding securities with long-term growth prospects at a relative discounted price amongst securities demonstrating a strong credit rating. This strategy can use the Russell 1000 or S&P 500 Indices as a benchmark.
- ◆ Small Cap Growth Equity – focuses multiple momentum factors across various market types, affecting growth patterns in the Russell 2000 Growth Index to achieve long-term results.
- ◆ Small Cap Core Equity – focuses finding momentum oriented securities at a relative discounted price, across various market types, affecting growth patterns in the Russell 2000 Index to achieve long-term results.
- ◆ Quantitative Small Cap Growth Equity – focuses multiple momentum factors utilizing our proprietary quantitative model, across various market types, affecting growth patterns in the Russell 2000 Growth Index to achieve long-term results.
- ◆ Small-Mid Cap Growth Equity – focuses on similar momentum oriented factors as our Small Cap Growth strategy that affect Russell 2500 Growth stocks.
- ◆ Balanced Core Equity – invests in a portfolio of large capitalization stocks similar to the S&P 500 Index, and a fixed income portfolio of investment grade or higher securities similar to the Barclay's Intermediate G/C. The relative weighting between stocks and bonds reflects our current views on the economy within the guidelines of each individual portfolio.
- ◆ Low Volatility Small - Mid Cap Growth Equity – seeks to invest in companies whose near-term growth projections are not fully reflected in the current stock price. Our analysts and portfolio managers focus on growth oriented companies with idiosyncratic catalysts, employ an active security selection process and strategically manage portfolio risk through our 5-Paradigm Perspective.

Equity Strategies

StoneRidge utilizes a blend of fundamental research and quantitative tools, in making investment decisions across all strategies. The investment team employs a bottom up, stock picking approach that relies heavily on research performed on companies by sector specialists. The process is supported by a proprietary, screening tool that is used to gather information and rank the stocks.

The most important part of StoneRidge's investment process involves the portfolio managers, who serve as sector specialists, as they analyze and select stocks within their respective sectors. A balance of fundamental research, quantitative analysis and qualitative judgment by the investment team members forms the basis of the stock selection process.

The sector specialists utilize company meetings, brokerage research, analyst meetings, conference calls, industry conferences and research available on the internet to generate new ideas. The investment team also uses a proprietary screening tool to identify potential purchase candidates.

StoneRidge seeks companies that offer:

- ◆ Growth
- ◆ Attractive Valuation
- ◆ Sensible Corporate Strategy
- ◆ Quality Management
- ◆ Improving Industry Fundamentals

Not all companies are going to rate highly in every category. However, it is the investment team's goal to find investments that exhibit as many of these characteristics as possible.

Idea Generation

The StoneRidge investment team identifies stocks in a variety of ways. One of the primary tools used is the firm's proprietary multi-factor screening tool. The purpose of the screening process is to narrow the universe down to a focused list of stocks that will comprise a potential buy list. The screens are constructed using the following major factors (earnings momentum, valuation, technical, accounting/financial condition and insider activity), some of which contain sub-factors. All stocks that can be ranked are screened and ranked daily on a 1 to 25 scale (1=best, 25=worst). Stocks that are ranked from 1 to 7 are considered for further analysis as purchase candidates. A stock must be "buy ranked" to enter the portfolio. The only exceptions are for Initial Public Offerings ("IPOs") or stocks that cannot be ranked due to limited information (e.g. analyst coverage, earnings forecasts). The discipline allows us to gain an objective view of the relative attractiveness of stocks in the universe regardless of their sector. It also provides a means for comparing our existing holdings with the opportunity set. The screening tool is dynamic in nature in that enhancements will be made to improve its output and to maintain pace with market changes.

A number of stocks will not be able to be ranked by the screens due to limited information. It is then up to the sector specialist to use his/her knowledge of the company and industry to form an opinion on the stock's potential based entirely on the fundamentals.

Research

Most of the firm's research is bottom up and stock-focused. The sector specialists cover the following industries: Health Care; Consumer Discretionary and Consumer Staples;

Technology and Telecommunications; Materials, Energy and Industrials; and Financials and Utilities. Each sector specialist conducts fundamental, bottom-up research on the companies within their sector(s). Depending upon the sector, there may be modest differences placed on the relative importance of certain variables in the research process. The forecasting time horizon is typically 6 - 12 months.

The investment team members conduct research in a variety of ways including: company management meetings, analyst meetings, attending conferences and conference calls with companies. In addition to the screening tool, the team uses other sources for company information including:

- ◆ EDGAR-SEC database
- ◆ Company financial statements
- ◆ Broker research
- ◆ Third party research services

Effective communication among team members is critical to the investment process. The team members generally meet on a daily basis to discuss the portfolio. The sector specialists generally discuss their recommendations with the Chief Investment Officer (CIO) for his approval on equity securities prior to implementations; this applies to both Buy and Sell ideas.

Sell Discipline

The perspectives of other investment team members concerning their respective sectors and opportunities within other sectors are important inputs into the process. Each sector specialist also generally seeks the perspectives of other team members where such sector specialist's sector may be affected by events in other sectors. StoneRidge's CIO, Joseph Stocke, supervises the entire process. Stocks are sold for the following reasons:

- ◆ Stock reaches full valuation – more attractive company replaces a current holding
- ◆ Company fundamentals deteriorate
- ◆ Ranking of stock slips – triggers review of the stock
- ◆ Stock fails to achieve a minimum ranking threshold established by StoneRidge, as amended from time to time

Portfolio Turnover

Our investment strategy results in a portfolio turnover rate of 150% - 200% each year. This level of portfolio turnover can result in correspondingly greater brokerage commission expenses, and other transaction costs and taxes which are borne by clients.

Risk of Loss

As with any investment, portfolio returns will vary and clients can lose money.

The value of the portfolio may decrease in response to the activities and financial prospects of an individual company in the portfolio. The value of an individual company can be more volatile than the market as a whole.

Overall stock market risks may also affect the value of the portfolio. Factors such as domestic economic growth and market conditions, interest rate levels and political events affect the securities markets. Common stocks tend to be more volatile than other investment choices.

The portfolio may invest in the common stocks of small and medium capitalization (“smid-cap”) companies, which may lack the managerial, financial or other resources necessary to implement their business plans or succeed in the face of competition. The adviser’s assessment of smid-cap companies may prove incorrect, or the prospects for a company or its industry may deteriorate because of a variety of factors, including disappointing operating results or changes in the competitive environment. It may be difficult to sell a small or smid-cap stock and this lack of market liquidity can adversely affect the portfolio’s ability to realize the market price of a stock, especially during periods of rapid market decline.

Prices of fixed income (debt) securities typically decrease in value when interest rates rise. This risk is usually greater for longer-maturity debt securities. Investments in debt with lower credit ratings (and non-rated credits) are subject to a greater risk of loss to principal and interest than those with higher credit ratings. StoneRidge has engaged its affiliate StoneRidge PMG Advisors, LLC as a sub-adviser to manage certain fixed-income assets held in balanced accounts.

Additional Small Cap company risk. The risks associated with investing in smaller companies include:

- ◆ The earnings and prospects of smaller companies are more volatile than those of larger companies.
- ◆ Smaller companies may experience higher failure rates than larger companies.
- ◆ The trading volume of securities of smaller companies is normally less than that of larger companies and, therefore, may disproportionately affect their market price, tending to make them fall more in response to selling pressure than is the case with larger companies.
- ◆ Smaller companies may have limited markets, product lines or financial resources and may lack management depth. These factors could negatively affect the price of the stock and reduce the value of the portfolio.
- ◆ Smaller companies are subject to liquidity risk. Liquidity risk is the risk that certain securities may be difficult or impossible to sell at the time and price that the advisor would like to sell. The adviser may have to lower the price, sell other securities instead or forego an investment opportunity, any of which could have a negative effect on portfolio management or performance.

Initial Public Offering (“IPO”) risk. Most IPOs involve a high degree of risk not normally associated with an investment in more seasoned companies. Because most IPOs involve smaller companies, the risk factors described above apply to IPOs.

Investors in IPOs can be affected by sales of additional shares and by concentration of control in existing management and principal shareholders. Stock prices of IPOs can also be highly unstable due to the absence of a prior public market, the small number of shares available for trading, and limited investor information.

Clients should be prepared to bear the risk of losing the monies they invest.

Item 9      Disciplinary Information

There are no legal or disciplinary events involving StoneRidge or its management persons.

Item 10      Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Neither StoneRidge nor any of its management persons is registered as, and does not have an application pending as, a securities broker-dealer, futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, or commodity trading advisor.

Item 11      Code of Ethics, Participation in Client Transactions/Personal Trading

Code of Ethics and Fiduciary Duty

StoneRidge has adopted a code of ethics (“Code of Ethics”) that sets forth standards of conduct that are expected of employees and addresses conflicts that may arise from personal trading conducted by StoneRidge’s “access persons,” as that term is defined in Rule 204A-1 under the Advisers Act. The Code of Ethics defines the expectation and requirement of professional and ethical conduct by all employees in accordance with StoneRidge’s fiduciary duty. The Code of Ethics is designed to ensure that StoneRidge and its employees and officers conduct their personal investment activities in such a manner as to place the interests of the clients first and to prevent conflicts of interest in fact or in appearance.

The Code of Ethics contains policies and procedures relating to: (a) general standards of conduct including outside business activities; (b) personal trading; (c) insider trading prevention; (d) political contributions; and (e) gifts and entertainment. Employees must affirmatively agree to abide by the terms of the Code of Ethics. Employees who fail to honor the Code of Ethics will be in violation of SEC Rule 204A-1 and subject to disciplinary sanctions which may include termination from StoneRidge's employ.

General Standards of Conduct

StoneRidge's standards of conduct are designed to ensure that its clients, employees and StoneRidge itself are protected from unethical and unprofessional conduct. StoneRidge has policies to, among other things:

- ◆ Govern outside business activities of employees
- ◆ Govern employee service as an officer, director, or partner in any other entity
- ◆ Monitor employee ownership interests in any non-publicly traded company or other private investments
- ◆ Protect confidential information
- ◆ Facilitate compliance with federal and state securities statutes

Personal Trading

All employees and officers of StoneRidge are prohibited from purchasing individual securities. However, when an employee or is/her household members wish to sell existing securities currently owned, the individual must follow the trading restrictions of the Code of Ethics.

The Code of Ethics includes restrictions on the type and timing of transactions, as well as requirements for pre-approval of IPOs, limited offerings, and private placements, as well as quarterly self-reporting of all transactions. Employees and officers are required to direct their personal account brokers to send duplicate confirms and statements directly to StoneRidge's Compliance Department. On an annual basis, StoneRidge requires all employees and officers to complete Annual Holdings Reports and certify that they have read, understood and complied with StoneRidge's Code of Ethics.

Insider Trading Prevention

StoneRidge prohibits all employees from illegally acting on, misusing or disclosing any material nonpublic information, also known as "inside information". StoneRidge monitors risks associated with inside information by:

- ◆ Providing periodic employee education and training
- ◆ Authorizing and monitoring employee service on boards of public companies

Gifts and Entertainment

As a fiduciary, StoneRidge strives to place client interests first and foremost. StoneRidge compliance policies and procedures are designed to ensure that the fiduciary standard of care is evident in all interactions with and on behalf of clients. StoneRidge compliance policies implement internal controls which address a number of business practices including the giving and receipt of gifts and entertainment. These controls include, among others:

- ◆ Requiring employees to report gifts and entertainment above certain thresholds
- ◆ Limiting the dollar value of gifts
- ◆ Monitoring entertainment activities

StoneRidge's Code of Ethics is available to current and prospective clients upon request; contact StoneRidge's Chief Compliance Officer at 484-254-5408 for more information.

Item 12      Brokerage Practices

As a fiduciary to its advisory clients, StoneRidge endeavors to seek best execution for client transactions, seeking to obtain not necessarily the lowest commission cost, but the best overall qualitative execution. Where StoneRidge has been given discretion to select brokers, StoneRidge utilizes a number of criteria in selecting brokers and determining reasonableness of transaction prices and commission rates. Among the factors are:

1. Execution capability;
2. Quality and timeliness of execution;
3. Quality and availability of research;
4. Efficiency in working with custodian banks;
5. Commission rates;
6. Services provided by brokers; and
7. Willingness to allocate commissions to other brokers for directed brokerage accounts.

Soft Dollars

Consistent with its obligation to seek best execution, StoneRidge may direct portfolio brokerage commissions to a broker in return for research and execution services that we use in making investment decisions for client accounts. This is referred to as "soft dollars". The use of soft dollar arrangements may cause clients to pay commissions higher than those charged by other broker-dealers in return for soft dollar benefits. StoneRidge's soft dollar balances may be higher than other investment advisers, which will reduce client investment returns.

Some examples of research services that are paid for with client commissions by StoneRidge are: FactSet Research Systems, Bloomberg, Standard and Poor's and The Markets.com. StoneRidge also uses research and execution services that have a "mixed use". A mixed-use research or execution service has both a research and an administrative use, and therefore are paid for in both soft dollars and hard dollars. Soft dollar transactions are reviewed quarterly. In addition, on a semi-annual basis all brokers are ranked on their research and execution capabilities. A report is maintained and reviewed to determine if the performance of brokers warrants a continued relationship.

In order to control soft dollars, the Head Trader has been designated to oversee all aspects of StoneRidge's soft dollar arrangements. The Head Trader maintains a master list of all soft dollar commitments, the product or service related to each arrangement, the applicable ratio of soft and hard dollars, and a running total of transactions executed against the total commitment. The Head Trader also maintains all written contracts and invoices received against these commitments, and attempts to allocate soft dollar benefits to client accounts proportionately to the soft dollar credits the accounts generate. Any changes to the arrangements will be indicated on the master list.

StoneRidge has adopted strict compliance policies to ensure that our use of soft dollars is consistent with our duty to obtain the best available execution and that research services represent fair and measurable value for our clients. Research services are obtained from providers that we believe add value to a broad range of accounts, although perhaps not useful to every account in every case.

Our use of soft dollar commissions represents a conflict of interest because we would otherwise pay for such research services out of pocket with fee revenues rather than with client commissions. To minimize this conflict of interest, the Head Trader regularly reviews commission rates to affirm their reasonableness. We do not execute securities transactions as a principal, so no soft dollars are paid in conjunction with principal transactions.

Directed Brokerage

From time to time, certain StoneRidge clients may request in writing that StoneRidge direct specific commission amounts to certain brokers (including those that rebate commissions to the clients). The client who directs StoneRidge to use a specific broker or type of broker may pay higher commission rates or receive less favorable execution on some transactions than non-directing clients because the directed broker may maintain a higher commission schedule or provide a less favorable service. If a client directs StoneRidge to use a particular registered representative or brokerage firm, the client will be advised that StoneRidge may be unable to bunch, block or aggregate his/her trades with those of other clients. The inability to bunch trades may result in the client's trades being executed at a price and time different from trades that are bunched and which may be less favorable.

It is StoneRidge's practice to combine or bunch orders for the purchase or sale of the same security so as to negotiate a more favorable price, a lower commission rate or lower transaction costs. As a rule, StoneRidge rotates the order of client directed and non-directed trades according to a calendar schedule. During one half of the month, client directed trades are executed before non-directed trades, while during the other half of the month, client directed trades are executed after non-directed trades.

When a bunched order is filled in its entirety, each client account in the group will participate at the average share price and average transaction costs obtained for the combined order on that same business day. When a bunched order is only partially filled, the securities purchased will normally be allocated proportionately based upon the initial amount requested for each participating client account, except as described below, and each participating client account will receive the average share price and average transaction costs for the bunched order on that same business day. Exceptions to this policy of pro rata allocation of partially filled orders are made as necessary to avoid a client receiving an insignificant allocation of shares, or holding an insignificant number of shares. In such cases, StoneRidge will increase or decrease the amount of securities that would otherwise be allocated to each account by reallocating the securities in a manner which StoneRidge deems fair and equitable to clients over time. In some cases, the combining or bunching of orders may adversely affect the results obtained for a client account. Recognizing that some strategy trades may be executed over multiple trading sessions, client directed trades may be executed several days after non-directed trade orders are initiated.

IPOs

In allocating shares of IPOs, StoneRidge allocates proportionately based upon the initial amount requested for each participating client. If StoneRidge receives a partial allocation of an IPO order request, the shares will be allocated to clients on a pro-rata basis relative to each participating client's assets under management, subject to a minimum deliverable lot size acceptable to the brokerage community (i.e., usually 100 share lots).

Therefore, clients with lesser assets under management may be precluded from participating in partially filled IPO orders; this occurs more frequently for those IPOs that have high investor demand (i.e., hot IPOs).

Trade Error Policy

StoneRidge has a written Trade Error Policy. In the event of a trade error caused by StoneRidge resulting in a loss to a client, the client is reimbursed where appropriate through the generation of a check, paid on behalf of the client to the client's custodian. If the error generates a gain in a client portfolio, the gain is retained by the client. If a broker causes an error, it is detected through the normal affirmation process and corrected by the broker prior to settlement.

Item 13      Review of Accounts

Reconciliation of client accounts

On a daily basis, the Operations Manager reconciles those client portfolios for which it has access to daily financial updates via online access. Those accounts are reviewed on the custodian's website and reconciled with the records on AXYS, the portfolio accounting platform utilized by StoneRidge. Any differences are resolved.

The Operations Manager performs an equity position reconciliation weekly. The Operations Manager downloads an asset listing from the custodian for each of StoneRidge's clients and reconciles against the positions maintained in AXYS.

Performance calculations are reviewed on a monthly basis by the Operations Manager and on a quarterly basis by at least one Portfolio Manager prior to dissemination to clients.

Dispersion reports reviewed weekly

Dispersion reports are run on a weekly basis and reviewed by the Compliance Department to ensure that clients managed in the same mandate have similar percentages of ownership of each position. The Compliance Department reviews dispersion across accounts on a weekly basis to ensure that differences are noted and are valid. Problems are reported to traders and Portfolio Managers for action to be taken when necessary. Documentation is obtained evidencing corrective action and is retained in the Compliance Department's files.

Client restrictions reviewed quarterly

Compliance with client guidelines is assured and tracked through a two-pronged compliance approach that includes: 1) input of client restrictions into the MOXY trade system and 2) a comprehensive quarterly compliance review of all investment restrictions and guidelines.

The team of Portfolio Managers also evaluates risk in portfolios through a weekly review of the various disciplines and accounts coupled with review of risk management reports focusing by product.

Client reports

Currently many of StoneRidge's institutional investors require written quarterly reports that contain performance, holdings and market commentary as well as quarterly, semi-annual and/or annual meetings. StoneRidge will develop written communications according to the client's specifications and will deliver the required data as frequently as the client reasonably requires.

Item 14      Client Referrals and Other Compensation

StoneRidge adheres to the SEC's pay-to-play policies adopted by the SEC. Among the key provisions of the rule is the prohibition of advisers from paying a third-party, such as a solicitor or placement agent, to solicit a government client on behalf of the adviser unless that third party is an SEC registered investment adviser or broker-dealer.

Robert Page is currently a member of StoneRidge and an independent Associated Person of StoneRidge. He works with StoneRidge in a client service maintenance capacity and receives a fee in connection therewith. This agreement does not cause any conflicts of interests with respect to clients.

Daniel Kinkade is a Consultant employed by StoneRidge to assist the Chief Investment Officer in performing quantitative analysis. This agreement does not cause any conflicts of interests with respect to clients.

Item 15      Custody

Clients can choose to have assets held at any qualified custodian. StoneRidge does not have physical custody of any assets held for clients. Furthermore, clients authorize us to give the custodian instructions for the purchase, sale, conversion, redemption, exchange, or retention of any security, cash or cash equivalent, or other investments for the client's account.

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker-dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains their investment assets. StoneRidge urges you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that we may provide to you. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

StoneRidge does not maintain custody of client funds. At no time will StoneRidge ever intentionally hold client cash and securities. The broker/dealer, bank, or other custodian handling the account physically holds securities and cash in each client's account.

As a firm policy, StoneRidge will not intentionally accept physical possession of client securities or funds (checks). Should StoneRidge gain unintended possession of client assets, such as when a client mails a stock certificate or a check, payable to StoneRidge, with instructions that StoneRidge deposit the securities or the check into the client's brokerage account, it is StoneRidge's policy to promptly return the check to the client despite the fact such action may appear to be a disservice to the client.

Item 16    Investment Discretion

The accounts that StoneRidge advises are discretionary accounts. With discretionary accounts, no specific client consent is required with respect to which securities are to be purchased or sold or what quantity is to be purchased or sold, though clients may choose to place limits on such discretion.

For the majority of client accounts, StoneRidge also exercises discretionary authority when choosing which broker is used and when negotiating the commission rates for securities transactions.

From time to time, certain of StoneRidge's clients may request in writing that StoneRidge direct specific commission amounts to certain brokers (including those that rebate commissions to those clients). In some but not all cases, StoneRidge may attempt to comply with such direction. StoneRidge will not use any other clients' commissions to satisfy a client's request for directed brokerage. The client who directs StoneRidge to use a specific broker or type of broker may pay higher commission rates or receive less favorable execution on some transactions than non-directing clients at least in part because the directed broker may maintain a higher commission schedule or provide less favorable service or because such transactions may be excluded from combined or block orders and any corresponding economies of scale. In such situations, transactions for such clients may not be able to be executed until after transactions for clients who do not have a limitation that directs StoneRidge to use a specific broker have been executed. In instances where the client directs StoneRidge to use a specific broker, the commission rate will be negotiated by the client or by StoneRidge depending upon instructions from the client.

StoneRidge's discretionary authority is derived from the Investment Management Agreement initially agreed upon by StoneRidge and the client.

Item 17    Voting Client Securities

Clients may delegate proxy voting authority over their account to StoneRidge. Such delegation may be made by the client through notice to StoneRidge in the written advisory agreement and to the account custodian. In the event a client delegates proxy voting authority to us, it remains the client's obligation to direct their account custodian to forward applicable proxy materials to StoneRidge so their account shares can be voted. StoneRidge will not vote shares unless we receive the proxy materials on a timely basis from the custodian.

StoneRidge has engaged Institutional Shareholder Services Inc. ("ISS") to assist in the proxy voting process. ISS makes recommendations as to how proxies should be voted, and provides the technology to facilitate timely voting. StoneRidge conducts due diligence on and monitors ISS' conflicts of interest, which ensure that StoneRidge is in a position to vote all proxies in the best interest of the beneficiaries of client accounts. All proxies will be voted by firm Research Analysts. The objective in the voting is to support proposals and director nominees that maximize the value of our clients' investments over the long term. Each proposal will be evaluated on its merits, based on the particular facts and circumstances as presented. The responsibility of ensuring that all properly received proxies are voted in a timely manner will fall to the Chief Compliance Officer.

In order to fulfill its responsibilities under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, StoneRidge has adopted policies and procedures for proxy voting. In exercising StoneRidge's proxy voting responsibilities, StoneRidge considers the following factors, among others: accountability, alignment of the company's management with the interest of the shareholders and transparency. The firm utilizes the proxy voting research and guidance services of Institutional Shareholder Services Inc. ("ISS"). Should a conflict of interest exist between StoneRidge and client(s) regarding the outcome of certain proxy votes, StoneRidge is committed to resolving the conflict in the best interest of clients before it votes the proxy in question. We may take the following action(s) to resolve the conflict: (a) disclose the conflict to clients and obtain consent before voting; or (b) suggest that client(s) engage another party to determine how the proxy should be voted.

Most of the time, we vote client proxies the same way across all accounts. However, if you ask us in writing to vote your proxies differently, for example in a manner consistent with the interests of Taft-Hartley accounts, we will do so. As a normal procedural matter, StoneRidge provides a quarterly proxy voting report to each applicable client and clients are able to change their proxy voting direction decision at any time upon written notice. Clients may obtain a copy of our proxy policy upon request by contacting the StoneRidge Chief Compliance Officer by phone at 484-254-5408 or by email at kclarke@stoneridgeinvestments.com. Clients may also obtain information from StoneRidge about how we voted any proxies on behalf of their account(s). The Chief Compliance Officer is responsible for tracking and delivery of the proxy policy or specifics on how proxies were voted upon the client's request.

StoneRidge will not be obligated to advise or act for its clients in any legal proceeding, including class actions and bankruptcies involving securities purchased or held in accounts managed by StoneRidge.

Item 18     Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in this Item to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about StoneRidge's financial condition. StoneRidge has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients, and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding. A balance sheet is not required to be provided because StoneRidge does not serve as a custodian for client funds or securities, other than as described above, and does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per client, six months or more in advance.

Item 19     Requirements for State-Registered Advisers
