ITEM 4: ADVISORY BUSINESS

Who PTCG is

Pring Turner Capital Group (“PTCG”) has been registered as an investment adviser since April 1977. PTCG’s principals are Joe Turner, President, Thomas Kopas, Chief Executive Officer, Martin Pring, Chairman and James Kopas, Portfolio Manager.

Services PTCG offers

PTCG provides portfolio management services for individuals, IRAs, family trusts, corporations, corporate retirement plans, foundations and to other investment advisers. PTCG generally seeks to obtain investment discretion over client accounts; however, PTCG will manage accounts on a non-discretionary basis if requested by a client.

PTCG utilizes an active asset allocation management process built around the ebb and flows of a business cycle. PTCG manages conservative balanced portfolios of equities, fixed income and inflation sensitive investments (i.e., natural resource and commodity producers including resource-rich country funds). Quality, value and income are emphasized and characteristic of PTCG’s portfolios. Liquidity of investments is another highly desired criteria for clients’ investment portfolios.

PTCG’s management services are tailored to each client’s objectives and risk tolerances within its overall conservative philosophy. For individuals and their related entities, PTCG determines whether there is a compatible fit between the client’s goals and objectives and PTCG’s philosophy and decision making process in the initial intake stages. In order to determine compatibility, PTCG establishes individual risk tolerances, investment guidelines and objectives with potential new clients during the initial intake and account setup.

Clients may impose certain restrictions on investing in certain securities or specific types of securities.

PTCG also provides portfolio management services through Institutional Intelligent Portfolios™, an automated, online investment management platform for use by independent investment advisors and sponsored by Schwab Wealth Investment Advisory, Inc. (the “Program” and “SWIA,” respectively). Through the Program, PTCG offers clients a range of investment strategies it has constructed and manages, each consisting of a portfolio of exchange traded funds (“ETFs”) and a cash allocation. A client may instruct PTCG to exclude up to three ETFs from their portfolio. The client’s portfolio is held in a brokerage account opened by the client at SWIA’s affiliate, Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (“CS&Co”). We are independent of and not owned by, affiliated with, or sponsored or supervised by SWIA, CS&Co or their affiliates (together, “Schwab”). The Program is described in the Schwab Wealth Investment Advisory, Inc. Institutional Intelligent Portfolios™ Disclosure Brochure (the “Program Disclosure Brochure”), which is delivered to clients by SWIA during the online enrollment process.

PTCG, and not Schwab, are the client’s investment advisor and primary point of contact with respect to the Program. PTCG is solely responsible, and Schwab is not responsible, for determining the appropriateness of the Program for the client, choosing a suitable investment strategy and portfolio for the client’s investment needs and goals, and managing that portfolio on an ongoing basis. SWIA’s role is limited to delivering the Program Disclosure Brochure to clients and administering the Program so that it operates as described in the Program Disclosure Brochure.

PTCG has contracted with SWIA to provide us with the technology platform and related trading and account management services for the Program. This platform enables PTCG to make the Program available to clients online and includes a system that automates certain key parts of our investment process (the “System”). The System includes an online questionnaire that helps PTCG determine the client’s investment objectives and risk tolerance and select an appropriate investment strategy and portfolio. Clients should note that PTCG will recommend a portfolio via the System in response to the client’s answers to the online questionnaire. The client may then indicate an interest in a portfolio that is one level less or more conservative or aggressive than the recommended portfolio, but PTCG then make the final decision and select a portfolio based on all the information we have about the client. The System also includes an automated investment engine through which PTCG manages the client’s portfolio on an ongoing basis through automatic rebalancing and tax-loss harvesting (if the client is eligible and elects).

PTCG does not receive a portion of a wrap fee for our services to clients through the Program. Clients do not pay fees to SWIA in connection with the Program, but PTCG charges clients a fee for its services as described below under Item 5.

Schwab does receive other revenues in connection with the Program, as described in the Program Disclosure Brochure.

PTCG does not pay SWIA fees for its services in the Program so long as PTCG maintains $100 million in client assets in accounts at CS&Co that are not enrolled in the Program. If PTCG does not meet this condition, then PTCG pays SWIA an annual fee of 0.10% (10 basis points) on the value of its clients’ assets in the Program. This fee arrangement gives PTCG an incentive to recommend or require that its clients with accounts not enrolled in the Program be maintained with CS&Co.

As part of the advisory services provided to clients, PTCC may provide financial planning which takes a comprehensive view of different aspects of the client’s current financial situation to develop a plan that allows us to help the client meet their investment goals and objectives. During the financial planning process, the client will participate in meetings to identify and prioritize their objectives, gather information, evaluate recommendations, and track progress towards the goals. The financial planning relationship may include meetings with the client’s other specialized advisors (attorneys, accountants, etc.)

Depending on the client’s objectives, a formal written financial plan may cover general financial planning, estate planning, educational fund planning, business succession planning, individual tax planning, business planning, retirement planning, corporate retirement planning, risk management and insurance planning. PTCC may make observations relating to legal or tax issues, but does not provide legal or tax advice.

A PTCC financial plan generally consists of observations, assumptions, strategies, and recommendations. The client is generally presented with a formal written plan based on the information they have provided. The client may choose to implement all or any part of the plan through PTCC or another professional of their choice. For certain consulting or ad-hoc requests, a written summary may not be provided.

Financial plan recommendations may create a potential conflict between the interests of the advisor and that of the client. For instance, if a financial planning recommendation were to increase the level of investment assets with the advisor, it would increase the advisory management fee paid to the advisor.

Assets under management

As of June 30, 2017, PTCG managed assets of $123,431,738 on a discretionary basis and $ 17,703,424 on a non-discretionary basis.

ITEM 5: FEES AND COMPENSATION

Advisory Fees & Billing Practices

Fees for investment management services are calculated as a percentage of assets under management. These fees are billed quarterly in advance, based on the assets under management as of the last day of the previous calendar quarter. PTCG typically begins charging an advisory fee at the time that the account is substantially-invested pursuant to the strategy and guidelines agreed upon between PTCG and the client. PTCG's annual management fee is customized for each client taking into consideration individual circumstances, the amount of funds under management, client objectives and goals, asset allocation, and anticipated activity and service. The following is the basic fee schedule for advisory fees which is utilized as the basis for determining the fees charged to clients upon considering the complexity of the overall relationship. Fees may vary by client.

As described in Item 4 "Advisory Business" above, clients do not pay fees to SWIA or brokerage commissions or other fees to CS&Co as part of the Program. Schwab does receive other revenues in connection with the Program, as described in the Program Disclosure Brochure. Brokerage arrangements are further described below in Item 12 "Brokerage Practices" below.

Account Value	Annual Fee
On the first $1,000,000	1.25%
On amounts over $1,000,000	1.00%

Fee schedules for clients participating in PTCG's sub-advisory programs are generally similar to the management fees charged to PTCG's direct clients with separately managed accounts. Because fees may be separately negotiated with the relevant client or third-party adviser, the fees may be more or less than those paid by a direct client with an account managed by PTCG in a similar strategy.

Clients may provide authorization for PTCG to deduct its fees directly from their investment account. Important information about the deduction of management fees:

- Clients must provide authorization for PTCG to deduct fees.
- Clients receive a detailed invoice each quarter which outlines PTCG's fees and how they are calculated at the same time PTCG requests payment from the custodian.
- Clients receive a statement from the custodian which shows their holdings.
- Clients are responsible for reviewing the accuracy of the fees being billed, as the custodian will not do so.

Clients may elect to pay by check rather than having payment deducted directly from their account. If a client chooses to pay by check, PTCG will issue a detailed invoice each quarter which outlines its fees and how they were calculated.

Clients may end the advisory relationship by providing ten (10) days written notice. PTCG will prorate the advisory fees earned through the termination date and send a refund of the prepaid, unearned portion of the fee. PTCG will process refund payments within seven (7) days of the termination date and either send a check or refund the investment account. In either case, PTCG will provide a final invoice detailing the calculation of the refund.

Other Costs Involved

In addition to the advisory fee shown above, clients are responsible for paying fees associated with investing for their accounts. These fees include:

- Management fees for ETFs and mutual funds. These are fees charged by the managers of the ETF or mutual fund and are a portion of the expenses of the ETF or mutual fund.
- Brokerage costs and transaction fees for any securities or fixed income trades. These are generally charged by the custodian and/or executing broker.

Additional information about brokerage costs and services is provided in “Item 12: Brokerage Practices.”

ITEM 6: PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

PTCG does not receive performance fees for managing accounts, or engage in side-by-side management, a practice where an adviser manages similar client portfolios where some are charged a performance-based fee and some are not.

ITEM 7: TYPES OF CLIENTS

PTCG’s clients are individuals, IRAs, family trusts, corporations, corporate retirement plans, foundations, and other investment advisers.

Prior to accepting and opening an account for a client, PTCG must determine that there is a compatible fit between the client's goals and objectives and PTCG's philosophy and decision making process. Additionally, PTCG generally requires that clients maintain a minimum of $1,000,000 under management. However, that minimum may be waived at PTCG’s sole discretion.

Clients eligible to enroll in the Program include individuals, IRAs and revocable living trusts. Clients that are organizations (such as corporations and partnerships) or government entities, and clients that are subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, are not eligible for the Program. The minimum investment required to open an account in the Program is $5,000. The Program Disclosure Brochure describes related minimum required account balances for maintenance of the account, automatic rebalancing, and tax-loss harvesting.

ITEM 8: METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

Economic expansions, contractions and recessions have always had a distinct impact on investments. PTCG has thoroughly researched more than one hundred fifty years of business cycle history. PTCG has found financial markets are linked to the business cycle in a logical, rational, and sequential relationship. PTCG carefully studied these relationships and has organized the business cycle into 'Six Stages of the Business Cycle'. Martin Pring, Chairman of PTCG, created barometers or models that determine in which stage the business cycle is positioned. Martin Pring has published two books that explain the methodology in detail (All Season Investor and Investor's Guide to Active Asset Allocation). In 2012, Martin Pring, Joe Turner and Tom Kopas co-authored Investing in the Second Lost Decade with a more detailed description of their methods of analysis.

PTCG’s comprehensive research analysis is designed to identify changes in the economy that directly affect the financial markets. PTCG then makes gradual stock, bond, and inflation asset allocation shifts to client portfolios as the economy moves through the business cycle stages. Individual objectives and risk tolerances are integrated into the asset allocation process. PTCG’s goal with extensive business cycle knowledge is to generate positive returns with the least amount of risk.

PTCG's conservative decision making process also integrates additional layers of risk management disciplines. Key risk management tenets of the investment style include stressing; Quality, Value, and Income. PTCG strives to build client portfolios that maintain a higher degree of quality, value, and more income than available from the popular broad stock and bond market indexes. Fundamental analysis and market timing tools using technical analysis are also integrated into the decision making process to assist in determining the risk and reward tradeoffs. In certain circumstances, PTCG may utilize hedging instruments such as inverse ETFs or ETFs that sell short for the purpose of reducing risk and stabilizing client portfolio values during actual or potential market downturns. PTCG's investment strategy typically experiences low portfolio turnover of approximately 25% per year.

The nature of investing comes with no guarantees of profits. Investing by its very nature entails risk of loss from a number of directions. PTCG starts with the critical premise that their job is to protect the clients' valuable assets. Preservation of capital is the cornerstone of PTCG's investment philosophy. Nonetheless, investors must be aware of the many types of investment risks and the possibility of capital loss. Material risks include market risk from economic events or geopolitical shocks which can negatively affect all asset types and strategies. Individual security risk or risk unique to an individual company's equity or bond issues can also adversely affect investors. PTCG also utilizes ETFs which carry their own set of risks and have their own internal operating and trading costs that may change over time and are beyond PTCG's control to manage. The risks specific to each ETF is disclosed in their offering documents. Other risks include interest rate risk, default risk and even acts of God. There is also the risk that research models can be early or late and that portfolios are out of step with current asset behavior. PTCG might be too aggressive for market conditions which may result in portfolio losses. Likewise, there is the risk of being too conservative or careful that ends with missing upside opportunity. For example, a portfolio that maintains a higher equity quality than the overall stock market will most likely be less volatile and lag behind and underperform a broad stock market up move. PTCG's philosophy and decision making are all geared towards reducing client volatility and material risks. Clients must determine their own tolerance for risk and only invest in those assets that can be exposed to the volatility and myriad of risks associated with investing in securities markets.

All investments involve different degrees of risk. Clients should be aware of their risk tolerance level and financial situation at all times. PTCG cannot guarantee the successful performance of an investment and is expressly prohibited from guaranteeing accounts against losses arising from market conditions.

The Program Disclosure Brochure includes a discussion of various risks associated with the Program, including the risks of investing in ETFs, as well as risks related to the underlying securities in which ETFs invest. In addition, the Program Disclosure Brochure also discusses market/systemic risks, asset allocation/strategy/diversification risks, investment strategy risks, trading/liquidity risks, and large investment risks.

ITEM 9: DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose any material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary actions that would be material to a client's evaluation of the investment adviser and each investment adviser representative providing investment advice. PTCG has no information of this type to report.

ITEM 10: OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS

As a registered investment adviser, PTCG is required to disclose when it, or any of its principals, have any other financial industry affiliations. While some of PTCG's principals have outside business affiliations, none of these affiliations are material to clients.

PTCG pays a consulting fee to Martin Pring for research which he provides under the trade name Pring Research. PTCG does not believe that this business arrangement causes any conflict of interest between itself and its clients.

Stefanie Jane Little is PTCG's Chief Compliance Officer. Ms. Little is a lawyer and is the President of Little Consulting Group, Inc. ("LCG"), a compliance consulting firm located in Elkton, Maryland. Ms.

Little is also Managing Member of SEC Compliance Alliance LLC (“SECCA”), also a compliance consulting firm based in Elkton, Maryland and its subsidiary, Chenery Compliance Group LLC (“CCG”). PTCG has entered into a Compliance Services Agreement with SECCA pursuant to which SECCA provides compliance services to PTCG, including the designation of Ms. Little as PTCG’s Chief Compliance Officer. Ms. Little represents other financial service firms however PTCG does not believe that those representations cause any conflict of interest between itself and its clients.

ITEM 11: CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

Code of Ethics

PTCG recognizes and believes that (i) high ethical standards are essential for its success and to maintain the confidence of its clients; (ii) its long-term business interests are best served by adherence to the principle that the interests of clients come first; and (iii) it has a fiduciary duty to its clients to act for their benefit. All personnel of PTCG must put the interests of clients before their own personal interests and must act honestly and fairly in all respects in dealings with clients. All personnel of PTCG must also comply with all federal securities laws. PTCG has adopted a Code of Ethics (the “Code”) governing personal trading by its personnel. Among other requirements, the Code of Ethics requires personnel to pre-clear their personal securities transactions with PTCG’s Chief Compliance Officer or his or her designee. Certain classes of securities (e.g. open-end mutual funds) are exempt from the pre-clearance requirements of the Code based on PTCG’s determination that these types of transactions have no practical effect on the best interests of clients. In addition, personnel are required to report their personal securities transactions and holdings to the Chief Compliance Officer. The Code also contains PTCG’s prohibitions against trading on the basis of material nonpublic information.

Please contact PTCG to receive a full copy of this Code of Ethics.

Personal Trading for Associated Persons

PTCG’s principals and other associated persons may buy or sell some of the same securities for clients that they already hold in their personal brokerage accounts. They may also buy for their personal brokerage accounts some of the same securities that clients already hold in their accounts. It is PTCG’s policy not to permit its associated persons (or their immediate relatives) to trade in a way that takes advantage of price movements caused by client transactions.

PTCG restricts trading in a security for its accounts or those of its associated persons if there is a pending trade in that same security for a client account. Trades for PTCG accounts (and those of its associated persons) will be placed as part of a block trade along with client trades, or individually at least one day after client trades have been completed. Additional information about block trades is provided in the Aggregation of Orders section of “Item 12: Brokerage Practices.” When PTCG or associated person trades are placed after clients’ trades, they may receive a better or worse price than that received by the clients.

PTCG and its associated persons may purchase or sell specific securities for their own account based on personal investment considerations without regard to whether the purchase or sale of such security is appropriate for clients.

ITEM 12: BROKERAGE PRACTICES

The Custodian and Brokers Used by PTCG

PTCG does not maintain custody of assets that it manages for clients, although it may be deemed to have custody of client assets if given the authority to withdraw assets from client accounts (see “Item 15: Custody”). Client assets must be maintained in an account at a “qualified custodian,” generally a broker/dealer or bank. PTCG recommends that clients use Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (“Schwab”), a registered broker/dealer, SIPC member, as the qualified custodian. PTCG is independently owned and operated and is not affiliated with Schwab. Schwab will hold client assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when instructed to do so by PTCG. While PTCG recommends that clients use Schwab as custodian/broker, clients will decide whether to do so and will open their account with Schwab by entering into an account agreement directly with them. PTCG does not open accounts for clients, although it may assist clients in doing so.

Even though client accounts are maintained at Schwab, PTCG can still use other brokers to execute trades for client accounts as described below (see “Client Brokerage and Custody Costs”).

How PTCG Selects Brokers/Custodians

PTCG seeks to use a custodian/broker who will hold client assets and execute transactions on terms that are, overall, most advantageous when compared to other available providers and their services. PTCG considers a wide range of factors, including, among others:

- Combination of transaction execution services and asset custody services (generally without a separate fee for custody);
- Capability to execute, clear, and settle trades (buy and sell securities for client accounts);
- Capability to facilitate transfers and payments to and from accounts (wire transfers, check requests, bill payment, etc.);
- Breadth of available investment products (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds (ETFs), etc.);
- Availability of investment research and tools that assist PTCG in making investment decisions;
- Quality of services;
- Competitiveness of the price of those services (commission rates, margin interest rates, other fees, etc.) and willingness to negotiate the prices;
- Reputation, financial strength, and stability;
- Prior service to PTCG and its other clients; and
- Availability of other products and services that benefit PTCG, as discussed below (see “Products and Services Available to PTCG from Schwab”).

Client Brokerage and Custody Costs

For PTCG clients’ accounts that Schwab maintains, Schwab generally does not charge separately for custody services but is compensated by charging commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that settle into clients’ Schwab accounts. PTCG has determined that having Schwab execute most trades is consistent with its duty to seek “best execution” of client trades. Best execution means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above (see “How PTCG Selects Brokers/Custodians”).

Products and Services Available to PTCG from Schwab

Schwab Advisor Services™ (formerly called Schwab Institutional®) is Schwab’s business serving independent investment advisory firms like PTCG. They provide PTCG and its clients with access to its institutional brokerage—trading, custody, reporting, and related services—many of which are not typically available to Schwab retail customers. Schwab also makes available various support services. Some of those services help PTCG manage or administer clients’ accounts, while others help manage and grow its business. Schwab’s support services generally are available on an unsolicited basis (PTCG does not have to request them) and at no charge as long as PTCG’s clients collectively maintain a total of at least $10 million of their assets in accounts at Schwab. If clients collectively have less than $10 million in assets at Schwab, Schwab may charge PTCG quarterly service fees of $1,200. Following is a more detailed description of Schwab’s support services:

Services That Benefit Clients.

Schwab’s institutional brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of client assets. The investment products available through Schwab include some which PTCG might not otherwise have access to or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by its clients. Schwab’s services described in this paragraph generally benefit clients and their accounts.

Services That May Not Directly Benefit Clients.

Schwab also makes available to PTCG other products and services that benefit it but may not directly benefit clients. These products and services assist PTCG in managing and administering clients’ accounts. They include investment research, both Schwab’s own and that of third parties. PTCG may use this research to service all or a substantial number of clients’ accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab. In addition to investment research, Schwab also makes available software and other technology that:

- Provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements);
- Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts;
- Provide pricing and other market data;
- Facilitate payment of PTCG’s fees from clients’ accounts; and
- Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting.

Services That Generally Benefit Only PTCG.

Schwab also offers other services intended to help PTCG manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services include:

- Educational conferences and events;
- Consulting on technology, compliance, legal, and business needs;
- Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession; and
- Access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, and insurance providers.

Schwab may provide some of these services itself. In other cases, it will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to PTCG. Schwab may also discount or waive its fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party's fees. Schwab may also provide PTCG with other benefits, such as occasional business entertainment of PTCG personnel.

PTCG utilizes several Schwab products, services and technologies that assist it in managing its investment advisory business and the portfolio management process:

- PTCG subscribes to Ned Davis Research, an independent research firm available through Schwab at a discount to PTCG;
- PTCG has taken advantage of back office training for its administrative staff;
- PTCG takes advantage of Schwab's Compliance Center to keep its personnel educated and abreast of developing and changing legal and regulatory requirements; and
- PTCG utilizes Schwab's Compliance Technologies system to administer its compliance program, including the Code of Ethics.

PTCG may have an incentive to recommend that clients maintain their accounts with Schwab, based on PTCG's interest in receiving Schwab's services that benefit its business rather than based on the clients' interest in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of their transactions. This is a potential conflict of interest. PTCG believes, however, that the selection of Schwab as custodian and broker is in the best interests of its clients. The selection is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of Schwab's services as well as their financial strength (see "How PTCG Selects Brokers/Custodians") and not Schwab's services that benefit only PTCG.

Aggregation of Orders

There are occasions on which portfolio transactions will be executed as part of concurrent authorizations to purchase or sell the same security for another client or one or more of PTCG's associated persons.

PTCG reserves the right to aggregate orders of its clients for trade execution and allocate the securities on a pro rata basis with the participating accounts receiving an average price for the security. In some instances, average pricing may result in higher or lower execution prices than otherwise obtainable by a single client. Commission costs are not averaged nor are they reduced as a result of such aggregation in order to assure that all clients are treated fairly. Clients will pay the same commission whether a trade is placed as part of a block or on an individual basis. PTCG believes that aggregation is consistent with its duty to seek best execution for all its clients. No additional remuneration will be received by PTCG as a result of such aggregation. Allocations may be handled on an 'other than pro rata' basis where circumstances warrant, including but not limited to allocating to accounts which are significantly under-invested, newly funded accounts or those with recent contributions or withdrawals. PTCG may make an allocation of an aggregated trade on a basis other than pro rata if:

- It is in the best interests of clients;
- An appropriate reason for the deviation from pro rata allocation exists, including:
 - A client has a unique or specialized investment objective that emphasizes investment in a particular category of securities and the security being acquired meets that investment objective and falls within that category;
 - The allocation would be too small to establish a meaningful position for the client in that security; or
 - The allocation would result in an account receiving an odd lot.

- All participating clients in the aggregated order are treated fairly and the variation from a pro rata allocation does not result in an unfair advantage or disadvantage to a client, or unfairly advantage PTCG.

PTCG may choose to block (aggregate) trades for client accounts with the personal accounts of persons associated with PTCG. Clients who direct trades away from Charles Schwab may obtain a different price than the average execution within a blocked trade and may pay a different commission for the transaction. Trades with different broker dealers are placed at different times. Procedures are in place to ensure that each broker is rotated through a trade order to ensure equitable treatment of all clients.

Trade Errors

If it appears that a trade error has occurred, PTCG will review the relevant facts and circumstances to determine an appropriate course of action. To the extent that trade errors and breaches of investment guidelines and restrictions occur, PTCG's error correction procedure is to ensure that clients are treated fairly and, following error correction, are in the same position they would have been if the error had not occurred. PTCG has discretion to resolve a particular error in any appropriate manner that is consistent with the above stated policy.

Directed Brokerage

Clients may instruct PTCG in writing through the use of a directed brokerage letter to execute any or all securities transactions for their account with or through one or more broker/dealers designated by the client. In these cases, the client is responsible for negotiating the terms and conditions (including, but not limited to, commission rates) relating to all services to be provided by the broker/dealers and the client must be satisfied with the terms and conditions. PTCG has no responsibility for obtaining the best prices or any particular commission rates for transactions with or through the broker/dealer in these situations. The client should recognize that it may not obtain rates as low as might otherwise have been obtained if PTCG had discretion to select broker/dealers other than those chosen by the Client. Additionally, a client that directs PTCG to use a specific broker may not be able to participate in aggregate securities transactions, may trade after such aggregate transactions and may receive less favorable pricing and execution. If a client would like PTCG to cease executing transactions with or through the designated broker/dealer they must notify PTCG in writing.

Clients who choose Schwab as the custodian for their account have the option to receive their account statements and transaction notices electronically or by mail. Schwab offers a discounted transaction rate of $8.95 per trade for those clients that elect to receive their account statements and transaction notices electronically, have aggregate assets of more than $1 million custodied with Schwab or are eighty (80) years old or older. Clients that choose to have their account statements and transaction notices delivered by mail or do not meet with other criteria referenced above will pay the full transaction rate of $19.95 per trade. PTCG requires each client who chooses to receive paper statements and notices (and therefore pay the higher transaction fee) to complete and submit to PTCG a brokerage direction form that contains the following representations:

- I indicate my preference to continue to receive my statements and transaction notices from Charles Schwab through regular U.S. mail;
- I understand that this choice will result in the a $19.95 per trade transaction fee and hereby direct PTCG to place trades with Charles Schwab despite that charge; and
- I acknowledge that this brokerage direction significantly impedes Pring Turner's ability to achieve best execution for my account.

Soft Dollars

“Soft dollars” were historically generated when an investment adviser entered into an agreement with an executing broker to receive a portion of the commissions generated by the adviser’s client trades. The soft dollars were allocated to the investment adviser and could then be used to purchase items or services. The investment adviser has a fiduciary duty to its clients to obtain best execution, on an overall basis, for all securities transactions.

PTCG does not use soft dollars as described above. The SEC changed the wording of certain questions on Form ADV and has indirectly changed the definition of soft dollars. Due to the new wording, the receipt of goods and/or services from a third party in connection with providing advice to clients could be seen as “soft dollars.” The additional services PTCG receives from Schwab, as disclosed in the section entitled “Products and Services Available to PTCG from Schwab” above, would fall under this description of soft dollars. Notwithstanding that technicality, PTCG continues to refrain from using commission dollars to purchase items or services.

In addition to PTCG’s portfolio management and other services, the Program includes the brokerage services of CS&Co, a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission and a member of FINRA and SIPC. While clients are required to use CS&Co as custodian/broker to enroll in the Program, the client decides whether to do so and opens its account with CS&Co by entering into an account agreement directly with CS&Co. PTCG do not open the account for the client. If the client does not wish to place his or her assets with CS&Co, then we cannot manage the client’s account through the Program. As described in the Program Disclosure Brochure, SWIA may aggregate purchase and sale orders for ETFs across accounts enrolled in the Program, including both accounts for our clients and accounts for clients of other independent investment advisory firms using the Program.

Schwab Advisor Services (formerly called Schwab Institutional) is Schwab’s business serving independent investment advisory firms like PTCG. Through Schwab Advisor Services, CS&Co provides PTCG and its clients, both those enrolled in the Program and our clients not enrolled in the Program, with access to its institutional brokerage services – trading, custody, reporting and related services – many of which are not typically available to CS&Co retail customers. CS&Co also makes available various support services. Some of those services help PTCG manage or administer its clients’ accounts while others help us manage and grow our business. CS&Co’s support services described below are generally available on an unsolicited basis (we don’t have to request them) and at no charge to PTCG. The availability to PTCG of CS&Co’s products and services is not based on us giving particular investment advice, such as buying particular securities for our clients. Here is a more detailed description of CS&Co’s support services:

CS&Co’s institutional brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of client assets. The investment products available through Schwab include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients. CS&Co’s services described in this paragraph generally benefit the client and the client’s account.

CS&Co also makes available to PTCG other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit the client or its account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients’ accounts. They include investment research, both Schwab’s own and that of third parties. PTCG may use this research to service all or some substantial number of our clients’ accounts, including accounts not maintained at CS&Co. In addition to investment research, CS&Co also makes available software and other technology that:

☐ provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements);

☐ facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts;

☐ provide pricing and other market data;

☐ facilitate payment of our fees from our clients' accounts; and ☐ assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. CS&Co also offers other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. These services include:

☐ educational conferences and events

☐ technology, compliance, legal, and business consulting;

☐ publications and conferences on practice management and business succession; and

☐ access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants and insurance providers. CS&Co may provide some of these services itself. In other cases, it will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to us. CS&Co may also discount or waive its fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party's fees. CS&Co may also provide us with other benefits such as occasional business entertainment of our personnel. One of PTCG's overriding principles is to put our clients first. Our interests are close aligned with our clients and we all benefit from CS&Co's capabilities. The information and services provided by CS&Co are vitally important in helping us serve our clients. The following services are valuable tools provided to us by CS&Co: Client Account Data, Trade Execution and Allocation, Market Pricing, Fee Payment, Back-Office Assistance, Access to Educational Conferences, Technology, Compliance, Legal, Succession Planning and Business Consulting.

ITEM 13: REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

PTCG reviews market conditions and all securities weekly. Some of its cyclical models are calculated monthly and any changes are brought into the review process. Any significant change in the investment status of an individual security, weekly and monthly models, and/or market conditions will trigger a review of all client holdings.

Martin Pring, Chairman, and Jim Kopas, Portfolio Manager, primarily conduct research and review market conditions. Joe Turner, Jim Kopas and Tom Kopas are responsible for reviewing security positions and client portfolios. PTCG utilizes an Investment Management & Trading Committee ("IMTC") to oversee the portfolio management and trading processes. All investment decisions are approved by the IMTC or its designee, which also performs account reviews and monitors trade execution, aggregation and allocation practices. The IMTC is comprised of Joe Turner, Tom Kopas and Jim Kopas. Martin Pring does not participate in the day to day investment management activities of PTCG, except to provide market research commentary.

PTCG believes one of its most critical responsibilities is to inform and educate clients to help make them more comfortable with their investment journey. PTCG provides a transaction bulletin for every major client purchase in portfolios that includes the rationale for the purchase. PTCG generates a quarterly client statement and newsletter that reviews the past quarter market conditions and the outlook for the next quarter. If there is an unexpected financial event or unusual market volatility, PTCG will often issue an interim bulletin with observations and perspective of the market action with any anticipated portfolio changes. All client newsletters, bulletins and special reports are available and maintained on PTCG's website.

PTCG clients also receive regular confirmations of transactions and monthly statements independently from their custodian brokerage firm, trust company or custodian bank. In addition, the client's custodian will issue 1099 reports for taxable accounts.

ITEM 14: CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

PTCG does not directly or indirectly compensate anyone for client referrals.

PTCG receives an economic benefit from Schwab in the form of the support products and services it makes available to PTCG and other independent investment advisers whose clients maintain their accounts at Schwab. These products and services, how they benefit PTCG and the related conflicts of interest are described above (see "Item 12: Brokerage Practices"). The availability to PTCG of Schwab's products and services is not based on PTCG giving particular investment advice, such as buying particular securities for clients.

The availability of services from CS&Co benefits PTCG because we do not have to produce or purchase them. PTCG doesn't have to pay for these services, and they are not contingent upon us committing any specific amount of business to CS&Co in trading commissions or assets in custody. With respect to the Program, as described above under Item 4: "Advisory Business", PTCG does not pay SWIA fees for its services in connection with the Program so long as PTCG maintains $100 Million in client assets in accounts at CS&Co that are not enrolled in the Program. In light of PTCG's arrangements with Schwab, we may have an incentive to recommend that our clients maintain their accounts with CS&Co based on our interest in receiving Schwab's services that benefit our business rather than based on the client's interest in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of transactions. This is a potential conflict of interest. PTCG believes, however, that its selection of CS&Co as custodian and broker is in the best interests of our clients. It is primarily supported by the scope, quality and price of CS&Co's services and not Schwab's services that benefit only us.

ITEM 15: CUSTODY

If clients give PTCG authority to deduct its fees directly from the client's separately managed account, PTCG is considered to have custody of those assets. In order to avoid additional regulatory requirements in these cases, PTCG follows the procedures outlined in "Item 5: Fees and Compensation." Clients will also receive quarterly statements directly from custodian of the account that details all transactions in the account. They will be sent to the email or postal mailing address the client provided to the broker/dealer. Clients should carefully review those statements promptly when received. PTCG also urges clients to compare account statements received from their Custodian to the periodic portfolio reports received from PTCG.

Under government regulations, PTCG is deemed to have custody of a client's assets if the client authorizes us to instruct CS&Co to deduct our advisory fees directly from the client's account. This is the case for accounts in the Program. CS&Co maintains actual custody of clients' assets. Clients receive account statements directly from CS&Co at least quarterly. They will be sent to the email or postal mailing address the client provides to CS&Co. Clients should carefully review those statements promptly when received. We also urge clients to compare CS&Co's account statements to the quarterly portfolio reports clients receive from us.

ITEM 16: INVESTMENT DISCRETION

Clients typically provide PTCG with discretionary authority to manage their assets. Discretionary authority means that the client is giving PTCG a limited power of attorney to place trades on their behalf. This limited power of attorney does not allow PTCG to withdraw money from client accounts, other than advisory fees if the client agrees to give PTCG that authority.

The client grants PTCG discretionary authority by completing the following items:

- Signing a contract with PTCG that provides a limited power of attorney for PTCG to place trades on the client's behalf. Any limitations to the trading authorization will be added to this agreement.
- Providing PTCG with discretionary authority on the new account forms that are submitted to the broker/dealer acting as custodian for the client's account(s).

Clients can designate any securities specific limitations when establishing the standard Investment Guidelines and Objectives required by PTCG. Clients may segregate certain assets from PTCG's management and it will not impose a management fee on those segregated assets, nor will PTCG take responsibility for the performance of those assets.

ITEM 17: VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

PTCG does not accept authority to vote proxies on behalf of separately managed account clients. Separately managed account clients will receive proxies and other related paperwork directly from their custodian. Upon request, PTCG will provide guidance about voting a specific proxy solicitation.

As described in the Program Disclosure Brochure, clients enrolled in the Program designate SWIA to vote proxies for the ETFs held in their accounts. PTCG has directed SWIA to process proxy votes and corporate actions through and in accordance with the policies and recommendations of a third party proxy voting service provider retained by SWIA for this purpose. Additional information about this arrangement is available in the Program Disclosure Brochure. Clients who do not wish to designate SWIA to vote proxies may retain the ability to vote proxies themselves by signing a special CS&Co form available from us.

ITEM 18: FINANCIAL INFORMATION

PTCG does not charge or solicit pre-payment of more than $1,200 in fees per client six months or more in advance. PTCG has never filed for bankruptcy and is not aware of any financial conditions that are reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet its contractual obligations to clients.
