FEES AND COMPENSATION

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

Initial fee for services

Our initial fee for planning services typically ranges from $1,000 to $5,000, depending on the complexity of the services you request. We will provide a fee estimate before beginning the work. The fee is due in full when we present our final recommendations. This initial fee may be waived at our discretion.

If our agreement with you is ended before any work on your behalf is completed, a prorated amount for uncompleted services will be returned to you.

Ongoing fee for services

We calculate fees for ongoing services as follows:

- 1.00% per year for the first $1 million we manage; plus
- 0.50% per year for amounts greater than $1 million up to $5 million; plus
- 0.25% per year for amounts greater than $5 million

Our minimum investment advisory fee is $1,250 per quarter. This minimum fee may be waived at our discretion and the fee schedule may be increased or decreased based on the characteristics of your portfolio, including the size and number of separate accounts, the types of investments to be purchased for your portfolio and the probability of future asset contributions to your portfolio.

Billing and types of payments

The investment advisory fee is due at the beginning of each calendar quarter, specifically Jan 1, April 1, July 1 and September 1. Fees are based on the fair market value of your portfolio at the close of the last trading day of the previous quarter. Fees are deducted electronically from your portfolio, unless you request to pay by check. We do not accept cash or credit card payments.

An invoice will be provided to you each quarter and will indicate whether your fees have been deducted from your account or are due from you. Fees will be assessed beginning with the initial transfer of your assets to our custodian.

Services that begin and end within a quarter, or are terminated before the end of the quarter, will be calculated by determining the number of whole months during which work was completed on your behalf, dividing that number by three, and prorating the quarterly fee based on this ratio. If you choose to end our agreement during the quarter, we will refund to you any unearned fees using the same ratio.

FEES AND COMPENSATION

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

Methods of analysis, investment strategies and risk of loss

Our role in investment management is twofold. We develop asset allocations (mixes of various types of stocks, bonds and cash) and then identify money managers to choose individual stocks and bonds. In our first role, we rely on numerous sources to assist in making decisions, including:

- Financial newspapers and magazines.
- Research materials prepared by others.
- Information gathered through discussions with money managers and other financial experts.
- Annual reports, prospectuses and filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

Our second role is to identify exceptional money managers to select the individual stocks and bonds for the portfolio. Although we typically use mutual funds as our preferred investment vehicle, we occasionally include exchange traded funds and consider separately managed accounts as well. To select money managers, we use third-party research services, such as Morningstar; publicly available information provided by the fund, and extensive interviews and conference calls with the money managers themselves. Our typical money managers select stocks and bonds based on fundamentals, meaning they consider the business associated with the stock or bond. They do not rely solely on price movements, also known as technical analysis. Most of our managers are long-term investors as well, meaning they view their ownership in a company as an investment in a business, not just in a stock.

WJ believes successful investors do not try to time the market by moving in and out of the market based on emotion; instead, they select good managers and stick with them. As a result, we are not rapid traders and we stay with managers for many years, even during down periods.

Despite all these efforts, your portfolio will decline in value during certain periods. We will work with you to develop your expectations regarding losses and can adjust your portfolio to reduce potential losses during market downturns.

Generally, we do not use more exotic methods, such as shorting, margin transactions, option writing or leveraged transactions, unless we have specifically agreed with you to implement these strategies. These types of strategies materially increase risk in portfolios; we avoid them unless you request them in writing.

WJ Interests, its principals and staff members have no legal or disciplinary events in its history, including:

- No criminal or civil actions in any court.
- No administrative proceedings before the SEC, any other federal regulatory agency, any state regulatory agency, or any self-regulatory organization.

WJ has a fiduciary duty to our clients, meaning we have a duty of utmost good faith to act solely in your best interest. We've developed the following policies and procedures to meet this standard:

Code of Ethics

- The interests of clients will be placed ahead of WJ's or any employee's own investment interests.
- Employees are expected to conduct their personal securities transactions in accordance with our personal trading policy and will strive to avoid any actual or perceived conflict of interest with our clients.
- Employees will not take inappropriate advantage of their positions with WJ.
- Employees are expected to act in the best interests of each of our clients.
- Employees are expected to comply with federal securities laws.

We protect your information

Employees are expected to exercise diligence and care in maintaining and protecting your nonpublic, confidential information. They are also expected to not divulge information regarding WJ's securities recommendations or client securities holdings to any individual outside of the firm, except:

- As necessary to complete transactions or account changes (for example, communications with brokers and custodians);
- As necessary to maintain or service a client or his/her account (for example, communications with a client's accountant);
- With service providers involved in administrative functions for WJ (such as our technology service provider), only after we have entered into a contractual agreement that prohibits the service provider from disclosing or using confidential information.
- As permitted by law.

Privacy statement

WJ is committed to safeguarding your confidential information. We hold all personal information provided to our firm in the strictest confidence.

CODE OF ETHICS

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

- We have never disclosed information to nonaffiliated third parties, except as permitted by law, and do not anticipate doing so in the future. We are prohibited by law to do so without advising you first.
- We limit access to information only to those who have a business or professional reason for knowing, and only to nonaffiliated parties as permitted by law. For example, federal regulations permit us to share a limited amount of information about you with a brokerage firm to execute securities transactions on your behalf, or so that we can discuss your financial situation with your accountant or lawyer.
- We maintain a secure office and computer environment to ensure that your information is not placed at unreasonable risk.
- The types of personal information that we ask for depend upon the specifics of your portfolio. It may include information about your personal finances, your health to the extent that it is needed for the planning process, transactions between you and others, and information from consumer reporting agencies.
- For unaffiliated third parties that require access to your personal information, such as financial service companies, consultants, and auditors, we require strict confidentiality in our agreements with them and expect them to keep your information private. Federal and state regulators also may review firm records as permitted under the law.
- We do not provide your personally identifiable information to mailing list vendors or solicitors for any purpose.
- Your information is kept while you are a client, and after for as long as is required by federal and state securities laws. It is destroyed after all recordkeeping requirements have been met.

Personal conduct rule

WJ also has established a personal conduct rule to avoid any actual or perceived conflict with clients that addresses:

- Giving and receiving gifts.
- Serving as director for an outside company.
- Outside business interests.

In addition, new employees must acknowledge that they have read, understand and agree to comply with the Code of Ethics, personal trading policy and personal conduct rule. All employees are required to renew this acknowledgement each year as part of WJ's annual compliance practices.

CODE OF ETHICS

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

Personal trading policy

- Employees are required to know which securities are being traded by WJ, and are encouraged to consult with Jared Jameson, chief compliance officer (CCO), to determine if a personal trade would be appropriate.
- Employees must receive approval from Jared Jameson before investing in an initial public offering (IPO) or an equity position within a non-public company. Jared will receive approval from Bill Jameson before approving the investment.
- Employees are required to report all their personal securities transactions and holdings each quarter. This includes the personal securities information of any family member living within the same household as the employee.
- Employees may hold or trade the following securities, which are considered safest for an employee to purchase, sell or hold from a regulatory perspective, both for WJ and the employee:
 - Shares of open-end mutual funds.
 - Shares of any money market fund.
 - Direct obligations of the US Government.
 - Money market instruments, such as bankers' acceptances, bank certificates of deposit, commercial paper, repurchase agreements and other high-quality, short-term debt.

Review of personal transactions

Jared Jameson, CCO, will generally consider the following factors when reviewing reportable security holdings and transactions or approvals by employees to purchase IPOs or private placements:

- Whether the investment opportunity should be directed to a client's account.
- Whether the amount or nature of the transaction affected the price or market for the security.
- Whether the purchases or sales being made for clients benefited the employee.
- Whether the transaction harmed any client.
- Whether the transaction has the appearance of impropriety.

Violations

All employees are required to promptly report any violation of this policy to Jared Jameson, including the discovery of any violation committed by another employee. Examples of items that should be reported include noncompliance with federal securities laws, conduct that is harmful to clients and purchasing securities contrary to the personal trading policy.

CODE OF ETHICS

Employees are encouraged to report any violations or apparent violations. Such reports will not be viewed negatively by firm management, even if the event is determined not to be a violation, but that it was reported in good faith.

Sanctions

If an event is determined to be a violation of this policy, sanctions may be imposed, including loss of profits, reversal of the trade or suspension of trading privileges.

OTHER ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS

Other financial industry activities and affiliations

WJ Interests, its principals and staff members do not participate in any other financial industry activities outside of providing services to our clients. We also are not affiliated with any financial organization or association.

BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

Selecting brokerage firms

WJ is obligated, as a fiduciary, to make sure the broker we suggest you use provides a high level of service and the best execution for securities purchased through them.

When suggesting a broker, we consider the following:

- The financial condition of the brokerage.
- The quality of its record keeping.
- Its ability to obtain the best price.
- Its knowledge of the market, securities and industries.
- Its commission structure.
- Its technological sophistication.
- Its responsiveness to client concerns.
- Its reputation and integrity.

The determining factor is not always the lowest commission cost, but whether the transaction represents the best execution for the account.

WJ conducts a formal review of all our brokers at least once a year.

WJ does not accept client-directed brokerage arrangements.

Soft dollars

WJ periodically uses research information provided by the broker-dealers with whom we conduct business. However, we do not have any agreements to compensate broker-dealers for their research information. We also do not compensate broker-dealers for third-party research services, known as "soft dollar arrangements."

Order aggregation

WJ might aggregate trades if it is beneficial to you and we have established trade allocation policies to ensure all of our clients are treated fairly. A trade aggregation and allocation policy would include:

BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

- Determining how a particular security is to be allocated before placing the trade with the broker.
- Bunching single orders into blocks when possible to obtain the best execution at the best security price available.

We attempt to provide the same investment opportunities to all of our clients, but when investment opportunities have a limited allocation, we consider the following in making the allocation decision:

- Your goals and objectives.
- Your risk tolerance.
- Your financial situation, including your asset base, liquidity and the character of your non-investable assets.
- Any restrictions or limitations you have placed on your portfolio.

We make every attempt to consistently apply a trade aggregation and allocation policy; however, in cases where use of this policy results in unfair or inequitable treatment to some or all of our clients, we may deviate from this policy.

Return to Table of Contents

REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

Periodic reviews and review triggers

WJ uses a software tool to monitor client accounts. The software provides notices of client contributions, withdrawals, or significant changes in asset allocation. The notices trigger a full review of the portfolio. Software notices are generated on a weekly basis. Additional reviews are prompted by volatile market conditions, changes in your goals and objectives, or changes in our model portfolios.

WJ meets monthly to set investment policy for the coming month. The meetings, referred to as Tactical Asset Allocation (TAA) meetings, occur near the end of the month and are attended by all investment advisors. Historical portfolio performance, individual investment performance, past portfolio changes, stock and bond market changes, and the current macroeconomic environment are reviewed. Investment policy for the coming month is set by developing security level targets for each type of portfolio we manage.

Portfolios managed by WJ vary based on risk tolerance, tax status, asset location, portfolio size and other factors. Proposed changes to portfolios are conveyed to clients through WJNotes, our investment email, and our quarterly journal, the WJournal. Potential trades are generated by our software, reviewed by an investment advisor and submitted to custodians electronically for trading. The decision to trade is based on several factors, including deviations from target weighting, tax consequences, holding period, manager changes and the size of the trade.

We believe that frequent contact is critical to ensure financial plans and investment portfolios continue to meet client needs. Consequently, we make every effort to discuss your portfolio with you through phone conversations and meetings. We also ask you to contact us if your financial circumstances change.

Custodian reports

Our primary custodians are Charles Schwab & Co. Inc. and TD Ameritrade. Both custodians provide monthly reports to clients for each of their accounts. Other custodians, such as 401(k) custodians, provide at least quarterly reports, with some providing monthly reports. Both Schwab and TD Ameritrade also provide access to client portfolios through their websites.

WJ provides updated consolidated performance and holding summaries through our password-protected online client portal.

REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

WJ Interests reports

WJ maintains a password-protected client portal for all clients. Performance, asset allocation and holdings information is updated daily. In addition, detailed PDF reports are posted quarterly; clients are notified at the time of each posting.

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

Client referrals

WJ does not:

- Compensate anyone for referring new clients to us.
- Receive compensation from other professionals to whom we may refer for other financial services.

Other compensation

WJ is not paid by anyone besides our clients. WJ does not receive sales awards, prizes or other compensation for recommending specific investments or offering certain advice.

WJ may receive support services and products from Charles Schwab, TD Ameritrade, or other investment providers for free or at a discounted price, in order to better service client accounts. Support services include:

- Investment-related research.
- Pricing information and market data.
- Software and other technology to provide access to client account data.
- Compliance and practice management-related publications, seminars or consulting services.
- Discounted or free attendance at conferences, meetings and other events.

WJ has made no commitment to any institution to invest a specific amount or percentage of client assets in any specific mutual funds, securities or other investment products as a result of the above arrangement.

CUSTODY

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

Custody policy

WJ only has custody of your assets to the extent that we are able to deduct advisory fees directly from your accounts. The following procedures are designed to help ensure we do not inadvertently obtain further custody of client assets:

- We will obtain prior written authorization from you before deducting fees directly from your account.
- We will not hold client securities in WJ's name or in bearer form.
- We will not require you to prepay more than $500 in fees six months or more in advance.
- Proceeds from the redemption of client securities may not be directed to WJ.
- We cannot have signatory power over your checking or custodial account.
- An employee may not serve as trustee of your account, unless you are an immediate family member of that employee.
- All wire transfers from your custodial accounts to any non-client accounts must be accompanied by your written authorization.

Qualified custodians

- All client assets will be held by a qualified custodian, which may include a broker-dealer, bank or foreign financial institution.
- We will not route original custodial statements to you on behalf of a custodian. All custodian account statements will be sent directly to you.
- We ensure that you receive custodial statements directly from the custodian by:
 - Receiving duplicate copies.
 - Confirming with each custodian that statements were sent.
 - Confirming with you during client meetings that you are receiving statements from the custodian.
- You are required to open your custodial accounts. WJ will assist you by preparing paperwork for a new account, but you must authorize any new custodial account.

CUSTODY

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

- You are encouraged to carefully review your custodial statements and to compare them to your WJ statements. Contact us directly if you have questions regarding any discrepancies.

Handling client funds

WJ will handle or forward checks clearly made payable to a third party, such as your custodian.

We will not handle or forward any other client check or security certificate. All such documents will be returned to you within three business days, and will not be forwarded to any other party.

Handling security certificates

WJ will not handle security certificates, but may assist you in completing transfer documents and sending paperwork to ensure security certificates are properly deposited. You must be present during the process and are responsible for handling the certificates. Employees should never physically handle any security certificates.

Return to Table of Contents

INVESTMENT DISCRETION

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

Discretionary authority for trading

WJ Interests requires full discretion to manage your account, which is given upon signing our advisor agreement. This grants us authorization to invest and reinvest the assets in your portfolio, make investment changes and other decisions in accordance with your Investment Policy Statement (IPS) without your prior consultation or approval. Because you are able to place restrictions in your portfolio, WJ may elect to overweight non-restricted securities or groups to compensate.

Common client restrictions include:

- Individual stocks you would prefer are held in your accounts for tax purposes or other reasons.
- Managers or asset classes you cannot hold in your accounts.

WJ Interests does not accept non-discretionary management accounts as it is difficult for us to effectively manage portfolios without full discretion, due to time lags, documentation and regulatory requirements.

Limited power of attorney

You will be required to provide limited power of attorney for each of your accounts. This document gives WJ authority to:

- Place trades on your behalf.
- Disburse funds to you or someone you designate.
- Pay asset management fees, if you so choose.
- Vote proxies, if you so choose.

Return to Table of Contents

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

Proxy votes

WJ will vote all proxies unless you specifically reserve your right, in writing, to vote your own proxies.

As WJ's chief compliance officer, Jared Jameson is responsible for ensuring that all proxies received by WJ are voted in a timely manner and in a manner consistent with your best interests. Associate planner Brandon Arns will serve as the proxy voting coordinator, who is responsible for reviewing and voting proxies. In Brandon's absence, Jared will review and vote proxies. Office manager Susan Barnes will record all votes.

WJ has prepared proxy voting guidelines for certain types of common proxy voting items. The guidelines are reviewed and updated as necessary to reflect new issues and any changes in policies. In general, WJ will vote in accordance with its guidelines; however, we reserve the right to depart from the guidelines and make voting decisions on a case-by-case basis.

Guidelines

In general, WJ will vote to oppose the following issues:

- Issues regarding the issuer's board entrenchment and anti-takeover measures, such as:
 - Proposals to stagger board members' terms.
 - Proposals to limit the ability of shareholders to call special meetings.
 - Proposals to require super majority votes.
 - Proposals requesting excessive increases in authorized common or preferred shares when management provides no explanation for the use or need of these additional shares.
 - Proposals regarding "poison pill" provisions.
 - Permitting "green mail."
- Providing cumulative voting rights.
- Social issues, unless specific client guidelines state otherwise, such as restrictions on investing in certain countries.

In general, WJ will vote to approve the following issues:

- Election of directors recommended by management, except if there is a proxy fight.

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

- Election of auditors recommended by management, unless seeking to replace current auditors.
- Date and place of the annual meeting.
- Limitations on charitable contributions.
- Ratification of directors' actions on routine matters that have arisen since the last annual meeting.
- Limiting directors' liability.

In general, WJ will vote on the following issues on a case-by-case basis:

- To pay directors solely in stocks.
- To eliminate mandatory retirement policies for directors.
- To rotate the annual meeting location or date.
- On stock grants to management and directors.
- On allowing indemnification of directors and/or officers after reviewing the applicable laws and extent of protection requested.

Conflicts of interest

Brandon Arns will review each proxy proposal for conflicts of interest as part of the review process. A conflict of interest may exist if:

- WJ serves as the investment adviser to the investment company soliciting the proxy.
- WJ has a business relationship with, or is actively soliciting business from, either the company soliciting the proxy or a third party that has a material interest in the outcome of a proxy vote.

If Brandon has knowledge of a personal conflict of interest, such as a familial relationship with company management, he will refer voting of the proxy to Jared Jameson.

If a proxy proposal raises a material conflict between WJ's and your interests, WJ will resolve such a conflict following the steps below:

1. Vote in accordance with the guidelines.

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Narrative Brochure - Form ADV Part 2A

2. If there are no guidelines in place to address the specific conflict, WJ may cast the proxies in the same proportion as other shareholders who are not affiliated with WJ, to the extent that WJ has available information to permit that form of voting, known as “shadow” or “mirror” voting.
3. If shadow voting is not an available option, WJ will abstain from voting the securities.
4. If WJ determines that it is in your best interest to cast the proxy, WJ will forward the voting materials to you.

Limitations

In certain circumstances, WJ will not vote your proxies:

- If you have specified in writing that you will maintain the authority to vote proxies or have delegated the right to vote proxies to a third party. WJ will not vote the securities and will direct the relevant custodian to send the proxy material directly to you. Any proxy materials received by WJ will be forwarded promptly.
- If your account with WJ has been terminated. WJ will not vote any proxies received after the termination. You may specify in writing that any proxies received should be sent to you or a third party for action.
- If WJ determines that the value of your economic interest or the portfolio holding is indeterminable or insignificant.
- If the securities are no longer held in your account.
- If the cost of voting the proxy would exceed any anticipated benefits.

Recordkeeping

WJ keeps proxy voting records indefinitely. You can request copies of WJ’s proxy voting policies and procedures and how your proxies were voted by writing to wj@wjwealth.com or 2333 Town Center Drive, Suite 100, Sugar Land, TX 77478. Phone requests cannot be honored.

Class action lawsuits

WJ, as a general policy, chooses not to participate in class action lawsuits on behalf of its clients. Rather, we leave such decisions with you. WJ will help you decide if you should pursue a particular class action lawsuit upon request, by developing a cost-benefit analysis for example, but the final choice of whether to participate is yours.

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Financial condition

WJ requires investment management fees to be paid in advance but never more than three months in advance. Unearned fees will be returned as specified in your advisory agreement.

As discretionary managers of your assets, our financial condition is important to meeting our contractual obligations. Our financial condition is such that it will not impair our ability to serve you.

WJ has never been the subject of a bankruptcy petition.
