Advisory Business

Firm Description

Investment advice is an integral part of financial planning. In addition, HIPC advises clients regarding cash flow, college planning, retirement planning, tax planning and estate planning.

Investment advice is provided, with the client making the final decision on investment allocation. HIPC does not act as a custodian of client assets. The client always maintains asset control. HIPC places trades for clients under a limited power of attorney.

A written evaluation of each client's initial situation is provided to the client, often in the form of a net worth statement. Periodic reviews are also communicated to provide reminders of the specific courses of action that need to be taken. More frequent reviews occur, but are not necessarily communicated to the client unless immediate changes are recommended.

Other professionals (e.g., lawyers, accountants, insurance agents, etc.) are engaged directly by the client on an as-needed basis. Conflicts of interest will be disclosed to the client in the unlikely event they should occur.

The initial meeting, which may be by telephone, is free of charge and is considered an exploratory interview to determine the extent to which financial planning and investment management may be beneficial to the client.

Principal Owners

William G. Hammond is 60% stockholder.

MaryJane M. LeCroy is 40% stockholder.

Types of Advisory Services

HIPC provides investment supervisory services, also known as portfolio management services.

On more than an occasional basis, HIPC furnishes advice to clients on matters not involving securities, such as financial planning matters, taxation issues, and trust services that often include estate planning.

As of 12/31/2016, HIPC manages approximately $180,789,000 in assets for approximately 100 clients on a discretionary basis.

Tailored Relationships

The goals and objectives for each client are documented in our client relationship management system. Investment policy statements are created to reflect stated goals and objectives. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

Agreements may not be assigned without client consent.

Types of Agreements

The following agreements define the typical client relationship.

Financial Planning Agreement

A financial plan is designed to help the client with all aspects of financial planning without ongoing investment management after the financial plan is completed and implemented.

The financial plan may include, but is not limited to: net worth statement; cash flow statement; review of investment accounts, including asset allocation and repositioning recommendations; strategic tax planning; review of retirement accounts and plans; review of insurance policies and recommendations for changes, if necessary; one or more retirement scenarios; estate planning review and recommendations; and education planning and funding recommendations.

Detailed investment advice and specific recommendations are provided as part of a financial plan. Implementation of the recommendations is at the discretion of the client.

The fee for financial planning is predicated upon the facts known at the start of the engagement. The fee range is $1,000 to $3,000 and is negotiable. Since financial planning is a discovery process, situations occur wherein the client is unaware of certain financial exposures or predicaments.

In the event the client's situation is substantially different than disclosed at the initial meeting, a revised fee will be provided for mutual agreement. The client must approve the change of scope in advance of the additional work being performed when a fee increase is necessary.

After delivery of a financial plan, future face-to-face meetings may be scheduled as necessary for up to one month. Follow-up work may be billed separately at the rate of $250.00 per hour.

Although the Advisory Service Agreement is an ongoing agreement and constant adjustments are required, the length of service to the client is at the client's discretion. The client or the investment manager may terminate an Agreement by written notice to the other party. At termination, fees will be billed on a pro rata basis for the portion of the quarter completed. The portfolio value at the completion of the prior full billing quarter is used as the basis for the fee computation, adjusted for the number of days during the billing quarter prior to termination.

Hourly Planning Engagements

HIPC provides hourly planning services for clients who need advice on a limited scope of work. The rate for limited scope engagements is $250.00 per hour.

Portfolio Management (Discretionary Management) Agreement

A Portfolio Management Agreement may be executed in addition to a financial planning agreement or when financial planning is not provided as part of the relationship.

Stocks, mutual funds and/or bonds may be purchased or sold in a brokerage account when appropriate. The brokerage firm charges a transaction fee for stock and bond trades. HIPC does not receive any compensation, in any form, from brokerage houses or fund companies in managed accounts.

Investments may include: equities (stocks), warrants, corporate debt securities, commercial paper, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, investment company securities (variable life insurance, variable annuities, and mutual funds shares), U. S. government securities, options contracts, futures contracts, and interests in partnerships.

Initial public offerings (IPOs) are not available through HIPC.

The annual Portfolio Management Agreement fee is based on a percentage of the investable assets according to the following schedule:

- 1.20% on the first $1,000,000;
- 1.00% on the next $1,000,000 (from $1,000,001 to $2,000,000); and
- 0.75% on the assets above $2,000,000.

Current client relationships may exist where the fees are higher or lower than the fee schedule above.

Termination of Agreement

A Client may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying HIPC in writing and paying the rate for the time spent on the investment advisory engagement prior to notification of termination. If the client made an advance payment, HIPC will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

HIPC may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying the client in writing. If the client made an advance payment, HIPC will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

Fees and Compensation

Description

HIPC bases its fees on a percentage of assets under management, hourly rates, and fixed fees (not including subscription fees). Client fees are audited quarterly during the billing cycle by MaryJane LeCroy.

Financial plans are priced according to the degree of complexity associated with the client's situation. Fees are negotiable.

Fee Billing

Portfolio management fees are billed quarterly, in advance, meaning we invoice the client at the beginning of the three-month billing period. Payment in full is expected upon invoice presentation. Fees are generally deducted from a designated client account to facilitate payment. The client must consent in advance to direct debiting of their investment account. Fees are audited quarterly.

Fees for financial plans are billed 50% due upon delivery of the financial plan and the remaining 50% due six months later. These fees are not deducted from client account.

Other Fees

Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of stocks, certain mutual funds and exchange-traded funds. These transaction charges are usually small and incidental to the purchase or sale of a security. The selection of the security is more important than the nominal fee the custodian charges to buy or sell the security.

HIPC, in its sole discretion, may waive its minimum fee and/or charge a lesser investment advisory fee based upon certain criteria (e.g., historical relationship, type of assets, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amounts of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, negotiations with clients, etc.).

Expense Ratios

Mutual funds generally charge a management fee (or expense ratio) for their services as investment managers. For example, an expense ratio of 0.50 means the mutual fund company charges 0.5% for their services. These fees are reflected in the net asset value (NAV) of the fund and are in addition to the fees paid by the client to HIPC.

Performance figures quoted by mutual fund companies in various publications are after their fees have been deducted.

Past Due Accounts and Termination of Agreement

HIPC reserves the right to stop work on any account that is more than sixty (60) days overdue. In addition, HIPC reserves the right to terminate any financial planning engagement where a client has willfully concealed or has refused to provide pertinent information about financial situations when necessary and appropriate, in HIPC's judgment, to providing proper financial advice. Any unused portion of fees collected in advance will be refunded within ten (10) business days.

Performance-Based Fees

Sharing of Capital Gains

HIPC does not use a performance-based fee structure because of the potential conflict of interest. Performance-based compensation may create an incentive for an advisor to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to the client.

Types of Clients

Description

HIPC generally provides investment advice to individuals, high net worth individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, or charitable organizations.

Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

The minimum account size is $500,000.00 assets under management.

HIPC has the discretion to waive the account minimum. Accounts less than $500,000.00 may be established when the client and the advisor anticipate the client will add additional funds to the accounts bringing the total to $500,000.00 within a reasonable time. Other exceptions will apply to employees of HIPC and their relatives, or relatives of existing clients.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods may include fundamental analysis and technical analysis.

The main sources of information include financial newspapers and magazines, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Other sources of information that HIPC may use include Morningstar Principia mutual fund information, Morningstar Principia stock information, Charles Schwab & Company's research/resource service, and the Internet.

Investment Strategies

The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time. Each client executes an Investment Policy Statement that documents their objectives and their desired investment strategy.

Other strategies may include long-term purchases, short-term purchases, trading, and margin transactions.

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may decrease in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

The employees of HIPC have committed to a Code of Ethics that is available for review by clients and prospective clients upon request. The firm will provide a copy of the Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

HIPC and its employees may buy or sell securities that are also held by clients. Employees may not trade their own securities ahead of client trades. Employees comply with the provisions of the HIPC Compliance Manual.

Personal Trading

The Chief Compliance Officer of HIPC is MaryJane M. LeCroy and she reviews all employee trades each quarter. Her trades are reviewed by William G. Hammond. Personal trading reviews ensure that the personal trading of employees does not affect the markets, and that clients of the firm receive preferential treatment.

Brokerage Practices

Selecting Brokerage Firms

HIPC does not have affiliation with product sales firms. Specific custodian recommendations are made to Clients based on their need for such services. HIPC recommends custodians based on the proven integrity and financial responsibility of the firm and the best execution of orders at reasonable order transaction rates.

HIPC directs clients to Charles Schwab & Co. Inc. based on their custodial and record keeping services for clients, their cost effectiveness, reliability and trade execution. Clients are not required to use Charles Schwab & Co. Inc. and may choose to select another brokerage firm.

Hammond Investment Planning Corporation does not receive fees or commissions from Charles Schwab & Co., Inc.

Best Execution

HIPC and Lebenthal Asset Management reviews execution of trades at each custodian quarterly. The review is documented in the HIPC Compliance Manual. Custodian trading fees are reviewed quarterly. HIPC does not receive any portion of the trading fees.

Soft Dollars

HIPC does not have a "soft dollar" relationship with any firm.

Order Aggregation

Lebenthal Asset Management makes all managed trades and is cautious so that trade aggregation does not garner any client benefit.

Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

Account reviews are performed quarterly by advisors William G. Hammond and MaryJane M. LeCroy. Lebenthal Asset Management also reviews client accounts on a consistent basis. Account reviews are performed more frequently as market conditions dictate.

Review Triggers

Other conditions that may trigger a review are changes in the tax laws, new investment information, and changes in a client's own situation.

Regular Reports

Account reviewers are members of the firm's Investment Committee. They are instructed to consider the client's current security positions and the likelihood that the performance of each security will contribute to the investment objectives of the client.

Financial Planning Clients receive periodic communications on at least an annual basis. Updates may include a net worth statement, portfolio statement, and a summary of progress towards meeting objectives. Asset Management Clients receive quarterly statements with performance and benchmark comparisons provided by Lebenthal Asset Management.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Incoming Referrals

HIPC has been fortunate to receive many client referrals over the years. Referrals come from current clients, estate planning attorneys, accountants, employees, personal friends, family of employees and other similar sources. The firm does not compensate referring parties for referrals.

Referrals Out

HIPC does not accept referral fees or any form of remuneration from other professionals when a prospect or client is referred to them.

Other Compensation

HIPC receives no other compensation.

Custody

Account Statements

All assets are held at qualified custodians, which means the custodians provide account statements and trade confirmations directly to clients at their address of record at least quarterly.

Performance Reports

Clients are urged to compare the account statements received directly from their custodians to the performance report statements provided by HIPC.

Net Worth Statements

Financial Planning Clients are provided net worth statements generated from our client relationship management system. Net worth statements contain approximations of bank account balances provided by the client, as well as the value of land and hard-to-price real estate. The net worth statements are used for long-term financial planning where the exact values of assets are not material to the financial planning tasks.

Investment Discretion

Discretionary Authority for Trading

HIPC accepts discretionary authority to manage securities accounts on behalf of clients. HIPC has the authority to determine, without obtaining specific client consent, the securities to be bought or sold, and the amount of the securities to be bought or sold.

The client approves the custodian to be used and the trading fees paid to the custodian. HIPC does not receive any portion of the transaction fees paid by the client to the custodian.

Discretionary trading authority facilitates placing trades in client accounts on their behalf to implement client approved investment policy statement in a timely manner.

Limited Power of Attorney

A limited power of attorney is a trading authorization for this purpose. Clients sign a limited power of attorney so that HIPC may execute trades, send funds to the address of record, or like registration accounts.

Voting Client Securities

Proxy Votes

Unless the client designates otherwise, Lebenthal Asset Management votes proxies for securities over which it maintains discretionary authority consistent with its proxy voting policy. A copy of Lebenthal's proxy voting policy is available upon request.

When assistance on voting proxies is requested on non-managed assets, HIPC will provide recommendations to the Client. If a conflict of interest exists, it will be disclosed to the Client.

Financial Information

Financial Condition

HIPC does not have any financial impairment that will preclude the firm from meeting contractual commitments to clients.

A balance sheet is not required to be provided because HIPC does not serve as a custodian for client funds or securities, and does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per client and six months or more in advance.

Business Continuity Plan

General

HIPC has a Business Continuity Plan in place that provides detailed steps to mitigate and recover from the loss of office space, communications, services or key people.

Disasters

The Business Continuity Plan covers natural disasters such as snow storms, hurricanes, tornados, and flooding. The Plan covers man-made disasters such as loss of electrical power, loss of water pressure, fire, bomb threat, nuclear emergency, chemical event, biological event, telephone communications line outage, Internet outage, railway accident and aircraft accident. Electronic files are backed up daily and archived offsite.

Alternate Offices

Alternate offices are identified to support ongoing operations in the event the main office is unavailable. It is our intention to contact all clients within five days of a disaster that dictates moving our office to an alternate location.

Loss of Key Personnel

HIPC has engaged the services of a valuation consultant to provide a business valuation on HIPC. The purpose of the valuation is to sell a portion of HIPC stock to MaryJane M. LeCroy over time. A buy/sell agreement has been established with the business valuation in the event of William G. Hammond's serious disability or death.
