SERVICES, FEES AND COMPENSATION

Portfolio Design Advisors, Inc. ("PDA") offers services under a wrap fee program called SelectOne where we provide investment supervisory services defined as giving continuous investment advice to you (or making investments for you) based on the investment model selected. The SelectOne program is a Unified Managed Account ("UMA") program. This means that the client may select multiple portfolio strategist models and each model is managed separately yet unified within a single account. We provide overlay portfolio management services to your entire account portfolio. This allows us to combine and customize multiple investment products to meet your goals. In this regard, we are responsible for rebalancing the portfolio when an asset class is out of tolerance by more than 2%, unless circumstances dictate otherwise, or if a portfolio strategist's model moves into defensive positions, for example: a move to cash in certain market conditions. We also take instructions from your representative in order to complete specific trades, such as those for tax-loss harvesting purposes at year end, to raise cash for withdrawal requests, etc. We offer portfolio management services in which there are various models available with a qualified custodian for clients and advisors to choose from. Your representative will work with you to design an allocation among the models available and PDA will manage the account to the model allocations. The models are designed to utilize asset allocation strategies and do not attempt to engage in market timing or short term trading. We provide ongoing evaluation and selection of portfolio strategists, investments and adjustment and balancing of portfolios. Various asset types are available and they include: no-load mutual funds, load waived mutual funds, exchange traded funds, stocks, cash, and cash equivalents. Other asset types, like Unit Investment Trusts ("UIT"s), may be held within the account as a convenience to the customer, but are not included as part of the managed portfolio.

There are two options available for representatives to work with us, dependent upon their agreement with PDA. In both types of relationships, PDA provides continuous supervisory services and has trading discretion. One option available for representatives is as a solicitor. Under this type of agreement, the representative will maintain the client relationship. They are responsible for reviewing the account with the client and helping the client determine which model allocation is appropriate based on the client's risk tolerance and investment objectives. The representative does not have discretion over the account's model allocation. All model allocation changes are client directed. The other option available for representatives can work with PDA is as a co-manager. Under this type of agreement, the representative will maintain the client relationship. They are responsible for reviewing the account with the client and helping the client determine which model allocation is appropriate based on the client's risk tolerance and investment objectives. The representative will have discretion to change the model allocations without consulting the client. Also, available under the co-manager option, the representative may act as a model portfolio strategist on a portion of the account. These representatives are offering this service under their registered investment advisor and you should review their disclosure brochure for more information.

In both options when executing an agreement for services with us, PDA will be granted limited trading authority to execute transactions within the model allocations chosen by the client and directed by the portfolio strategists. This discretionary trading authority includes the authority, without first consulting you to (1) determine the portion of assets in your account to allocate to each investment or asset class; (2) change your allocation of assets as necessary; and (3) take any and all other actions on your behalf that we determine are customary or appropriate for a discretionary investment advisor to perform, including the authority to buy, sell, select, remove, and replace securities, including mutual fund shares, stocks, bonds, and other investments for the account. You can place reasonable limitations and restrictions in relation to the trading authority. Any restrictions must be submitted to us in writing. PDA nor your representative has access to your funds and/or securities with the exception of having advisory fees deducted from your account and paid to us. Any fee deduction is done pursuant to your prior written authorization. For ERISA accounts, PDA will act as an ERISA 3(21) Fiduciary.

PDA charges for its investment supervisory services based on a percentage of assets under management. Typically, there is an annual fee that is negotiated between you and your representative up to 2.50%. Of the total fee charged to the client, PDA retains a portion referred to as the model cost and pays the difference to the representatives and firms who act as solicitors or co-managers on our behalf. Some portfolio strategists receive a portion of the model cost ranging from 0.00%-0.70% depending on the model selected. Each model's specific cost is disclosed to you within the Model Cost Disclosure. These costs are subject to change and you may request updated cost information from your representative at any time. We compensate SelectOne portfolio strategists from the advisory fee rates that are based on a percentage of the value of the total assets of the platform that are invested in accordance with the respective portfolio strategist's model portfolios. These fee rates are based on, among other things, asset class, investment style, and assets allocated to that particular portfolio strategist. Option 1 is the Standard billing option where your account is charged the fee listed in the agreement; the fee is inclusive of any model costs and will not vary. This option is not available to new investors. Option 2 is the Rep Fee Plus Model Cost billing option where your account is charged a set fee percentage (the rep fee) plus the model cost where the model cost will vary based on the account allocation but will never be more than 0.70% or 70 basis points. New accounts will be billed the Rep Fee Plus Model Cost option. Each account is charged based on a tiered fee schedule. This means that the first $500,000 of the account is charged the fee listed for that tier, the next $500,000 is charged the fee listed for that tier and so on. The fee is calculated based on the calendar quarter ending account balance and is charged in arrears.

If you wish to contract with us and your representative for participation in the SelectOne program, you are required to use only those broker-dealers and custodians approved by us. The qualified custodian will debit the fees on a quarterly basis from the account. The fees will be calculated by PDA based on the quarter ending balance. The fees will be charged in arrears and are prorated based on the number of days that services are provided during the calendar quarter.

Fees, fee structure, and experience may vary by representative. Clients with different representatives may receive similar services and pay more or less of a fee than another client. Furthermore, representatives may determine advisory fees differently. For example, some representatives may aggregate all of your managed accounts together to determine a fee breakpoint or charge a fee based on each account size. Additionally, some representatives may have a flat fee assigned to the account regardless of account value; others set fee breakpoints for the account in an effort to reduce the fee as the account grows and other representatives set a tiered fee schedule. There are advantages and disadvantages to all fee structures but each representative may have their own variances within PDA's fee structure. The fee that is negotiated between you and your representative is disclosed to you in the agreement that you sign in advance of services being provided. Representatives have an incentive in the fee charged to the account as they receive the fee charged in excess of the model costs.

The SelectOne program fee includes trading costs. It may cost you more or less than if you paid the ticket charges at the time of trade execution. The amount of trades placed in the account is a factor that has a bearing upon the relative cost of the program. If there are only a few trades placed in the account over a period of time, it is possible that paying for advisory services and ticket charges separately may be less expensive than the fee. The opposite is also true; if there are a large amount of trades placed in the account over a period of time, it is possible that paying for advisory services and ticket charges separately may be more expensive.

You may incur other charges imposed by third parties besides us in connection with investments made through the account, including but not limited to mutual fund 12(b)-1 distribution fees, sub accounting fees, contingent deferred sales charges, short term redemption fees, qualified retirement plan fees, and account maintenance fees. A description of these fees and expenses are available in each investment company security's prospectus. PDA and its employees will not receive any portion of these fees.

You should be aware that mutual funds generally charge a management fee for their services as investment managers. The management fee is called an expense ratio. For example, an expense ratio of 0.50 means that the mutual fund company charges 0.5% for their services. These fees are in addition to the fees paid by you to PDA. Fund companies also charge each fund shareholder an investment management fee that is disclosed in the fund prospectus. Performance figures quoted by mutual fund companies in various publications are after their fees have been deducted.

Income tax liabilities may result from the sale of individual securities within your account, unless the account is otherwise tax sheltered or tax deferred. Income tax liabilities directly reduce investment returns. You are responsible for all tax liabilities arising from the sale of individual securities within your account. Please consult your tax advisor as we cannot offer tax advice.

You, PDA, or your representative may terminate the agreement at any time by providing written notice to the appropriate party. If services are terminated within five business days of executing the agreement, services are terminated without penalty and no fees are due. If the account is to be liquidated as a result of a termination notice, we may take up to five business days from the date of receipt to process the liquidation request. Proceeds will be payable to the client subject to the usual securities settlement procedures. The final fee is prorated based on the number of days that services are provided prior to the effective date of termination. You are responsible for paying fees only for services rendered until the effective date of termination. Your account will be debited for the additional services.

ACCOUNT REQUIREMENTS AND TYPES OF CLIENTS

MINIMUM ACCOUNT SIZE

Typically, we require a minimum account size of $25,000 to establish and maintain a managed account. Each model also has minimum investment requirements. Most are $25,000 or $50,000; but some have higher minimums. Exceptions may be granted to this account minimum at our discretion, usually based on your specific situation. For example, if the market value of the account drops below the minimum PDA may continue to manage the account; or we may allow an account to be established below the minimum knowing that the account will receive additional funds soon.

TYPES OF CLIENTS

PDA provides investment advice to many different types of clients. These clients generally include individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations and other types of business entities.

PORTFOLIO STRATEGIST SELECTION AND EVALUATION

Each portfolio strategist must meet certain criteria for having models within the SelectOne program. Each strategist must have at least $100 million in assets under management and they must have a minimum of a 3 year track record as an asset manager. The specific model does not need a 3 year track record, but the portfolio strategist must. PDA also reviews the type of model, strategic versus tactical for example, the model holdings, portfolio turnover, and if it fills a gap in our current model selections.

Recommendations of portfolio strategists to clients is primarily handled by each client's representative and is made in accordance with the clients investment objectives, risk tolerance and other relevant information. Representatives may request PDA's assistance in developing a portfolio of models for a client account. Again, recommendations are made based on information provided by the client related to their investment objectives, risk tolerance and other relevant information.

Performance is calculated by Morningstar using industry standards. Morningstar uses a geometrically linked return method also known as Time Weighted Return. Our reviews of model performance are based upon the calculated performance generated by Morningstar for each model. No performance from the portfolio strategist is used; only hypothetical returns are used as we do not have any composites.

There are portfolios available within the SelectOne program that are created by PDA and named to reflect that. Because there is no third party strategist providing models our cost is less when PDA models are selected. This may provide incentive for a representative to recommend PDA models over other strategist models. These models are created by PDA employees and their models will continuously be available for clients and their representative to select if they choose. While these models are not necessarily subject to the same selection and review process as other portfolio strategists, we strive to hold ourselves to the same performance standards and our portfolio management team makes adjustments to the portfolios as necessary to continue to achieve their stated goals.

DESCRIPTION OF ADVISORY SERVICES OFFERED

PDA offers asset management services under a wrap fee program marketed as the SelectOne program; the focus of this brochure. The SelectOne program offers several portfolio strategist models for representatives and clients to choose from. PDA and your representative will continuously supervise the accounts and make trades when necessary, or at your request.

The models are designed to utilize asset allocation strategies and do not attempt to engage in market timing or short term trading. We provide ongoing evaluation and selection of investments, and adjustment and balancing of portfolios.

SERVICES TAILORED TO CLIENTS NEEDS

Our services under the SelectOne program offer several pre-determined portfolio models. You and your representative will select your portfolio models based on risk tolerance and investment objectives. You are given the ability to impose written restrictions on your accounts, including specific investment selections and sectors within reasonable parameters set by us and the portfolio strategist. We will not substitute another security for the restricted one or request that the portfolio strategist designate a substitute security. In some instances, certain restrictions placed on the account, may not allow for the selection of certain models. Any restrictions placed on the account may adversely affect the management of your account or the ability to meet your investment objectives. For this reason, it is important you understand that we perform advisory services including investment reporting for various clients, and that we may give advice or take actions for other clients that differ from the advice given to you.

WRAP FEE PROGRAM VERSUS PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

In traditional management programs, advisory services are provided for a fee but transaction services are billed separately on a per transaction basis. In wrap fee programs, advisory services and transaction services are provided for one fee. Under our SelectOne wrap fee program, there are models provided by various portfolio strategists. Each account can allocate funds to one or more models. As the sponsor and advisor for the SelectOne program, we receive a portion of the wrap fee charged to the account. The amount that we receive is listed in the Services, Fees and Compensation section of this brochure; and the specific model costs are listed on the Model Selection Worksheet.

PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

Performance-based fees are defined as fees based on a share of capital gains or on capital appreciation of the assets held in a client's account. PDA does not charge or accept performance-based fees.

METHODS OF ANALYSIS AND INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

PDA uses primarily fundamental analysis, but also uses charting, technical and cyclical analysis when considering investment strategies and recommendations. In simple terms, fundamental analysis involves analyzing company characteristics, charting looks at historical patterns, cyclical analysis looks at recurring periods, and technical analysis studies past market data looking for price trends and movements.

When implementing investment decisions, PDA employs several investment strategies: Long and Short Term Purchases, Strategic and Tactical Asset Allocation, Strategic Timing and Sector Rotation. Asset allocation is the combination of several different types of investments; typically stocks, bonds and cash equivalents among various asset classes so your investments are diversified. The objective of asset allocation is to develop an investment plan that will help investors reach their financial goals, while holding down their risks. Strategic timing is designed to reduce risks in bear markets (when markets are decreasing in value). This is a trend-following strategy that involves holding total cash positions during bear markets and fully invested positions during bull markets. Sector rotation is employed only in the growth portfolio models, spreading the risk over several sectors in the more aggressive models. In bull markets, the technique may consist of using the stronger industrial sectors or surrogates for various market indexes ("bull" funds). In bear markets, it may consist of employing "bear" funds that are structured to rise in price when the market indexes decline in price. Also, when our portfolio manager believes market conditions call for the use of leverage, we may employ leveraged bull or bear funds that are more volatile than the market indexes.

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear, including loss of your original principal. However, you should be aware that past performance of any security is not necessarily indicative of future results. Therefore, you should not assume that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy will be profitable. We do not provide any representation or guarantee that your goals will be achieved.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss. Further, depending on the different types of investments, there may be varying degrees of risk.

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

We do not perform proxy voting services on your behalf. You are instructed to read through the information provided with the proxy voting documents and to make a determination based on the information provided. Upon your request, we may provide limited clarifications of the issues presented in the proxy voting materials based on our understanding of issues presented in the proxy voting materials. However, you have the ultimate responsibility for making all proxy voting decisions.

CLIENT INFORMATION PROVIDED TO PORTFOLIO STRATEGISTS

PDA does not provide client specific information to outside portfolio strategists. PDA only provides limited information so that the strategists are able to confirm the assets under management within their portfolio and the fee that PDA pays them for providing us their model information.

CLIENT CONTACT WITH PORTFOLIO STRATEGISTS

There is no client contact with the outside portfolio strategists. The strategists provide asset and trade information to PDA related to their models that we have selected to make available in our program. All of the trading and account access is limited to PDA, our employees, our representatives and our clients. Portfolio Strategists do not have direct client account access. Clients are always welcome to contact PDA or their representative for any assistance or questions they have related to their account.
