- Minimum Qualifications:

The Certified Financial Planner™, CFP® and federally registered CFP (with flame design) marks (collectively, the “CFP® marks”) are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”).

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 71,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a Bachelor’s Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board's enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.

Candidates matriculating after June 30, 1989 who fall into specified categories are also required to earn 30 hours of continuing education credits every two years.
- Chartered Financial Consultant [ChFC], 1985;

Business Background [Since 1987]:

- President of Cruice Financial Organization/ Cruice Investment Advisors, Ltd. / Cruice Financial Planning 1987 to Present;
- Registered Representative for Westport Resources Investment Services 1997 to 12-2017;
- Registered Representative for United Planners Financial Services 12-2017 to Present;
- Series 7, Series 63, Series 65, Series 24, and Insurance licensed [Life & Health].

Mr. Cruice was born in 1953.

Item 3. Disciplinary Information

None. There have never been any client or regulatory complaints filed against Mr. Cruice.

Item 4. Other Business Activities

Until December of 2017, Mr. Cruice has been a registered broker-dealer representative of Westport Resources Investment Services [WRIS], a SEC-registered broker-dealer and FINRA member. Because Westport Resources Investment Services, Inc. is ceasing broker-dealer operations on or about the end of the first quarter of 2018, Mr. Cruice affiliated with United Planners Financial Services in December 2017 as a Registered Principal and Registered Representative.

Item 5. Additional Compensation

Mr. Cruice has an equity ownership interest in C.F.O. and its affiliated entities through which he indirectly receives a portion of the investment and financial advisory fees made to C.F.O. and its affiliates for services performed in part by Mr. Cruice.

As previously mentioned in “Item 4” above, Mr. Cruice and the C.F.O. advisory management team have affiliated with United Planners because WRIS is ceasing broker-dealer operations during the first quarter of 2018 after a successful 20-year period serving as C.F.O.’s bridge and trading/ servicing link to CFO’s designated brokerage account custodian. In careful preparation for the possible closure of WRIS as the broker-dealer and bridge to Pershing LLC, Mr. Cruice and the C.F.O. advisory management team spent countless hours over the eighteen months leading up to the end of 2017 researching and identifying United Planners as the successor broker-dealer to WRIS. Most importantly, United Planners enables the Mr. Cruice and the other C.F.O. advisors to maintain the critical safety benefits from having Pershing LLC continue to serve as the custodian for the C.F.O. clients’ brokerage accounts. To help [partially] offset the hard costs incurred by Mr. Cruice and the other C.F.O. advisors from the closure of WRIS and having to transition their client accounts to a successor broker-dealer, United Planners is providing Mr. Cruice with a forgivable loan of $75,000 that is potentially interest free and non-recourse. These transition costs include, but are not just limited to, the reprinting of new business cards, letterhead and brochures; the material and labor costs for generating all the transfer paperwork and for the related distribution costs such as postage; the costs for updating websites, computer hardware and software to be compatible and compliant with United Planners.

The loan can be forgiven by United Planners based upon the amount of commissions and/ or advisory fees paid to Mr. Cruice and C.F.O. while affiliated with United Planners and by using any of the qualified third-party custodians, such as Pershing LLC, approved by United Planners. These types of loan arrangements can create the potential for a conflict of interest because Mr. Cruice may have an incentive to direct C.F.O. client accounts to United Planners due to self-serving interests from the actual or anticipated incentives or consideration he may receive. The disclosure of the reality of this potentially self-serving, conflict of interest notwithstanding, Mr. Cruice and the other members of the C.F.O. management team have transferred their client accounts to United Planners because [1] WRIS is being closed, and [2] After 18 months of thorough due diligence research, Mr. Cruice and the other C.F.O. advisors concluded that their clients will benefit in at least three critical ways from having United Planners replace WRIS as the broker-dealer and as C.F.O.’s critical bridge to Pershing: (1) United Planners is a dynamic, financially strong and growing broker-dealer with a national presence; (2) United Planners will provide a higher quality level of broker-dealer services to Mr. Cruice and the other C.F.O.

advisors; and (3) The enhanced level of service provided by United Planners to the C.F.O. advisors, in turn, will also translate into the delivery of more cost-effective financial and investment advisory services to their C.F.O. clients. In summary, Mr. Cruice and the other C.F.O. advisors believe that their selection of United Planners was in the best interest of their C.F.O. clients based on the overall benefits of an integrated platform for both brokerage and advisory account services as well as the other quality financial services provided by United Planners.

Item 6. Supervision

As described above under Item 2, Mr. Cruice is the President of C.F.O.

Mr. Cruice does not have a supervisor with respect to his advisory activities, but he is subject to C.F.O.'s compliance policies and procedures and Code of Ethics with respect to such activities.
