Item 4: Advisory Business

A. Description of the Firm

Stash Wealth, LLC is a Limited Liability Company organized in the state of New York. The firm was formed in April of 2013, and the principal owner is Priya Malani.

B. Types of Services

Stash Wealth, LLC (hereinafter “SW”) offers the following services to clients:

Comprehensive Financial Planning - Stash Plan®

SW offers two planning engagements, The Stash Plan® and The Stash Plan® for Entrepreneurs. Financial planning may include, but is not limited to: cash-flow planning, investment planning, insurance needs analysis, corporate benefits analysis, tax planning, estate planning analysis, retirement planning, business planning, college planning, and debt/credit planning. SW creates a financial plan, which outlines the client (or couple's) current situation including but not limited to income, tax levels and financial goals and then constructs a plan to aid in the selection of a portfolio that matches each client's investment objectives. Financial Planning Services are offered as a stand-alone service as well as to clients utilizing Advisory Services.

Advisory Services - Stash Management™

Once a client has completed the pre-requisite planning engagement (Stash Plan® or Stash Plan® for Entrepreneurs), they are eligible to sign up for Stash Management™. There are two program levels, Regular and Fast-Track. SW will determine which program the client is eligible for based on financial readiness.

Engagement involves access to SW for ongoing financial advice, Stash Plan® implementation and annual financial plan updates. Clients will also have access to SW's team of experts for support, including but not limited to, tax support, estate planning, protection and creative lending solutions. SW's team of experts are not directly employed by SW, but are recommended to assist clients with needs other than advisory services. Clients who choose to engage an expert do so at their discretion and expense.

With the exception of Fast-Track clients, Advisory Services include investment management support based on the individual goals, objectives, and time horizon as outlined in the client's Stash Plan® including, but not limited to, the following:

- Stash Model Portfolios
- Asset allocation
- Portfolio Rebalancing
- Investment strategy
- Regular tax loss harvesting
- Investment advice and guidance

SW evaluates the current investments of each client with respect to their investment objectives and time horizon. SW further refines the investment objectives through conversations and education about how risk affects returns.

SW uses a team-based approach to providing Advisory Services – if clients receive Advisory Services on multiple occasions, they are likely to interact with multiple financial advisors.

At SW we don't believe in risk-tolerance as it relates to your investment goals, and as a result clients should understand that their actual portfolio risk may be more or less than they are comfortable with. This is documented in the Statement of Understanding, which is acknowledged by the client in the Stash Management™ Service Agreement upon becoming a Stash Management™ Advisory Client.

Services are based on fees as outlined in Item 5 – Fees and compensation.

Educational Seminars and Speaking Engagements

SW may offer seminars on an “as announced basis” for groups seeking general advice on personal finance. The content of these seminars will vary depending upon the needs of the attendees. These seminars are purely educational in nature and do not involve the sale of insurance or investment products. Information presented will not be based on any one person's need, nor does SW provide individualized investment advice to attendees during these general sessions.

Subscription Services

SW provides subscription services. These services include a newsletter that offers practical financial advice for Millennials (a.k.a. H.E.N.R.Y.s™) with occasional market commentary. Subscription services do not include specific investment recommendations or performance related data.

C. Client Tailored Services and Client Imposed Restrictions

SW offers the same suite of services to all of its clients. However, specific client financial advice and its implementation is dependent upon the client's Stash Plan®, which outlines each client's current situation (income, and tax levels) and is used to construct a client specific plan to aid in the selection of a portfolio that matches restrictions, needs, and goals.

Clients may impose restrictions in investing in certain securities or types of securities in accordance with their values or beliefs. However, if the restrictions prevent SW from properly servicing the client account, or if the restrictions would require SW to deviate from its standard suite of services, SW reserves the right to end the relationship.

D. Wrap Fee Programs

SW does not participate in any wrap fee programs.

Minimum Account Size

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies, and Risk of Investment Loss

A. Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Methods of Analysis

During the development of your Stash Plan®, SW will gather and consider several factors including your current financial situation, career path and investment goals and objectives. Generally, SW's investment advice is based on Modern Portfolio Theory and the belief that proper diversification and risk management will provide an investor with a stable and consistent return over time. The practice of Modern Portfolio Theory does not employ market-timing but rather a long term buy-and-hold strategy with periodic rebalancing of the account to maintain desired risk levels.

Investment Strategies

Generally, SW does not engage in general market-timing, or specific timing of economic cycles, asset or sector classes, or individual securities. SW's primary approach is passive asset allocation aimed at reducing overall portfolio risk through diversification. The asset allocations are based upon tenets of modern portfolio theory. Such an approach considers the client's stated financial goal and is based upon assumptions about future economic factors such as inflation, interest rates, and the risk and return characteristics of asset classes and their correlations. This is effected through the use of ETFs and/or mutual funds, equities and cash equivalents. Such assets are all subject to varying degrees of investment, market, credit, interest rate, and regulatory risks. Moreover, clients should be aware that diversification does not ensure a profit or protect against a loss in a declining market. There is no guarantee that any particular asset allocation or mix of funds will meet their investment objectives or provide a given level of income or return.

At times, SW may choose to blend passive (or index) and active investing to assist in the over-or under allocation to specific themes, sectors, regions, assets classes, etc. SW may also buy and sell positions that are more short-term in nature, depending on the goals of the Client and/or the fundamentals of the security, sector or asset class.

Passive investment management is characterized by low portfolio expenses (i.e. the funds inside the portfolio have low internal costs), minimal trading costs (due to infrequent trading activity), and relative tax efficiency (because the funds inside the portfolio are tax efficient and turnover inside the portfolio is minimal).

In contrast, active management involves a single manager or managers who employ some method, strategy or technique to construct a portfolio that is intended to generate returns that are greater than the broader market or a designated benchmark. Academic research indicates most active managers underperform the market.

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

Types of Investments

SW typically recommends portfolios that contain investment vehicles considered diversified, tax efficient and low-cost whenever practical. It would be common to find a broad range of ETFs, index funds, no-load and/or no transaction fee mutual funds within a portfolio. SW may also recommend an investor retain pre-existing holdings when appropriate due to tax or other implications.

B. Material Risks Involved

SW believes its strategies and investment recommendations are designed to produce the appropriate potential return for the given level of risk. However, there are risks associated with investing, and as such it is not possible for SW to guarantee any level of performance or that an investment objective or planning goal will be achieved. There are many different risk items inherent in investing for all clients, which may affect the probability of success and amount of potential loss. Clients should be aware of, and consider, the risks outlined below - but also recognize that this may not be all inclusive - before retaining SW, or any investment advisory services.

Company Risk

When investing in securities, such as stocks, there is always a certain level of company or industry specific risk that is inherent in each company or issuer. There is the risk that the company will perform poorly or have its value reduced based on factors specific to the company or its industry. This is also referred to as unsystematic risk and can be reduced or mitigated through appropriate diversification.

Socially Conscious Investing

If you require your portfolio to be invested according to socially conscious principles, you should note that returns on investments of this type may be limited and because of this limitation you may not be able to be as well diversified among various asset classes. The number of publicly traded companies that meet socially conscious investment parameters is also limited, and due to this limitation, there is a probability of similarity or overlap of holdings, especially among socially conscious mutual funds or ETFs. Therefore, there could be a more pronounced positive or negative impact on a socially conscious portfolio, which could be more volatile than a fully diversified portfolio.

Failure to Implement

As a financial planning client, you are free to accept or reject any or all of the recommendations made to you. While no advisory firm can guarantee future performance, no plan can succeed if it is not implemented. Clients who choose not to take the steps recommended in their financial plan may face an increased risk that their stated goals and objectives will not be achieved. Additionally, if any of the information provided by the client is incomplete or inaccurate, the resulting investment may not adequately meet the client's objectives. SW reserves the right to terminate your participation in the Stash Management™ Service if Stash Wealth determines, in its sole discretion, that you are unresponsive or otherwise uncommitted to the program.

Financial Risk

Excessive borrowing to finance a business operation increases profitability risk because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Inflation Risk

When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

Market Risk

When the stock market as a whole or an industry as a whole fails, it can cause the prices of individual stocks to fall indiscriminately. This is also called systemic or systematic risk.

Passive Markets Theory

A portfolio that employs a passive, efficient markets approach (representative of Modern Portfolio Theory) has the potential risk at times to generate lower-than-expected returns for the broader allocation than might be the case for a more narrowly focused asset class, and the return on each type of asset may be a deviation from the average return for the asset class. We believe this variance from the “expected return” is generally low under normal market conditions when a portfolio is made up of diverse, low or non-correlated assets.

Research Data

When research and analyses are based on commercially available software, rating services, general market and financial information, or due diligence reviews, a firm is relying on the accuracy and validity of the information or capabilities provided by selected vendors, rating services, market data, and the issuers themselves. While our firm makes every effort to determine the accuracy of the information received, we cannot predict the outcome of events or actions taken or not taken, or the validity of all information researched or provided which may or may not affect the advice on or investment management of an account.

C. Risks of Specific Securities

Apart from the general risks outlined above which apply to all types of investments, specific securities may have other risks.

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) prices may vary significantly from the Net Asset Value due to market conditions. Certain Exchange Traded Funds may not track underlying benchmarks as expected.

Mutual Funds: Investing in mutual funds carries the risk of capital loss and thus you may lose money investing in mutual funds. All mutual funds have costs that lower investment returns. They can be of bond “fixed income” nature (lower risk) or stock “equity” nature (mentioned above).

Equity investment generally refers to buying shares of stocks by an individual or firms in return for receiving a future payment of dividends and capital gains if the value of the stock increases. There is an innate risk involved when purchasing a stock that it may decrease in value and the investment may incur a loss.

Treasury Inflation Protected/Inflation Linked Bonds: The Risk of default on these bonds is dependent upon the U.S. Treasury defaulting (extremely unlikely); however, they carry a potential risk of losing share price value, albeit rather minimal.

Fixed Income is an investment that guarantees fixed periodic payments in the future that may involve economic risks such as inflationary risk, interest rate risk, default risk, repayment of principal risk, etc.

Stocks Investing in stocks carries the risk of capital loss (sometimes up to a 100% loss in the case of a stock holding bankruptcy).

Real Estate funds face several kinds of risk that are inherent in this sector of the market. Liquidity risk, market risk and interest rate risk are just some of the factors that can influence the gain or loss that is passed on to the investor. Liquidity and market risk tend to have a greater effect on funds that are more growth-oriented, as the sale of appreciated properties depends upon market demand. Conversely, interest rate risk impacts the amount of dividend income that is paid by income oriented funds.

Precious Metal ETFs (Gold, Silver, and Palladium Bullion backed “electronic shares” not physical metal): Investing in precious metal ETFs carries the risk of capital loss.

Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns. Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

SW accepts the obligation not only to comply with all applicable laws and regulations but also to act in an ethical and professionally responsible manner in all professional services and activities. Firm policies include prohibitions against insider trading, circulation of industry rumors, and certain political contributions, among others. SW periodically reviews and amends its Code of Ethics to ensure that it remains current, and requires firm personnel to annually attest to their understanding of and adherence to the firm's Code of Ethics. A copy of the firm's Code of Ethics is made available to any client or prospective client upon request.

B. Recommendations Involving Material Financial Interests

SW does not recommend that clients buy or sell any security in which a related person to SW or SW has a material financial interest.

C. Investing Personal Money in the Same Securities as Clients

From time to time, representatives of SW may buy or sell securities for themselves that they also recommend to clients. This may provide an opportunity for representatives of SW to buy or sell the same securities before or after recommending the same securities to clients resulting in representatives profiting off the recommendations they provide to clients. Such transactions may create a conflict of interest. SW will always document any transactions that could be construed as conflicts of interest and will always transact client business before their own when similar securities are being bought or sold.

D. Trading Securities At/Around the Same Time as Clients' Securities

From time to time, representatives of SW may buy or sell securities for themselves at or around the same time as clients. This may provide an opportunity for representatives of SW to buy or sell securities before or after recommending securities to clients resulting in representatives profiting off the recommendations they provide to clients. Such transactions may create a conflict of interest. SW will always transact client's transactions before its own when similar securities are being bought or sold.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

A. Factors Used to Select Custodians and/or Broker/Dealers

The custodian is selected based on the transaction fees relative to other custodians and access to mutual funds and ETFs. Additional factors used to choose the Custodian are the Custodian's support services, reputation, and cost-benefit compared to other custodians. A robust trading platform is another consideration in selecting a custodian.

1. Research and Other Soft-Dollar Benefits

SW does not receive any research, products, or services from its broker-dealer or another third-party in connection with client securities transactions ("soft dollar benefits".)

2. Brokerage for Client Referrals

SW receives no referrals from a broker-dealer or third party in exchange for using that broker dealer or third party.

3. Clients Directing Which Broker/Dealer/Custodian to Use

SW does not allow clients to direct brokerage. SW uses Apex as custodian for all client accounts.

B. Aggregating (Block) Trading for Multiple Client Accounts

SW maintains the ability to block trade purchases across accounts. Block trading may benefit a large group of clients by providing SW the ability to purchase larger blocks resulting in smaller transaction costs to the client.

Item 13: Reviews of Accounts

A. Frequency and Nature of Periodic Reviews and Who Makes Those Reviews

SW invites all Clients to update their Stash Plan® on an annual basis. Unless provided for as part of the Stash Management™ Service Agreement, financial planning reviews will be assessed at the current rate (see Item 5). Non-advisory Clients have the ability to opt-out of these notifications. For Stash Management™ Clients, who have engaged with SW for ongoing advisory services, Stash Plan® updates are encouraged on an annual basis whenever practical. Updates are included as part of the advisory fee.

Client accounts are reviewed on a regular and continuous basis by an Investment Advisor Representative of SW. Formal reviews are generally conducted annually. Informal reviews may be conducted more or less frequently at the Client's request.

The client is encouraged to notify SW if changes occur in the Client's personal financial situation that might adversely affect the Client's Stash Plan®.

B. Factors That Will Trigger a Non-Periodic Review of Client Accounts

Reviews may be triggered by material market, economic or political events, or by changes in client's financial situations (such as termination of employment, pregnancy, physical move, or inheritance).

C. Content and Frequency of Regular Reports Provided to Clients

Each client will receive at least quarterly from the custodian, a written report that details the client's account including assets held and asset value which will come from the custodian. SW itself does not provide clients with written reports. The Client may also establish electronic access to the Custodian's website so that the Client may view these reports and their account activity. Client brokerage statements will include all positions, transactions and fees relating to the Client's account[s].

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

A. Economic Benefits Provided by Third Parties for Advice Rendered to Clients (Includes Sales Awards or Other Prizes)

SW receives compensation for referring current clients to third-party business professionals. This creates a conflict of interest that is mitigated by making such referrals only when they are pertinent to the individual being referred. SW puts the needs and interests of the client first and foremost, and are only making such recommendations when they provide a value added benefit to the client. Additionally, the SW website may direct people, through general web-traffic, to a third-party business professional's website. SW may be compensated when people sign up for the services offered by the website.

SW also receives compensation for writing or publishing video content that is intended to educate people about finances. This does not create a conflict of interest for SW.

B. Compensation to Non - Advisory Personnel for Client Referrals

SW does not directly or indirectly compensate any person who is not advisory personnel for client referrals.

Item 15: Custody

SW, with client written authority, has limited custody of client's assets through direct fee deduction of SW's fees only. If the client chooses to be billed directly by the custodian, SW has constructive custody over that account and must have written authorization from the client to do so. Clients will receive account statements from the custodian. SW uses Apex Clearing Corporation as its custodian.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

SW maintains investment discretion for all clients, with respect to securities to be bought or sold and the amount of securities to be bought or sold. Details of this relationship are fully disclosed to the client before any advisory relationship has commenced. Discretionary authority is executed by agreement through the custodian account application and the Stash Management™ Service Agreement. The client provides SW discretionary authority via a limited power of attorney in the Stash Management™ Service Agreement and executing limited power of attorney in the contract between the client and the custodian.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities (Proxy Voting)

SW will not ask for, nor accept voting authority for client securities. Clients will receive proxies directly from the issuer of the security or the custodian. Clients should direct all proxy questions to the issuer of the security.

Item 18: Financial Information

A. Balance Sheet

SW does not require nor solicit prepayment of more than $500 in fees per client, six months or more in advance and therefore does not need to include a balance sheet with this brochure.
