Item 4: Advisory Business

We are dedicated to providing individuals and other types of clients with a wide array of investment advisory services. Our firm is a limited liability company formed in the State of Michigan. Our firm has been in business as an investment adviser since 2015. Jeffrey W. Ivory is the Managing Member of our firm.

Description of the Types of Advisory Services We Offer

Asset Management:

We emphasize continuous and regular account supervision. As part of our asset management service, we generally create a portfolio, consisting of individual stocks or bonds, exchange traded funds ("ETFs"), options, mutual funds and other public and private securities or investments. The client's individual investment strategy is tailored to their specific needs and may include some or all of the previously mentioned securities. Each portfolio will be initially designed to meet a particular investment goal, which we determine to be suitable to the client's circumstances. Once the appropriate portfolio has been determined, we review the portfolio at least quarterly and if necessary, rebalance the portfolio based upon the client's individual needs, stated goals and objectives.

Comprehensive Portfolio Management:

Our Comprehensive Portfolio Management service encompasses asset management as well as providing financial planning/financial consulting to clients. It is designed to assist clients in meeting their financial goals through the use of financial investments. We conduct at least one, but sometimes more than one meeting (in person if possible, otherwise via telephone conference) with clients in order to understand their current financial situation, existing resources, financial goals, and tolerance for risk. Based on what we learn, we propose an investment approach to the client. We may propose an investment portfolio, consisting of exchange traded funds ("ETFs"), mutual funds, individual stocks or bonds, or other securities. Upon the client's agreement to the proposed investment plan, we work with the client to establish or transfer investment accounts so that we can manage the client's portfolio. Once the relevant accounts are under our management, we review such accounts on a regular basis and at least quarterly. We may periodically rebalance or adjust client accounts under our management. If the client experiences any significant changes to his/her financial or personal circumstances, the client must notify us so that we can consider such information in managing the client's investments.

Business Consulting Services:

We provide a variety of Business Consulting Services to corporations, limited liability companies, and other types of businesses regarding the management of key aspects of their business. Our written plans and/or consultations rendered usually include general recommendations for a course of activity or specific actions to be taken by the clients. Generally, such Business Consulting Services may encompass one or more of the following areas on an as needed basis:

- Business Growth and Expansion
- Business Valuation and Exit Strategy
- Business Succession Planning
- Financial Management
- Corporate Structure and Tax Planning

- Cash Management
- Cash Flow Forecasting
- Budgeting
- Audit Preparation
- Budgeting and Forecasting
- Cost Analysis and Controls
- Mortgage/Debt Analysis
- Insurance Analysis
- Lines of Credit Evaluation

It should also be noted that we refer clients to an accountant, attorney or other specialist, as necessary for non-advisory related services. The term of this engagement is twelve months. Our firm will meet with clients every six months and provide a written assessment and/or recommendations. Our firm will follow up with the client to ensure that recommendations were implemented properly, if applicable. The service automatically renews annually but may be cancelled at any time upon receipt of your written request for termination. Implementation of the recommendations will be at the discretion of the client.

Financial Planning & Consulting:

We provide a variety of financial planning and consulting services to individuals, families and other clients regarding the management of their financial resources based upon an analysis of the client's current situation, goals, and objectives. Generally, such financial planning services will involve preparing a financial plan or rendering a financial consultation for clients based on the client's financial goals and objectives. This planning or consulting may encompass one or more of the following areas: Investment Planning, Retirement Planning, Estate Planning, Charitable Planning, Education Planning, Corporate and Personal Tax Planning, Cost Segregation Study, Corporate Structure, Real Estate Analysis, Mortgage/Debt Analysis, Insurance Analysis, Lines of Credit Evaluation, Business and Personal Financial Planning.

Our written financial plans or financial consultations rendered to clients usually include general recommendations for a course of activity or specific actions to be taken by the clients. For example, recommendations may be made that the clients begin or revise investment programs, create or revise wills or trusts, obtain or revise insurance coverage, commence or alter retirement savings, or establish education or charitable giving programs. It should also be noted that we refer clients to an accountant, attorney or other specialist, as necessary for non-advisory related services. Additionally, we may contract with outside services providers to help us perform certain functions involved in formulating the plan. For written financial planning engagements, we provide our clients with a written summary of their financial situation, observations, and recommendations. For financial consulting engagements, we usually do not provide our clients with a written summary of our observations and recommendations as the process is less formal than our planning service. Plans or consultations are typically completed within six (6) months of the client signing a contract with us, assuming that all the information and documents we request from the client are provided to us promptly. Implementation of the recommendations will be at the discretion of the client.

Pension Consulting:

We provide pension consulting services to employer plan sponsors on a one-time or ongoing basis. Generally, such pension consulting services consist of assisting employer plan sponsors in establishing, monitoring and reviewing their company's participant-directed retirement plan. As the needs of the plan sponsor dictate, areas of advising could include: investment options, plan structure and participant education.

All pension consulting services shall be in compliance with the applicable state law(s) regulating pension consulting services. This applies to client accounts that are pension or other employee benefit plans ("Plan") governed by the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA"). If the client accounts are part of a Plan, and we accept appointments to provide our services to such accounts, we acknowledge that we are a fiduciary within the meaning of Section 3(21) of ERISA (but only with respect to the provision of services described in section 1 of the Pension Consulting Agreement).

Referrals to Preferred Service Providers:

We have contracted with outside CPAs and attorneys to provide accounting and legal services to our clients with such needs. We perform initial and ongoing due diligence on these service providers, and the services they contract to provide to our clients to ensure they meet each individual client's needs. Clients are under no obligation to use these providers based upon their engagement of our firm for any other purpose.

Tailoring of Advisory Services

We offer individualized investment advice to clients utilizing our Asset Management and Comprehensive Portfolio Management services. Additionally, we offer general investment advice to clients utilizing our Business Consulting, Financial Planning & Consulting, and Pension Consulting services.

Each client has the opportunity to place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments to be held in the portfolio. Restrictions on investments in certain securities or types of securities may not be possible due to the level of difficulty this would entail in managing the account. Restrictions would be limited to our Asset Management, Comprehensive Portfolio Management, and Pension Consulting services. We do not manage assets through our other services.

Participation in Wrap Fee Programs

We do not offer wrap fee programs.

We negotiate reduced rates for our clients than what they would otherwise be charged by these firms absent our referral, however it should be noted that we do retain a portion of the fee charged for the diligence performed.

Other Types of Fees & Expenses

Clients will incur transaction charges for trades executed in their accounts. These transaction fees are separate from our fees and will be disclosed by the firm that the trades are executed through. Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies & Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Our firm's methods start with top down analysis of the major factors we believe influence the capital markets including economic, fundamental, valuation, sentiment, technical and cyclical. We use the data from our factor analysis to determine investment expected returns, expected correlation and risk metrics at the asset class as well as the security level and utilize investment models that incorporate the output to create portfolios within predetermined risk profiles.

In terms of sources of information, we may use a variety of resources or services to form an investment idea or strategy including, but not limited to, financial publications, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the SEC, company press releases and research data from numerous independent research firms and the public domain.

Our firm may allocate portfolio holdings across asset classes and investment strategies at its discretion and without limitations. It is important to note that investing in securities such as those described herein involves a risk of loss that Advisory Clients and Investors should be prepared to bear.

Investment Strategies We Use

We use tactical asset allocation as a dynamic investment management style that adjusts asset allocations to our forward view of the relative risks and returns of various asset classes. This is distinguished from strategic asset allocation, a mechanical, passive process rebalancing portfolios back to their original allocations; the weakness of this approach is its failure to allow for new information.

The primary objective of our investment model strategies is to deliver long term returns that outperform each respective risk profile benchmark by aligning capital within each asset class during sustained rallies and by positioning defensively in weak equity market conditions. The Firm's philosophy is that disciplined, model-driven investment approaches generate enhanced risk-adjusted returns.

The underlying premise of our investment model is that security prices and asset classes are driven by economic, fundamental, sentiment, technical and cyclical factors. Our proprietary models look at each of the factor's impact on the financial markets during various phases of the economic and market cycle and are then combined to create a macro outlook that forecasts not only the directional bias, but the magnitude of the expected move of the major asset classes from a risk return standpoint. The output is then used to create an optimal allocation of each asset class that is then adjusted accordingly as macro environment changes.

Our models are generally considered dynamic and tactical because they change our client's portfolio allocations over time by adapting to the most important macroeconomic and market factors that influence various asset classes. Overall market risk is considered in the timing of investment decisions and the implementation of hedging strategies. We seek to maximize portfolio performance and manage volatility by reducing investment exposure during periods of apparent high market risk, while increasing investment commitment during periods of apparent lower risk.

Risk is managed several ways: First, we attempt to distribute risk across distinct and low correlated asset classes. This is intended to give the portfolio cushion to weather any expected or unexpected volatility swings. Second, exposure levels are controlled at the asset class level with target levels of exposure varied based on perceived near term risk. Also, within each asset class we control concentration risk by utilizing broad-based index ETFs.

Tactical Allocation Models – Active Rebalancing:

We use tactical asset allocation as a dynamic investment management style that adjusts asset allocations to our forward view of the relative risks and returns of various asset classes. We construct each portfolio using four levels of risk management and designed around a different time, risk and return objectives. The portfolios utilize a "fund of funds" strategy, investing predominantly with asset class specific ETFs, ETNs and CEFs although our most aggressive model may invest directly in individual securities. We use a proactive investment risk management process across multiple asset classes in our portfolios. While the number and weighting of asset classes in the four portfolios vary according to their objectives, all portfolios are consistent in diversification relative to each risk profile.

It should be noted that due to that active nature of these models, we often take concentrated/leverage positions which require diligent monitoring. As a result, we have a policy of liquidation upon death of the primary accountholder in accounts invested in these models to ensure prudent and proper risk management.

Active Opportunities Model

A speculative portfolio that is appropriate for an investor with a very high risk tolerance and generally a time horizon much greater than 10 years. The model seeks additional capital appreciation through investments that may be allocated across major asset classes, including U.S. equities, international equities, initial public offerings, bonds and cash. In addition, the model may seek to capitalize on risk-return opportunities and may do so by employing leveraged ETFs, options or individual company's common stock.

Plus Model

A growth-oriented portfolio which seeks capital appreciation using securities allocated across major asset classes, including U.S. equities, international equities, initial public offerings, bonds and cash. This model is generally designed for investors with an investment time horizon of seven years to 10 years who seek the potential for capital growth and diversification across multiple asset classes and investment strategies. Investors are prepared to accept a moderate risk of capital loss to achieve this objective.

All-Weather Model

A balanced portfolio is generally appropriate for an investor with a moderate risk tolerance and a time horizon approximately five to seven years. Balanced investors are willing to accept periods of moderate market volatility (ups and downs in account value) in exchange for the possibility of receiving returns that outpace inflation by a significant margin. The Fund seeks long-term capital growth and current income through investments allocated across major asset classes, including U.S. equities, international equities, initial public offerings, bonds and cash.

Umbrella Model

A conservative portfolio that is appropriate for an investor with a low risk tolerance. Conservative investors are not willing to accept periods of extreme market volatility (ups and downs in account value) and are seeking returns that match or slightly outpace inflation. The Conservative portfolio is designed for investors whose main objective is stability of income and capital protection. A lower risk of capital loss can be expected, but overall returns are also likely to be lower.

Equity Rotation Model

An active strategy whereby a single broad based domestic equity security represented by one of the major investment styles will be used to gain exposure to the U.S. equity markets. Risk management will be employed by varying the exposure from zero to 97% in accordance with our risk management model.

Strategic Allocation Models

Strategic Portfolio

The Strategic Portfolio is designed to give clients broad exposure to multiple non correlated asset classes with minimal rebalancing determined by drift parameters. Strategic asset allocation is where we set long-term target allocations to applicable investable asset classes with the highest likelihood of meeting long-term investment goals at each risk profile.

Single Security Model

Balanced securities will be placed in smaller accounts based on household's overall risk profile. Mutual funds will be used for accounts due to ease of entry at a specific dollar amount with additional funds added with no transaction fee. Accounts below the minimum mutual fund entry will use single security iShares based on risk profile.

Investment Risks

Correlation Risk: Although the prices of equity securities and fixed -income securities, as well as other asset classes, often rise and fall at different times so that a fall in the price of one may be offset by a rise in the price of the other, in down markets the prices of these securities and asset classes can also fall in tandem. Because our model portfolios allocate investments between equities and fixed income securities, the strategies are subject to correlation risk.

Credit Risk: Issuers may not make interest or principal payments on securities, resulting in losses to a client. In addition, the credit quality of securities held by a client may be lowered if an issuer's financial condition changes, including the U.S. government.

Diversification Risk: A client's portfolio may be limited to only a few investments. The client's performance may be more sensitive to any single economic, business, political or regulatory occurrence than the value of a more diversified client portfolio Emerging Market Risk: Emerging market countries may have relatively unstable governments, weaker economies and less - developed legal systems with fewer security holder rights. Emerging market economies may be based on only a few industries and security issuers may be more susceptible to economic weakness and more likely to default. Emerging market securities also tend to be less liquid.

ETF and Mutual Funds Risk: ETFs and mutual funds are subject to investment advisory and other expenses, which will be indirectly paid by clients. As a result, the cost of the investment strategy will be higher than the cost of investing directly in ETFs or mutual funds. ETFs and mutual funds are subject to specific risks, depending on the nature of the fund.

ETFs: ETFs are professionally managed pooled vehicles that invest in stocks, bonds, short- term money market instruments, other mutual funds, other securities or any combination thereof. ETFs' managers trade fund investments in accordance with fund investment objectives. While ETFs generally provide diversification, risks can be significantly increased for funds concentrated in a particular sector of the market, or that primarily invest in small cap or speculative companies, use leverage (i.e., borrow money) to a significant degree, or concentrate in a particular type of security (i.e., equities) rather than balancing the fund with different types of securities. ETFs can be bought and sold throughout the day like stock and their price can fluctuate throughout the day. During times of extreme market volatility, ETF pricing may lag versus the actual underlying asset values. This lag usually resolves itself in a short period of time (usually less than one day), however, there is no guarantee this relationship will always exist.

Fixed Income Risk: A client may invest in fixed income securities, directly or through ETFs. The credit quality rating of securities may be lowered if an issuer's financial condition Deteriorates and issuers may default on their interest and/ or principal payments. Typically, a rise in interest rates causes a decline in the value of fixed income securities.

Foreign Investment Risk: Foreign investing involves risks not typically associated with U.S. investments, including adverse fluctuations in foreign currency values, adverse political, social and economic developments, less liquidity, greater volatility, less developed or less efficient trading markets, political instability and differing auditing and legal standards.

Geographic Concentration Risk: A strategy may be particularly susceptible to economic, political, regulatory or other events or conditions affecting countries within the specific geographic regions in which the strategy invests.

Leverage Risk: Leverage may be used in investment and trading, generally through purchasing inherently leveraged instruments such as exchange-traded funds or closed end funds. The prices of leveraged instruments can be highly volatile, and investments in leveraged instruments may, under certain circumstances, result in losses that exceed the amounts invested. Borrowing magnifies the potential for losses and exposes the client to interest expense on money borrowed. Leveraged ETFs and derivatives will amplify losses because they are designed to produce returns that are a multiple of the equity index to which they are linked.

Leveraged ETF Risk: Leveraged ETFs will amplify gains and losses. Most leveraged ETFs “reset” daily. Due to the effect of compounding, their performance over longer periods of time can differ significantly from the performance of their underlying index or benchmark during the same period of time.

Market Risk: Overall equity and fixed income securities market risks affect the value of A client’s portfolio. Factors such as domestic economic growth and market conditions, interest rate levels and political events affect the securities markets.

Small and Medium Capitalization Stock Risk: A client may invest directly or through ETFs in companies of any size capitalization. The price of small or medium capitalization company stocks may be subject to more abrupt or erratic market movements than larger, more established companies or the market averages in general.

Turnover Risk: A higher portfolio turnover will result in higher transactional and brokerage costs and may result in higher taxes when a client’s investments are held in a taxable account.

U.S. Government Securities Risk: Although U.S. Government securities are considered among the safest investments, they are not guaranteed against price movements due to changing interest rates. Obligations issued by some U.S. Government agencies are backed by the U.S. Treasury, while others are backed solely by the ability of the agency to borrow from the U.S. Treasury or by the agency’s own resources.

Strategy Risks: The ability of Gainplan LLC to meet a client’s investment objective is directly related to our firm’s proprietary investment process. The business of investing in securities is highly competitive and the identification of attractive investment opportunities is difficult and involves a high degree of uncertainty. Gainplan LLC’s reliance on its strategy and judgments about the attractiveness, value and potential appreciation of particular securities may prove to be incorrect and may not produce the desired results.

Fundamental Analysis: The success of its strategies depends in large part on Gainplan LLC's ability to accurately assess the fundamental value of securities. An accurate assessment of fundamental value depends on a complex analysis of a number of financial and legal factors. No assurance can be given that our firm can assess the nature and magnitude of all material factors having a bearing on the value of securities.

Investment Techniques: In implementing its investment strategies, Gainplan LLC may utilize techniques such as borrowing to increase equity exposure and investing and trading in options, Forward contracts, swaps and other derivative instruments. Although employing these techniques expands opportunities for gain, it also substantially increases the risks of volatility and loss.

Cyclical Analysis: Economic/business cycles may not be predictable and may have many fluctuations between long-term expansions and contractions. The lengths of economic cycles may be difficult to predict with accuracy and therefore the risk of cyclical analysis is the difficulty in predicting economic trends and consequently the changing value of securities that would be affected by these changing trends.

Reliance on Management: The success of our firm's investment strategies depends to a great extent on the investment skills of Gainplan LLC, the sub-adviser (if applicable) and its principals and key personnel. Performance could be adversely affected if, due to illness or other factors, their services were not available for any significant period of time.

Due to this risk in particular, we have a practice of liquidating all assets in qualified accounts for clients upon the death of the account holder. This is to mitigate the amount of time these assets are investment without the oversight of our management, however we elect not to do the same for non-qualified positions in an effort to allow our clients to capitalize on the ability to "step up" the cost basis of certain positions upon transfer to an heir.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

There are no legal or disciplinary events that are material to the evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities & Affiliations

Representatives of our firm are licensed insurance agents/brokers. They may offer products and receive normal and customary commissions as a result of these transactions. A conflict of interest may arise as these commissionable sales may create an incentive to recommend products based on the compensation they may earn.

Mr. Bell-Warren is a licensed attorney and member of the Michigan Bar Association. In such capacity, he may provide estate planning and contract law services through Bell-Warren Law, PLLC. These services are independent of our financial planning and investment advisory services and governed under a separate engagement agreement. Clients are under no obligation to utilize these services.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions & Personal Trading

An investment adviser is considered a fiduciary and our firm has a fiduciary duty to all clients. As a fiduciary, it is an investment adviser's responsibility to provide fair and full disclosure of all material facts and to act solely in the best interest of each of our clients at all times. Our fiduciary duty is considered the core underlying principle for our Code of Ethics which also includes Insider Trading and Personal Securities Transactions Policies and Procedures. If a client or a potential client wishes to review our Code of Ethics in its entirety, a copy will be provided upon request.

We recognize that the personal investment transactions of members and employees of our firm demand the application of a high Code of Ethics and require that all such transactions be carried out in a way that does not endanger the interest of any client. At the same time, we believe that if investment goals are similar for clients and for members and employees of our firm, it is logical and even desirable that there be common ownership of some securities.

Therefore, in order to prevent conflicts of interest, we have in place a set of procedures (including a pre-clearing procedure) with respect to transactions effected by our members, officers and employees for their personal accounts¹. In order to monitor compliance with our personal trading policy, we have a quarterly securities transaction reporting system for all of our associates. Upon employment or affiliation and at least annually thereafter, all supervised persons will sign an acknowledgement that they have read, understand, and agree to comply with our Code of Ethics.

Neither our firm nor a related person recommends to clients, or buys or sells for client accounts, securities in which our firm or a related person has a material financial interest. Related persons of our firm may buy or sell securities and other investments that are also recommended to clients. In order to minimize this conflict of interest, our related persons will place client interests ahead of their own interests and adhere to our firm's Code of Ethics. Further, our related persons will refrain from buying or selling the same securities prior to buying or selling for our clients in the same day. If related persons' accounts are included in a block trade, our related persons' accounts will be traded in the same manner every time.

Our firm and supervised persons must conduct business in an honest, ethical, and fair manner and avoid all circumstances that might negatively affect or appear to affect our duty of complete loyalty to all clients. This disclosure is provided to give all clients a summary of our Code of Ethics.

Compliance with Department of Labor Fiduciary Rule

Our firm provides investment advice to assets affected by the Department of Labor ("DOL") Fiduciary Rule for a level fee. As such, we abide by the Impartial Conduct Standards as defined by the DOL. To comply with these standards, our firm and our advisors give advice that is in our clients' best interest, charge no more than reasonable compensation (within the meaning of ERISA Section 408(b)(2) and Internal Revenue Code Section 4975(d)(2)), and make no misleading statements about investment transactions, compensation, conflicts of interest, and any other matters related to investment decisions.

¹ For purposes of the policy, our associate's personal account generally includes any account (a) in the name of our associate, his/her spouse, his/her minor children or other dependents residing in the same household, (b) for which our associate is a trustee or executor, or (c) which our associate controls, including our client accounts which our associate controls and/or a member of his/her household has a direct or indirect beneficial interest in.

- Expertise as it relates to specific securities
- Financial condition
- Business reputation
- Quality of services

With this in consideration, our firm has an arrangement with Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC and National Financial Services LLC (together referred to as “Fidelity”). Fidelity offers services to independent investment advisers which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions.

Fidelity may make certain research and brokerage services available at no additional cost to our firm all of which qualify for the safe harbor exemption defined in Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These services may be directly from independent research companies, as selected by our firm (within specific parameters). Research products and services provided by Fidelity may include research reports on recommendations or other information about, particular companies or industries; economic surveys, data and analyses; financial publications; portfolio evaluation services; financial database software and services; computerized news and pricing services; quotation equipment for use in running software used in investment decision-making; and other products or services that provide lawful and appropriate assistance by Fidelity to our firm in the performance of our investment decision-making responsibilities.

We do not use client brokerage commissions to obtain research or other products or services. The aforementioned research and brokerage services are used by our firm to manage accounts for which we have investment discretion. Without this arrangement, our firm might be compelled to purchase the same or similar services at our own expense.

As a result of receiving these services, we may have an incentive to continue to use or expand the use of Fidelity services. Our firm examined this potential conflict of interest when we chose to enter into the relationship with Fidelity and we have determined that the relationship is in the best interest of our firm’s clients and satisfies our fiduciary obligations, including our duty to seek best execution.

Fidelity charges brokerage commissions and transaction fees for effecting certain securities transactions (i.e., transaction fees are charged for certain no-load mutual funds, commissions are charged for individual equity and debt securities transactions). Fidelity enables us to obtain many no-load mutual funds without transaction charges and other no-load funds at nominal transaction charges. Fidelity commission rates are generally discounted from customary retail commission rates. The commission and transaction fees charged by Fidelity may be higher or lower than those charged by other custodians and broker-dealers.

Our clients may pay a commission to Fidelity that is higher than another qualified broker dealer might charge to effect the same transaction where we determine in good faith that the commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer's services, including the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Accordingly, although we will seek competitive rates, to the benefit of all clients, we may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for specific client account transactions.

Soft Dollars

We do not direct client transactions to a particular broker-dealer in return for soft dollar benefits. Although the investment research products and services that may be obtained by our firm will generally be used to service all of our clients, a brokerage commission paid by a specific client may be used to pay for research that is not used in managing that specific client's account.

Our firm does not accept products or services that do not qualify for Safe Harbor outlined in Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, such as those services that do not aid in investment decision-making or trade execution.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

Our firm does not receive brokerage for client referrals.

Directed Brokerage

Neither we nor any of our firm's related persons have discretionary authority in making the determination of the brokers with whom orders for the purchase or sale of securities are placed for execution, and the commission rates at which such securities transactions are effected. We routinely recommend that a client directs us to execute through a specified broker-dealer. Our firm recommends the use of Fidelity. Each client will be required to establish their account(s) with Fidelity if not already done. Please note that not all advisers have this requirement.

Permissibility of Client-Directed Brokerage

We allow clients to direct brokerage outside our recommendation. We may be unable to achieve the most favorable execution of client transactions. Client directed brokerage may cost clients more money. For example, in a directed brokerage account, you may pay higher brokerage commissions because we may not be able to aggregate orders to reduce transaction costs, or you may receive less favorable prices.

Special Considerations for ERISA Clients

A retirement or ERISA plan client may direct all or part of portfolio transactions for its account through a specific broker or dealer in order to obtain goods or services on behalf of the plan. Such direction is permitted provided that the goods and services provided are reasonable expenses of the plan incurred in the ordinary course of its business for which it otherwise would be obligated and empowered to pay. ERISA prohibits directed brokerage arrangements when the goods or services purchased are not for the exclusive benefit of the plan. Consequently, we will request that plan sponsors who direct plan brokerage provide us with a letter documenting that this arrangement will be for the exclusive benefit of the plan.

Aggregation of Purchase or Sale

We perform investment management services for various clients. There are occasions on which portfolio transactions may be executed as part of concurrent authorizations to purchase or sell the same security for numerous accounts served by our firm, which involve accounts with similar investment objectives. Although such concurrent authorizations potentially could be either advantageous or disadvantageous to any one or more particular accounts, they are affected only when we believe that to do so will be in the best interest of the effected accounts. When such concurrent authorizations occur, the objective is to allocate the executions in a manner which is deemed equitable to the accounts involved. In any given situation, we attempt to allocate trade executions in the most equitable manner possible, taking into consideration client objectives, current asset allocation and availability of funds using price averaging, proration and consistently non-arbitrary methods of allocation.

Item 13: Review of Accounts or Financial Plans

We review accounts on at least a quarterly basis for our clients subscribing to our Asset Management and Comprehensive Portfolio Management services. The nature of these reviews is to learn whether clients' accounts are in line with their investment objectives, appropriately positioned based on market conditions, and investment policies, if applicable. We may review client accounts more frequently than described above. Among the factors which may trigger an off-cycle review are major market or economic events, the client's life events, requests by the client, etc. Only our Financial Advisors or Portfolio Managers will conduct reviews. We do not provide written reports to clients, unless asked to do so. Verbal reports to clients take place on at least an annual basis when we contact clients who subscribe to these services.

Business Consulting clients receive a written assessment of the business and a recommended plan for improvement. This service is on an ongoing basis. Our firm will meet with clients to discuss any changes in the business. Our firm will also monitor and update the assessment and/or recommendations as needed.

Financial Planning clients do not receive reviews of their written plans unless they take action to schedule a financial consultation with us. We do not provide ongoing services to financial planning clients, but are willing to meet with such clients upon their request to discuss updates to their plans, changes in their circumstances, etc. Financial Planning clients do not receive written or verbal updated reports regarding their financial plans unless they separately contract with us for a post-financial plan meeting or update to their initial written financial plan.

Pension Consulting clients receive reviews of their pension plans for the duration of the pension consulting service. We also provide ongoing services to Pension Consulting clients where we meet with such clients upon their request to discuss updates to their plans, changes in their circumstances, etc. Pension Consulting clients do not receive written or verbal updated reports regarding their pension plans unless they choose to contract with us for ongoing Pension Consulting services.

Item 14: Client Referrals & Other Compensation

Fidelity

Except for the arrangements outlined in Item 12 of this document, we have no additional compensation arrangements to disclose.

Referral Fees

We do not pay referral fees (non-commission based) to independent solicitors (non-registered representatives) for the referral of their clients to our firm in accordance with Rule 206 (4)-3 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940.

Item 15: Custody

We do not have custody of client funds or securities. All of our clients receive at least quarterly account statements directly from their custodians. Upon opening an account with a qualified custodian on a client's behalf, we promptly notify the client in writing of the qualified custodian's contact information. If we decide to also send account statements to clients, such notice and account statements include a legend that recommends that the client compare the account statements received from the qualified custodian with those received from our firm.

We encourage our clients to raise any questions with us about the custody, safety or security of their assets. The custodians we do business with will send you independent account statements listing your account balance(s), transaction history and any fee debits or other fees taken out of your account.

The SEC issued a no-action letter ("Letter") with respect to the Rule 206(4)-2 ("Custody Rule") under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 ("Advisers Act"). The letter provided guidance on the Custody Rule as well as clarified that an adviser who has the power to disburse client funds to a third party under a standing letter of instruction ("SLOA") is deemed to have custody. As such, our firm has adopted the following safeguards in conjunction with our custodian:

- The client provides an instruction to the qualified custodian, in writing, that includes the client's signature, the third party's name, and either the third party's address or the third party's account number at a custodian to which the transfer should be directed.
- The client authorizes the investment adviser, in writing, either on the qualified custodian's form or separately, to direct transfers to the third party either on a specified schedule or from time to time.

- The client's qualified custodian performs appropriate verification of the instruction, such as a signature review or other method to verify the client's authorization, and provides a transfer of funds notice to the client promptly after each transfer.
- The client has the ability to terminate or change the instruction to the client's qualified custodian.
- The investment adviser has no authority or ability to designate or change the identity of the third party, the address, or any other information about the third party contained in the client's instruction.
- The investment adviser maintains records showing that the third party is not a related party of the investment adviser or located at the same address as the investment adviser.
- The client's qualified custodian sends the client, in writing, an initial notice confirming the instruction and an annual notice reconfirming the instruction.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

Clients provide our firm with investment discretion on their behalf, pursuant to an executed investment advisory client agreement. By granting investment discretion, we are authorized to execute securities transactions, which securities are bought and sold, and the total amount to be bought and sold. Limitations may be imposed by the client in the form of specific constraints on any of these areas of discretion with our firm's written acknowledgement.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

SEC Rule 206(4)-6 requires investment advisers who have voting authority with respect to securities held in their clients' accounts to monitor corporate actions and vote proxies in their clients' interests. Our firm is required by the SEC to adopt written policies and procedures, make those policies and procedures available to clients, and retain certain records with respect to proxy votes cast.

Our firm considers proxy voting an important right of our clients as shareholders and believe that reasonable care and diligence must be taken to ensure that such rights are properly and timely exercised. When our firm has discretion to vote the proxies of our clients, our firm will vote those proxies in the client's best interests and in accordance with these policies and procedures, or abstain if we determine the issue non-material to our client's interests. Clients may request a copy of our written policies and procedures regarding proxy voting and/or information on how particular proxies were voted by contacting our Chief Compliance Officer, Wayne Bell-Warren, by phone at 248.385.3737 or email at wbellwarren@gainplanners.com.

Policy for Voting Proxies

All proxies received by our firm will be given to our Chief Compliance Officer or designated person for processing. Our Chief Compliance Officer will determine which accounts managed by our firm hold the security to which the proxy relates. These accounts and their share holdings will be matched to the proxies received for each security. Missing proxies or significant variances in shares held will be investigated.

A grid of securities being voted will be updated with each proxy being voted. The grid will also contain a list of clients with the security voted upon. Our Chief Compliance Officer will review each item for voting on each proxy. Due to the fact that our firm never maintains a material stake in any single company for control purposes, we generally maintain a policy of abstention for proxies received on behalf of our clients. We will review each issue up for vote, and document the decision to either abstain, or why it is in our client's best interest when we elect to cast votes. Any clients wishing to cast proxy votes on their own behalf should contact us and we will forward the necessary information.

Our firm seeks to ensure compliance with the new Exchange Act Rule 14a-11. In accordance with the aforementioned rule, our firm provides shareholders with the opportunity to nominate directors at a shareholder meeting under the applicable state or foreign law. Clients also have the ability to have their nominees included in the company proxy materials sent to all of our shareholders. Furthermore, the clients as shareholders also have the ability to use the shareholder proposal process to establish procedures for the inclusion of shareholder director nominations in company proxy materials.

Our written policies and procedures regarding proxy voting are disclosed here. Information on how particular proxies were voted may contact our Chief Compliance Officer, Wayne Bell-Warren, by phone at 248.385.3737 or email at wbellwarren@gainplanners.com.

Item 18: Financial Information

We are not required to provide financial information in this Brochure because:

- We do not require the prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees six or more months in advance.
- We do not take custody of client funds or securities.
- We do not have a financial condition or commitment that impairs our ability to meet contractual and fiduciary obligations to clients.

We have never been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
