Item 4 – Advisory Services

A. Firm Information

LynnLeigh & Company., LLC (“LynnLeigh” or the “Advisor”) is a Registered Investment Advisor located in the State of New York, which is organized as a Limited Liability Company (LLC). LynnLeigh was founded in July 2016, and is owned and operated by Rebecca L. Gillette and Kelly Olczak. This Disclosure Brochure provides information regarding the qualifications, business practices, and the advisory services provided by LynnLeigh.

B. Advisory Services Offered

LynnLeigh offers wealth management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, trusts, estates in the State of New York and other states (each referred to as a “Client”).

Wealth Management Services

LynnLeigh may provide Clients with wealth management services, which generally includes a broad range of comprehensive financial planning and consulting services in connection with discretionary management of investment portfolios. These services are described below.

Investment Management Services

LynnLeigh provide customized wealth management solutions for its Clients. This is achieved through continuous personal Client contact and interaction while providing discretionary investment management and related advisory services. Portfolios are chosen after taking into consideration such things as a Client’s risk profile, the time horizon, income needs as well as their unique tax situation. The portfolio management process is based on key pillars of our investment philosophy that includes research-based decisions with a focus on quality while leveraging long term trends supported by key data. LynnLeigh will then either construct a portfolio or place the Client into a model portfolio. Portfolios constructed by the Advisor and model portfolios both consist of low-cost, diversified mutual funds and/or exchange-traded funds (“ETFs”). The Advisor may also utilize individual stocks, bonds or corporate debt securities. The Advisor may retain certain types of investments based on a Client’s legacy portfolio construction.

LynnLeigh’s investment strategy[ies] is primarily long-term focused, but the Advisor may buy, sell or re-allocate positions that have been held less than one year to meet the objectives of the Client or due to market conditions. LynnLeigh will construct, implement and monitor the portfolio to ensure it meets the goals, objectives, circumstances, and risk tolerance agreed to by the Client. Each Client will have the opportunity to place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments to be held in their respective portfolio, subject to acceptance by the Advisor.

LynnLeigh evaluates and selects investments for inclusion in Client portfolios only after applying its internal due diligence process. As part of this process, we may purchase research from other investment adviser firms, including the model portfolio holdings and recommendations of those firm. We may choose to follow or not follow those models and recommendations. LynnLeigh may recommend, on occasion, redistributing investment allocations to diversify its client portfolios. LynnLeigh may recommend specific positions to increase sector or asset class weightings. The Advisor may recommend employing cash positions as a possible hedge against market movement. LynnLeigh may recommend selling positions for reasons that include, but are not limited to, harvesting capital gains or losses, business or sector risk exposure to a specific security or class of securities, overvaluation or overweighting of the position[s] in the portfolio, change in risk tolerance of Client, generating cash to meet Client needs, or any risk deemed unacceptable for the Client’s risk tolerance.

At no time will LynnLeigh accept or maintain custody of a Client’s funds or securities, except for authorized deduction of the Advisor’s fees. All Client assets will be managed within their designated brokerage account or pension account, pursuant to the Client wealth management agreement. Please see Item 12.

Financial Planning Services

LynnLeigh will typically provide a variety of financial planning and consulting services to Clients, pursuant to a written financial planning agreement. Services are offered in several areas of a Client’s financial situation, depending on their goals, objectives and financial situation.

Generally, such financial planning services involve preparing a formal financial plan or rendering a specific financial consultation based on the Client's financial goals and objectives. This planning or consulting may encompass one or more areas of need, including but not limited to, investment planning, retirement planning, personal savings, education savings and other areas of a Client's financial situation.

A financial plan developed for or financial consultation rendered to the Client will usually include general recommendations for a course of activity or specific actions to be taken by the Client. For example, recommendations may be made that the Client start or revise their investment programs, commence or alter retirement savings, establish education savings and/or charitable giving programs. LynnLeigh may also refer Clients to an accountant, attorney or other specialist, as appropriate for their unique situation. For certain financial planning engagements, the Advisor will provide a written summary of Client's financial situation, observations, and recommendations. For consulting or ad-hoc engagements, the Advisor may not provide a written summary. Plans or consultations are typically completed within six months of contract date, assuming all information and documents requested are provided promptly.

Financial planning and consulting recommendations may pose a conflict between the interests of the Advisor and the interests of the Client. For example, a recommendation to engage the Advisor for investment management services or to increase the level of investment assets with the Advisor would pose a conflict, as it would increase the advisory fees paid to the Advisor. Clients are not obligated to implement any recommendations made by the Advisor or maintain an ongoing relationship with the Advisor. If the Client elects to act on any of the recommendations made by the Advisor, the Client is under no obligation to effect the transaction through the Advisor.

C. Client Account Management

Prior to engaging LynnLeigh to provide wealth management services, each Client is required to enter into a Wealth Management Agreement with the Advisor that defines the terms, conditions, authority and responsibilities of the Advisor and the Client. These services may include:

- Establishing an Investment Strategy – LynnLeigh, in connection with the Client, may develop a statement that summarizes the Client's investment goals and objectives along with the broad strategy[ies] to be employed to meet the objectives.
- Asset Allocation – LynnLeigh will develop a strategic asset allocation that is targeted to meet the investment objectives, time horizon, financial situation and tolerance for risk for each Client.
- Portfolio Construction/Model Portfolio – LynnLeigh will either develop a portfolio for the Client that is intended to meet the stated goals and objectives of the Client or place Client assets in a model portfolio that is targeted to meet the investment objectives, time horizon, financial situation and tolerance for risk for each Client.
- Investment Management and Supervision – LynnLeigh will provide investment management and ongoing oversight of the Client's relationship's investment portfolio.

D. Wrap Fee Programs

LynnLeigh does not manage or place Client assets into a wrap fee program. Investment management services are provided directly by LynnLeigh.

E. Assets Under Management

The firm has $63,058,412 in discretionary assets under management as of August 20, 2018. Clients may request more current information at any time by contacting the Advisor.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

The following paragraphs detail the fee structure and compensation methodology for services provided by the Advisor. Each Client engaging the Advisor for services described herein shall be required to enter into a written agreement with the Advisor.

A. Fees for Advisory Services

Wealth Management Services

For Clients engaged in comprehensive wealth management services, the Client may be charged a single combined fee for investment management and financial planning services based on the market value of assets under management.

All fees are negotiable. LynnLeigh & Company, in its sole discretion, may require a greater fee than the maximum amount set forth in the fee schedule below, in the event that the Firm deems the account size, complexity, service to be provided or other factors to warrant a higher fee. The firm also reserves the right to negotiate a lesser management fee with certain clients based upon any of a number of criteria (i.e., anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client, account retention, pro-bono activities, etc.).

In limited circumstances, the firm may also provide these services for a fixed fee which will be negotiated on a case-by-case basis. In addition, certain clients of the Firm may pay more than the fee listed below.

Wealth management fees are paid monthly in arrears pursuant to the terms of the wealth management agreement. Wealth management fees are based on the market value of assets under management at the end of each calendar month using average daily balance. Wealth management fees are based on the following schedule:

Assets Under Management ($)	Annual Rate (%)
$0 to $500,000	Up to 1.50%
$500,001 to $1,000,000	Up to 1.25%
$1,000,001 to $2,500,000	Up to 1.00%
$2,500,001 to $5,000,000	Up to 0.90%
Over $5,000,000	Up to 0.80%

B. Fee Billing

Wealth Management Services

Wealth management fees are calculated by the Advisor or its delegate and deducted from the Client's account[s] at the Custodian. The amount due is calculated by applying the average daily rate to the total assets under management with LynnLeigh at the end of each month. Any Financial Institutions recommended by LynnLeigh & Company have agreed to send a statement to the client, at least quarterly, indicating all amounts disbursed from the account including the amount of management fees paid directly to LynnLeigh & Company. Alternatively, clients may elect to have LynnLeigh & Company send an invoice for payment. It is the responsibility of the Client to verify the accuracy of these fees as listed on the Custodian's brokerage statement as the Custodian does not assume this responsibility. Clients provide written authorization permitting LynnLeigh to be paid directly from their account[s] held by the Custodian as part of the wealth management agreement and separate account forms provided by the Custodian.

C. Other Fees and Expenses

Clients may incur certain fees or charges imposed by third parties, other than LynnLeigh, in connection with investments made on behalf of the Client's account[s]. The Client is responsible for all custodial and securities execution fees charged by the custodian and executing broker-dealer. The wealth management fee charged by LynnLeigh is separate and distinct from these custodian and execution fees.

In addition, all fees paid to LynnLeigh for wealth management services are separate and distinct from the expenses charged by mutual funds and exchange-traded funds to their shareholders, if applicable. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees and expenses will generally be used to pay management fees for the funds, other fund expenses, account administration (e.g., custody, brokerage and account reporting), and a possible distribution fee. A Client could invest in these products directly, without the services of LynnLeigh, but would not receive the services provided by LynnLeigh which are designed, among other things, to assist the Client in determining which products or services are most appropriate for each Client's financial situation and objectives. Accordingly, the Client should review both the fees charged by the fund[s] and the fees charged by LynnLeigh to fully understand the total fees to be paid. Please refer to Item 12 – Brokerage Practices for additional information.

D. Payment of Fees and Termination

Wealth Management Services

LynnLeigh is compensated for its services in arrears of the month in which wealth management services are rendered. Either party may terminate the wealth management agreement by providing advance written notice to the other party. The Client may terminate the wealth management agreement within five (5) business days of signing the Advisor's agreement at no cost to the Client. After the five-day period, the Client will incur charges for bona fide advisory services rendered to the point of termination and such fees will be due and payable by the Client. The Client's wealth management agreement with the Advisor is non-transferable without the Client's prior approval.

E. Compensation for Sales of Investment Products

Advisory Persons may also be licensed as independent insurance professionals. These persons will earn commission-based compensation for selling insurance products, including insurance products they sell to you. Insurance commissions earned by these persons are separate and in addition to our advisory fees. This practice presents a conflict of interest because persons providing investment advice on behalf of our firm who are insurance agents have an incentive to recommend insurance products to you for the purpose of generating commissions rather than solely based on your needs. However, you are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to purchase insurance products through any person affiliated with our firm.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

LynnLeigh does not provide any services for performance-based compensation (i.e., fees assessed based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of a client's assets). Consequently, LynnLeigh & Company does not engage in side-by-side management of accounts. The fees charged by LynnLeigh are as described in "Item 5 – Fees and Compensation" above and are not based upon the capital appreciation of the funds or securities held by any Client.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

LynnLeigh offers wealth management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, trusts, estates and retirement plans in State of New York and other states. The percentage of each type of Client is available on LynnLeigh's Form ADV Part 1A. These percentages may change over time and are updated at least annually by the Advisor. LynnLeigh generally does not impose a minimum account size for establishing a relationship.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

A. Methods of Analysis

LynnLeigh primarily employs a fundamental, technical, cyclical, and charting analysis methods in developing investment strategies for its Clients. Research and analysis from LynnLeigh is derived from numerous sources, including financial media companies, third-party research materials, Internet sources, and review of company activities, including annual reports, prospectuses, press releases and research prepared by others.

Fundamental analysis utilizes economic and business indicators as investment selection criteria. These criteria are generally ratios and trends that may indicate the overall strength and financial viability of the entity being analyzed. Assets are deemed suitable if they meet certain criteria to indicate that they are a strong investment with a value discounted by the market. While this type of analysis helps the Advisor in evaluating a potential investment, it does not guarantee that the investment will increase in value. Assets meeting the investment criteria utilized in the fundamental analysis may lose value and may have negative investment performance. The Advisor monitors these economic indicators to determine if adjustments to strategic allocations are appropriate. More details on the Advisor's review process are included below in "Item 13 – Review of Accounts".

Technical analysis involves the analysis of past market data rather than specific company data in determining the recommendations made to clients. Technical analysis may involve the use of charts to identify market patterns and trends, which may be based on investor sentiment rather than the fundamentals of the company. The primary risk in using technical analysis is that spotting historical trends may not help to predict such trends in the future. Even if the trend will eventually reoccur, there is no guarantee that LynnLeigh will be able to accurately predict such a reoccurrence.

Cyclical analysis is similar to technical analysis in that it involves the analysis of market conditions at a macro (entire market/economy) or micro (company specific) level, rather than the overall fundamental analysis of the health of the particular company that LynnLeigh is recommending. The risks with cyclical analysis are similar to those of technical analysis.

Charting analysis utilizes various market indicators as investment selection criteria. These criteria are generally pricing trends that may indicate movement in the markets. Assets are deemed suitable if they meet certain criteria to indicate that they are a strong investment with a value discounted by the market. While this type of analysis helps the Advisor in evaluating a potential investment, it does not guarantee that the investment will increase in value. Assets meeting the investment criteria utilized in the technical and charting analysis may lose value and may have negative investment performance. The Advisor monitors these market indicators to determine if adjustments to strategic allocations are appropriate.

As noted above, LynnLeigh generally employs a long-term investment strategy for its Clients, as consistent with their financial goals. LynnLeigh will typically hold all or a portion of a security for more than a year, but may hold for shorter periods for the purpose of rebalancing a portfolio or meeting the cash needs of Clients. At times, LynnLeigh may also buy and sell positions that are more short-term in nature, depending on the goals of the Client and/or the fundamentals of the security, sector or asset class.

B. Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves certain investment risks. Securities may fluctuate in value or lose value. Clients should be prepared to bear the potential risk of loss. LynnLeigh will assist Clients in determining an appropriate strategy based on their tolerance for risk and other factors noted above. However, there is no guarantee that a Client will meet their investment goals.

While the methods of analysis help the Advisor in evaluating a potential investment, it does not guarantee that the investment will increase in value. Assets meeting the investment criteria utilized in these methods of analysis may lose value and may have negative investment performance. The Advisor monitors these economic indicators to determine if adjustments to strategic allocations are appropriate. More details on the Advisor's review process are included below in "Item 13 – Review of Accounts".

Each Client engagement will entail a review of the Client's investment goals, financial situation, time horizon, tolerance for risk and other factors to develop an appropriate strategy for managing a Client's account. Client participation in this process, including full and accurate disclosure of requested information, is essential for the analysis of a Client's account. The Advisor shall rely on the financial and other information provided by the Client or their designees without the duty or obligation to validate the accuracy and completeness of the provided information. It is the responsibility of the Client to inform the Advisor of any changes in financial condition, goals or other factors that may affect this analysis.

The risks associated with a particular strategy are provided to each Client in advance of investing Client accounts. The Advisor will work with each Client to determine their tolerance for risk as part of the portfolio construction process. Following are some of the risks associated with the potential speculative components of the Advisor's strategy:

Margin Borrowings

The use of short-term margin borrowings may result in certain additional risks to a Client. For example, if securities pledged to brokers to secure a Client's margin accounts decline in value, the Client could be subject to a "margin call", pursuant to which it must either deposit additional funds with the broker or be the subject of mandatory liquidation of the pledged securities to compensate for the decline in value.

Cybersecurity Risk

Cybersecurity risk is the risk related to unauthorized access to the systems and networks of LynnLeigh and its service providers. The computer systems, networks and devices used by LynnLeigh and service providers to us and our clients to carry out routine business operations employ a variety of protections designed to prevent damage or interruption from computer viruses, network failures, computer and telecommunication failures, infiltration by unauthorized persons and security breaches. Despite the various protections utilized, systems, networks or devices potentially can be breached. A client could be negatively impacted as a result of a cybersecurity breach. Cybersecurity breaches can include unauthorized access to systems, networks or devices; infection from computer viruses or other malicious software code; and attacks that shut down, disable, slow or otherwise disrupt operations, business processes or website access or functionality. Cybersecurity breaches may cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses to a client; impediments to trading; the inability by us and other service providers to transact business; violations of applicable privacy and other laws; regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, or other compliance costs; as well as the inadvertent release of confidential information. Similar adverse consequences could result from cybersecurity breaches affecting issues of securities in which a client invests; governmental and other regulatory authorities; exchange and other financial market operators, banks, brokers, dealers and other financial institutions; and other parties. In addition, substantial costs may be incurred by those entities in an effort to prevent any cybersecurity breaches in the future

Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns. Investing in securities and other investments involve a risk of loss that each Client should understand and be willing to bear. Clients are reminded to discuss these risks with the Advisor.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

There are no legal, regulatory or disciplinary events involving LynnLeigh or any of its management persons. LynnLeigh values the trust you place in us. As we advise all Clients, we encourage you to perform the requisite due diligence on any advisor or service provider with whom you partner. Our backgrounds are on the Investment Adviser Public Disclosure website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov by searching by our firm name or our CRD # 285044.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

LynnLeigh & Company is required to disclose any relationship or arrangement that is material to its advisory business or to its clients with certain related persons. The Firm has described such relationship below.

Insurance Agency Affiliations

Certain Advisory Persons are also a licensed insurance professional. Implementations of insurance recommendations are separate and apart from one's role with LynnLeigh. As an insurance professional, Advisory Persons may receive customary commissions and other related revenues from the various insurance companies whose products are sold. Advisory Persons is not required to offer the products of any particular insurance company. Commissions generated by insurance sales do not offset regular advisory fees. This may cause a conflict of interest in recommending certain products of the insurance companies. Clients are under no obligation to implement any recommendations made by Advisory Persons or the Advisor.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

A. Code of Ethics

LynnLeigh has adopted a Code of Ethics (the "Code") that defines our fiduciary commitment to each Client. In accordance with Section 204A of the Advisors Act, its Code of Ethics contains written policies reasonably designed to prevent the unlawful use of material non-public information by LynnLeigh & Company or any of its associated persons. This Code of Ethics applies to the supervised persons or any of its associated persons of LynnLeigh. The Code of Ethics was developed to provide general ethical guidelines and specific instructions regarding our duties to you, our Client. LynnLeigh owes a duty of loyalty, fairness and good faith towards each Client. The Code of Ethics covers a range of topics that address employee ethics and conflicts of interest. To request a copy of our Code of Ethics, please contact us at (585) 623-5970.

B. Personal Trading with Material Interest

LynnLeigh allows the purchase or sale of the same securities that may be recommended to and purchased on behalf of Clients. LynnLeigh does not act as principal in any transactions. In addition, the Advisor does not act as the general partner of a fund, or advise an investment company. LynnLeigh does not have a material interest in any securities traded in Client accounts.

C. Personal Trading in Same Securities as Clients

LynnLeigh allows the purchase or sale of the same securities that may be recommended to and purchased on behalf of Clients. Owning the same securities we recommend (purchase or sell) to you presents a conflict of interest that, as fiduciaries, we must disclose to you and mitigate through policies and procedures. As noted above, we have adopted the Code to address insider trading (material non-public information controls); gifts and entertainment; outside business activities and personal securities reporting. When trading for personal accounts, We may have a conflict of interest if trading in the same securities. The fiduciary duty to act in the best interest of its Clients can potentially be violated if personal trades are made with more advantageous terms than Client trades, or by trading based on material non-public information. This risk is mitigated by LynnLeigh by conducting a coordinated review by the CCO of personal accounts of its access persons and the accounts of the Clients. We have also adopted written policies and procedures to detect the misuse of material, non-public information.

D. Personal Trading at Same Time as Client

While LynnLeigh allows the purchase or sale of the same securities that may be recommended to and purchased on behalf of Clients, such trades are typically aggregated with Client orders or traded afterwards. At no time will LynnLeigh transact in any security to the detriment of any Client.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

A. Recommendation of Custodian[s]

LynnLeigh does not have discretionary authority to select the broker-dealer/custodian for custodial and execution services. The Client will select the broker-dealer or custodian (herein the "Custodian") to safeguard Client assets and authorize LynnLeigh to direct trades to this Custodian as agreed in the wealth management agreement. Further, LynnLeigh does not have the discretionary authority to negotiate commissions on behalf of our Clients on a trade-by-trade basis.

LynnLeigh recommends Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. Advisor Services.

Following are additional details regarding the brokerage practices of the Advisor:

1. Soft Dollars - Soft dollars are revenue programs offered by broker-dealers whereby an advisor enters into an agreement to place security trades with the broker in exchange for research and other services. LynnLeigh does not participate in soft dollar programs sponsored or offered by any broker-dealer.

2. Brokerage Referrals - LynnLeigh does not receive any compensation from any third party in connection with the recommendation for establishing a brokerage account.

3. Directed Brokerage - All Clients are serviced on a “directed brokerage basis”, where LynnLeigh will place trades within the established account[s] at the custodian designated by the Client. Further, all Client accounts are traded within their respective brokerage account[s]. The Advisor will not engage in any principal transactions (i.e., trade of any security from or to the Advisor’s own account) or cross transactions with other Client accounts (i.e., purchase of a security into one Client account from another Client’s account[s]). LynnLeigh will not be obligated to select competitive bids on securities transactions and does not have an obligation to seek the lowest available transaction costs. These costs are determined by the designated Custodian.

B. Aggregating and Allocating Trades

The primary objective in placing orders for the purchase and sale of securities for Client accounts is to obtain the most favorable net results taking into account such factors as 1) price, 2) size of order, 3) difficulty of execution, 4) confidentiality and 5) skill required of the broker. LynnLeigh will execute its transactions through an unaffiliated broker-dealer selected by the Client. LynnLeigh may aggregate orders in a block trade or trades when securities are purchased or sold through the same broker-dealer for multiple (discretionary) accounts in the same trading day. If a block trade cannot be executed in full at the same price or time, the securities actually purchased or sold by the close of each business day must be allocated in a manner that is consistent with the initial pre-allocation or other written statement. This must be done in a way that does not consistently advantage or disadvantage any particular Client accounts.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

A. Frequency of Reviews

Securities in Client accounts are monitored on a regular and continuous basis by Ms. Gillette, Chief Compliance Officer of LynnLeigh. Formal reviews are generally conducted at least annually or more or less frequently depending on the needs of the Client.

B. Causes for Reviews

In addition to the investment monitoring noted in Item 13.A., each Client account shall be reviewed at least annually. Reviews may be conducted more or less frequently at the Client’s request. Accounts may be reviewed as a result of major changes in economic conditions, known changes in the Client’s financial situation, and/or large deposits or withdrawals in the Client’s account. The Client is encouraged to notify LynnLeigh if changes occur in the Client’s personal financial situation that might adversely affect the Client’s investment plan. Additional reviews may be triggered by material market, economic or political events.

C. Review Reports

The Client will receive brokerage statements no less than quarterly from the trustee or Custodian. These brokerage statements are sent directly from the Custodian to the Client. The Client may also establish electronic access to the Custodian’s website so that the Client may view these reports and their account activity. Client brokerage statements will include all positions, transactions and fees relating to the Client’s account[s]. The Advisor may also provide Clients with periodic reports regarding their holdings, allocations, and performance.

Item 14 - Client Referrals and Other Compensation

A. Compensation Received by LynnLeigh

LynnLeigh does not receive commissions or other compensation from product sponsors, broker-dealers or any un-related third party. LynnLeigh may refer Clients to various unaffiliated, non-advisory professionals (e.g. attorneys, accountants, estate planners) to provide certain financial services necessary to meet the goals of its Clients. Likewise, LynnLeigh may receive non-compensated referrals of new Clients from various third-parties.

B. Client Referrals from Solicitors

LynnLeigh will, via written arrangement, retain third parties to act as solicitors for LynnLeigh's investment management services. All compensation with respect to the foregoing will be fully disclosed to each client to the extent required by applicable law. LynnLeigh will ensure each solicitor is properly registered in all appropriate jurisdictions. We have addressed the conflicts of interest inherent in solicitor arrangements through disclosure of the arrangements to our clients.

Item 15 – Custody and Brokerage Costs

For our clients' accounts it maintains, Charles Schwab generally does not charge you separately for custody services but is compensated by charging you commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that settle into your Schwab account. Schwab also charges you a flat dollar amount as a "prime broker" or "trade away" fee for each trade that we have executed by a different broker-dealer but where the securities bought or the funds from the securities sold are deposited (settled) into your Schwab account. These fees are in addition to the commissions or other compensation you may pay the executing broker-dealer. Because of this, in order to minimize your trading costs, we have Schwab execute most trades for your account.

Schwab Advisor Services (formerly called Schwab Institutional) is Schwab's business serving independent investment advisory firms like us. They provide us and our clients with access to its institutional brokerage – trading, custody, reporting and related services – many of which are not typically available to Schwab retail customers. Schwab also makes available various support services. Some of those services help us manage or administer our clients' accounts while others help us manage and grow our business. Below is a more detailed description of Schwab's support services.

Services that Benefit you. Schwab's institutional brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of clients' assets. The investment products available through Schwab include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients. Schwab's services described in this paragraph generally benefit you and your account.

Services that May Not Directly Benefit You. Schwab also makes available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients' accounts. They include investment research, both Schwab's own and that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or sum substantial number of our clients' accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab. In addition to investment research, Schwab also makes available software and other technology that:

- Provide access to client data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements);
- Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple clients accounts;
- Provide pricing and other market data;
- Facilitate payment of our fees from our clients' accounts; and
- Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting.

As stated above, LynnLeigh & Company's Wealth Management Agreement and/or the separate Agreement with any Financial Institution may authorize LynnLeigh & Company through such Financial Institution to debit the client's account for the amount of the Firm's fee and to directly remit that management fee to the Firm in accordance with applicable custody rules. All Clients must place their assets with a qualified custodian. Clients are required to select their own custodian to retain their funds and securities and direct LynnLeigh to utilize that custodian for the Client's security transactions. Clients should review statements provided by the account custodian and compare to any reports provided by LynnLeigh to ensure accuracy, as the custodian does not perform this review. For more information about custodians and brokerage practices, see "Item 12 - Brokerage Practices".

The Financial Institutions recommended by LynnLeigh & Company have agreed to send a statement to the client, at least quarterly, indicating the amounts disbursed from the account including the amount of management fees and/or planning fees paid directly to the Firm. In addition, LynnLeigh also sends periodic supplemental reports to clients. Clients should carefully review the statements sent directly by the Financial Institution and compare them to those received from the Firm.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

LynnLeigh generally has discretion over the selection and amount of securities to be bought or sold in Client accounts without obtaining prior consent or approval from the Client. However, these purchases or sales may be subject to specified investment objectives, guidelines, or limitations previously set forth by the Client and agreed to by LynnLeigh. Discretionary authority will only be authorized upon full disclosure to the Client. The granting of such authority will be evidenced by the Client's execution of a wealth management agreement containing all applicable limitations to such authority. All discretionary trades made by LynnLeigh will be in accordance with each Client's investment objectives and goals.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

LynnLeigh does not accept proxy-voting responsibility for any Client. Clients will receive proxy statements directly from the Custodian. The Advisor will assist in answering questions relating to proxies, however, the Client retains the sole responsibility for proxy decisions and voting.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Neither LynnLeigh, nor its management, have any adverse financial situations that would reasonably impair the ability of LynnLeigh to meet all obligations to its Clients. Neither LynnLeigh, nor any of its advisory persons, has been subject to a bankruptcy or financial compromise. LynnLeigh is not required to deliver a balance sheet along with this Disclosure Brochure as the Advisor does not collect fees of $1,200 or more for services to be performed six months or more in advance.

Privacy Policy

Effective Date: November 10, 2016

Our Commitment to You

LynnLeigh & Company., LLC ("LynnLeigh" or the "Advisor") is committed to safeguarding the use of personal information of our Clients (also referred to as "you" and "your") that we obtain as your Investment Advisor, as described here in our Privacy Policy ("Policy").

Our relationship with you is our most important asset. We understand that you have entrusted us with your private information, and we do everything that we can to maintain that trust. LynnLeigh (also referred to as "we", "our" and "us") protects the security and confidentiality of the personal information we have and implements controls to ensure that such information is used for proper business purposes in connection with the management or servicing of our relationship with you.

LynnLeigh does not sell your non-public personal information to anyone. Nor do we provide such information to others except for discrete and reasonable business purposes in connection with the servicing and management of our relationship with you, as discussed below.

Details of our approach to privacy and how your personal non-public information is collected and used are set forth in this Policy.

Why you need to know?

Registered Investment Advisors ("RIAs") must share some of your personal information in the course of servicing your account. Federal and State laws give you the right to limit some of this sharing and require RIAs to disclose how we collect, share, and protect your personal information.

Changes to our Privacy Policy

We will send you a copy of this Policy annually for as long as you maintain an ongoing relationship with us.

Periodically we may revise this Policy, and will provide you with a revised policy if the changes materially alter the previous Privacy Policy. We will not, however, revise our Privacy Policy to permit the sharing of non-public personal information other than as described in this notice unless we first notify you and provide you with an opportunity to prevent the information sharing.

Any Questions?

You may ask questions or voice any concerns, as well as obtain a copy of our current Privacy Policy by contacting us at (585) 623-5970.
