The Company

The primary business objective of the Manager is to provide asset management and other services to the Company, which, is listed on the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE: NRE) and has elected to qualify as a REIT under the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended. The Company commenced operations in November 2015 following a spin-off by NorthStar Realty Finance Corp. of its European real estate business (excluding its European healthcare properties) into a separately publicly-traded company. The Company's objective is to provide stockholders with stable and recurring cash flow supplemented by capital growth over time, through the use of equity investments, directly or indirectly through joint ventures.

More complete information about a Managed Vehicle is included in the respective Managed Vehicle's Governing Documents, which may be included in the Company's public filings or may be provided to current and eligible prospective investors only by the Company or another authorized party. In no event should this Brochure be considered to be an offer of interests in the Company or any other Client or relied upon in any determination to invest in the Company or any Client. It is also not an offer of, or agreement to provide, advisory services directly to any recipient of the Brochure. Rather, this Brochure is designed to provide information about the Manager for the purpose of compliance with the Manager's obligations under the Advisers Act. Accordingly, the Brochure responds to relevant regulatory requirements under the Advisers Act, which may differ from the information provided in the Company's Governing Documents. To the extent that there is any conflict between discussions herein and similar or related discussions in any Governing Document, the relevant Governing Document govern.

The Manager's Advisory Services to the Company

Subject to the oversight of the Board, of which a majority of the members are independent, pursuant to the rules of the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE), and other limited exceptions, the Manager manages the day-to-day operations of the Company and its subsidiaries. The Manager is responsible for the operations identified in the Management Agreement (as defined below), including, among others, acquisition, disposition, financing, portfolio management, property management, construction, development, stockholder services, communication, offering, corporate governance, overhead and other administrative services, such as accounting and investor relations, to the Company and its subsidiaries and other similar services. Such services are provided in accordance with (i) the investment objectives, policies and restrictions from time to time set forth by the Board and (ii) all applicable federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations. The Manager keeps and preserves the books and records for the Company and, upon reasonable request, provides periodic and special reports to the Company.

Colony Capital, the Manager or the Company also may establish and/or sponsor strategic arrangements and partnerships, directly or on behalf of the Company.

The Manager does not currently offer wrap fee programs.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

As a general matter, fees are separately determined for each Client of the Manager or its affiliates. The Manager and its affiliates receive (i) management and incentive fees pursuant to advisory contracts and other agreements with Clients; and (ii) other fees and expense reimbursements.

The Company's management agreement with the Manager ("Management Agreement"), provides for both an annual base management fee and an incentive fee as well as certain other fees and expense reimbursements, as described in more detail below. As of November 7, 2018, the Company and the Manager entered into Amendment No. 1 to the Amended and Restated Management Agreement to provide for the automatic termination of the Management Agreement upon the earlier of (i) the closing of a Company change of control and (ii) the completion of an internalization of the management of the Company within nine months of the later of (x) April 30, 2019, if a definitive agreement is not in place for a Company change of control and (y) if on April 30, 2019 there is a definitive agreement for a Company change of control on which such agreement is terminated within 30 days. The amendment provides that upon the termination, the Company will be obligated to pay the Manager a termination fee equal to (i) $70 million less (ii) the amount of the incentive fees paid pursuant to the terms of the Management Agreement. No incentive fees will be payable for any period after the termination date. For further details, please see Form 8-K filed on Edgar on November 8, 2018 (<https://www.sec.gov/Archives/edgar/data/1646587/000164658718000034/0001646587-18-000034-index.htm>)

Management and Incentive Fees

The annual base management fee, payable by the Company under the Management Agreement, which is calculated and payable quarterly in arrears in cash, is equal to:

- one and one-half percent (1.50%) of the Company's EPRA NAV (as defined in the Management Agreement) for EPRA NAV amounts up to and including $2.0 billion; plus
- one and one-quarter percent (1.25%) of the Company's EPRA NAV on any EPRA NAV amount exceeding $2.0 billion.

The annual incentive fee, calculated and payable annually in the form of a Cash Equivalent Amount (as defined below), is equal to twenty percent (20%) of (i) the excess of (a) the Company's Total Stockholder Return (as defined in the Management Agreement), which includes stock price appreciation and dividends received and is subject to a high watermark price established when a prior incentive fee is realized for the relevant measurement period above (b) a ten percent (10%) cumulative annual hurdle rate, multiplied by (ii) the Company's Weighted Average Shares (as defined in the Management Agreement) during the measurement period.

- "Cash Equivalent Amount" means a payment equal to the incentive fee cash figure in the form of either cash, shares of newly issued restricted common stock and/or, if the EPRA NAV per share at the time exceeds the market price per share at that time, shares of common stock purchased by the Company on the open market.

Other Fees and Expense Reimbursements

Expense Reimbursements

The Company is responsible to pay (or reimburse the Manager) for all of the Company's direct, out of pocket costs and expenses of the Company as a standalone company incurred by or on behalf of the Company and its subsidiaries, all of which must be reasonable, customary and documented. In addition, the Company is obligated to reimburse the Manager for (i) all direct, reasonable, customary and documented costs and expenses incurred by the Manager for salaries, wages, bonuses, payroll taxes and employee benefits for personnel employed by the Manager: (a) who solely provide services to the Company which prior to January 1, 2018 were provided by unaffiliated third parties, including accounting and treasury services or (b) who were hired by the Manager after January 1, 2018 but who solely provide services to the Company in respect of one of the categories of services previously internalized pursuant to clause (a) and who were not hired in connection with any event which otherwise resulted in an increase to the Company's net asset value (such costs and expenses set forth in clauses (i) and (ii), the "Internalized Service Costs"), plus (ii) twenty percent (20%) of the amount calculated under clause (i) to cover reasonable overhead charges with respect to such personnel, provided that the Company shall not be obligated to reimburse the Manager for such costs and expenses to the extent they exceed the following quarterly limits:

- 0.0375% of the Company's aggregate gross asset value as of the end of the prior calendar quarter (excluding cash and cash equivalents and certain other exclusions) as calculated for purposes of determining EPRA NAV ("GAV"), for GAV amounts to and including $2.5 billion, plus
- 0.0313% of GAV amounts between $2.5 billion and $5.0 billion, plus
- 0.025% of GAV amounts exceeding $5.0 billion.

If the Manager's actual Internalized Service Costs during any quarter exceed the quarterly limit described in the preceding paragraph (the cumulative excess amounts, if any, in respect of each quarter during a calendar year (the "Quarterly Cap Excess Amount"), the Company is obligated to reimburse the Manager on an annual basis for an amount equal to the lesser of (i) the Quarterly Cap Excess Amount and (ii) the sum of the amounts, if any, determined for each quarter within such calendar year by which Internalized Services Costs in respect of such quarter were less than the quarterly limits described in the prior paragraph.

Termination Fee

The amendment provides that upon the termination, the Company will be obligated to pay the Manager a termination fee equal to (i) $70 million less (ii) the amount of the incentive fees paid pursuant to the terms of the Management Agreement. No incentive fees will be payable for any period after the termination date.

Fees Related to Property Management

The Company (or the Manager on its behalf) may also engage a third-party or affiliated managers in connection with asset management, property management or related services for its owned real estate. Fees paid to an affiliate may not be negotiated on an arms-length basis. These types of services also may be provided by strategic partners of the Company or Colony Capital and Colony Capital may benefit indirectly from such fees. The Company may also bear fees, costs and expenses paid to third-party vendors or affiliated entities whose services it is customary for asset managers to retain, including lawyers, accountants, brokers, investment bankers, transfer agents, administrators, custodians, and other consultants, advisors and agents.

Please see Item 12 for a discussion of the Manager's allocation policy and a discussion of factors that may affect the costs of executing portfolio transactions.

Deal Costs

The Company generally bears the costs associated with its investments (including costs related to the establishment and maintenance of investment vehicles) and prospective investments (even if the Manager does not proceed with a prospective investment for any reason ("Broken Deal Costs")) and is required to reimburse the Manager for such investment-related costs if incurred by it. Such expenses may include, without limitation, acquisition or origination fees paid to the Manager, fees paid to joint venture partners (which may include management and/or incentive fees), fees of legal counsel, administrators, auditors and accountants, brokers, consultants, appraisers, property managers, transfer and other taxes, insurance costs, capital expenditures/maintenance, compensation and costs of management and leasing personnel, developer fees, costs related to construction and maintenance, custodian fees, fees for architectural, engineering or other studies or reports related to proposed or existing investments, fees and expenses of unaffiliated parties incident to the preparation and distribution of reports, travel expenses, and other out-of-pocket property and portfolio expenses, incurred in connection with the evaluation, negotiation, acquisition, operation and/or sale of proposed or existing investments. The Company may also bear such Broken Deal Costs directly.

Timing and Deduction of Fees

The Manager's management fee is calculated and payable quarterly in arrears and its incentive fee is calculated and payable annually. The Manager's fees are deducted from the Company's assets. More complete information about fees is contained in the Company's Governing Documents.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Performance-based compensation arrangements, if any, are negotiated with each client on an individualized basis and will in all cases be in compliance with Section 205(3) of, or Rule 205-3 under, the Advisers Act. The payment of performance-based compensation may be subject to a specified "hurdle" rate.

Performance-based compensation may be deemed to create a conflict of interest for the Manager, as there could be an incentive for the Manager to: (i) value assets in a manner that increases the Manager's remuneration and (ii) make investments that are riskier or more speculative than would be the case in the absence of performance-based compensation. In addition, if a Client pays a performance-based fee or allocation while others do not, or if different Clients pay different levels of asset-based or performance-based fees or allocations, this may give rise to potential conflicts of interest. For example, the Manager would have an incentive to favor Clients for which it begins receiving incentive fees at a lower "hurdle" rate because the Manager would benefit more from the improved performance of such Client. Similarly, the Manager would have an incentive to favor those Clients that pay a greater management fee over those Clients that pay a lesser management fee and/or Clients that pay acquisition or origination fees versus companies that do not pay acquisition or origination fees, because the Manager would receive greater compensation by doing so.

The allocation of the Manager's expenses among Clients may also create conflicts of interest. The Manager will allocate certain expenses associated with managing Client assets among the applicable Clients, based on the services provided to each Client and the limitations set forth in each Client's Governing Documents. This may create incentives for the Manager to allocate investment opportunities among Clients, based on the adviser's expenses that the Clients will assume. In addition, the Manager's expense allocations may impact whether or not certain performance hurdles are met by a Client, which can impact whether the Manager receives incentive fees. This creates a conflict of interest and may create an incentive for the Manager to allocate expenses disproportionately among Clients.

The Manager seeks to treat all Clients in a fair and equitable manner over time and will act in a manner that it believes to be in the best interests of the Managed Vehicles. To that end, the Manager has established a variety of policies and other controls regarding, among other things, the allocation of investment opportunities, including those seeking to manage the conflicts of interest identified above. Please see "Item 12: Brokerage Practices" below for more information.

Item 7: Types of Clients

The Manager currently provides investment advice only to the Company, but it may in the future provide investment advice to another Managed Vehicle and/or Future Clients, including pooled investment vehicles, co-investment vehicles and real estate finance companies, generally in the form of corporations, limited partnerships or limited liability companies. The Manager does not have requirements for opening or maintaining accounts. However, there may be conditions for investing in Managed Vehicles, including minimum investment amounts, which are stated in their respective Governing Documents for each Managed Vehicle. For Managed Vehicles with minimum investment amounts, the Governing Documents generally note that the general partner or company, as applicable, has the discretion to reduce or waive the minimum investment amount.

As a general matter, any Managed Vehicle Client, including the Company, would be managed in accordance with its investment objectives, strategies and guidelines and is not tailored to the individual needs of any particular investor and an investment in a Managed Vehicle does not, in and of itself, create an advisory relationship between the investor and the Manager. Therefore, investors must consider whether the Managed Vehicle meets their investment objectives and risk tolerance prior to investing in a Managed Vehicle.

The Company is qualified as a REIT under the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended. The Company primarily invests in European real estate assets, specifically, prime office properties located in key cities within the Core Markets. The Company's objective is to provide stockholders with stable and recurring cash flow supplemented by capital growth over time, through the use of equity investments, directly or indirectly through joint ventures. The Company is a public company registered with the SEC under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. The Company is subject to certain investment restrictions for the purpose of preserving (i) its treatment as a REIT for federal income tax purposes and (ii) its exemption from registration under the Investment Company Act.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

The Manager invests in real estate assets in the Core Markets. As a general matter, the Manager provides investment strategies consistent with the investment objectives and needs of each Client, including the Company. The Company's investment objective is to provide stockholders with stable and recurring cash flow supplemented by capital growth over time.

As part of the Manager's advisory services to the Company, the Manager currently focuses on the following types of assets:

- Real Estate Equity. The Company makes investments in prime office properties in the Core Markets.
- Preferred Equity. The Company makes investments that are subordinate to senior and mezzanine loans, but senior to the common equity in the mortgage borrower. Specifically, the Company's preferred equity investments are secured by interests in European prime office properties. Preferred equity investments may be structured such that the Company's return accrues and is added to the principal amount rather than paid on a current basis. The Company may also pursue equity participation opportunities in preferred equity investments, similar to such participations in mezzanine loans.

Leverage Strategy

The Manager may employ leverage on behalf of the Company. The Manager pursues a variety of financing arrangements on behalf of the Company such as, among others, mortgage notes and bank loans available from the commercial mortgaged-backed securities market, finance companies and banks. In addition, the Manager may use corporate-level financing such as credit facilities and other term borrowings.

Hedging

The Manager mitigates the Company's interest rate risks through the use of hedging instruments, such as interest rate swap agreements and interest rate cap agreements. The Manager's goal is to minimize or eliminate the effects of interest rate changes on the value of the Company's assets, to improve risk-adjusted returns and, where possible, to lock in, on a long-term basis, a favorable spread between the yield on the Company's assets and the cost of financing such assets. In addition, because the Company is exposed to foreign currency exchange fluctuations, the Manager employs foreign currency risk management strategies, including the use of, among other, currency hedges, and matched currency financing.

Material Risks

Risk of Loss

An investment in the Company involves risk. There is no certainty of return with respect to any such investment. There is no guarantee that the Company will achieve its goals, objectives or targeted returns (as applicable). Investors may lose all or a portion of the value of their investment and, as such, should not invest unless they can readily bear the consequences of such loss.

Below is a summary of certain risks associated with the Manager's investment strategies. Investors should refer to the risk factors in the Company's Governing Documents, or other documents (as applicable) provided to, or made available to, prospective investors for a more complete description of the risks associated with the investment in the Company, including the risks described in the Company's public filings with the SEC, as applicable. The following risk factors do not purport to be a complete list or explanation of the risks involved in an investment in the Company. These risk factors include certain risks the Manager believes to be material, significant or unusual and relate to particularly significant investment strategies or methods of analysis employed by the Manager.

General Risks

- General Economic and Market Conditions. Challenging economic and financial market conditions may result in an increase in the number of investments that result in losses, including delinquencies, non-performing assets and taking title to collateral and a decrease in the value of the property or other collateral which secures the Company's investments, all of which could adversely affect its results of operations. The Company may incur substantial losses and need to establish significant provisions for losses or impairment. The Manager manages a diversified portfolio of real estate equity investments. An economic slowdown or recession, in addition to other non-economic factors such as an excess supply of properties, could have a material negative impact on the values of the Company's investments. Declining real estate values will reduce the value of owned properties, as well as the ability to refinance properties and use the value of existing properties to support the purchase or investment in additional properties. Slower than expected economic growth pressured by a strained labor market, along with overall financial uncertainty, could result in lower occupancy rates and lower lease rates across many property types and may create obstacles to achieve the Company's business plan. The Company may also be less able to pay principal and interest on borrowings, which could cause a loss of title to the properties securing such borrowings.
- Interest Rate Risks. Fluctuations in interest rates may adversely affect the ability of the Company to successfully acquire investments and may also adversely affect the performance of the Company's investments.

The financial performance of the Company is influenced by changes in interest rates, in particular, as such changes may affect commercial real estate ("CRE") securities, floating-rate borrowings and CRE debt to the extent such debt does not float as a result of floors or otherwise. Changes in interest rates, including changes in expected interest rates or "yield curves," affect the Company's business in a number of ways. Changes in the general level of interest rates can affect net interest income, which is the difference between the interest income earned on interest-earning assets and the interest expense incurred in connection with interest-bearing borrowings and hedges. Changes in the level of interest rates also can affect, among other things, the Company's ability to acquire CRE securities and enter into hedging transactions. Interest rates are highly sensitive to many factors, including governmental monetary and tax policies, domestic and international economic and political conditions, and other factors beyond the Company's control.

In addition, interest rates may impact the Company's use of any leveraged capital structure, in which case a third party would be entitled to cash flow generated by such investments prior to the investing company receiving a return.

- Leverage. Use of borrowed funds to leverage acquisitions involves a high degree of financial risk and can exaggerate the effect of any increase or decrease in value of an investment and will increase the exposure of the investments to adverse economic factors, such as fluctuations in interest rates, downturns in the local economies in which the investments are located or deterioration in the condition of the investments. Accordingly, the use of leverage may cause the Company's value to be more volatile than it would be in the absence of such leverage. In addition, to the extent a strategy employed on behalf of the Company is dependent on leverage, the availability (or lack thereof) and cost of financing may significantly affect the ability of the Company to execute its investment strategy.
- Litigation. In the ordinary course of business, owners of real estate may be subject to litigation from time to time. The outcome of such proceedings may adversely affect the value of an investment and may continue without resolution for long periods of time.

In connection with such actions, the Company may be obligated to bear defense, settlement, and other costs (which may be in excess of insurance coverage therefore provided by the Company at its expense for such purposes), and the Manager may be entitled to indemnification under, and subject to the terms of, the Company's investment agreement and/or other agreements entered into by the Company.

- Risky and Illiquid Investments. Real estate and related investments are generally risky and illiquid and there can be no assurance that an investment in the Company will be realized in a timely manner. Illiquidity may result from the absence of an established market for the investments, as well as legal or contractual restrictions on the investment's resale by the Company.

The Internal Revenue Code also places limits on the Company's ability to sell properties in certain circumstances. These considerations could make it difficult for the Company to sell or dispose of any of its assets even if a disposition were in the best interests of its investors. As a result, the Company's ability to vary its portfolio in response to further changes in economic and other conditions may be relatively limited, which may result in losses. In addition, disposing of illiquid investments, particularly investments that are large or complex, may take considerable time and expense, and may be disruptive to managing other assets on behalf of the Company.

- Operational Risks. Many investments are subject to operational risks – risks that the internal processes and systems designed to operate a business, property or other entity safely and efficiently are in some fashion inadequate or that the individuals tasked with managing such processes and systems fail to properly carry out their functions.
- Foreign Investments. The Company's investment strategy is focused on investing in CRE assets located in foreign countries. The business and financial results of the Company could be adversely affected due to currency fluctuations, social or judicial instability, acts or threats of terrorism, changes in governmental policies or policies of central banks, expropriation, nationalization and/or confiscation of assets, price controls, fund transfer restrictions, capital controls, exchange rate controls, taxes, inadequate intellectual property protection, unfavorable political and diplomatic developments, changes in legislation or regulations and other additional international developments or restrictive actions. As in the United States, Europe has been negatively impacted by recessionary conditions. Non-U.S. investments may also be subject to extensive regulation by various non-U.S. regulators, including governments, central banks and other regulatory bodies, in the jurisdictions in which those businesses operate. Non-U.S. investments may impact the performance of the Company and distributions to investors necessary to maintain the Company's REIT status for tax purposes, if:
 - Repatriation of Capital and Profits. Some countries in which the Company invests control, in varying degrees, the repatriation of capital and profits that result from foreign investment. Capital markets, often opaque, continue to be highly regulated and will likely be subject to continuing government restrictions. There can be no assurance that the Company investing in such countries will be permitted to repatriate capital or profits, if any, from these countries. Additionally, the Company's tax treatment may be dependent, in part, on the timing, amount and level of ownership from which it repatriates cash from the Core Markets. If, in order to meet the REIT distribution requirement, the Company must repatriate cash from the Core Markets at certain times and in certain amounts it could be subject to additional taxes in such jurisdictions.
 - Inflation. The Core Markets in which the Company invests have experienced increased rates of inflation in recent years. Inflation and rapid fluctuations in inflation rates have had, and may in the future have, negative effects on the economies and securities markets of certain European economies. There can be no assurance that inflation will not become a serious problem in the future and have an adverse impact on the investments in these countries or the Company's returns from such investments.

- Non-U.S. Economic, Political, Regulatory and Social Risks. The Company's business and operations are dependent on the CRE industry generally, which in turn is dependent upon global economic conditions and geopolitical events not only in the United States, but in Europe and elsewhere. Concerns over global economic conditions, energy and commodity prices, geopolitical events, acts of war and terrorism, inflation, deflation, divergent central bank policy making, foreign exchange rates, the durability of the Euro as a currency, the availability and cost of credit, the sovereign debt crisis, the Chinese economy, the United Kingdom ("U.K.") vote on June 23, 2016 to leave the European Union ("EU"), or Brexit, the rise of protectionism and populism in Europe, and weak consumer confidence in many markets continue to contribute to increased economic uncertainty for the global economy. These factors, combined with declining business and consumer confidence in certain markets could precipitate an economic slowdown, as well as cause extreme volatility in security prices. Global economic and political headwinds, along with global market instability, the risk of maturing CRE debt that may have difficulties being refinanced, and divergent central bank policy making, may continue to cause periodic volatility in the CRE market for some time. Adverse economic conditions in the CRE, geopolitical events, acts of war or terrorism could harm the Company's business and financial condition by, among other factors, reducing the value of its properties, limiting its access to debt and equity capital, impairing its ability to obtain new financing or refinance existing obligations and otherwise negatively impacting its operations.

In particular, Brexit could result in a global economic downturn, which could depress the demand for European CRE. The U.K. also could lose access to the single EU market and to the global trade deals negotiated by the EU on behalf of its members, depressing trade between the U.K. and other countries, which would negatively impact the demand for the Company's properties located in the U.K. Additionally, the Company may face new regulations in the U.K., which could be costly, negatively impact its business, results of operations and financial condition.

- Ability to Enforce Legal Rights. Because of the effectiveness of the judicial systems in the countries in which the Company invests varies, the Company may have difficulty in successfully pursuing claims in the courts of such countries, as compared to those of the U.S. or other developed countries. Further, to the extent that the Company may obtain a judgment but are required to seek its enforcement in the courts of one of these countries, there can be no assurance that such a court will enforce such a judgment.
- Currency Rates. Fluctuations in currency rates may adversely affect the ability of the Company to successfully acquire non-U.S. assets and may also adversely affect the performance of the Company's investments in such assets. Because non-U.S. securities or other non-U.S. assets may be purchased with and payable in currencies of countries other than the U.S., the value of these assets measured in U.S. dollars may be affected favorably or unfavorably by changes in currency rates and exchange control regulations. In addition to currency and exchange risks, these investments may be subject to additional risks relating to foreign political and regulatory risks, which may affect the liquidity of such investments. Additional risks include possibilities of instability of the local country's political and economic structures and less predictable means of dispute resolution and enforcement of local rights regarding investments.
- Competition. The Company faces competition from other real estate investors, some of which have greater financial resources, including U.S. and non-U.S. publicly-traded REITs, insurance companies, commercial and investment banking firms, private institutional funds, hedge funds, private equity funds and other investors and that competition may limit the amount of new investments that the Manager is able to cause the Company to acquire. The Manager may not be able to compete successfully for investments on behalf of the Company. In addition, over the past several years, an increasing number of funds have been formed with investment objectives similar to those of the Company and Managed Vehicles and the number of entities and the amount of funds competing for suitable investments may increase. If these events continue to occur, the Company may experience lower investment performance. There can be no assurance that the Manager will be able to locate and complete investments for the Company that satisfy its respective rate of return objectives or realize upon their values or that the Company will be able to invest fully their available capital, which would have an adverse impact on returns.

- Joint Ventures. The Company has entered into and may enter into additional joint ventures with third parties to make investments and/or make investments in partnerships or other co-ownership arrangements or participations. Such investments may involve risks not otherwise present with other methods of investment, including, for example, the following risks:
 - the joint venture partner in an investment could become insolvent or bankrupt;
 - fraud or other misconduct by the joint venture partners;
 - decision-making authority may be shared with joint venture partners regarding certain major decisions affecting the ownership of the joint venture and the joint venture property, such as the sale of the property or the making of additional capital contributions for the benefit of the property, which may prevent the Company from taking actions that are opposed by the joint venture partner;
 - the joint venture partner may at any time have economic or business interests or goals that are or that become in conflict with the Company's business interests or goals, including for example the operation of the properties;
 - the joint venture partner may be in a position to take action contrary to the Company's instructions or requests or contrary to the Company's policies or objectives; and
 - the terms of the joint ventures could restrict the Company's ability to sell or transfer its interests to a third party when it desires on advantageous terms, which could result in reduced liquidity.

Any of the above might subject the Company to liabilities and thus reduce its return on investment with that joint venture partner. In addition, disagreements or disputes between the Company and the joint venture partner could result in litigation, which could increase the Company's expenses and potentially limit the time and effort its and the Manager's officers and directors are able to devote to the Company's business.

- Manager Risk. The Company is subject to the risk that the Manager's purchases, sales, and/or management of investments on behalf of the Company may not produce the desired results and may have an adverse impact on the Company. The Company is also subject to the risk that the Manager's internal business structure, reputation or strategic initiatives will limit the Manager from competing successfully for investment opportunities on behalf of the Company or be disruptive to the services provided to the Company.

- Cyber Security Risk. As the use of technologies, such as the internet, has become more common in conducting business, the Company may be more susceptible to operational, information security, and related risks in connection with breaches in cyber security. Generally, a cyber security failure may result from either intentional attacks or unintentional events and include, but are not limited to, gaining unauthorized access to digital systems, misappropriating assets or sensitive information, causing the Company to lose proprietary information, corrupting data, or causing operational disruption, including denial-of-service attacks on websites. A cyber security failure could cause the Company and/or the Manager to become subject to regulatory penalties, reputational damage, additional compliance costs associated with corrective measures, and/or financial losses. Cyber security failures may involve third party service providers, joint venture partners, and investments made by, or counterparties in transactions with, the Manager or the Company. The Manager has established policies and procedures reasonably designed to reduce the risks associated with cyber security failures; however, there can be no assurance that these policies and procedures will prevent or mitigate the impact of cyber security failures.
- Key Personnel Risk. The Company is subject to the risk that it will lose the services of key personnel. It may be difficult or disruptive for the Company to replace the experience of these key personnel and the relationships they have developed with real estate professionals and financial institutions.
- Environmental Risks. As is the case with any holder of real estate investments, the Company could face substantial risk of loss from environmental claims based on environmental problems associated with its investments. The Company might invest in real estate, or mortgage loans secured by real estate, with environmental problems that materially impair the value of the real estate. Under various federal, state and local laws, ordinances and regulations, a current or previous owner or operator of real estate may be required to investigate and clean up certain hazardous substances released at the property, and may be held liable to a governmental entity or to third parties for property damage and for investigation and cleanup costs incurred by such parties in connection with the contamination. In addition, some environmental laws create a lien on the contaminated site in favor of the government for damages and costs it incurs in connection with the contamination. The presence of contamination or the failure to remediate contamination may adversely affect the owner's ability to sell or lease real estate or to borrow using the real estate as collateral. The owner or operator of a site may be liable under common law to third parties for damages and injuries resulting from environmental contamination emanating from the site. The Company may experience environmental liability arising from conditions not known to it.

Real Estate-Related Risk

- Real Estate Risk. The Company's investments in CRE are subject to risks typically associated with real estate. The value of real estate may be adversely affected by a number of risks, including, without limitation:
 - local, state, national or international economic conditions;
 - real estate conditions, such as an oversupply of or a reduction in demand for real estate space in an area;
 - tenant/operator mix and the success of the tenant/operator business; property management decisions;
 - property location and conditions;

- property operating costs, including insurance premiums, real estate taxes and maintenance costs;
- the perceptions of the quality, convenience, attractiveness and safety of the properties;
- branding, marketing and operational strategies;
- competition from comparable properties;
- the occupancy rate of, and the rental rates charged at, the properties;
- the ability to collect on a timely basis all rent;
- the effects of any bankruptcies or insolvencies;
- the expense of leasing, renovation or construction;
- changes in interest rates and in the availability, cost and terms of mortgage financing;
- unknown liens being placed on the properties;
- bad acts of third parties;
- the ability to refinance mortgage notes payable related to the real estate on favorable terms, if at all;
- changes in governmental rules, regulations and fiscal policies;
- tax implications;
- changes in laws, including laws that increase operating expenses or limit rents that may be charged;
- the impact of present or future environmental legislation and compliance with environmental laws, including costs of remediation and liabilities associated with environmental conditions affecting properties;
- cost of compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990;
- adverse changes in governmental rules and fiscal policies;
- social unrest and civil disturbances;
- acts of nature, including earthquakes, hurricanes and other natural disasters;
- terrorism;
- the potential for uninsured or underinsured property losses;

- adverse changes in state and local laws, including zoning laws; and
- other factors which are beyond control.

The value of each property is affected significantly by its ability to generate cash flow and net income, which in turn depends on the amount of rental or other income that can be generated net of expenses required to be incurred with respect to the property. Many expenses associated with properties (such as operating expenses and capital expenses) cannot be reduced when there is a reduction in income from the properties. These factors may have a material adverse effect on the value and return that the Company can realize.

- Casualty Losses; Uninsurable Losses. The Manager expects to maintain or cause the Company to maintain comprehensive casualty insurance on its investments, including liability and fire and extended coverage. However, there are certain types of losses, generally of a catastrophic nature, such as earthquakes, floods and hurricanes that may be uninsurable or not economically insurable. The Company may or may not obtain, or be able to obtain, or require borrowers to obtain, terrorism insurance. Inflation, changes in building codes and ordinances, environmental considerations, and other factors also might make it infeasible to use insurance proceeds to replace a property if it is damaged or destroyed. Under such circumstances, the insurance proceeds, if any, might not be adequate to restore the economic value of the property, which might impair the Company's security and decrease the value of the property.
- Financial Condition of Tenants or Operators. Real estate investments made by the Company may be adversely affected by financial difficulties experienced by any of its major tenants/operators, including bankruptcy, insolvency or a general downturn in the business, or in the event that any of the major tenants/operators do not renew or extend their relationship with the Manager as their lease terms expire.

The Company is exposed to the risk that the tenants/operators of properties in which they invest may not be able to meet their obligations to the Company or other third parties, which may result in their bankruptcy or insolvency. Although the leases and loans permit the Manager and the Company to evict a tenant/operator, demand immediate repayment and pursue other remedies, bankruptcy laws afford certain rights to a party that has filed for bankruptcy or reorganization. A tenant/operator in bankruptcy may be able to restrict the Manager's ability to collect unpaid rents or interest on behalf of the Company during the bankruptcy proceeding. Furthermore, dealing with a tenant/operator's bankruptcy or other default may divert the Manager's attention and cause the Company to incur substantial legal and other costs. Certain tenants/operators/advisors may operate or manage properties of the Manager's competitors, which may create conflicts of interests that may harm the Company. Furthermore, joint venture partners may manage other properties on behalf of other firms which could create additional conflicts of interest.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

Not applicable.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

The Manager is an indirect subsidiary of Colony Capital, a global real estate and investment management firm publicly traded on the New York Stock Exchange. The affiliation between the Manager and Colony Capital may create potential conflicts of interest for the Manager, including with respect to instances where the investment strategy of Colony Capital's balance sheet overlaps with the investment strategies of the Managed Vehicles. Manager has implemented policies and procedures to mitigate or avoid potential conflicts of interest with Colony Capital.

The Manager is affiliated with the Affiliated Advisers, which are indirect subsidiaries of Colony Capital and registered investment advisers. The advisory businesses of the Affiliated Advisers consists of advising Managed Funds, Managed REITs, and closed-end management investment companies registered under the Investment Company Act. The Manager may share investment personnel and resources with the Affiliated Advisers and affiliates of Colony Capital, and will devote such time as shall be necessary to conduct the business affairs of Clients in an appropriate manner. Personnel of the Manager will accordingly work on several projects at any time and, therefore, conflicts may arise in the allocation of personnel and other management resources. The Manager and its affiliates are not required to manage any one Client as its sole and exclusive function, and the Manager and its affiliates, including Colony Capital, and their respective agents, officers, directors and personnel may engage in or possess any interests in business ventures and may generally engage in other activities independently or with others, including the rendering of advice or services of any kind to other investors and the making or management of other investments or other investment Clients. In some cases, the Manager or its affiliates may have business arrangements with related persons/companies that are material to its advisory business or to the Clients. In some cases, these business arrangements may create a potential conflict of interest, or appearance of a conflict of interest between the Manager and the Clients. The businesses of the Affiliated Advisers are not covered under this Brochure, and more information about such advisory businesses are available in the Form ADV filings for those firms.

The Manager also receives reimbursements from affiliated entities to provide accounting and other services to Clients and to manage properties in which Clients invest. The Manager may have incentives to select the services of affiliated entities or entities involved in strategic relationships, even if such services could be provided as well by other entities. The Company is also obligated, subject to certain limitations, to reimburse the Manager for certain costs incurred by the Manager or its affiliates, such as personnel and other overhead expenses.

The Manager's investment professionals devote time to the management of multiple Managed Vehicles, which may impact allocations of management resources. In addition, a Managed Vehicle may have an investment mandate that is similar to and/or overlapping with the investment mandates of other Managed Vehicles, which may create conflicts in the allocation of investment opportunities between Managed Vehicles. Investment opportunities sourced by the Manager's investment professionals are allocated to one or more Managed Vehicles of the Manager in accordance with the allocation policy adopted by the Manager and the Affiliated Advisers and approved by each Managed Vehicle from time to time. (See Item 12: Brokerage Practices — Allocation Policy.)

The Manager may recommend that Clients invest in, or engage in transactions with, other Managed Vehicles or affiliates of Colony Capital. The Manager has an incentive to favor investments in or between, or corporate combinations, reorganizations or other transactions between or among, such entities that may increase the Manager's overall remuneration.

Item 11: Code Of Ethics, Participation Or Interest In Client Transactions And Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

The Manager has adopted a Joint Code of Ethics (the "Code") that applies to all of the Manager's personnel. This Code describes the standard of conduct that the Manager requires of all of its personnel and describes certain restrictions on activities such as personal trading, receipt of material, non-public information, and engaging in outside business activities. Compliance with the Code is a condition of employment for all of the Manager's personnel, and a serious violation of the Code or its related policies may result in serious reprimand, up to and including dismissal. Certain key provisions of the Code are summarized below. The Manager will provide a copy of the Code to any client or prospective client upon request.

Personal Trading

Personnel considered "access persons" within the meaning of Rule 204A-1 under the Advisers Act may purchase and sell for their own accounts the same securities purchased or sold on behalf of Clients. However, given the nature and size of the real estate investments made on behalf of Clients, such personal trading activity is not expected to be likely. Notwithstanding the probability of such activity, because the Code permits personnel to invest in the same securities as Clients, there is a possibility that personnel might benefit from market activity by a Client in a security or other investment held by an employee. To mitigate this possible conflict of interest and others that may arise, the Manager has established policies requiring "access persons" to obtain pre-clearance before investing in certain reportable securities such as initial public offerings and private placements (including private equity fund and hedge fund investments). In addition, the Manager monitors for conflicts of interest on a periodic basis and will not allow any of its "access persons" to buy or sell securities for their own accounts at or about the same time that the Manager buys or sells securities or other investments for Clients if the Manager feels that there is a possibility that the personal trade would benefit from the Manager's investment activities.

All personnel of the Manager and the Affiliated Advisers are required to annually certify that they have complied with the Code and the Manager's access persons are required to make annual reports regarding their personal securities account holdings and quarterly reports regarding their personal securities trading activity.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

The Manager's personnel must obtain prior permission of the CCO or designee for certain transactions that appear to pose a conflict of interest or otherwise appear improper. In particular, all personnel of the Manager must have written pre-clearance for all transactions involving initial public offerings and private placements before completing the transactions. The Manager and the Affiliated Advisers maintain one or more lists of restricted securities in which the Manager or an Affiliated Adviser may have material non-public information. All personnel of the Manager are prohibited from trading in issuers on the restricted list unless specifically approved by the CCO or designee.

Gifts and Entertainment

The Manager has policies in place governing the types and value of gifts and forms of entertainment that its personnel may accept from broker-dealers, vendors, current or prospective clients.

Cross-Trades and Principal Transactions

From time to time the Manager may execute cross trades among Clients. The Manager only will execute cross trades between client accounts when such a transaction is reasonably expected to be advantageous to both participants. Any such transactions must be in accordance with applicable law, Governing Documents and the Manager's internal policies and procedures. The Manager may, in certain instances, receive a fee in connection with cross trades among Clients. If a fee is charged in connection with a cross trade, the Manager provides information on the fee related to the cross trade to the board of directors of the applicable Client for approval.

The Manager may also from time to time execute principal trades between its Clients and the balance sheet of Colony Capital, the Manager's parent company. The Manager may also be considered to be engaging in a principal transaction if it were to enter into a transaction between the Company and another client advised by the Manager or an affiliate or Colony Capital. In cases where the Manager would be deemed to be engaging in a principal transaction, the Manager will disclose to any applicable Clients the capacity in which it or an affiliate is acting and obtain such Client's consent before the completion of each transaction. Principal transactions also create potential conflicts of interest, including conflicts related to pricing and execution costs of the transaction. The Manager will take steps to manage or avoid conflicts of interest when engaging in such transactions in accordance with applicable law.

Other Conflicts

The Manager and the Affiliated Advisers manage investments on behalf of different Clients. Certain Clients have investment programs that are similar or may overlap and may, therefore, participate with each other in (or compete for) investments. Because of the diversity of investment strategies and objectives, risk tolerances, capital positions, tax situations and differences in the timing of capital contributions and withdrawals, there will be differences in invested positions held or investment appetites among Clients. Any allocation of investments among Clients by the Manager will be made in a manner consistent with each Client's investment objectives. Investment decisions and allocations are not necessarily made in parallel among all of the Clients. In all cases, allocation requirements (if any) set forth in Clients' Governing Documents will control. The Manager in its sole discretion may allow multiple Clients to co-invest in a particular investment, based upon a variety of factors including, among other factors, investment strategy, mandate or area of focus; risk management (e.g., volatility, liquidity, diversification and concentration in light of each Client's existing portfolio and investment pipeline); fund restrictions or limitations; tax or legal considerations; and cost or availability of financing. Because the Manager may allocate a particular investment among Clients unequally, Clients may produce results that are materially different from one another. (See Item 12: Brokerage Practices -- Allocation Policy).

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Transaction Execution and Broker-Dealer Selection

The Manager seeks to minimize the cost and expense of investment transactions effected on behalf of Clients while also seeking to achieve the most efficient structure of such investments, taking into account, among other things, tax, regulatory and client-specific considerations. These costs and expenses may vary, and transactions may be effected differently for one Client than another, as a result of various factors, including, without limitation, the location of a Client, the location and nature of the particular investment involved, and other client-specific considerations. The Manager may aggregate assets among Clients in connection with a portfolio sale in order to seek best execution for each Client. In such instances, the applicable Client shares transaction expenses on a pro-rata basis.

The Manager may use unaffiliated brokers, which are selected on the basis of: (i) the reasonableness of such brokers' commissions relative to others offering similar services; and (ii) the ability of such brokers to obtain best execution. Not all portfolio transactions require or involve a broker-dealer. When it is deemed necessary or appropriate to involve a broker-dealer in portfolio transactions for Clients, such transactions will be allocated to brokers and dealers on the basis of the Manager's best execution policies. The factors considered in selecting and approving brokers-dealers that may be used to execute trades for Clients' accounts include, but are not limited to: (i) the reasonableness of the broker-dealer's commissions relative to others offering similar services; (ii) the ability of such broker-dealer to execute a transaction efficiently and appropriately; (iii) the broker-dealer's general expertise and background; (iv) the type and size of the transaction involved; (v) the stability or solvency of the service provider or counterparty; (vi) settlement capabilities; (vii) time required to complete the role sought; and (viii) research services or any arrangements relating to overall performance in the best interest of the client.

Manager accepts only proprietary research from the brokers and does not enter into any formal soft dollar arrangements whereby it receives research or any other benefit from third parties. Research services received from brokers and dealers are supplemental to the Manager's own research effort. To the best of the Manager's knowledge, these services are generally made available to all institutional investors doing business with such broker-dealers. Manager does not separately compensate such broker-dealers for the research and does not believe that it "pays-up" for such broker-dealers' services due to the difficulty associated with the broker-dealers not breaking out the costs for such services. Manager's acceptance of research from brokers is done in accordance with the provisions of Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

Allocation Policy

The Manager will allocate investment opportunities that may be suitable for Clients and Colony Capital in accordance with Colony Capital's investment allocation policy. The investment allocation policy, described in further detail below, seeks to ensure that investment opportunities are allocated in a fair and equitable manner over time, consistent with the Manager's fiduciary duty to Clients and in a manner that is consistent with each of its Client's particular characteristics, including their investment objectives, restrictions and risk profile. Generally, as a fiduciary, the Manager is prohibited from making investment allocation decisions solely based on any of the following considerations, which include but are not limited to: (i) unduly favoring one client (or group of clients) at the expense of another, including any proprietary or personal accounts of its associated persons or affiliates of the Manager; (ii) generating higher fees paid by one client (or group of clients) over another or to produce greater performance compensation to the Manager; (iii) compensating a Client (or group of Clients) for past services or benefits rendered to the Manager or to induce future services or benefits to be rendered to the Manager; and (iv) managing or equalizing investment performance among different Clients (or group of Clients).

When making investment allocation decisions regarding a suitable investment for one or more Clients, the Manager will take into account, without limitation: (i) investment objectives, dedicated mandates, strategy and criteria; (ii) current and future cash requirements of the investment and the client; (iii) the effect of the investment on the diversification of the portfolio, including by geography, size of investment, type of investment and risk of investment; (iv) leverage policy and the availability of financing for the investment by each client; (v) anticipated cash flow of the investment to be acquired; (vi) income tax effects of the investment; (vii) the size of the investment; (viii) the amount of funds available for investment; (ix) ramp-up or draw-down periods; (x) cost of capital; (xi) risk return profiles; (xii) targeted distribution rates; (xiii) anticipated future pipeline of suitable investments; (xiv) the expected holding period of the investment and the remaining term of the client, if applicable; (xv) legal, regulatory or tax considerations, including any conditions of an exemptive order; (xvi) affiliate and/or related party considerations; and (xvii) whether a client has other sources of investment opportunities outside of the Manager. If it is determined that an investment is most suitable for a particular client, the investment will be allocated to such client. If it is determined that an investment is equally suitable for two or more Clients, then the Manager may allocate the investment among such Clients on a rotational basis. In general, a rotational allocation methodology means that if a client has been previously allocated an investment as a result of the rotational process, it may be skipped in the rotation until all other Clients for which a particular investment is equally suitable have been allocated an investment. Subject to regulatory restrictions, SEC guidance and any exemptive orders obtained by one or more Managed Vehicles (as applicable), the Manager may deem it appropriate for the Company or Future Clients and one or more other Managed Vehicles to co-invest in an investment opportunity (based on available capital, among other relevant factors, to the extent required). The decision of how any potential investment should be allocated among Clients in many cases may be a matter of highly subjective judgment, which will be made by the Manager in its sole discretion; such transactions are not required to be presented to Clients' board of directors for approval, and there can be no assurance that any conflicts will be resolved in a Client's favor.

The Manager and/or the Affiliated Advisers may revise the investment allocation policy and may in the future change then-existing, or adopt additional, conflicts of interest resolution policies and procedures designed to support the fair and equitable allocation of investments and to prevent the preferential allocation of investment opportunities among entities with overlapping investment objectives.

Trade Aggregation Policy

There may be occasions when the Manager decides to purchase or sell the same security or financial instrument for several Clients at approximately the same time. Manager may (but is not obligated to) combine or “bunch” such orders in order to secure certain efficiencies and results with respect to execution, clearance and settlement of orders. Manager is not obligated to include any Client in an aggregated trade. While Manager may affect trades in this manner to reduce the overall level of brokerage commissions paid or otherwise enhance the proceeds or other benefits of the trade for its clients,

Manager will not favor any Client over any other Client on an overall, long-term basis. Each Client that participates in an aggregated order will participate at the average price, with transaction costs shared pro rata based on each Client's participation in the transaction.

The aggregation of orders could lead to a conflict of interest in the event an order cannot be entirely fulfilled and the Manager is required to determine which accounts should receive executed shares and in what order. Manager will generally endeavor to aggregate and allocate orders in a manner designed to ensure that no particular Client or account is favored and that participating Clients are treated in a fair and equitable manner over time.

Manager will receive no additional compensation or remuneration of any kind as a result of the aggregation of client trades; rather, to the limited extent it is applicable, commissions will be charged at a rate as though the trades had not been aggregated.

Manager will act in a manner it believes is fair and equitable for its clients as a group when bunching and price averaging.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

The Manager utilizes a team that is responsible for performance monitoring and reporting, financial risk management and all non-real estate aspects of the Company such as corporate, legal, tax, accounting, financing, hedging and cash distribution. The team also monitors the due diligence process applicable to potential investments for the Company, transaction structuring, acquisition budgets and transaction documentation. Additionally, the Manager has investment committee(s) that approves each investment (or other significant investment-related or corporate activity) made on behalf of a Company and the allocation of those investments, as discussed in Item 12.

Currently, the Company files publicly with the SEC unaudited reports on a quarterly basis, providing summary financial and other information about the Company, and audited financial statements of the Company annually. The Manager may provide certain investors with information on a more frequent and detailed basis if agreed to by the Manager. The Manager may advise accounts in the future that do not publicly file quarterly and annual financial statements.

Item 14: Client Referrals And Other Compensation

The Manager generally does not engage any parties to solicit clients, nor does it receive compensation from sources other than the Company for providing advice to the Company; however, the Manager may enter into arrangements with, and compensate solicitors for client referral activities. These solicitation arrangements will be fully disclosed to clients and will comply with the requirements of Rule 206(4)-3 of the Advisers Act.

Additionally, the Manager may engage, or cause its Clients to engage and compensate placement agents for introducing Clients to, and to market and sell interests or shares in Clients to, prospective investors, in such client. The Manager requires placement agents to have all appropriate licenses and registrations to conduct their business, including when applicable, to be registered as broker-dealers with the SEC and to be members of FINRA. Subject to its duty to obtain best execution, the Manager may take such introductions into account as a factor in the selection of brokers to execute portfolio transactions for Managed Vehicles.

Item 15: Custody

In connection with the management of investments for Clients, the Manager may have, or may be deemed to have, custody of a Client's funds or securities. Rule 206(4)-2 under the Advisers Act (the "Custody Rule"), which defines custody as holding client securities or assets or having any authority to obtain possession of them, including the authority to withdraw funds or securities from a client's accounts or ownership of or access to client funds or securities (such as through fee deductions).

The Manager expects that each Client for which it is deemed to have custody will: (i) be audited at least annually by an independent public accountant; and (ii) distribute its audited financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles to its investors within 120 days of its fiscal year-end. Investors should contact the Manager if they fail to receive such financials timely.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

As a general rule, the Manager receives discretionary investment authority from each Client at the outset of an advisory relationship. Depending on the terms of the Client's asset management or advisory agreement, the Manager's authority may include the ability to select brokers and dealers through which to execute transactions on behalf of the relevant Client, and select the commission rates, if any, at which transactions are effected. In making decisions as to which securities are to be bought or sold and the amounts thereof, the Manager is guided by the mandate selected by the Client and any investment guidelines or restrictions imposed by the Client. The Manager generally is not required to provide notice to, consult with, or seek the consent of the Clients prior to engaging in transactions that fall within a Client's approved investment guidelines.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

Due to the nature of the Manager's investment programs, the Manager does not ordinarily receive proxy voting proposals with respect to listed equity securities. However, the Manager may, from time to time, receive amendments, consents or resolutions applicable to investments held by Clients (collectively, "Proxies"), and is generally granted authority to vote and consent on such matters on behalf of Clients. In addition, the Manager's portfolio managers and/or investment management teams are required to remain aware of any proxy that requires a vote, consent or election. Further, the Manager's portfolio managers and/or investment management teams determine the appropriate manner in which such proxy shall be voted, including circumstances in which it is most appropriate to abstain from voting, and maintain documentation of how each proxy was voted and provide such documentation to the CCO or designee periodically.

The Manager seeks to vote Clients' Proxies in the best interest of that Client and in a manner consistent with its fiduciary duties and has adopted proxy voting policies and procedures designed to ensure that Proxies are properly voted and that any conflicts of interest are addressed appropriately. Due to the difficulty of predicting and identifying material conflicts, the Manager relies on its personnel, such as portfolio managers and/or investment management teams, to notify the CCO or designee of material conflicts that may impair the Manager's ability to vote Proxies appropriately. The Manager may have conflicts of interest, for example, where it has a substantial business relationship with a company and a failure to vote in favor of a company management could harm the Manager's relationship with company management. If a material conflict exists, the Chief Compliance Officer or designee will take such steps as he or she deems necessary in order to determine how to vote the proxy in the best interests of the client, including, but not limited to, consulting with the legal department, outside counsel, a proxy consultant or the investment professionals responsible for the relevant portfolio investment. In each instance, when exercising its voting discretion, the Manager seeks to avoid any direct or indirect conflict of interest between Clients and its voting decision. One client's best interests with respect to a proxy vote may diverge from the interests of other Clients, joint venture partners, the Manager and/or the Manager's affiliates. This may result in the Manager casting votes for one Client that differs from votes cast for other Clients or in the Manager taking other steps to mitigate any conflicts that may arise. In no event, however, will the Manager be obligated to vote, or refrain from voting its own securities, securities held by another client or securities held by an affiliate or joint venture partner in a manner that is inconsistent with the Manager's view as to the best interests of such holders, simply because a Client has a differing interest.

A copy of the Manager's proxy voting policy and information with respect to any specific proxy votes submitted on behalf of the relevant Client may be obtained by contacting our CCO.
