Item 4 - Advisory Business

General Information

Harrell Investment Partners, a Texas limited liability company, was formed in September 2018.

Advisory Clients

Harrell Investment Partners provides discretionary and non-discretionary portfolio management as well as financial planning services to individuals, corporations, trusts, estates and charitable organizations.

Portfolio Management

Harrell Investment Partners utilizes a four-step approach to help ensure it fully understands and addresses client needs while providing flexibility to its clients with respect to their investment needs.

- Discover: Harrell Investment Partners will first spend time with the client, asking questions, discussing the client's financial situation and investment experience, and broadly identifying major goals of the client.
- Design: Harrell Investment Partners will review and analyze the information provided by the client. Based on its reviews, Harrell Investment Partners generally develops with each client:
 - a financial outline for the client based on the client's financial situation and goals, and the client's risk tolerance level (the "Financial Profile"); and
 - the client's investment objectives and guidelines (the "Investment Plan").

The Financial Profile is a reflection of the client's current financial picture and a look to the future goals of the client. The Investment Plan outlines the types of investments Harrell Investment Partners will make or recommend on behalf of the client based on Harrell Investment Partners' own research and analysis in order to meet those goals. The elements of the Financial Profile and the Investment Plan are discussed periodically with each client, but are not necessarily written documents. The Investment Plan will be updated from time to time when requested by the client, or when determined to be necessary or advisable by Harrell Investment Partners based on updates to the client's financial or other circumstances.

- Implement: To execute the client's Investment Plan, Harrell Investment Partners will manage the client's investment portfolio on a discretionary or a non-discretionary basis pursuant to an investment advisory agreement with the client. As a discretionary investment adviser, Harrell Investment Partners will have the authority to supervise and direct the portfolio without prior consultation with the client.

Clients who choose a non-discretionary arrangement must be contacted prior to the execution of any trade in the account(s) under management. This may result in a delay in executing recommended trades, which could adversely affect the performance of the portfolio. This delay also normally means the affected account(s) will not be able to participate in block trades, a practice designed to enhance the execution quality, timing and/or cost for all accounts included in the block. In a non-discretionary arrangement, the client retains the responsibility for the final decision on all actions taken with respect to the portfolio.

- Manage: Harrell Investment Partners will monitor the investment performance of client accounts relative to their Financial Profiles on an ongoing basis.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, clients may impose certain written restrictions on Harrell Investment Partners in the management of their investment portfolios, such as prohibiting the inclusion of certain types of investments in an investment portfolio or prohibiting the sale of certain investments held in the account at the commencement of the relationship. Each client should note, however, that restrictions imposed by a client may adversely affect the composition and performance of the client's investment portfolio. Each client should also note that his or her investment portfolio is treated individually by giving consideration to each purchase or sale for the client's account. For these and other reasons, performance of client investment portfolios within the same investment objectives, goals and/or risk tolerance may differ and clients should not expect that the composition or performance of their investment portfolios would necessarily be consistent with similar clients of Harrell Investment Partners.

Harrell Investment Partners provides portfolio management services through two different platforms offered by Raymond James Financial Services, Inc. ("Raymond James"): (1) the Investment Advisors Division platform ("IAD"); and a wrap program sponsored by Raymond James (the "Raymond James Wrap Program").

Separate Account Managers

Harrell Investment Partners may select one or more Separate Account Managers (each, a "Manager") for IAD accounts and for accounts in the Raymond James Wrap Program. Harrell Investment Partners' access to various Managers allows Harrell Investment Partners to offer a wide variety of manager styles, and provides the opportunity to utilize more than one Manager. Factors that Harrell Investment Partners considers in recommending/selecting a Manager for a client account generally include the client's stated investment objective(s), management style, performance, risk level, reputation, financial strength, reporting, pricing, and research.

The Manager(s) generally will be granted discretionary trading authority to provide investment supervisory services for the portfolio. In most cases, Harrell Investment Partners retains the authority to terminate the Manager's relationship or to add new Managers without specific client consent. Harrell Investment Partners will monitor the investment approach and performance of the Manager(s).

Financial Planning

Harrell Investment Partners also offers financial planning services to those clients in need of such services in conjunction with portfolio management services or, in certain cases, as a stand-alone service. Harrell Investment Partners' financial planning services may include advice that addresses one or more areas of a client's financial situation, such as estate planning, risk management, budgeting and cash flow controls, retirement planning, education funding, and investment portfolio design and ongoing management. Depending on a client's particular situation, financial planning services may include some or all of the following:

- Gathering factual information concerning the client's personal and financial situation;
- Assisting the client in establishing financial goals and objectives;

- Analyzing the client's present situation and anticipated future activities in light of the client's financial goals and objectives;
- Identifying problems foreseen in the accomplishment of these financial goals and objectives and offering alternative solutions to the problems;
- Making recommendations to help achieve retirement plan goals and objectives;
- Designing an investment portfolio to help meet the goals and objectives of the client;
- Providing estate planning;
- Assessing risk and reviewing basic health, life and disability insurance needs; or
- Reviewing goals and objectives and measuring progress toward these goals.

When a full financial plan is prepared, the client may choose to have Harrell Investment Partners implement the client's financial plan and manage the investment portfolio on an ongoing basis. However, the client is under no obligation to act upon any of the recommendations made by Harrell Investment Partners under a financial planning engagement and/or engage the services of any recommended professional.

Principal Owners

Robert K. Harrell, II is the sole principal owner of Harrell Investment Partners.

Type and Value of Assets Currently Managed

Harrell Investment Partners is a newly formed registered investment advisory firm and does not currently have any assets under management.

Item 5 - Fees and Compensation

General Fee Information

Clients enter into one of two fee arrangements. Client accounts in the Raymond James Wrap Program pay a single fee that includes the brokerage expenses (e.g., commissions, ticket charges, etc.) of the account, charges for custody services, the management fee paid to Harrell Investment Partners and the fees of any Managers. Under this all-inclusive billing arrangement, the client is assessed a single fee that captures the management, brokerage, custody and administrative portions collectively. Harrell Investment Partners receives a fixed portion of the Raymond James Wrap Program fee.

For IAD accounts, clients will pay management fees to Harrell Investment Partners separately from the brokerage expenses and transaction costs of the account. The brokerage expenses may take the form of asset-based pricing, meaning that the broker-dealer charges the account a flat-rate percentage to cover all brokerage expenses, or these expenses may be assessed on a per-trade basis. Please see Item 12 - Brokerage Practices for additional information.

In either of these arrangements, the fees noted above are separate and distinct from the internal fees and expenses charged by mutual funds, exchange-traded funds ("ETFs") or other investment pools to their shareholders (generally including a management fee and fund expenses, as described in each fund's prospectus or offering materials), mark-ups and mark-downs, spreads paid to market makers, fees for trades executed away from the custodian, wire transfer fees and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. The client should review all fees charged by funds, brokers, Harrell Investment Partners and others to fully understand the total amount of fees paid by the client for investment and financial-related services.

Portfolio Management Fees

Portfolio management fees are individually negotiated with each client, are based on a percentage of assets under management, and are generally subject to a maximum fee of 1.25%, depending on the level of engagement. The specific advisory fees will be identified in the investment advisory agreement between the client and Harrell Investment Partners. The minimum annual fee for any account is $10,000. Harrell Investment Partners may, in its discretion, make exceptions to the foregoing or negotiate special fee arrangements where Harrell Investment Partners deems it appropriate under the circumstances.

Portfolio management fees are generally payable quarterly, in advance. If management begins after the start of a quarter, fees will be prorated accordingly. Fees are normally debited directly from client account(s), unless other arrangements are made.

Either Harrell Investment Partners or the client may terminate their investment advisory agreement at any time, subject to any written notice requirements in the investment advisory agreement. In the event of termination, any paid but unearned fees will be promptly refunded to the client based on the number of days that the account was managed, and any fees due to Harrell Investment Partners from the client will be invoiced or deducted from the client's account prior to termination.

Separate Account Manager Fees

When one or more Managers are utilized, whether for IAD accounts or for accounts in the Raymond James Wrap Program, the Manager(s)' fees will be included in the fee charged to the client account.

Wrap Program Fees

Fees for clients participating in the Raymond James Wrap Program are charged in accordance with the annual fees described above. Harrell Investment Partners generally receives a fixed portion of the Raymond James Wrap Program fee subject to a maximum of 1.25%.

Financial Planning Fees

When Harrell Investment Partners provides financial planning services to clients, these fees may be included in the portfolio management fees or may be in the form of an hourly rate or fixed fee that is negotiated at the time of the engagement and are normally based on the scope of the engagement.

Other Compensation

Insurance Disclosure: Certain employees of Harrell Investment Partners are also licensed to sell insurance products. In providing financial planning and other related advisory services, these individuals may recommend the purchase of products under circumstances where they would be entitled to receive a commission or other compensation in the transaction. In all such circumstances, however, the client will be notified of this payment in advance of the transaction, and under no circumstances will the client pay both a commission to an employee of Harrell Investment Partners for an insurance product and a management fee to Harrell Investment Partners on the same pool of assets.

Item 6 - Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Harrell Investment Partners does not have any performance-based fee arrangements. "Side by Side Management" refers to a situation in which the same firm manages accounts that are billed based on a percentage of assets under management and at the same time manages other accounts for which fees are assessed on a performance fee basis. Because Harrell Investment Partners has no performance-based fee accounts, it has no side-by-side management.

Item 7 - Types of Clients

Harrell Investment Partners serves individuals, corporations, trusts, estates and charitable organizations.

Item 8 - Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Harrell Investment Partners reviews each client's Investment Plan and develops a customized investment strategy for each client. The primary vehicles for investment used by Harrell Investment Partners are common stocks, ETFs, fixed income securities, mutual funds, closed-end funds, separately-managed accounts, alternatives, and structured products.

In selecting investments for an individual account in accordance with the client's Investment Plan, Harrell Investment Partners may use any of the following types of analysis:

Fundamental Analysis – involves review of the business and financial information about an issuer. Without limitation, the following factors generally will be considered:

- Financial strength ratios;
- Price-to-earnings ratios;
- Dividend yields; and
- Growth rate-to-price earnings ratios.

Charting Analysis – involves gathering and processing price and volume information for a particular security and may include, without limitation:

- Mathematical analysis;
- Graphing charts; and
- Estimations of future price movements based on perceived patterns and trends.

Technical Analysis – involves studying past price patterns and trends in the financial markets to predict the direction of both the overall market and specific stocks.

Cyclical Analysis – involves evaluating recurring price patterns and trends.

Quantitative Analysis – involves understanding and/or predicting behavior or events in the financial markets through the use of mathematical measurements and calculations, statistical modeling and research and may include, without limitation:

- Money flow analysis;
- Sentiment analysis; and
- Liquidity analysis.

Mutual funds and ETFs are generally evaluated and selected based on a variety of factors, including, as applicable and without limitation, past performance, fee structure, portfolio manager, fund sponsor, overall ratings for safety and returns, and other factors.

Fixed income investments may be used as a strategic investment, as an instrument to fulfill liquidity or income needs in a portfolio, or to add a component of capital preservation. Harrell Investment Partners may evaluate and select individual bonds or bond funds based on a number of factors including, without limitation, rating, yield and duration.

Investment Strategies

Harrell Investment Partners' strategic approach is to invest each portfolio in accordance with the Investment Plan that has been developed specifically for each client. This means that the following strategies may be used in varying combinations over time for a given client, depending upon the client's individual circumstances:

Long Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period of time, generally greater than one year.

Short Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that they will be sold within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities' short term price fluctuations.

Margin Transactions – a securities transaction in which an investor borrows money to purchase a security, in which case the security serves as collateral on the loan.

Trading – generally considered holding a security for less than thirty (30) days.

Options Trading/Writing – a securities transaction that involves buying or selling (writing) an option. If you write an option, and the buyer exercises the option, you are obligated to purchase or deliver a specified number of shares at a specified price at the exercise of the option regardless of the market value of the security at expiration of the option. Buying an option gives you the right to purchase or sell a specified number of shares at a specified price until the date of expiration of the option regardless of the market value of the security at expiration of the option.

Risk of Loss

While Harrell Investment Partners seeks to diversify clients' investment portfolios across various asset classes consistent with their Investment Plans in an effort to reduce risk of loss, all investment portfolios are subject to risks. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that client investment portfolios will be able to fully meet their investment objectives and goals, or that investments will not lose money.

Below is a description of several of the principal risks that client investment portfolios face.

Management Risks. While Harrell Investment Partners manages client investment portfolios or selects one or more Managers based on Harrell Investment Partners' experience, research and proprietary methods, the value of client investment portfolios will change daily based on the performance of the underlying securities in which they are invested. Accordingly, client investment portfolios are subject to the risk that Harrell Investment Partners or a Manager allocates assets to asset classes that are adversely affected by unanticipated market movements, and the risk that Harrell Investment Partners' or a Manager's specific investment choices could underperform their relevant indexes.

Economic Conditions. Changes in economic conditions, including, for example, interest rates, inflation rates, employment conditions, competition, technological developments, political and diplomatic events and trends, and tax laws may adversely affect the business prospects or perceived prospects of companies. While Harrell Investment Partners or a Manager performs due diligence on the companies in whose securities it invests, economic conditions are not within the control of Harrell Investment Partners or the Manager and no assurances can be given that Harrell Investment Partners or the Manager will anticipate adverse developments.

Equity Market Risks. Harrell Investment Partners and any Managers will generally invest portions of client assets directly into equity investments, primarily stocks, or into pooled investment funds that invest in the stock market. As noted above, while pooled investment funds have diversified portfolios that may make them less risky than investments in individual securities, funds that invest in stocks and other equity securities are nevertheless subject to the risks of the stock market. These risks include, without limitation, the risks that stock values will decline due to daily fluctuations in the markets, and that stock values will decline over longer periods (e.g., bear markets) due to general market declines in the stock prices for all companies, regardless of any individual security's prospects.

Risks of Investments in Mutual Funds, ETFs and Other Investment Pools. As described above, Harrell Investment Partners and any Managers may invest client portfolios in mutual funds, ETFs and other investment pools ("pooled investment funds"). Investments in pooled investment funds are generally less risky than investing in individual securities because of their diversified portfolios; however, these investments are still subject to risks associated with the markets in which they invest. In addition, pooled investment funds' success will be related to the skills of their particular managers and their performance in managing their funds. Pooled investment funds are also subject to risks due to regulatory restrictions applicable to registered investment companies under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended.

Fixed Income Risks. Harrell Investment Partners and any Managers may invest portions of client assets directly into fixed income instruments, such as bonds and notes, or may invest in pooled investment funds that invest in bonds and notes. While investing in fixed income instruments, either directly or through pooled investment funds, is generally less volatile than investing in stock (equity) markets, fixed income investments nevertheless are subject to risks. These risks include, without limitation, interest rate risks (risks that changes in interest rates will devalue the investments), credit risks (risks of default by borrowers), or maturity risk (risks that bonds or notes will change value from the time of issuance to maturity).

Risks Related to Alternative Investment Vehicles. From time to time and as appropriate, Harrell Investment Partners and any Managers may invest a portion of a client's portfolio in alternative vehicles. The value of client portfolios will be based in part on the value of alternative investment vehicles in which they are invested, the success of each of which will depend heavily upon the efforts of their respective managers. When the investment objectives and strategies of a manager are out of favor in the market or a manager makes unsuccessful investment decisions, the alternative investment vehicles managed by the manager may lose money. A client account may lose a substantial percentage of its value if the investment objectives and strategies of many or most of the alternative investment vehicles in which it is invested are out of favor at the same time, or many or most of the managers make unsuccessful investment decisions at the same time.

Securities Lending Risk. Harrell Investment Partners and any Managers may lend securities on behalf of client portfolios in order to seek income. Securities lending involves exposure to certain risks, including operational risk (i.e., the risk of losses resulting from problems in the settlement and accounting process), “gap” risk (i.e., the risk of a mismatch between the return on cash collateral reinvestments and the fees paid to pay a borrower), and credit, legal, counterparty and market risk. Further, there is a risk that a borrower may default on its obligations or does not return the securities and the proceeds received from the collateral do not at least equal the value of the loaned security plus the transaction costs incurred in purchasing replacement securities.

Structured Products Risks. Harrell Investment Partners and any Managers may invest portions of client assets into structured products, which are potentially high-risk derivatives. For example, a structured product may combine a traditional stock, bond, or commodity with an option or forward contract. Generally, the principal amount, amount payable upon maturity or redemption, or interest rate of a structured product is tied to the price of some commodity, currency or securities index or another interest rate or some other economic factor. The interest rate or the principal amount payable at maturity of a structured product may be increased or decreased, depending on changes in the value of the benchmark. Holders of structured products bear risks of the underlying investments, index or reference obligation and are subject to credit, counterparty, debt, and interest rate risks. Also, certain structured products may be thinly traded or have a limited trading market.

Foreign Securities Risks. Harrell Investment Partners and any Managers may invest portions of client assets into pooled investment funds that invest internationally. While foreign investments are important to the diversification of client investment portfolios, they carry risks that may be different from U.S. investments. For example, foreign investments may not be subject to uniform audit, financial reporting or disclosure standards, practices or requirements comparable to those found in the United States. Foreign investments are also subject to foreign withholding taxes and the risk of adverse changes in investment or exchange control regulations. Finally, foreign investments may involve currency risk, which is the risk that the value of the foreign security will decrease due to changes in the relative value of the U.S. dollar and the security’s underlying foreign currency.

Lack of Diversification. Client accounts may not have a diversified portfolio of investments at any given time, and a substantial loss with respect to any particular investment in an undiversified portfolio will have a substantial negative impact on the aggregate value of the portfolio.

Item 9 - Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to a client’s evaluation of Harrell Investment Partners or the integrity of Harrell Investment Partners’ management. Harrell Investment Partners has no disciplinary events to report.

Item 10 - Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Certain employees of Harrell Investment Partners are also licensed to sell insurance products. As such, these employees are entitled to receive commissions or other remuneration on the sale of insurance and other products. In order to protect client interests, Harrell Investment Partners’ policy is to fully disclose all forms of compensation before any such transaction is executed. Clients are not obligated, contractually or otherwise, to use the services of these insurance agents for insurance products. Please see Item 5 – Fees and Compensation for more information.

Item 11 - Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics and Personal Trading

Harrell Investment Partners has adopted a Code of Ethics ("the Code"), the full text of which is available to you upon request. Harrell Investment Partners' Code has several goals. First, the Code is designed to assist Harrell Investment Partners in complying with applicable laws and regulations governing its investment advisory business. Under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended, Harrell Investment Partners owes fiduciary duties to its clients. Pursuant to these fiduciary duties, the Code requires Harrell Investment Partners associated persons to act with honesty, good faith and fair dealing in working with clients. In addition, the Code prohibits associated persons from trading or otherwise acting on insider information.

Next, the Code sets forth guidelines for professional standards for Harrell Investment Partners' associated persons (managers, officers and employees). Under the Code's Professional Standards, Harrell Investment Partners expects its associated persons to put the interests of its clients first, ahead of personal interests. In this regard, Harrell Investment Partners associated persons are not to take inappropriate advantage of their positions in relation to Harrell Investment Partners clients.

Third, the Code sets forth policies and procedures to monitor and review the personal trading activities of associated persons. From time to time, Harrell Investment Partners' associated persons may invest in the same securities recommended to clients. This may create a conflict of interest because associated persons of Harrell Investment Partners may invest in securities ahead of or to the exclusion of Harrell Investment Partners clients. Under its Code, Harrell Investment Partners has adopted procedures designed to reduce or eliminate conflicts of interest that this could potentially cause. The Code's personal trading policies include procedures for limitations on personal securities transactions of associated persons, including generally disallowing trading by an associated person in any security within one day before any client account trades or considers trading the same security and the creation of a restricted securities list, reporting and review of personal trading activities and pre-clearance of certain types of personal trading activities. These policies are designed to discourage and prohibit personal trading that would disadvantage clients. The Code also provides for disciplinary action as appropriate for violations.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

As outlined above, Harrell Investment Partners has adopted procedures to protect client interests when its associated persons invest in the same securities as those selected for or recommended to clients. In the event of any identified potential trading conflicts of interest, Harrell Investment Partners' goal is to place client interests first.

Consistent with the foregoing, Harrell Investment Partners maintains policies regarding participation in initial public offerings ("IPOs") and private placements in order to comply with applicable laws and avoid conflicts with client transactions. If an associated person wishes to participate in an IPO or invest in a private placement, he/she must submit a pre-clearance request and obtain the approval of the Chief Compliance Officer.

If associated persons trade with client accounts (e.g., in a bundled or aggregated trade), and the trade is not filled in its entirety, the associated person's shares will be removed from the block, and the balance of shares will be allocated among client accounts in accordance with Harrell Investment Partners' written policy.

Item 12 - Brokerage Practices

Best Execution and Benefits of Brokerage Selection

When given discretion to select the brokerage firm that will execute orders in client accounts, Harrell Investment Partners seeks “best execution” for client trades, which is a combination of a number of factors, including, without limitation, quality of execution, services provided and commission rates. Therefore, Harrell Investment Partners may use or recommend the use of brokers who do not charge the lowest available commission in the recognition of research and securities transaction services, or quality of execution. Research services received with transactions may include proprietary or third party research (or any combination), and may be used in servicing any or all of Harrell Investment Partners’ clients. Therefore, research services received may not be used for the account for which the particular transaction was effected.

Harrell Investment Partners may recommend that clients establish brokerage accounts with Raymond James, a FINRA registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, to maintain custody of clients’ assets. Harrell Investment Partners may effect trades for client accounts at Raymond James, or may in some instances, consistent with Harrell Investment Partners’ duty of best execution and specific investment advisory agreement with each client, elect to execute trades elsewhere. Although Harrell Investment Partners may recommend that clients establish accounts at Raymond James, it is ultimately the client’s decision to custody assets with Raymond James. Harrell Investment Partners is independently owned and operated and is not affiliated with Raymond James.

Harrell Investment Partners participates in the Raymond James service program. While there is no direct link between the investment advice Harrell Investment Partners provides and participation in the Raymond James program, Harrell Investment Partners receives certain economic benefits from the Raymond James program. These benefits may include software and other technology that provides access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitates trade execution (and allocation of aggregated orders for multiple client accounts), provides research, pricing information and other market data, facilitates the payment of Harrell Investment Partners’ fees from its clients’ accounts, and assists with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services may be used to service all or a substantial number of Harrell Investment Partners’ accounts, including accounts not held at Raymond James. Raymond James may also make available to Harrell Investment Partners other services intended to help Harrell Investment Partners manage and further develop its business. These services may include consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance and marketing. In addition, Raymond James may make available, arrange and/or pay for these types of services to be rendered to Harrell Investment Partners by independent third parties. Raymond James may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services, pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to Harrell Investment Partners, and/or Raymond James may pay for travel expenses relating to participation in such training. Finally, participation in the Raymond James program provides Harrell Investment Partners with access to mutual funds which normally require significantly higher minimum initial investments or are normally available only to institutional investors.

The benefits received through participation in the Raymond James program do not necessarily depend upon the proportion of transactions directed to Raymond James. The benefits are received by Harrell Investment Partners, in part because of commission revenue generated for Raymond James by Harrell Investment Partners’ clients. This means that the investment activity in client accounts is beneficial to Harrell Investment Partners, because Raymond James does not assess a fee to Harrell Investment Partners for these services. This creates an incentive for Harrell Investment Partners to continue to recommend Raymond James to its clients. While it may be possible to obtain similar custodial, execution and other services elsewhere at a lower cost, Harrell Investment Partners believes that Raymond James provides an excellent combination of these services. These services are not soft dollar arrangements, but are part of the institutional platform offered by Raymond James.

Directed Brokerage

Clients may direct Harrell Investment Partners to use a particular broker for custodial or transaction services on behalf of the client's portfolio. In directed brokerage arrangements, the client is responsible for negotiating the commission rates and other fees to be paid to the broker. Accordingly, a client who directs brokerage should consider whether such designation may result in certain costs or disadvantages to the client, either because the client may pay higher commissions or obtain less favorable execution, or the designation limits the investment options available to the client.

The arrangement that Harrell Investment Partners has with Raymond James is designed to maximize efficiency and to be cost effective. By directing brokerage arrangements, the client acknowledges that these economies of scale and levels of efficiency are generally compromised when alternative brokers are used. While every effort is made to treat clients fairly over time, the fact that a client chooses to use the brokerage and/or custodial services of these alternative service providers may in fact result in a certain degree of delay in executing trades for their account(s) and otherwise adversely affect management of their account(s).

By directing Harrell Investment Partners to use a specific broker or dealer, clients who are subject to ERISA confirm and agree with Harrell Investment Partners that they have the authority to make the direction, that there are no provisions in any client or plan document which are inconsistent with the direction, that the brokerage and other goods and services provided by the broker or dealer through the brokerage transactions are provided solely to and for the benefit of the client's plan, plan participants and their beneficiaries, that the amount paid for the brokerage and other services have been determined by the client and the plan to be reasonable, that any expenses paid by the broker on behalf of the plan are expenses that the plan would otherwise be obligated to pay, and that the specific broker or dealer is not a party in interest of the client or the plan as defined under applicable ERISA regulations.

Aggregated Trade Policy

Harrell Investment Partners may enter trades as a block where possible and when advantageous to clients whose accounts have a need to buy or sell shares of the same security. This blocking of trades permits the trading of aggregate blocks of securities composed of assets from multiple client accounts, so long as transaction costs are shared equally and on a pro-rata basis between all accounts included in any such block. Block trading allows Harrell Investment Partners to execute equity trades in a timelier, equitable manner, and may reduce overall costs to clients.

Harrell Investment Partners will only aggregate transactions when it believes that aggregation is consistent with its duty to seek best execution (which includes the duty to seek best price) for its clients, and is consistent with the terms of Harrell Investment Partners' investment advisory agreement with each client for which trades are being aggregated. No advisory client will be favored over any other client; each client that participates in an aggregated order will participate at the average share price for all Harrell Investment Partners' transactions in a given security on a given business day, with transaction costs generally shared pro-rata based on each client's participation in the transaction. On occasion, owing to the size of a particular account's pro rata share of an order or other factors, the commission or transaction fee charged could be above or below a breakpoint in a pre-determined commission or fee schedule set by the executing broker, and therefore transaction charges may vary slightly among accounts. Accounts may be excluded from a block due to tax considerations, client direction or other factors making the account's participation ineligible or impractical.

Harrell Investment Partners will prepare, before entering an aggregated order, a written statement ("Allocation Statement") specifying the participating client accounts and how it intends to allocate the order among those clients. If the aggregated order is filled in its entirety, it will be allocated among clients in accordance with the Allocation Statement. If the order is partially filled, it will generally be allocated pro-rata, based on the Allocation Statement, or randomly in certain circumstances. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the order may be allocated on a basis different from that specified in the Allocation Statement if all client accounts receive fair and equitable treatment over time, and the reason for different allocation is explained in writing and is approved by an appropriate individual/officer of Harrell Investment Partners. Harrell Investment Partners' books and records will separately reflect, for each client account included in a block trade, the securities held by and bought and sold for that account. Funds and securities of clients whose orders are aggregated will be deposited with one or more banks or broker-dealers, and neither the clients' cash nor their securities will be held collectively any longer than is necessary to settle the transaction on a delivery versus payment basis; cash or securities held collectively for clients will be delivered out to the custodian bank or broker-dealer as soon as practicable following the settlement, and Harrell Investment Partners will receive no additional compensation or remuneration of any kind as a result of the proposed aggregation.

Item 13 - Review of Accounts

Managed portfolios are reviewed at least quarterly, but may be reviewed more often if requested by the client, upon receipt of information material to the management of the portfolio, or at any time such review is deemed necessary or advisable by Harrell Investment Partners. These factors may include, but are not limited to, the following: change in general client circumstances (e.g., marriage, divorce, retirement); or economic, political or market conditions. One of Harrell Investment Partners' investment adviser representatives or principals is responsible for reviewing all accounts.

Account custodians are responsible for providing monthly or quarterly account statements which reflect the positions (and current pricing) in each account as well as transactions in each account, including fees paid from an account. Account custodians also provide prompt confirmation of all trading activity, and year-end tax statements, such as 1099 forms. Harrell Investment Partners will provide additional written reports as needed or requested by the client. Clients should carefully compare the statements that they receive from Harrell Investment Partners against the statements that they receive from their account custodian(s).

Item 14 - Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As noted above, Harrell Investment Partners may receive some benefits from Raymond James based on the amount of client assets held at Raymond James. Please see Item 12 - Brokerage Practices for more information. However, neither Raymond James nor any other party is paid to refer clients to Harrell Investment Partners.

Certain employees of Harrell Investment Partners are also licensed to sell insurance products. These employees will earn commission-based compensation for selling insurance products, including insurance products sold to clients of Harrell Investment Partners. Insurance commissions earned by employees of Harrell Investment Partners are separate from Harrell Investment Partners' advisory fees. Please see Item 5 – Fees and Compensation for more information.

Item 15 - Custody

Raymond James is the custodian of nearly all client accounts at Harrell Investment Partners. From time to time however, clients may select an alternate broker to hold accounts in custody. In any case, it is the custodian's responsibility to provide clients with confirmations of trading activity, tax forms and at least quarterly account statements. Clients are advised to review this information carefully, and to notify Harrell Investment Partners of any questions or concerns. Clients are also asked to promptly notify Harrell Investment Partners if the custodian fails to provide statements on each account held.

From time to time and in accordance with Harrell Investment Partners' investment advisory agreement with clients, Harrell Investment Partners will provide additional reports. As mentioned above, the account balances reflected on these reports should be compared to the balances shown on the brokerage statements to ensure accuracy. At times there may be small differences due to the timing of dividend reporting, pending trades or other similar issues.

Harrell Investment Partners may be deemed to have "soft" custody of its client accounts because Harrell Investment Partners' portfolio management fees are normally debited directly from client account(s), unless other arrangements are made.

Item 16 - Investment Discretion

As described in Item 4 - Advisory Business, Harrell Investment Partners will accept clients on either a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. For discretionary accounts, a Limited Power of Attorney ("LPOA") is executed by the client, giving Harrell Investment Partners the authority to carry out various activities in the account, generally including the following: (i) trade execution; (ii) the ability to request checks on behalf of the client; and (iii) the withdrawal of advisory fees directly from the account. Harrell Investment Partners then directs investment of the client's portfolio using its discretionary authority. The client may limit the terms of the LPOA to the extent consistent with the client's investment advisory agreement with Harrell Investment Partners and the requirements of the client's custodian.

For non-discretionary accounts, the client may also execute an LPOA, which allows Harrell Investment Partners to carry out trade recommendations and approved actions in the portfolio. However, in accordance with the investment advisory agreement between Harrell Investment Partners and the client, Harrell Investment Partners does not implement trading recommendations or other actions in the account unless and until the client has approved the recommendation or action. As with discretionary accounts, clients may limit the terms of the LPOA, subject to Harrell Investment Partners' investment advisory agreement with the client and the requirements of the client's custodian.

Item 17 - Voting Client Securities

As a policy and in accordance with Harrell Investment Partners' investment advisory agreement, Harrell Investment Partners does not vote proxies related to securities held in client accounts. The custodian of the account will normally provide proxy materials directly to the client. Clients may contact Harrell Investment Partners with questions relating to proxy procedures and proposals; however, Harrell Investment Partners generally does not research particular proxy proposals.

Item 18 - Financial Information

Harrell Investment Partners does not require nor solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, and therefore has no disclosure with respect to this item.
