Item 2: Material Changes

This Brochure dated February 28, 2019 is the annual updating amendment to the Brochure. We made the following material changes since our last annual update on March 30, 2018.

1. In February 2019, Mark Buffington, a Co-Founder of BIP Wealth, removed his Series 65 registration held at the firm so he will no longer be serving as an investment advisor to clients of BIP Wealth. Mr. Buffington will not be acting in a supervisory capacity or in the role of a manager, but he will continue to serve on the BIP Investment Committee. Mr. Buffington remains employed with the firm in a business development role.
2. Updates have been made to the "Fees and Compensation" section of the ADV Part 2A to reflect changes in BIP's approach to valuing and billing private market assets under management. Beginning April 1, 2019 for purposes of billing, the value of private market investments held by a single entity or in a pooled investment fund is the lesser of (a) the most recent Estimated Fair Value (EFV) as provided by the investment sponsors or (b) the aggregate amount of funds called as of the close of business the day prior to the billing period.

The complete Brochure is available to clients at any time upon request.

Item 4: Advisory Business

Firm Description

BIP Wealth, LLC ("BIP") was founded in 2007.

BIP provides personalized, comprehensive financial planning and investment management services to individuals, trusts, estates and various entities (such as corporations, partnerships and limited liability companies) through which individuals and families hold investment assets. These services include the ongoing monitoring and management of client accounts.

BIP is a fee-only financial planning and investment management firm. The firm does not sell annuities or insurance or invest in any mutual funds, stocks or bonds that pay a commission to the firm. BIP does not act as a custodian of client funds or assets, and no finder's fees are accepted.

Other professionals (e.g., attorneys, accountants, insurance agents) are engaged directly by BIP clients on an as-needed basis. Conflicts of interest will be disclosed to the client in the unlikely event they should occur.

The initial meeting between a BIP representative and prospective client, which may be in person or by telephone, is free of charge and is considered an exploratory interview to determine the extent to which financial planning and investment management may be beneficial to the prospective client.

Principal Owners

BIP Managing Partner, LLC, which is owned by Mark A. Buffington and William J. Harris, is the principal owner of BIP. Mr. Buffington does not have a management or supervisory role at BIP Wealth, LLC. Please see Brochure Supplements, Exhibit A, for more information on Mr. Harris, as well as other individuals who formulate investment advice and have direct contact with BIP clients, or have discretionary authority over BIP client accounts.

Types of Advisory Services

BIP provides comprehensive financial planning and investment management services. We render investment advice through consultation and also render advice to clients on matters not involving investment securities, such as financial and estate planning, and taxation.

BIP may provide advice on limited partnerships and other entities that invest in the common equity, preferred securities, or debt of private companies. BIP or its related persons may have a financial interest in these partnerships.

With respect to any account for which BIP meets the definition of a fiduciary under Department of Labor rules, BIP acknowledges that both BIP and its Related Persons are acting as fiduciaries. Additional disclosure may be found elsewhere in this Brochure or in the written agreement between BIP and Client.

Assets Under Management

As of December 31, 2018, BIP managed $948,978,816 in assets for approximately 685 clients. Of this total, $734,732,251 is managed on a discretionary basis, and $214,246,565 is managed on a non-discretionary basis through clients' participation in private market investments.

Tailored Relationships

The BIP advisory relationship is initiated with a consultative meeting, or series of meetings, between a BIP Personal Wealth Advisor and a prospective client or a representative of the prospective client to assess the prospective client's financial situation. Summary information is documented in our proprietary client information and portfolio management system, Buckhead Investments Operating System (BIOS). Information that is more detailed may also be recorded in MoneyGuide Pro, which is financial planning software used by BIP under a license arrangement.

BIP analyzes a prospective client's financial situation at two levels. The household level is the basis for financial planning analysis and is the most comprehensive view of the client's needs. A prospective client's household may include several portfolios, each consisting of several accounts, being managed to a specific level of risk. For instance, the husband of a prospective client couple may be more risk tolerant, allowing for a more aggressive portfolio for his accounts, while the wife may be less risk tolerant, requiring a more conservative portfolio for her accounts.

Portfolios primarily consist of public market securities, and the most common vehicles are mutual funds or exchange traded funds ("ETFs"). Some portfolios may utilize individual bonds, including, but not limited to, corporate bonds, government bonds, municipal bonds, and CDs. Individual stocks may be used to a small degree, based on client preference, as long as the portfolio is well diversified. Common stock holdings are usually limited to legacy holdings that the client owned before becoming a client of BIP. Some portfolios may utilize stock options, usually to reduce risk by protecting against downside market movements or to generate income.

For investors who are "Qualified Clients" or "Accredited Investors" (as such terms are defined in SEC regulations), portfolios may also consist of alternative investment opportunities, also known as private market securities or alternative investments. Private market securities may be of several types but are primarily equity investments. One of BIP's affiliates serves as General Partner for private market securities. Private market securities are not bought on a discretionary basis, and have additional risks including illiquidity and lack of disclosure when compared to public market securities. These risks are described in the offering documents of each private market investment and each investor agrees to bear such risks by executing the subscription documents. Our general guideline is that private market equities, based on their "fair value" as determined by the entity managing such private market equities, should represent no more than one third of the total investment in equity for the household. Exceptions to the rule may be made based on individual client circumstances, such as a high projected income or past experience with private investments. Some clients may own no private securities, either because they are not Qualified Clients or Accredited Investors, or because they are not willing to accept the additional risks.

Each portfolio is customized on several dimensions to be most appropriate for the client's individual situation, goals and risk tolerance. The first dimension of customization is the allocation between equity and fixed income investments in the portfolio. This allocation decision is the most important determinant of risk and volatility.

The second dimension is the public market equity style. This is chosen by assessing whether the portfolio will be receiving cash for investment, will be somewhat stable in terms of deposits and withdrawals, or will be distributing cash. Different public market equity styles should have similar returns, but different levels of tax efficiency.

Finally, the third dimension is the public market fixed income style, which is also chosen based on whether the portfolio will be receiving cash, will be somewhat stable, or will be distributing cash. Different public market fixed income styles should have similar returns, but may have different levels of short-term volatility. Portfolios will also be managed based on an asset location analysis that places more tax efficient investments in taxable accounts and less tax efficient investments in tax-deferred or tax-free accounts. The client's tax bracket will be used to determine whether the client might benefit from allocating some portion of fixed income investments into municipal bonds if it is necessary to own bonds in a taxable account.

Once the public market equity and fixed income investments have been determined, a decision as to the appropriateness of private market securities will be made. If it is determined that a client is ineligible to invest or is not interested in investing in private market securities, the goals and objectives of the portfolio will be pursued through public sector investments only.

Restrictions and guidelines imposed by a client may affect the composition and performance of portfolios. As a result, performance of portfolios within the same investment objective may vary slightly. The client should not expect that the performance of his/her custom portfolio(s) will be identical to any other individual portfolio performance.

BIP presents in writing the investment plan/portfolio design developed for the client's individual circumstances. The fees associated with the portfolio are outlined and reviewed. Clients are provided assistance in completing the required paperwork to establish the necessary accounts with a third-party asset custodian. Household and portfolio design choices are reviewed with the client in a face-to-face or telephone meeting at least once per year unless the client prefers otherwise. The performance of each portfolio and the chosen risk levels are documented each quarter and distributed to clients via email or mail, and then reviewed with the client as necessary throughout the year.

Types of Agreements

Prior to engaging BIP to provide investment advisory services, the client will be required to enter into an Investment Advisor Agreement (IAA) with BIP. The IAA will set forth the terms and conditions of the engagement. It will also describe the scope of the services to be provided and the fees for such services.

A copy of this Brochure and the firm's Privacy Policy will be provided to clients prior to, or contemporaneously with, the execution of the IAA between each client and BIP. At the same time as the IAA is executed, clients will be asked to sign an authorization that will allow the custodian of any of his/her accounts to debit the account(s) the amount of BIP's advisory fee and remit the fee to BIP. The authorization will remain valid until a written revocation of the authorization is received by BIP or the account custodian. In connection with this fee deduction process, the custodian will send to the client a statement, at least quarterly, indicating:

- all amounts dispersed from the account, and
- the amount of advisory fees paid directly to BIP

Termination of Agreement

Either the client or BIP may terminate the services described above, with a written ten (10)-day notice to the other. Any charges incurred prior to termination will be charged pro rata based upon the period covered. Termination requests may be sent to BIP at the following address:

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

Description

Asset Management Fees

BIP calculates advisory fees based on a percentage of total assets under BIP management, including both public and private market securities. The fee schedule is as follows:

Account(s) Value	Annual Percentage
$1,000,000 to $2,499,000	0.95%
$2,500,000 - $4,999,999	0.90%
$5,000,000 - $7,499,999	0.80%
$7,500,000 - $9,999,999	0.70%
$10,000,000 and above	0.60%

The minimum portfolio value is generally set at $1,000,000. If we agree to an asset management relationship for a portfolio valued at less than $1,000,000, the annual fee rate is 1.25%. The minimum annual fee for any relationship is $4,000. BIP may, at its discretion, make exceptions to the foregoing or negotiate special fee arrangements where BIP deems it appropriate under the circumstances. For example, BIP may, at its sole discretion, charge a lesser or no advisory fee based upon certain criteria (i.e. employees and family of employees, anticipated future additional assets, related accounts, account composition, etc.). No increase in BIP's fees will be effective without not less than thirty (30) days' prior written notification to the client.

The value of public market assets is reported by the custodians using their pricing services and is not guaranteed by BIP. The value of an account for the purposes of pricing may exclude the negative value of any short positions or margin balances.

BIP takes a conservative approach to valuing and billing on private market assets under management. For the purposes of billing, the value of private market investments held by a single entity or in a pooled investment fund is the lesser of (a) the most recent Estimated Fair Value (EFV) as provided by the investment sponsors or (b) the aggregate amount of funds called as of the close of business the day prior to the billing period. The advisory fee charged is based on the Fee Schedule above.

Other Consulting Fees

For specific consulting projects or other unique opportunities to serve clients, BIP may charge a fee on a flat rate or other basis. Such fee will be agreed upon at the time of the engagement.

Assessment of Asset-Based Fees for BIP Clients

The first BIP fee invoice will be calculated and prorated according to the date when assets are received in an account managed by BIP (inception date). This fee will be payable on the last day of the initial quarter and will be based upon a percentage of the value of assets in the client's account(s) as of that date.

Going forward, BIP will calculate the quarterly advisory fees in advance, based upon a percentage of the value of assets held in client's account(s) as of the last business day of the prior calendar quarter. This fee amount will be calculated by assessing one quarter (1/4) of the total annual percentage charged with respect to the assets in the client's account(s).

In the event of termination of a client's IAA, the client will receive a pro-rata refund of any pre-paid fees attributable to any period after the effective date of termination.

Most clients prefer to authorize the account custodian to have BIP's advisory fees debited from their account(s) and remit the fees to BIP. If so desired, the client may choose to be billed directly by BIP for BIP's fees, in which case the client will be invoiced on or before the fifth business day of the month subsequent to the immediately preceding billing period. Payments are due on or before the final business day of the month with respect to which the invoice is generated.

Custodial Fees

Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of investment securities. These transaction charges are usually small and incidental to the purchase or sale of a security. We believe the selection of the security is more important than the nominal fee that the custodian charges to buy or sell the security. (See Item 12: Brokerage Practices)

Expense Ratios

Mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, and other investment company securities generally charge a management fee for their services as investment managers. The management fee is called an expense ratio. For example, an expense ratio of 0.50 means that the fund company charges for their services 0.5% of the value of the security purchased. These fees are in addition to the fees paid by you to BIP.

Performance figures quoted by fund companies in various publications are generally calculated after their fees have been deducted.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees

Sharing of Capital Gains

BIP does not have any performance-based fee arrangements. "Side-by-Side Management" refers to a situation in which the same firm manages accounts that are billed based on a percentage of assets under management and at the same time manages other accounts for which fees are assessed on a performance fee basis. Because BIP has no performance-based fee accounts, it has no side-by-side management.

Item 7: Types of Clients

Description

BIP generally provides investment advice to individuals, trusts, estates and various entities (such as corporations, partnerships and limited liability companies) through which individuals and families hold investment assets.

Client relationships may vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

BIP imposes a minimum account value of $1 million. Occasionally, BIP will accept accounts below the account minimum for clients with highly illiquid net worth, clients that are young and upwardly mobile/emerging affluent and related accounts of family members. BIP has a minimum Advisory Fee of $4,000 per year for accounts falling below the minimum asset size.

Certain investment programs/products recommended by BIP may also impose minimum investment amounts or other conditions for participation in such programs/products. Such other conditions will be separate and distinct from those that may be imposed by BIP.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

As described earlier, BIP will invest in a variety of investment types as appropriate. Security analysis methods will generally include statistical analysis which includes time series regression analysis to assess the impact of various independent variables on historical returns. In certain cases, BIP may use fundamental analysis which involves the Internet, financial newspapers and magazines, inspections of corporate activities, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the SEC, and company press releases.

Mutual funds and ETFs are generally evaluated and selected based on a variety of factors, including, as applicable and without limitation, past performance, fee structure, portfolio manager, fund sponsor, overall ratings for safety and returns, and other factors.

Fixed income investments may be used to fulfill liquidity or income needs in a portfolio, to generate price appreciation, or to add a component of capital preservation. BIP will generally evaluate and select bond mutual funds or bond ETFs based on a number of factors including, without limitation, sector or type, credit rating, yield and duration.

Private market securities are used to target a specific area of the market or to participate in a private equity or debt offering of a particular company or investment fund. Private market investment opportunities are generally selected to create or add-to diversified private market exposure. Private market investments are non-discretionary and the BIP Wealth PWA will discuss the risks involved with clients based on analyzing and evaluating the client's financial position and goals. There are two methods by which a private investment opportunity may be evaluated prior to presenting to clients. BIP Equity Management, LLC and BIP Capital, LLC, as pre-approved by BIP's Investment Committee as a private investment provider, may offer BIP clients the opportunity to participate in a co-investment or fund. Alternatively, underlying investments are recommended based on BIP's Investment Committee's approval of third party, non-affiliated private opportunities after an evaluation of the strength of the company, depth and experience of management, prospects for growth, and other factors.

Investment Strategies

Investments are determined based upon the client's investment objectives, risk tolerance, net worth, net income, time horizon, tax situation and various suitability factors. These unique characteristics are documented in BIOS (Buckhead Investments Operating System) and MoneyGuide Pro (financial planning software) at the outset of the BIP relationship and revisited at each client review and updated as necessary.

This information becomes the basis for the strategic asset allocation plan which we believe will best meet the client's stated long-term, personal financial goals. The investment advice we provide is based upon investment strategies which incorporate the principles of Modern Portfolio Theory. The utilization of several different asset classes as part of an investor's portfolio is emphasized, as this has been shown to usually effect a reduction in portfolio volatility over long periods of time. We diversify our clients' assets among various asset classes and then among individual investments, following the strategy agreed to by the client. We rebalance portfolios periodically, at our discretion, based on how far the client portfolio has deviated from its target and the costs to the client, including transaction costs and taxes.

Our investment approach is firmly rooted in the belief that markets are fairly efficient and that investor's gross returns are determined principally by asset allocation decisions. We almost always utilize no-load, low-cost, tax-efficient, well-diversified equity and fixed income mutual funds, individual bonds and other similar investments to develop globally diversified portfolios.

Key Investment Philosophies

Following is a summary of our key investment philosophies, which we believe help provide the best long-term risk/reward return for our clients:

- Broad and global diversification optimizes the risk/return ratio. Mutual funds and ETFs enable much broader diversification than is feasible with individual stocks. Fee-only service reduces conflicts and aligns the interests of BIP with those of our clients.
- Passively-managed funds, including index funds and ETFs from low-cost leaders, provide a greater likelihood of success than actively managed funds, and should represent the majority of the portfolio.
- Driving costs out of the investment process allows clients to retain more of their wealth.
- Small and value stocks have been shown to provide superior returns over time, and around the world.
- Covered call strategies (i.e. strategies that involve the sale to third parties of purchase options to acquire a specific security for a designated price by a date certain) can create attractive risk/reward dynamics.

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach is to educate clients on these risks and select only those investments commensurate with the risks the investor accepts. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Management Risks: While BIP manages client investment portfolios based on BIP's experience, research and proprietary methods, the value of client investment portfolios will change daily based on the performance of the underlying securities in which they are invested. Accordingly, client investment portfolios are subject to the risk that BIP allocates client assets to individual securities and/or asset classes that are adversely affected by unanticipated market movements, and the risk that BIP's specific investment choices could underperform their relevant indexes.
- Interest Rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying attributes. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger negative market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power erodes at the rate of inflation.
- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e., interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities (bonds).
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business's operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its repayment obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.
- Small Company Risk: Securities of small companies with lower market capitalization may have a higher risk of default and/or loss of principal. As a result, small company stocks may fluctuate relatively more in price. In general, smaller capitalization companies are also more vulnerable than larger companies are to adverse business or economic developments and they may have more limited resources.
- Private Investment Risk: From time to time and as appropriate, BIP may invest a portion of a client's portfolio in private market investments. In many cases, BIP or a related party may serve as general partner or in another managerial capacity that may result in a conflict of interest. The value of client portfolios will be based in part on the value of private market investments in which they are invested, the success of each of which will depend heavily upon the efforts of their respective managers. When the investment objectives and strategies of a manager are out of favor in the market or a manager makes unsuccessful investment decisions, the private market investments managed by the manager may lose money. A client account may lose a substantial percentage of its value if the investment objectives and strategies of many or most of the private market investments in which it is invested are out of favor at the same time, or many or most of the managers make unsuccessful investment decisions at the same time

- Value Investment Risk: Stocks trading at various price-to-book ratios may perform differently from the market as a whole. Following a value oriented investment strategy over any period of time may cause the portfolio to underperform equity funds that use other investment strategies.
- Covered Call Risk: Selling covered calls reduces the volatility of a covered call strategy under most market conditions; however, volatility under extreme market conditions may not adequately reduce the risk of the portfolio.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

Legal and Disciplinary

Registered investment advisors are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events of their firm or certain management personnel which would be material to our clients' evaluation of the firm or the integrity of the firm's management of their investment portfolio.

Neither BIP nor employees have been involved in legal or disciplinary events related to past or present investment clients.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Financial Industry Activities

BIP Equity Management, LLC and its relying advisors file together a single ADV in reliance on the position expressed in the SEC No-action Letter to the American Bar Association, Business Law Section dated January 18, 2012. BIP Equity Management's relying advisors are BIP Capital Management Services, LLC and BIP Early Stage Management, LLC. BIP Equity Management and BIP Capital, LLC, are affiliated with BIP Wealth. BIP Capital, LLC has submitted an application to the SEC to become a Registered Investment Advisor. Both BIP Equity Management, LLC and BIP Capital, LLC create limited partnerships, limited liability companies, special purpose vehicles or other similar structures to invest in private equity, private debt or other unregistered securities. BIP Wealth may offer clients the opportunity to participate in one or more of these offerings. Offerings may include single-deal investment opportunities where the client determines whether to participate based on the merits of the underlying investment, or through one or more private fund offerings where BIP Equity Management or BIP Capital has the discretionary authority to make investment decisions based on the strategy, mandate and/or objectives set forth in the offering documents. Terms, conditions, fees, expenses, risks and other material disclosures are provided to investors in each investment's offering documents.

Affiliations

Sub-Advisory Accounts

BIP may recommend products or services managed or offered by other investment advisers or third parties that may or may not be affiliated with BIP. Such products or services are customarily referred to as "sub-advisory accounts".

A sub-advisory account is essentially a traditional brokerage account managed by another investment adviser. In the context of BIP services, BIP may refer its clients to outside investment advisers who would perform specific investment advisory or portfolio management services for client accounts. Specific services and fees related to such programs will be available in the outside adviser's current disclosure documents.

The selection of investment managers may be provided on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis where BIP has the authority to hire or fire the investment manager, and BIP's fee may be paid by the sub-advisor. The decision to hire or fire a particular investment manager will be based upon continued suitability and performance of a client's account.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

At BIP, we take great pride in our commitment to serving our clients' needs and the integrity with which we conduct our business. In our recent history, the financial services industry has come under significant scrutiny, especially in the area of the inherent responsibility of financial professionals to behave in the best interests of their clients.

BIP has developed a Code of Ethics (the "Code") as a means of memorializing our vision of appropriate and professional conduct in carrying out the business of providing investment advisory services. Our Code addresses issues such as the following:

- Standards of conduct and compliance with applicable laws rules, and regulations
- Protection of material non-public information
- Addressing conflicts of interest
- Employee disclosure and reporting of personal securities holdings and transactions
- The firm's initial public offering and private placement policy
- The reporting of violations of the Code
- Enforcement of the Code

As outlined above, BIP has adopted procedures to protect client interests when its associated persons invest in the same securities as those selected for or recommended to clients. In the event of any identified potential trading conflicts of interest, BIP's commitment is to place client interests first.

Consistent with the foregoing, BIP maintains policies regarding participation in initial public offerings ("IPOs") and private placements in order to comply with applicable laws and avoid conflicts with client transactions. If a BIP-associated person wishes to participate in an IPO or invest in a private placement, he or she must submit a pre-clearance request and obtain the approval of BIP's Chief Compliance Officer.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

As noted elsewhere in this Brochure, BIP's affiliates and/or officers serve as general partners, managing members or in other similar capacities of several investment-related private market securities which may be recommended to BIP clients. When serving in such capacities, certain BIP affiliates and/or officers may have financial interests in the investing entities.

BIP or its personnel may invest for their own accounts or have a financial interest in the same securities or private market securities that BIP recommends or acquires for the accounts of its clients and may engage in transactions that are the same as or different than transactions recommended to or made for client accounts. Such transactions are permitted if effected, pre-cleared and reported in compliance with BIP's policy on personal securities transactions. Generally, personal securities transactions will not be pre-cleared when an order for the same or a related security is pending for the account of the client. BIP's compliance personnel review reports of personal transactions in securities by BIP personnel quarterly or more frequently if required.

Personal Trading

None of BIP's investment adviser representatives may affect for himself or herself or for his or her immediate family (i.e. spouse, minor children, etc.; collectively, "covered persons") any transactions in a security that is being actively recommended to any of BIP's clients, unless in accordance with the following firm procedures:

1. If the firm is recommending that any of its clients buy any security, no covered persons may purchase that security prior to the client's purchase of that security; and
2. If the firm is recommending that any of its clients buy any security, no covered persons may sell that security prior to the client's sale of that security.

It is the primary intent of the preceding procedure to ensure that the best interests of BIP clients are always served.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Selecting Brokerage Firms

BIP is not a broker-dealer. Unless the client directs otherwise, BIP will generally recommend that all the client's accounts be maintained at custodian firms that are unaffiliated with BIP. This is done to protect the client and provide the ability to control and view assets without solely relying on BIP's reporting.

Although not all-inclusive, BIP recommends the following brokers of record and their corresponding custodian:

Broker of Record	Custodian
Fidelity Brokerage Services, LLC	National Financial Services, LLC
TD Ameritrade Clearing, Inc.	TD Ameritrade Clearing, Inc.
n/a	Millennium Trust Company

Factors that BIP considers in recommending to clients certain broker-dealers or custodians may include such entity's financial strength, reputation, transaction execution, pricing and service. In return for effecting securities transactions through certain broker-dealer/custodians, BIP or certain of its representatives receive certain support services that may assist BIP in its investment decision-making process for all of BIP's clients.

BIP participates in the institutional advisor programs (each a "Program") offered by Fidelity Investments ("Fidelity") and TD Ameritrade Institutional (collectively "the Brokers"), a division of TD Ameritrade Inc., member FINRA/SIPC ("TD Ameritrade"). The Brokers offer their Programs to independent investment advisers. The Programs include such services as custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions. BIP receives some benefits from the Brokers through its participation in the Programs. BIP is independently owned and operated and is not affiliated with the Brokers.

BIP recommends Fidelity or TD Ameritrade to clients for custody and brokerage services. While there is no direct link between BIP's participation in the Programs and the investment advice it gives to its clients through its participation in the Programs, BIP receives economic benefits that are typically not available to retail investors. These benefits generally include, without limitation, the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving program participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to BIP by third party vendors. The Brokers may also pay for business consulting and professional services received by BIP's related persons.

Some of the products and services made available by the Brokers through the Programs may benefit BIP but may not directly benefit its client accounts. These products or services may assist BIP in managing and administering client accounts, including accounts not maintained at the Brokers. Other services made available by the Brokers are intended to help BIP manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by BIP or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to the Brokers. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, BIP endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by BIP or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the BIP's choice of the Brokers for custody and brokerageservices.

Soft Dollars

Generally, in addition to a broker's ability to provide "best execution," BIP may also consider the value of "research" or additional brokerage products and services a broker-dealer has provided or may be willing to provide to BIP. The provision of these added benefits may be based in whole or in part on the value of the BIP's assets under management held at TD Ameritrade, on the brokerage revenue to TD Ameritrade generated by BIP's activities, or on a combination of these two factors. This is known as paying for those services or products with "soft dollars." Because many of the services or products could be considered to provide a benefit to BIP, and because the "soft dollars" used to acquire them are client assets, the firm could be considered to have a conflict of interest in allocating client brokerage business. In this way, BIP could receive valuable benefits by selecting a particular broker or dealer to execute client transactions and the transaction compensation charged by that broker or dealer might not be the lowest compensation the firm might otherwise be able to negotiate. In addition, the firm could have an incentive to cause clients to engage in more securities transactions than would otherwise be optimal in order to generate brokerage compensation with which to acquire products and services.

The firm's use of soft dollars is intended to comply with the requirements of Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Section 28(e) provides a "safe harbor" for investment managers who use commissions or transaction fees paid by their advised accounts to obtain investment research services that provide lawful and appropriate assistance to the manager in performing investment decision-making responsibilities. We generally use such products and services in the conduct of our investment decision-making, not just for those accounts whose commissions may be considered to have been used to pay for the products and services. As required by Section 28(e), the firm will make a good faith determination that the amount of commission or other fees paid is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services provided. That is, before placing orders with a particular broker, we generally determine, considering all the factors described below, that the compensation to be paid to TD Ameritrade is reasonable in relation to the value of all the brokerage and research products and services provided by TD Ameritrade. In making this determination, we typically consider not only the particular transaction or transactions, and not only the value of brokerage and research services and products to a particular client, but also the value of those services and products in our performance of our overall responsibilities to all of our clients. In some cases, the commissions or other transaction fees charged by a particular broker-dealer for a particular transaction or set of transactions may be greater than the amounts another broker-dealer who did not provide research services or products might charge.

Directed Brokerage

The client may direct BIP to use a particular broker-dealer (subject to BIP's right to decline and/or terminate the engagement) to execute some or all transaction for the client's account. In such an event, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with the broker-dealer and BIP will not seek better execution services or process from other broker-dealers to be able to "batch" the client's transactions for execution through other broker-dealers or be able to "batch" the client's transactions for execution through other broker-dealer orders for other accounts managed by BIP. As a result, the client can pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads or receive less favorable net prices or transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case.

Best Execution

In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not always the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer's services, including factors such as execution, capability, commission rates and responsiveness. Accordingly, although BIP will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for the client's account transactions.

BIP reviews the execution of trades at each at least quarterly. The review process is documented in the BIP Compliance Manual. Trading fees charged by the custodians are also reviewed at least quarterly as the trades are reviewed. BIP does not receive any portion of the trading fees.

Order Aggregation

Most trades are mutual funds or ETFs where trade aggregation does not garner any client benefit. However, there may be situations where BIP decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. BIP may (but is not obligated to) combine or "batch" such orders to obtain best execution or to negotiate more favorable transaction rates. BIP will not receive any additional compensation or remuneration because of the aggregation.

Relationships with Investment Product Providers

Following a stringent interview process, BIP was granted access by Dimensional Fund Advisers (DFA) to its mutual funds. DFA is an Austin, Texas-based mutual fund company with over 100 separate funds in aggregate and over $517 billion of discretionary assets under management (as of December 31, 2018).

While there is no direct linkage between the investment advice given and the approval of BIP to access the mutual funds of DFA, BIP receives benefits from DFA. These benefits, which are also received by other Registered Investment Adviser firms granted access to the DFA funds include:

- Attendance at seminars hosted by DFA at which the investment products of DFA are explained, academic instruction is given on asset allocation strategies, and financial planning and practice management is given. BIP pays all of the travel and hotel costs for members and staff attending these seminars. DFA provides, at no charge to BIP or the other attendees at such seminars, the speakers and facilities for the seminar, occasional luncheons or dinners and the materials handed out at the seminar.
- Access to the “financial adviser” portion of the DFA website (www.dfaus.com), which contains additional academic research, practice management articles, newsletters, educational video presentations, software and investment returns data.
- Use of the DFA Returns and DFA Allocation Evaluator software programs and accompanying data, which can be utilized to ascertain how different asset classes (as represented by various indices) and different mutual funds of DFA have performed over time and which provide a method for calculation based upon historical results of rate of return and standard deviation for those assets classes and mutual funds.
- Various print materials (including article reprints and DFA brochures)
- Occasional practice management conferences and telephone conferences with DFA's team members to discuss specific issues relating to academic research relating to investment theory and/or relating to practice development (marketing) and management issues.

We are under no obligation to recommend the mutual funds of Dimensional Fund Advisers to our clients. We recommend the mutual funds of DFA or other mutual fund companies or other investment products only when we believe they best suit our client's objectives. We do not provide any payment to DFA for the access provided to our clients. DFA does not pay to BIP any monetary compensation in order to recommend the funds of DFA.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

Managed portfolios are reviewed at least quarterly but may be reviewed more often if requested by the client, upon receipt of information material to the management of the portfolio, or at any time such review is deemed necessary or advisable by BIP. These factors generally include but are not limited to, the following: unusual cash flows, change in general client circumstances (marriage, divorce, retirement) or economic, political or market conditions. Additional triggering factors could be performance on an individual account being an outlier to the performance of accounts with similar investment objectives.

Regular Reports

Quarterly written reports are provided to clients, detailing investment allocations and performance. The primary custodian, (typically TD Ameritrade and Fidelity Investments), provides at least quarterly statements that itemize client account holdings and activities. Clients are encouraged to review both statements closely for comparative purposes.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Incoming Referrals

BIP is fortunate to receive many client referrals. The referrals come from current clients, estate planning attorneys, accountants, personal friends of employees and other similar sources. The firm does not compensate for the majority of these referrals.

There is a limited number of solicitor agreements with strategic partners.

BIP DOES NOT charge clients introduced by third-parties fees or costs greater than the fees or costs BIP charges its advisory clients who were not introduced by the third-party solicitors and have similar portfolios under management with BIP. In other words, being introduced to the firm from a solicitor will have no influence whatsoever on the fees charged to clients. Any such agreements are handled in accordance with the provisions of Rule 206(4)-3 under the Investment Advisors Act of 1940. For more information on our solicitor arrangements, please call (404) 495-5230.

BIP receives client referrals from TD Ameritrade through its participation in TD Ameritrade AdvisorDirect. In addition to meeting the minimum eligibility criteria for participation in AdvisorDirect, BIP may have been selected to participate in AdvisorDirect based on the amount and profitability to TD Ameritrade of the assets in, and trades placed for, client accounts maintained with TD Ameritrade. TD Ameritrade is a discount broker-dealer independent of and unaffiliated with BIP and there is no employee or agency relationship between them. TD Ameritrade has established AdvisorDirect as a means of referring its brokerage customers and other investors seeking fee-based personal investment management services or financial planning services to independent investment advisors. TD Ameritrade does not supervise BIP and has no responsibility for BIP's management of client portfolios or BIP's other advice or services. BIP pays TD Ameritrade an on-going fee for each successful client referral. This fee is usually a percentage (not to exceed 25%) of the advisory fee that the client pays to BIP ("Solicitation Fee"). BIP will also pay TD Ameritrade the Solicitation Fee on any advisory fees received by BIP from any of a referred client's family members, including a spouse, child or any other immediate family member who resides with the referred client and hired BIP on the recommendation of such referred client. BIP will not charge clients referred through AdvisorDirect any fees or costs higher than its standard fee schedule offered to its clients or otherwise pass Solicitation Fees paid to TD Ameritrade to its clients. For information regarding additional or other fees paid directly or indirectly to TD Ameritrade, please refer to the TD Ameritrade AdvisorDirect Disclosure and Acknowledgement Form.

BIP's participation in AdvisorDirect raises potential conflicts of interest. TD Ameritrade will most likely refer clients through AdvisorDirect to investment advisors that encourage their clients to custody their assets at TD Ameritrade and whose client accounts are profitable to TD Ameritrade. Consequently, in order to obtain client referrals from TD Ameritrade, BIP may have an incentive to recommend to clients that the assets under management by BIP be held in custody with TD Ameritrade and to place transactions for client accounts with TD Ameritrade. In addition, BIP has agreed not to solicit clients referred to it through AdvisorDirect to transfer their accounts from TD Ameritrade or to establish brokerage or custody accounts at other custodians, except when its fiduciary duties require doing so. BIP's participation in AdvisorDirect does not diminish its duty to seek best execution of trades for client accounts.

Referrals Out

While BIP may refer clients to other professionals (e.g., accountants, lawyers, etc.), BIP does not receive a referral fee or other compensation for doing so.

Item 15: Custody

Account Statements

All assets are held at qualified custodians, which means the custodians provide account statements directly to clients at their address of record at least quarterly.

Standing Letter of Instruction

BIP Wealth is deemed to have custody of client assets as a result of clients authorizing BIP Wealth to distribute assets from their accounts to a specific named recipient in accordance with a standing letter of instruction. BIP Wealth is complying with the SEC No-Action Letter dated February 21, 2017 (Investment Adviser Association) allowing firms who comply with all of the provisions of the no-action letter to forego the annual surprise custody examination. BIP Wealth is also deemed to have custody due to directly debiting advisory fees.

Performance Reports

Clients are urged to compare the account statements received directly from their custodians to the performance report statements provided by BIP.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

Discretionary Authority for Trading

As described above under Item 4 - Advisory Business, BIP manages portfolios on a discretionary basis. This means that after an investment plan is developed for the client's investment portfolio, BIP will execute that plan without specific consent from the client for each transaction. For discretionary accounts, a Limited Power of Attorney ("LPOA") is executed by the client, giving BIP the authority to carry out various activities in the account, generally including the following: trade execution; the ability to request checks on behalf of the client in the client's name and sent to the address of record, and, the withdrawal of advisory fees directly from the account. BIP then directs investment of the client's portfolio using its discretionary authority. The client may limit the terms of the LPOA to the extent consistent with the client's investment advisory agreement with BIP and the requirements of the client's custodian. The discretionary relationship is further described in the agreement between BIP and the client.

The only non-discretionary investment recommendations made by BIP involves client investments in private market investments. In this situation, BIP will make recommendations it believes are appropriate for the client's investment plan. Investments in the private equity/debt market must be authorized by the client prior to BIP's facilitation of such transactions that may have been recommended.

Limited Power of Attorney

Clients sign a limited power of attorney as a trading authorization so that BIP may execute the trades that they have authorized. See Item 16 – Discretionary Authority for Trading.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

Proxy Votes

Effective March 2012, as a policy and in accordance with BIP's client agreement, BIP no longer votes proxies related to securities held in client accounts. The custodian of the account will normally provide proxy materials directly to the client. Clients may contact BIP with questions relating to proxy procedures and proposals; however, BIP generally does not research particular proxy proposals.

Item 18: Financial Information

Financial Condition

BIP does not require nor solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, and therefore has no disclosure with respect to this item.
