overseeing the fund's operations and management including approval of fees for service. The Trustees, and its independent trustees, in particular, function as "watchdogs" who are responsible for looking out for the interests of the fund's shareholders. One of the most significant responsibilities of a fund's board is to negotiate and review the advisory contract between the fund and the investment adviser to the fund, including fees and expense ratios. Any conflicts of interest that are created by Gregory H. Skidmore and Brandon E. Lacoff's position on the board is mitigated by the requirement that the majority of the Board of Trustees be independent. Only the independent Trustees receive compensation. Clients may request a list of fund governed by the Collaborative Series Investment Trust Board of Trustees. See Item 9.

Belpointe's Code of Ethics requires that Belpointe always put Client interest first and when conflicts cannot be eliminated, disclose all material conflicts of interest to you. The individual Belpointe Investment Advisor Representative (IAR) you engage must always act in your best interest and your IAR should only recommend strategies, investment advisory services that he/she believes are in your best interest and are not required to utilize investment strategies, investment products or securities that directly or indirectly benefit Belpointe or its related persons. You should always discuss any questions or concerns related to specific recommendations you receive with your IAR. See Item 9

Clients can elect to exclude any fund, security or investment strategy where a material conflict of interest exists. When a client elects exclusion, it may affect the selected strategy. As a result, performance of an account can differ from the performance of other accounts without an election. To the extent a client holds a fund or security in an existing account at the time of making the election, there can be tax consequences as a result of the election. Clients should consult their own tax advisors before making this decision. In addition, there can be a period of time after making the election during which the fund remains in a client's account. See Item 9.

Item 6 - Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

A	How do you select and review portfolio managers?	Belpointe's Collaborative Investment Committee selects and reviews third party managers for inclusion in this Program. Belpointe and its related portfolio managers have an incentive to utilize related portfolio managers in this Program. Gregory Skidmore who serves as Belpointe's CIO, is the Head of the Investment Committee. All persons on the Investment Committee are related persons of Belpointe. Selection of Portfolio Managers - unrelated third-party Investment managers are selected based on their accessibility, experience, knowledge, strategy and methodology. Review of Portfolio Managers - (1) Standards Used to Calculate Investment Manager Performance - Belpointe compares portfolio manager performance to relevant benchmarks and peer groups. Generally Time Weighted Return is used to measure manager performance. GIPS compliance is not required. (2) Review of Performance Information - Belpointe reviews monthly reports showing net and gross performance of all investment strategies compared to relevant benchmarks. This performance is collected and calculated by Orion Advisor Services. Belpointe has access and the ability to alter the data contained in the monthly reports, so this is not a true independent third party report. Belpointe will periodically review the performance calculations for accuracy and will alert Orion to any discrepancies or errors. (3) Belpointe will review the Program materials for compliance with presentation standards. (4) Belpointe does not verify performance by a third party and performance information may not be calculated on a uniform and consistent basis. Past performance is no guarantee of future results and therefore Belpointe does not solely use past performance to select or remove portfolio managers in this program.
----------	---	--

B.	Do any of your related persons act as a manager for this program?	Yes. This program frequently utilizes related persons as investment managers. Related persons acting as managers receive compensation when their strategies are utilized. The compensation may vary based upon which strategy is selected. Related persons are not subject to the same review as other outside portfolio managers participating in the Program. Related persons acting as managers in the program are selected because of their affiliation with Belpointe. From an investment standpoint, they are subject to the same review as other managers in the program. The following related persons currently serve as portfolio managers in this program: David C. Nelson, Chief Strategist ("CS") of Belpointe; Herve van Caloen; John Lauroesch; Jasbeena; and Richard Tunick. Conflicts of Interest. The inclusion of Belpointe's related persons as managers presents a conflict of interest. Belpointe and its related persons acting as portfolio managers have a financial interest to recommend you utilize their strategies. You may elect not to invest with related portfolio managers. If you are seeking to invest with unrelated third party managers, you should select another program or seek other investment options available through Belpointe.
C.	Do any of your supervised persons act as portfolio managers for this program?	Yes. See Item 6, Section B.
	Performance Based Fees and Side-by-side Management	Belpointe does not charge you an additional fee based on the performance of your accounts (performance-based fees) or engage in side-by-side management. Performance-based fees are fees that are based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of a client's account. Side-by-side management refers to the practice of managing accounts that are charged performance-based fees while at the same time managing accounts that are not charged performance-based fees. Belpointe's fees are calculated as described above in Item 4 - Fees and Compensation - and are not charged on the basis of a share of capital gains upon, or capital appreciation of the funds in your account.
	Methods of Analysis	Belpointe's security analysis methods may include, fundamental analysis, quantitative analysis, technical analysis, cyclical analysis and the use of technical trading models. Fundamental Analysis - Fundamental analysis is a method of evaluating a security in an attempt to measure its intrinsic value by examining related economic, financial and other qualitative and quantitative factors. Fundamental analysts study anything that can affect the security's value, including macroeconomic factors such as the overall economy and industry conditions, and microeconomic factors such as financial conditions and company

	management. The end goal of fundamental analysis is to produce a quantitative value that an investor can compare with a security's current price, thus indicating whether the security is undervalued or overvalued. Technical Analysis - Technical analysis involves the examination of past market data rather than specific company data in determining which securities to buy/sell. Technical analysis may involve the use of various quantitative-based calculations, variation metrics and charts to identify market patterns and trends which may be based on investor sentiment rather than the fundamentals of a company. These trends may include put/call ratios, pricing trends, moving averages, volume, changes in volume, among many others. These trends, both short and long-term, are used for determining specific trade entry and exit points and broad economic analysis. Cyclical Analysis - Cyclical analysis is similar to technical analysis in that it involves the assessment of market conditions at a macro (e.g., the entire market/economy) or micro (e.g., company specific) level, rather than the overall fundamental analysis of the health of a particular company. Cyclical analysis involves the historical patterns and trends of securities, markets or economies as a whole in an effort to determine future behaviors, the estimation of price movement and an evaluation of a transaction before entry into the market in terms of risk and profit potential. Technical Trading Models - Technical trading models are mathematically driven based upon historical data and trends of domestic and foreign market trading activity, including various industry and sector trading statistics within such markets. Technical trading models attempt to identify when markets are likely to increase or decrease and identify appropriate entry and exit points. Quantitative Analysis - Quantitative analysis refers to economic, business or financial analysis that aims to understand or predict behavior or events through the use of mathematical measurements and calculations, statistical modeling and research. Quantitative analysts aim to represent a given reality in terms of a numerical value. Quantitative analysis is employed for a number of reasons, including measurement, performance evaluation or valuation of a financial instrument, and predicting real world events such as changes in a country's gross domestic product (GDP) growth rate. Passive Management - Passive management this is when investors expect a return that closely replicates the investment weighting and returns of a benchmark index and will often invest in an index fund. Multiple passive investment strategies can be combined when using passive management. For example large cap value index may be combined with small cap value index. Active Management - Active management is where the manager makes specific investments with the goal of outperforming an investment benchmark index.
--	---

What are the investment strategies that are a part of this program?	Belpointe makes available certain Multi-Manager Portfolio (“MMP”) and Single Manager Portfolios (“SMP”) investment strategies in this Program, some of which are unavailable outside of this program. These Portfolios may consist of allocations to multiple investment managers within a single account. Portfolios by default, are not tailored to accommodate the needs or objectives of specific individuals, but rather the program is designed to enable Clients to be matched with a Portfolio that is consistent with the Client’s investment goals and objectives. Upon request, Portfolios can be customized within reason to meet the objectives of specific individuals. Implementation Through Investment Products - In most cases, implementation of a Client’s investment portfolio is accomplished through investing in a range of investment products, which may include mutual funds, Exchange Traded Funds, Exchange Traded Notes, closed-end mutual funds, or separately managed accounts. Belpointe’s third-party managers may manage these investment products, or Belpointe may manage these products directly. These individual strategies and managers are available to clients outside of the program. Modern portfolio theory (MPT) Asset Allocation - is a theory on how investors can construct portfolios to optimize or maximize expected return based on a given level of market risk, emphasizing that risk is an inherent part of higher reward. According to the theory, it's possible to construct an "efficient frontier" of optimal portfolios offering the maximum possible expected return for a given level of risk. This theory was pioneered by Harry Markowitz in his paper "Portfolio Selection," published in 1952 by the Journal of Finance. Tactical Asset Allocation - Tactical Asset Allocation is about staying in harmony with market trends and countertrends. Belpointe seeks to invest in an asset once it has entered an uptrend and exit once it has entered a downtrend. Belpointe's approach involves using different methodologies - relative strength/momentum, counter-trend analysis, inter-market analysis and different time frames (daily, weekly, monthly, etc.). Tactical asset allocation is an active management strategy that allows Belpointe to seek extra value by rebalancing the percentage of assets held in various categories to take advantage of strong market sectors. Belpointe’s tactical strategies are designed with four key guiding principles: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Protect and respect client’s capital;</li> <li>• Recognize major market trends;</li> <li>• Adjust to changing market conditions.</li> </ul> Belpointe may utilize different investment strategies based upon the specific tactical strategy or strategies involved, which include long-term purchases, short-term purchases, trading and option writing. The strategies in this program include frequent trading, which can negatively affect investment performance, particularly through increased brokerage and other transaction costs and taxes. Specialized Strategies: Specialized strategies are used for situations that need

	Conflicts of Interest	In fulfilling its duties to its clients, Belpointe endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware that Belpointe may receive additional compensation from third-party money managers such as sub-advisors, separately managed accounts, mutual funds or exchange traded funds and such practice may create a conflict of interest. Belpointe's inclusion of related persons acting as portfolio managers in this program also creates a conflict of interest, as Belpointe has a financial interest to include strategies of related persons. You may elect not to be invested in strategies managed by related persons and can request information about other investment options available at Belpointe. Belpointe's receipt of additional compensation from Participating Portfolio Managers described in Item 4D "Additional Compensation" creates a conflict of interest. The additional compensation provides incentive for Belpointe's to choose a Participating Portfolio Manager over other available third-party portfolio managers who do not compensate Belpointe for such services. Clients may request a current list of Participating Portfolio Managers who provide Belpointe with additional compensation and elect not to investment in strategies of Participating Portfolio Managers. Mercator, Herve van Caloen and Collaborative Fund Services receipt of additional compensation described in Item 4C "Additional Compensation" related to services provided to MOPPX creates a conflict of interest. Belpointe will only invest client assets in MOPPX when appropriate for the client. The fees paid to Mercator, Herve van Caloen and Collaborative Fund Services are above and beyond the investment advisory fee(s), portfolio management fees, and program fees that you pay Belpointe Belpointe always act in the best interest of the client consistent with its fiduciary duties. Brandon Lacoff and Kimberley Raimondo have formed Advisor's Legal & Compliance, LLC. Advisor's Legal & Compliance may provide compliance consulting and/or legal services to other investment advisors, private funds, hedge funds, investment companies and/or investment trusts. Advisor's Legal & Compliance may provide services to investment advisors or their related parties or other entities that provide portfolio management services to this Program or make their investment strategies available in this Program or entities or persons that provide services related to investment products utilized in this program. This may present a conflict of interest as Belpointe may have an incentive to favor entities or persons who transact business with Advisor's Legal & Compliance.

Belpointe has a material financial incentive to use and recommend strategies and products governed by the Collaborative Investment Series Trust, or that utilize Belpointe's affiliated companies for administrative or legal or consulting services and/or those products or investment strategies that benefit Belpointe or its related persons. Such conflicts of interest are mitigated but not eliminated by the Investment Committee that oversees investment decisions related to the investments used by Belpointe; and our Code of Ethics as more fully described herein.

Belpointe's Code of Ethics requires that any advisor you engage always act in your best interest and your advisor should only recommend investments that he/she believes are in your best interest. Your advisor's decision should be free from conflict with respect to any recommendations it makes relating to this Program. Clients should always discuss any questions or concerns related to specific investments and/or any investment recommendations you receive with your individual advisors.

		Clients can elect to exclude any fund(s) or investment strategies where a material conflict of interest exists. When a client elects to exclude such funds, it can affect the selected strategy. As a result, performance of an account with an election can differ from the performance of other accounts without an election. To the extent a client holds a fund in an existing account at the time of making the election, there can be tax consequences as a result of the election. Clients should consult their own tax advisors before making this decision. There can be a period of time after making the election during which the fund remains in a client's account.
	Risk of Loss	Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear. Equity Securities - The major risks associated with investing in equity securities relate to the company's capitalization, quality of the company's management, quality and cost of the company's services, the company's ability to manage costs, efficiencies in the manufacturing or service delivery process, management of litigation risk and the company's ability to create shareholder value (e.g., increase the value of the company's stock price). Exchange Traded Funds - Exchange traded funds (ETFs) do not sell individual shares directly to investors and only issue their shares in large blocks. ETFs are subject to risks similar to those of stocks. Investment returns will fluctuate and are subject to market volatility, so that when shares are sold they may be worth more or less than their original cost. ETF shares are bought and sold at market price (not Net Asset Value) and are not individually redeemed from the fund. Equity Mutual Funds - The major risks associated with investing in equity mutual funds is similar to the risks associated with investing in equity securities, including market risk, which is the risk that investment returns will fluctuate and are subject to market volatility, so that an investor's shares, when redeemed or sold, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Other risks include the quality and experience of the portfolio management team and its ability to create fund value by investing in securities that have positive growth, the amount of individual company diversification, the type and amount of industry diversification and the type and amount of sector diversification within specific industries. In addition, mutual funds tend to be tax inefficient and therefore investors may pay capital gains taxes on fund investments while not having yet sold their shares in the fund. Fixed-Income Mutual Funds - In addition to the risks associated with investing in equity mutual funds, fixed-income mutual funds also carry the following risks: Credit Risk – the risk that a company or bond issuer may fail to pay principal and interest payments in a timely manner. Interest Rate Risk – the risk that the market value of the bonds will go down when interest rates rise.

		Prepayment Risk – the risk that a bond will be paid off early. Indexed Funds - Indexed Funds have the potential to be affected by “tracking error risk” which means a deviation from a stated benchmark index. Since the core of a portfolio may attempt to closely replicate a benchmark, the source of the tracking error (deviation) may come from a “sample index” that may not closely align the benchmark. In addition, while many index mutual funds are known for their potential tax efficiency and higher “qualified dividend income” (QDI) percentages, there are assets classes within these funds or holding periods that may not benefit. Shorter holding periods, as well as commodities and currencies that may be part of a fund’s portfolio, may be considered “non-qualified” under certain tax code provisions. Options -There are numerous risks associated with transactions in options on securities or securities indexes. A decision as to whether, when and how to use options involves the exercise of skill and judgment, and even a well-conceived transaction may be unsuccessful to some degree because of market behavior or unexpected events. In the case of index options, the client incurs basis risk between the performance of the underlying portfolio and the performance of the underlying index. For example, the underlying portfolio may decline in value while the underlying index may increase in value, resulting in a loss on the call option while the underlying portfolio declines as well. Alternative Investments - The performance of alternative investments (e.g., commodities, futures, hedge funds; funds of hedge funds, private equity or other types of limited partnerships) can be volatile. Alternative investments generally involve various risk factors and liquidity constraints, a complete discussion of which is set forth in the offering documents of each specific alternative investment. Due to the speculative nature of alternative investments a client must satisfy certain income or net worth standards prior to investing. Concentrated Portfolios - Concentrated portfolios are an aggressive and highly volatile approach to trading and investing. Concentrated portfolios hold fewer different stocks than a diversified portfolio and are much more likely to experience sudden dramatic price swings. In addition, the rise or drop in the price of any given holding is likely to have a larger impact on portfolio performance, than a more broadly diversified portfolio. Note that there may be other circumstances not described here that could adversely affect a client’s investment and prevent their portfolio from reaching its objective. Past performance is no indication of future results. Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear. Additional Risks - (i) Frequent Trading and Investment Performance: Belpointe’s tactical strategies are actively managed on a daily basis and frequent trading may occur. Strategies involving frequent trading of securities can affect investment performance through increased brokerage and other transaction costs and taxes. (ii) Use of Leverage: Some of the strategies can utilize levered index products. Leveraged ETFs are considered risky. The use of leverage strategies by a fund

		increases the risk to the fund and magnifies gains or losses on the investment. You could incur significant losses even if the long-term performance of the underlying index showed a gain. Most leveraged ETFs "reset" daily. Due to the effect of compounding, their performance over longer periods of time can differ significantly from the performance of their underlying index or benchmark during the same period of time. Risks Associated with Methods of Analysis - Belpointe's securities analysis methods rely on the assumption that the companies whose securities the firm purchases and sells, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information about these securities, are providing accurate and unbiased data. While the firm is alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always the risk that Belpointe's analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information. Technical Analysis - The primary risk in using technical analysis is that spotting historical trends may not help predict such trends in the future. Even if the trend will eventually recur, there is no guarantee than Belpointe will be able to accurately predict such a reoccurrence. Cyclical Analysis - The primary risk of cyclical analysis is that economic/business cycles may not be predictable and may have many fluctuations between long-term expansions and contractions. The lengths of economic cycles may be difficult to predict with accuracy and therefore, there is an attendant difficulty in predicting economic trends. Consequently, the changing value of securities that would be affected by these changing trends. Technical Trading Models - The primary risk of technical trading models is that historical trends and past performance cannot predict future trends and there is no assurance that the mathematical algorithms employed are designed properly, are updated with new data, or can accurately predict future market, industry and sector performance.
	Voting Client Securities	Belpointe has voting authority with regard to your securities and therefore we may vote proxies on your behalf. Our policy is to refrain from voting proxies because Belpointe believes the time cost of voting a proxy typically outweighs the benefits to our clients in aggregate. From time-to-time Belpointe may elect to vote proxies when Belpointe believes the benefit outweighs these costs. This may not always be in your best interest. Through the use of Client Instructions you may place restrictions on our ability to participate in proxy voting. You may elect to receive/vote proxies and receive solicitations. These will be delivered directly by your custodian to you. You will be able to make the elections yourself or ask your Advisor to help you with voting.

Your Adviser, the people Belpointe supervises, or our affiliates may take positions in the same securities as you. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, Belpointe endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by Belpointe or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence Belpointe's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.
