Educational Background and Business Experience

Edward Panfili, born 1949, began his undergraduate studies following high school graduation in 1967. Unfortunately, in 1969, he was the lucky winner of draft lottery number 10. Edward's pursuit of a college degree was preempted with military service. Because of strong math skills, Edward was able to avoid carrying a rifle during the Vietnam conflict and rather received very marketable electronics technology training while serving in the military. Two of his five children were born during his military service time and the need to provide for a growing family trumped completing a formal education. Regardless, he has completed course work for nearly three years of college credit. Since 1979, Edward has received comprehensive education and training specific to the financial services industry. The next paragraph discusses this education in detail.

Edward Panfili has been a financial services professional since 1979. His financial services training has been varied and extensive with advanced training provided by affiliations with top quality companies. Edward spent three years as an all-lines agent with the Farmers Insurance Group, where he received comprehensive casualty home, automobile and business insurance training. Being a captive casualty insurance agent severely restricted the services Edward was able to provide to his clients. Feeling the need to be able to do more, he left the casualty insurance world in 1982. Edward licensed with several life insurance companies and received extremely valuable advanced markets training related to estate and business planning. During this same time period, Edward enrolled in the comprehensive education program offered through The College for Financial Planning. Through this education, he discovered the future direction of his financial services career. The program filled in the missing gaps. Edward completed the program in 1984 and was awarded the prestigious Certified Financial Planner (CFP) designation in 1985.

The CFP Certification is administered by the CFP Board. An applicant must have 3 years of work experience to earn a CFP Certificate. After completing an approved educational process, the examination is scheduled for 10 hours over a day and a half. 30 hours of continuing education is required every two years to maintain the designation.

Disciplinary Information

There are no legal or disciplinary events to disclose.

Other Business Activities

Additional Compensation
