Item 4 Advisory Business

TLW Wealth Management, LLC (“TLW,” the “Firm”, “Us” or “We”) is an investment adviser offering investment advisory services to our clients. The Firm began offering investment advisory services in 2016 and is owned by David VerVelde and Jesse VerVelde.

We offer value driven investment management services on a discretionary basis. We trade in individual equity securities with the goal of meeting our client’s financial needs and objectives. Our services are designed for investors with a long term (5 or more years) time horizon who can tolerate the ups and downs of the financial markets. At the onset of the relationship, we will meet with you to determine your investment objectives and needs. We are always available upon client request to review your individual financial situation. If our investment philosophy is suitable for your needs and objectives, we will then recommend a course of action. It is important to note that our services are not for everyone. If our investment philosophy does not match your investment objectives and needs, you should seek advice from a different advisor. Clients may impose investment restrictions and we structure our portfolios to meet ongoing monthly cash withdrawal needs.

Our services are not offered as a wrap fee program.

As of December 31, 2018, our firm has $95,839,680 of discretionary assets under management and $28,822 of non-discretionary assets under management.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

The Firm offers managed accounts with similar management styles for a percentage of assets under management that is exclusive of transaction and custodial charges. You will be charged by the custodian of your assets for transactions in your accounts, margin fees, custodial fees, or other charges as detailed separately for you on your custodial account application.

Fee Structures for Managed Accounts

We charge an annual fee of 1.00% on the average account value for the quarter. To calculate the average daily balance, the system we use to calculate fees takes the ending balance of each day in the billing period and averages this by the number of days in the period.

Our fees are charged quarterly, in advance and are typically deducted from client accounts. In any partial calendar quarter, the management fee will be pro-rated based on the number of days that the Account was open during the quarter. Client understands that Account assets invested in shares of mutual funds or other investment companies (“funds”) will be included for the purpose of calculating the value of the Account for purposes of computing our fee and that the same assets will also be subject to other fees as set forth in the prospectus of those funds which will be paid by the funds but ultimately borne by the investor.

The total cost of each of the services provided through these programs, if purchased separately, could be more or less than the costs of each respective program. Cost factors may include your ability to obtain the services provided within the programs separately with respect to the selection of investments, invest and rebalance the selected investments without the payment of a sales charge, and obtain performance reporting comparable to those provided within each program.

When making cost comparisons, you should be aware that the combination of multiple mutual fund investments, advisory services, custodial and brokerage services available through each program may not be available separately or may require multiple accounts, documentation and fees. If an account is actively traded or if you otherwise may not qualify for reduced sales charges for fund purchases, the fees may be less expensive than separately paying the sales charges and advisory fees. If an account is not actively traded or if you otherwise would qualify for reduced sales charges, the fees in these programs may be more expensive than if utilized separately.

You may also incur charges for other account services provided by the custodian not directly related to the execution and clearing of transactions. These fees may include IRA custodial fees, safekeeping fees, interest charges on margin loans, and fees for legal or transfers of securities. Transaction costs will be paid by active clients in the instance of an unsolicited liquidation of more than three account positions within a month of each other. In any unsolicited liquidation of one or more positions by a client who is in the process of closing out their account with the Firm, client pays transaction charges.

Termination

The Investment Advisory Agreement may be terminated by either of us at any time upon providing written notice pursuant to the provisions of the Investment Advisory Agreement. There is no penalty for terminating your account. Upon termination, you will receive a refund of the portion of the prepaid asset-based fee which is not utilized. We will not accept instructions to terminate the Agreement unless you provide these instructions in writing.

We believe the charges and fees offered within each fee-based program are competitive with alternative programs available through other firms and/or investment sources. We make no guarantee that the aggregate cost of a particular program is lower than that which may be available elsewhere. We will occasionally negotiate fees with clients due to personal family relationships or the percentage of cash that the client requests to retain in their account.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

We do not charge performance-based fees.

Item 7 Types of Clients

We provide investment advice to Individuals, High Net Worth people, Trusts, and Estates.

The Firm has a minimum account value of $100,000 for TLW Portfolios and $50,000 for Teal Wing Portfolios. We may waive this based on prior relationships, anticipated other assets, or at our discretion.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Investing involves risk that you should be prepared to bear.

Our investment style has developed over 30 years. Three investors have served to guide our process: Sir John Templeton, Peter Lynch, and Warren Buffett, thus the name TLW Wealth Management, LLC. Although these well-known investors are not our clients, nor recommending us, their methodology and mindset has influenced how TLW manages money.

John Templeton believed in buying at the point of maximum pessimism and selling at the point of maximum optimism. He was the founder of Templeton Funds.

Peter Lynch believed in knowing what you own and stressed the importance of diversification. He has written many books on investing and successfully managed the Fidelity Magellan Fund.

Warren Buffett believes in buying value and holding long term. Warren is considered one of the world's greatest investors and is the founder of Berkshire Hathaway.

TLW's services are best suited for patient, value investors. We typically are buying when a stock is declining and it is not unusual to average down 2 or 3 times. When initiating a position, we may start with a quarter or half position. On the sell side, positions are pruned as they become overvalued.

In our TLW portfolios, we believe individual stock positions should not be more than 5% of the portfolio. There will be exceptions to the 5% rule...some stocks may appreciate greatly but still be undervalued. Also, for smaller accounts (under $100,000) the total number of securities held will be less. These guidelines are just guidelines and individual accounts and holdings will vary.

We also offer the Teal Wing Portfolio, which hold approximately 10 positions rather than the 25 positions the TLW Portfolios hold. The number of individual securities will vary based upon opportunities we see in the markets for our investors.

The risks of this methodology include capital loss due to incomplete research, unexpected problems at a company in which stock is held, problems in the general economy and potential trade execution problems. There are risks associated with the investments we select, including that returns are not guaranteed. There is no guarantee you will make money on a stock at any given point at time. Stock prices change often and for many reasons.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

Neither the Firm nor any of our management persons have been involved in any events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of the Firm or the integrity of its management. In this Item, these would include specific criminal or civil actions, certain administrative actions by the SEC or a regulatory authority, or certain proceedings by self-regulatory authorities.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Neither we nor any of our management persons are a broker/dealer, nor are we affiliated as registered representatives of a broker/dealer.

Neither we nor our management persons are registered nor have an application pending to register as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, a commodity trading advisor, or an associated person of the foregoing entities.

We do not recommend or select other investment advisers for our clients.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Associated persons may buy or sell for their own accounts the same securities recommended to you. Associated persons seek to ensure that they do not personally benefit from the short-term market effects of their recommendations to you and we monitor their personal trading.

Associated persons are aware of the rules regarding material non-public information and insider trading. Associated persons may also buy or sell a specific security for their own account based on personal investment considerations, which the Advisor does not deem appropriate to buy or sell for clients.

We have adopted a Code of Ethics to instruct our personnel in their ethical obligations and to provide rules for their personal securities transactions. The Firm and our personnel owe a duty of loyalty, fairness and good faith to their clients, and the obligation to adhere not only to the specific provisions of the code but also to the general principles that guide the Code. The Code covers a range of topics including general ethical principles, reporting personal securities trading, exceptions to reporting securities trading, reportable securities, initial public offerings and private placements, reporting ethical violations, distribution of the Code, review and enforcement processes, amendments to Form ADV and supervisory procedures. We will provide a copy of the Code to any client or prospective Client upon request.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

We participate in the TD Ameritrade Institutional program. TD Ameritrade Institutional is a division of TD Ameritrade, Inc. ("TDA") member FINRA/SIPC. TD Ameritrade is an independent SEC-registered broker/dealer. TD Ameritrade and TLW are separate and unaffiliated. TD Ameritrade offers services to independently registered investment advisors which include custody of securities, trade execution, and clearance and settlement of transactions. Advisor receives some benefits from TD Ameritrade through its participation in the program. We selected TDA as the broker/dealer to execute trades and custody accounts on the basis of the variety of investments available through this platform, the relatively low cost of transactions, and for the ease of doing business.

Clients may select another custodian. Not all advisers would require or suggest that you use a particular custodian. If you choose a different custodian, we may not be able to achieve the most favorable execution of transactions. It may cost you more or less money. In particular, you may pay higher brokerage commissions or receive less favorable prices.

We may combine orders into block trades when more than one account is participating in the trade. This blocking or bunching technique must be equitable and potentially advantageous for each such account. We engage in block trading when it is consistent with the duty to seek best execution and is consistent with the terms of our investment advisory agreements.

Equity trades are blocked based upon fairness to client, both in the participation of their account, and in the allocation of orders for the accounts of more than one client. Allocations of all orders are performed in a timely and efficient manner. All managed accounts participating in a block execution receive the same execution price (average share price) for the securities purchased or sold in a trading day. Any portion of an order that remains unfilled at the end of a given day will be rewritten on the following day as a new order with a new daily average price to be determined at the end of the following day.

Due to the low liquidity of certain securities, broker availability may be limited. Open orders are worked until they are completely filled, which may span the course of several days. If an order is filled in its entirety, securities purchased in the aggregated transaction will be allocated among the accounts participating in the trade in accordance with the allocation statement. If an order is partially filled, the securities will be allocated pro rata based on the allocation statement. We may allocate trades in a different manner than indicated on the allocation statement (non-pro rata) only if all managed accounts receive fair and equitable treatment.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

We continuously review the securities in every client's account. Account suitability and holdings are reviewed quarterly. David VerVelde typically reviews every account weekly.

On a quarterly basis, we provide a written report designed to summarize your investment account holdings, show deposits and withdrawals, and your investment performance. This is a supplement to the statements provided to you by your custodian and does not replace your custodial statement which you should review carefully.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As disclosed under Item 12 above, Advisor participates in TD Ameritrade's institutional customer program and Advisor may recommend TD Ameritrade to Clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between Advisor's participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its Clients, although Advisor receives economic benefits through its participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors. These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate Client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving Advisor participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to Client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from Client accounts; access to an electronic communication network for Client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discount on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided Advisor by third party vendors. TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by Advisor's related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit Advisor in managing and administering Client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help Advisor manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by Advisor or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, Advisor endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by Advisor or its related persons in and of itself creates a conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the Advisor's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

Item 15 Custody

We only have custody of client assets to the extent which allows us to withdraw quarterly fees. We request your written consent for this ability to withdraw fees from your accounts at the time you engage us as your investment adviser.

We have in place the following safeguards in line with the custody of your assets:

- Your assets will be physically held by TD Ameritrade, Inc. a registered broker/dealer and qualified custodian.
- We will send you an invoice for our advisory fees before we debit your account for the fees.
- You will receive quarterly statements or more frequent statements depending on transactions in your account, from your custodian. Those statements will show, among other things, the deduction of our advisory fee and all other disbursements from your account. You should carefully review those statements.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

We request discretionary authority to manage your account. Our services work best when we have this discretionary authority and may not be suited for persons wishing to work on a non-discretionary basis. You may place reasonable limitations (such as on the types of securities you do or do not wish to purchase, for example) by notifying us of these limitations, in writing, at the time you become a client or at any point thereafter.

In order for us to assume investment discretion you must authorize us to do so, in writing, by signing our Investment Advisory Agreement.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

We do not accept authority to vote client securities. Our clients retain that right. You will receive your proxies or other solicitations directly from your custodian. We will provide advice, upon request, to assist with any corporate actions or proxies but the ultimate decision of how to vote or act rests upon you as the security owner.

Item 18 Financial Information

We do not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance.

We do not have any financial situation that would be likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments to clients.

We have not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.
