BROCHURE

WSFS Capital Management, LLC
d/b/a West Capital Management

This Brochure provides information about the qualifications and business practices of WSFS Capital Management, LLC d/b/a West Capital Management. (“us”, “we”, “West Capital Management” or the “Firm”). If you have any questions about the contents of this brochure please call us at (215) 731-1820. The information in this brochure has not been approved or verified by the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) or by any state securities authority. West Capital Management is an SEC Registered Investment Advisor. Registration as an investment advisor does not imply a certain level of skill or training. Additional information about West Capital Management is available on the SEC’s website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov.

Item 2: Material Changes

A summary of material changes to West Capital Management's Form ADV Part 2A Brochure, are listed below. For a complete description, please refer to the relevant sections listed below

- Item 4, Item 5, Item 10, and Item 14 were updated to reflect the Co-Advisory Agreement between West Capital Management and WSFS Bank. For current co-advised clients, West Capital Management will pay WSFS Bank an amount equal to 15% of the fee collected by West Capital Management on co-advised assets under management in the account during the first four full calendar quarters immediately following the date on which the account was opened.
- Item 5 and Item 10 were also updated to reflect that West Capital Management will no longer provide clients who are invested in the LS Opportunity Fund ("LSOFX"), with an annual fee reimbursement of 45 basis points (0.45%), which is calculated monthly and paid out annually.

In addition, other factors related to conflicts of interest between West Capital Management and Long Short Advisors ("LSA") were disclosed in further detail; however, these conflicts will cease to exist as of December 1, 2019. Specifically, prior to December 1, 2019 LSA was entered into an amended expense limitation agreement, pursuant to which it waived its fees and/or reimbursed other expenses of LSOFX until September 30, 2019, so that Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses did not exceed 1.95%. This arrangement could have created an incentive for West Capital Management to allocate more of its client assets to LSOFX, which would increase the net asset value and therefore lower LSA's potential reimbursement obligations. As of December 1st 2019, West Capital Management President, Matthew West is no longer associated with West Capital Management and/or WSFS Bank and, therefore, the conflict of interest is believed to have ceased as of this date. This December 20, 2019 Form ADV Part 2A update reflects the disassociation of West Capital Management and LSA. One West Capital Management employee remains registered with LSA; the employee registered with LSA does not receive any compensation based on investments put in LSOFX.

A summary of material changes to this and subsequent brochures will be made available to you within 120 days of the close of our business' fiscal year. We may also provide you with additional updates or other disclosure information at other times during the year in the event of a material change in our business.

You may request the most recent version of this brochure, free of charge by contacting us via email at info@westcapital.com or calling us at 215-731-1820. Additional information about the Firm is also available via the SEC's website, www.adviserinfo.sec.gov. The SEC's website also provides information about any persons affiliated with West Capital Management, who are registered, or are required to be registered, as investment adviser representatives of West Capital Management.

Item 4: Advisory Business

West Capital Management was formed in 2016 to offer a variety of investment advisory services, including financial planning and investment management. It is a wholly-owned subsidiary of WSFS Financial Corporation (“WSFS”). WSFS is a publicly-held bank holding company. Wilmington Savings Fund Society, F.S.B. (“WSFS Bank”), Christiana Trust Company of Delaware, WSFS Wealth Management, LLC D/B/A Powdermill Financial Solutions, LLC (“Powdermill”), and Cypress Capital Management, LLC (“Cypress”) are wholly owned subsidiaries of WSFS. Cypress is an SEC Registered Investment Advisor; its management and operations are separate from those of West Capital Management.

West Capital Management provides financial planning, consulting, and investment management services. The firm works with its clients to develop a wealth plan that is customized to the clients’ goals and investment objectives. Prior to engaging West Capital Management to provide investment advisory services, the client is required to enter into a written agreement with West Capital Management setting forth the terms and conditions under which West Capital Management renders its services (the “Agreement”).

To perform these services, West Capital Management gathers and relies on information from the client. West Capital Management will not undertake to verify any information received from the client or the client’s agents or representatives (including accountants, attorneys, tax preparers, etc.). Clients must agree that West Capital Management is entitled to rely on all such information in connection with the provision of its services.

As of the close of business on December 31, 2018, West Capital Management had regulatory assets under management of $716,094,014.21, of which $715,400,923.33 were managed on a discretionary basis and $693,090.88 were managed on a non-discretionary basis.

Co-Advisory Relationship with WSFS Bank

On January 25, 2019, we entered into a co-advisory relationship with our affiliate, WSFS Bank, under which WSFS Bank may determine to recommend that a prospective advisory client enter into a tri-party investment advisory agreement among WSFS Bank, us and the client. In this arrangement, WSFS Bank provides certain non-discretionary advisory and other services to the co-advised client, and we provide ongoing discretionary advisory services to the client. More specifically, WSFS Bank conducts an assessment of a prospective client's needs to determine whether professional money management services are appropriate for clients, and whether West Capital Management would be an appropriate adviser for prospective advisory clients.

At the onset of the relationship, the potential co-advised client will receive and sign a disclosure statement. The disclosure statement describes the terms of compensation WSFS Bank will receive, acknowledges and receipt and review of Form ADV Part 2A and 2B, and acknowledgement and receipt and review of West Capital Management's and WSFS's privacy policy. WSFS Bank is required to complete an assessment of each co-advised client. In addition, each co-advised client is required to enter into a tri-party Investment Advisory Agreement with WSFS Bank and us. Under this agreement, we are responsible for investing and reinvesting the client's assets, on a discretionary basis. Co-advised clients are permitted to impose reasonable restrictions on the management of their advisory accounts. In addition, co-advised clients are responsible for informing West Capital Management when changes occur in a client's personal or financial circumstances that may have a bearing on the manner in which assets are invested. WSFS Bank, 90 days from acceptance of the Investment Advisory Agreement and relevant disclosures and at least annually, is responsible for attempting to contact co-advised clients to discuss a client's satisfaction with, and the suitability of, the services provided by us.

Investment Management Services

Clients can engage West Capital Management to manage all or a portion of their assets on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. As part of these services, West Capital Management may provide its clients with certain financial planning or consulting services. These financial planning and consulting services may include, among other things, estate planning, retirement planning, investments, education, and cash flow needs of the client.

As detailed in Item 8, the firm allocates clients' investment management assets among Independent Managers (as defined below) and various investment strategies in accordance with the investment objectives of the client. However, West Capital Management may provide advice about any type of investment held in clients' portfolios. In addition, West Capital Management may recommend that clients who are "accredited investors" as defined under Rule 501 of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, invest in private placement securities, which may include debt, equity, and/or pooled investment vehicles when consistent with the clients' investment objectives.

West Capital Management tailors its advisory services to the individual needs of clients. As detailed in Item 8, West Capital Management consults with clients initially and on an ongoing basis to develop an investment policy statement which determines risk tolerance, time horizon and other factors that may impact the clients' investment needs. West Capital Management ensures that clients' investments are suitable for their investment needs, goals, objectives and risk tolerance.

Clients are advised to notify West Capital Management promptly if there are changes in their financial situation or investment objectives or if they wish to impose any reasonable restrictions upon West Capital Management's management services. Clients may impose reasonable restrictions or mandates on the management of their account if, in West Capital Management's sole discretion, the conditions will not materially impact the performance of a portfolio strategy or prove overly burdensome to its management efforts.

Use of Independent Managers

As mentioned above, West Capital Management may recommend that clients authorize the active discretionary management of a portion of their assets by and/or among certain independent investment managers ("Independent Managers"), based upon the stated investment objectives of the client. The terms and conditions under which the client engages the Independent Managers are set forth in a separate written agreement between West Capital Management or the client and the designated Independent Managers. West Capital Management provides the service of selecting the Independent Managers. West Capital Management also monitors and reviews the account performance and the client's investment objectives. West Capital Management receives an annual advisory fee which is based upon a percentage of the market value of the assets being managed by the designated Independent Managers.

When selecting an Independent Manager for a client, West Capital Management reviews information about the Independent Manager such as its disclosure brochure and/or material supplied by the Independent Manager or independent third parties for a description of the Independent Manager's investment strategies, past performance and risk results to the extent available. Factors that West Capital Management considers in recommending an Independent Manager include:

- Ability to articulate a clear and readily understandable investment process
- Manager transparency – investor communication
- Manager personal assets should be invested alongside clients
- There is a definable, demonstrable “edge” in the investment process
- Outside investment professionals think highly of the manager’s capabilities
- The integrity, experience, and skill of the manager can be verified through independent reference checks
- Manager has built an operational infrastructure sufficient for anticipated assets
- Appropriate fee structure for the strategy
- Experience of team
- Key portfolio managers have experience that is consistent with their effort to manage a portfolio
- Performance
- Financial strength
- Reporting

Factors that West Capital Management considers in terminating a relationship with an Independent Manager include:

- Investment professional turnover
- Asset growth leads to diminished capability in executing strategy
- Chasing opportunities outside of their circle of competence
- Loss of focus – undertaking too many other strategies, change of ownership, etc.
- Unexplainable performance or change in risk level of portfolio
- Departure from stated investment process
- Manager unable to satisfactorily defend investment decisions

The investment management fees charged by the designated Independent Managers, together with the fees charged by the corresponding designated broker-dealer/custodian of the client’s assets, is exclusive of, and in addition to, West Capital Management’s investment advisory fee set forth below. The client may incur additional fees beyond those charged by West Capital Management, the designated Independent Managers, and corresponding broker-dealer and custodian.

In addition to West Capital Management's written disclosure brochure, the client also receives the written disclosure brochure of the designated Independent Managers. Certain Independent Managers may impose more restrictive account requirements and varying billing practices than West Capital Management. In such instances, West Capital Management may alter its corresponding account requirements and/or billing practices to accommodate those of the Independent Managers.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

West Capital Management offers its services on a fee basis, which is generally based upon assets under management. All fees charged by West Capital Management are subject to negotiation.

Investment Management Fees

West Capital Management generally provides investment management services for an annual fee based upon a percentage of the market value of the assets being managed by West Capital Management. Any financial planning or consulting services provided are included as part of this fee. The firm's annual fee is exclusive of, and in addition to brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which are incurred by the client. West Capital Management does not, however, receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs. West Capital Management's annual fee is prorated and charged quarterly, in advance, based upon the market value of the assets being managed by West Capital Management on the last day of the previous quarter. The annual fee varies (between 0.20% and 1.00%) depending upon the market value of the assets under management and the type of investment management to be rendered, as follows:

PORTFOLIO VALUE	BASE FEE
First $1,000,000	1.00%
Next $2,000,000	0.90%
Next $2,000,000	0.80%
Next $5,000,000	0.70%
Next $10,000,000	0.50%
Next $10,000,000	0.40%
Next $20,000,000	0.30%

Assets over $50,000,000 0.20%

In limited circumstances, West Capital Management provides investment management services for a flat fee.

West Capital Management, in its sole discretion, can negotiate to charge a lesser management fee based upon certain criteria (i.e., anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client, account retention, pro bono activities, etc.).

Fees Charged by Financial Institutions

As further discussed in response to Item 12 (below), West Capital Management predominantly utilizes the brokerage and clearing services of Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services (“Fidelity”), Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (“Schwab”), or TD Ameritrade Institutional, a division of TD Ameritrade, Inc. (“TD Ameritrade”) for investment management accounts.

West Capital Management may only implement its investment management recommendations after the client has arranged for and furnished West Capital Management with all information and authorization regarding accounts with appropriate financial institutions. Financial institutions include, but are not limited to, Fidelity, Schwab, TD Ameritrade, or any other broker-dealer recommended by West Capital Management, broker-dealer directed by the client, trust companies, banks etc. (collectively referred to herein as the “Financial Institutions”). Clients may incur certain charges imposed by the Financial Institutions and other third parties such as fees charged by Independent Managers, custodial fees, charges imposed directly by a mutual fund or exchange-traded fund (“ETF”) in the account, which are disclosed in the fund’s prospectus (e.g., fund management fees and other fund expenses), short-term redemption fees, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Additionally, for assets outside of any wrap fee programs, clients may incur brokerage commissions and transaction fees. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to West Capital Management’s fee.

West Capital Management's Agreement and the separate agreement with any Financial Institutions authorize West Capital Management or Independent Managers to debit the client's account for the amount of West Capital Management's fee and to directly remit that management fee to West Capital Management or the Independent Managers. Any Financial Institutions recommended by West Capital Management have agreed to send a statement to the client, at least quarterly, indicating all amounts disbursed from the account including the amount of management fees paid directly to West Capital Management. Alternatively, in limited circumstances clients may elect to have West Capital Management send an invoice for payment.

Fees for Management During Partial Quarters of Service

For the initial period of investment management services, the fees are calculated on a pro rata basis. The Agreement between West Capital Management and the client will continue in effect until terminated by either party pursuant to written notice and the other terms of the Agreement. West Capital Management's fees are prorated through the date of termination and any remaining balance is charged or refunded to the client, as appropriate.

Clients may make additions to and withdrawals from their account at any time, subject to West Capital Management's right to terminate an account. Additions may be in cash or securities provided that West Capital Management reserves the right to liquidate any transferred securities or decline to accept particular securities into a client's account. Clients may withdraw account assets on notice to West Capital Management, subject to the usual and customary securities settlement procedures. However, West Capital Management designs its portfolios as long-term investments and the withdrawal of assets may impair the achievement of a client's investment objectives. West Capital Management may consult with its clients about the options and ramifications of transferring securities. However, clients are advised that when transferred securities are liquidated, they are subject to transaction fees, fees assessed at the mutual fund level (i.e. contingent deferred sales charge) and/or tax ramifications. If assets are deposited into or withdrawn from an account after the inception of a quarter, the fee payable with respect to such assets will not be adjusted or prorated based on the number of days remaining in the quarter.

Co-Advisory Fees

Co-advised clients pay fees to us for the services rendered by both WSFS Bank and us under the tri-party Investment Advisory Agreement, based on the standard fee schedule described above. The client does not pay a fee directly to WSFS Bank for the services it provides under the tri-party agreement. Instead, on behalf of and as an accommodation to the co-advised client, we pay WSFS Bank for these services.

For current co-advised clients, West Capital Management will pay WSFS Bank an amount equal to 15% of the fee collected by West Capital Management on co-advised assets under management in the account during the first four full calendar quarters immediately following the date on which the account was opened. WSFS Bank will then pay the fee it receives under the tri-party agreement to WSFS Bank employees who render services to co-advised clients. In the event that the fees payable to West Capital Management by a co-advised client are delayed, reduced, or unpaid, West Capital Management's fees payable to WSFS Bank shall be similarly delayed, reduced or unpaid. If West Capital Management refunds any fees to co-advised clients, West Capital Management may deduct fees from subsequent quarterly periods in the amount of any prior fees paid to WSFS Bank that are attributable to such refunded fees, or West Capital Management may request that WSFS Bank refund previously paid fees. Any such refund shall be paid to West Capital Management by WSFS Bank within ten (10) days of any such request.

Additional Fees and Expenses

The firm does not provide brokerage services. Similarly, the firm does not sponsor or manage a wrap fee program (in which fees or charges for securities brokerage are included in the total fee charged to the client for advisory services). Thus, in addition to the advisory fees paid by clients, clients may incur charges or fees for services provided by custodians, other broker/dealers or other service providers. These additional costs may include commissions, transaction fees, custodial fees, mutual fund expenses, administrative fees, and other charges.

Money market funds, mutual funds, ETFs and certain other types of investments assess a management fee as an expense. The fund's management fees are disclosed in the fund's prospectus. Clients should be aware that they will pay these funds' investment management fees in addition to the investment advisory fees paid to the firm. The firm does not receive any portion of these additional fees or expenses.

Long Short Advisors

One of West Capital Management's personnel is also a representative of another SEC-registered investment adviser, Long Short Advisors, LLC ("LSA") (SEC File No.801-71538). Long Short Advisors, LLC, is not affiliated with West Capital Management, LLC. Long Short Advisors, LLC, acts as an investment adviser to the LS Opportunity Fund, a registered investment company (the "LSOFX"). An unaffiliated entity, Prospector Partners, LLC, acts as sub-advisor to LSOFX, and is generally responsible for the day-to-day investment decisions.

West Capital Management, in certain instances will recommend that a client purchase the LSOFX, which is managed by Long Short Advisors, LLC, which is owned by former West Capital Management President, Matthew West. The Firm recognizes that clients may elect to invest in the LSOFX independently of West Capital Management or may wish to add to their existing holdings of the LSOFX. West Capital Management does not receive any additional compensation if a client invests in the LSOFX.

Clients are under no obligation to invest in LSOFX. All clients of West Capital Management, prior to initially investing in LSOFX, are required to sign a disclosure statement which outline the conflicts set forth above. The disclosure statement requires the client to acknowledge they have been informed of such conflicts, read the LSOFX prospectus, and have chosen to invest in the LSOFX knowing the conflicts. In addition, through December 31, 2019, West Capital Management will provide clients who are invested in LSOFX, with an annual fee reimbursement of 45 basis points (0.45%), which is calculated monthly and paid out annually. Clients who are invested in LSOFX have been notified that starting January 1, 2020, West Capital Management will no longer provide clients who are invested in LSOFX with an annual fee reimbursement.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

The firm does not charge performance-based fees (those that are based on capital gains or capital appreciation of the client's assets).

Item 7: Types of Clients

West Capital Management provides advisory services to individuals, qualified plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations and business entities.

Minimum Account Size

As a condition for starting and maintaining a relationship, West Capital Management generally imposes a minimum portfolio size of $1,000,000. West Capital Management, in its sole discretion, may accept clients with smaller portfolios based upon certain criteria including anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client, account retention, and pro bono activities. West Capital Management only accepts clients with less than the minimum portfolio size if, in the sole opinion of West Capital Management, the smaller portfolio size will not cause a substantial increase of investment risk beyond the client's identified risk tolerance. West Capital Management may, at its discretion, aggregate the portfolios of family members to meet the minimum portfolio size.

Additionally, certain Independent Managers may impose more restrictive account requirements and varying billing practices than West Capital Management. In such instances, West Capital Management may alter its corresponding account requirements and/or billing practices to accommodate those of the Independent Managers.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies, and Risk of Loss

Investment Strategies and Methods of Analysis

West Capital Management seeks to harmonize clients' portfolios with their financial objectives, risk tolerance, and broader personal ambitions. Clients are assigned a personal, dedicated department of professionals. This three-person "tripod" consists of an advisor, a portfolio manager, and wealth planner, all working together in an effort to help clients achieve their goals.

The firm first conducts an initial assessment with the client and develops a customized Investment Policy Statement (“IPS”). The IPS guides the firm’s investment decisions with the goal of ensuring the client’s plans stay on track. Once the clients’ goals have been defined in the IPS, the firm’s next step is to assess how well the client’s current holdings align with them. In this stage, West Capital Management has two purposes: (1) to identify hidden risks in the portfolio that exceed the client’s comfort level without providing acceptable rates of return; and (2) for each security that presents a concern, West Capital Management will take into consideration the tax efficiency of the portfolio and other factors it believes are important. West Capital Management also utilizes a Monte Carlo simulation in order to assess the probabilities that the portfolio recommended will be able to achieve the established goals and if it fails, to work with the client to prioritize. Factors include, but are not limited to, the following:

- current assets
- cash flows
- tax and capital gains rates
- retirement age
- life expectancy

With these inputs, West Capital Management’s simulation generates a set of future possible outcomes for different investment scenarios.

To implement a client’s plan, West Capital Management generally allocates assets to Independent Managers and mutual funds in accordance with the client’s investment objectives. The firm may also provide advice on any other investments held in a client’s portfolio, as necessary to implement the plan.

When using Independent Managers, the firm seeks to develop expected returns for each manager based on a complete, well-researched understanding of their investment processes and risk profiles, as well as its own expectations for the asset classes in which they invest. These expectations are driven by risk assessment (volatility and maximum drawdown), current market valuations and its own global long-term view. West Capital Management believes active managers are at the crux of portfolio construction. Each Independent Manager included in a client’s portfolio focuses on capital preservation and capital appreciation. Each Independent Manager also offers independent sources of excess return, such as long-only equities, long/short strategies, commodities, international exposure, and other securities it believes are appropriate.

The West Capital Management investment committee regularly monitors for formations of risk that may not be apparent at the individual manager level. The firm is regularly monitoring the portfolio's risk exposure and conducts rebalancing on an as-needed basis.

To enhance diversification in the client's portfolio, West Capital Management looks for a mix of active Independent Managers and opportunistic strategies that have a low correlation with each other. While these correlations are based largely on historical relationships, West Capital Management continually challenges historical assumptions and closely monitors catalysts that may change traditional correlations.

Finally, the firm seeks to find Independent Managers who invest their own personal wealth side by side with their investors, helping to boost their motivation and align their interest with the clients. West Capital Management's primary methods of analysis are fundamental with a qualitative focus. The factors that West Capital Management considers in recommending an Independent Manager are stated in Item 4.

Risks of Loss

Mutual Funds and ETFs

An investment in a mutual fund or ETF involves risk, including the loss of principal. Mutual fund and ETF shareholders are necessarily subject to the risks stemming from the individual issuers of the fund's underlying portfolio securities. Such shareholders are also liable for taxes on any fund-level capital gains, as mutual funds and ETFs are required by law to distribute capital gains in the event they sell securities for a profit that cannot be offset by a corresponding loss.

Shares of mutual funds are generally distributed and redeemed on an ongoing basis by the fund itself or a broker acting on its behalf. The trading price at which a share is transacted is equal to a fund's stated daily per share net asset value ("NAV"), plus any shareholders fees (e.g., sales loads, purchase fees, redemption fees). The per share NAV of a mutual fund is calculated at the end of each business day, although the actual NAV fluctuates with intraday changes to the market value of the fund's holdings. The trading prices of a closed-end mutual fund's shares may differ significantly from the NAV during periods of market volatility, which may, among other factors, lead to the mutual fund's shares trading at a premium or discount to NAV.

Shares of ETFs are listed on securities exchanges and transacted at negotiated prices in the secondary market. Generally, ETF shares trade at or near their most recent NAV, which is generally calculated at least once daily for indexed-based ETFs and more frequently for actively managed ETFs. However, certain inefficiencies may cause the shares to trade at a premium or discount to their pro rata NAV. There is also no guarantee that an active secondary market for such shares will develop or continue to exist. Generally, an ETF only redeems shares when aggregated as creation units (usually 50,000 shares or more).

Market Risks

The profitability of a portion of West Capital Management's recommendations may depend to a great extent upon correctly assessing the future course of price movements of stocks and bonds. There can be no assurance that West Capital Management will be able to predict those price movements accurately.

Use of Independent Managers

West Capital Management may recommend the use of Independent Managers for certain clients. West Capital Management will continue to do ongoing due diligence of such managers, but such recommendations rely, on the Independent Managers ability to successfully implement their investment strategy. In addition, West Capital Management does not have the ability to supervise the Independent Managers on a day-to-day basis other than as previously described in response to Items 4 and 8, above.

Use of Private Collective Investment Vehicles

West Capital Management may recommend the investment by certain clients in privately placed collective investment vehicles (some of which may be typically called "hedge funds"). The managers of these vehicles will have broad discretion in selecting the investments. There are few limitations on the types of securities or other financial instruments which may be traded and no requirement to diversify. The hedge funds may trade on margin or otherwise leverage positions, thereby potentially increasing the risk to the vehicle. In addition, because the vehicles are not registered as investment companies, there is an absence of regulation. There are numerous other risks in investing in these securities. The client will receive a private placement memorandum and/or other documents explaining such risks.

Management Through Similarly Managed Accounts

For certain clients, West Capital Management may manage portfolios by allocating portfolio assets among various mutual funds on a discretionary basis using one or more of its proprietary investment strategies (collectively referred to as “investment strategy”). In so doing, West Capital Management buys, sells, exchanges and/or transfers shares of mutual funds based upon the investment strategy. West Capital Management’s management using the investment strategy complies with the requirements of Rule 3a-4 of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended. Rule 3a-4 provides similarly managed accounts, such as the investment strategy, with a safe harbor from the definition of an investment company. The investment strategy may involve an above-average portfolio turnover that could negatively impact upon the net after-tax gain experienced by an individual client. Securities in the investment strategy are usually exchanged and/or transferred without regard to a client’s individual tax ramifications. Certain investment opportunities that become available to West Capital Management’s clients may be limited. For example, various mutual funds or insurance companies may limit the ability of West Capital Management to buy, sell, exchange or transfer securities consistent with its investment strategy. As further discussed in response to Item 12 (below), West Capital Management allocates investment opportunities among its clients on a fair and equitable basis.

General Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves the risk of loss which clients should be prepared to bear.

Clients should take careful note that:

Securities are Not FDIC Insured.

Securities are Not a Deposit.

Securities May Lose Value.

Securities are Not Bank Guaranteed.

Securities are Not Insured by any Federal Government Agency.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

Registered Investment Advisors are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of West Capital Management or the integrity of the firm's management. West Capital Management has not been involved in any of these disclosure items.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

WSFS Financial Corporation owns 100% of WSFS Capital Management, LLC d/b/a West Capital Management. WSFS Bank and West Capital Management are affiliated since they are both wholly-owned subsidiaries of WSFS Financial Corporation. As discussed in Item 5, we have a co-advisory arrangement with WSFS Bank, under which WSFS Bank may determine to recommend that a prospective advisory client enter into a tri-party investment advisory agreement among WSFS Bank, us and the client. In this arrangement, WSFS Bank provides certain relationship and suitability services to co-advised clients, and we provide ongoing discretionary advisory services to such clients. Because of the affiliation between WSFS Bank and West Capital Management and given the fee arrangements for co-advised clients described above, WSFS Bank and its employees have an incentive to recommend a co-advisory relationship with us to prospective clients. In addition, from time to time West Capital Management will refer clients to WSFS bank looking for mortgages or other WSFS Bank sponsored products. West Capital Management does not receive referral-based compensation for such referrals.

West Capital Management may make referrals to its affiliates or accept referrals from its affiliates, including Christiana Trust, a division of WSFS Bank, WSFS Investment Group Inc., a subsidiary of WSFS Bank, Christiana Trust Company of Delaware, a subsidiary of WSFS Financial Corporation, Cypress Capital Management, LLC, a subsidiary of WSFS Financial Corporation, and Powdermill, a subsidiary of WSFS Financial Corporation. Neither West Capital Management nor its associated persons are compensated for referring clients to affiliates.

One of West Capital Management's personnel is also a representative of another SEC-registered investment adviser, Long Short Advisors, LLC (SEC File No., 801-71538). Long Short Advisors, LLC, is not affiliated with West Capital Management, LLC. Long Short Advisors, LLC, acts as an investment adviser to the LS Opportunity Fund, a registered investment company (“LSOFX”). An unaffiliated entity, Prospector Partners, LLC, acts as sub-advisor to LSOFX, and is generally responsible for the day-to-day investment decisions.

West Capital Management, in certain instances will recommend that a client purchase LSOFX, which is managed by Long Short Advisors, LLC, which is owned by former West Capital Management President, Matthew West. The Firm recognizes that clients may elect to invest in LSOFX independently of West Capital Management or may wish to add to their existing holdings of the Fund. West Capital Management does not receive any additional compensation if a client invests in LSOFX.

Clients are under no obligation to invest in LSOFX. All clients of West Capital Management, prior to initially investing in LSOFX, are required to sign a disclosure statement which outline the conflicts set forth above. The disclosure statement requires the client to acknowledge they have been informed of such conflicts, read the LSOFX prospectus, and have chosen to invest in the LSOFX knowing the conflicts. In addition, through December 31, 2019, West Capital Management will provide clients who are invested in LSOFX, with an annual fee reimbursement of 45 basis points (0.45%), which is calculated monthly and paid out annually. Clients invested in LSOFX have been notified that starting January 1, 2020, West Capital Management will no longer provide clients who are invested in LSOFX with an annual fee reimbursement.

Item 11: Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

West Capital Management and persons associated with West Capital Management (“Associated Persons”) are permitted to buy or sell securities that it also recommends to clients, consistent with West Capital Management’s policies and procedures. West Capital Management has adopted a code of ethics that sets forth the standards of conduct expected of its associated persons and requires compliance with applicable securities laws (“Code of Ethics”). In accordance with Section 204A of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the “Advisers Act”), its Code of Ethics contains written policies reasonably designed to prevent the unlawful use of material non-public information by West Capital Management or any of its associated persons. The Code of Ethics also requires that certain of West Capital Management’s personnel (called “Access Persons”) report their personal securities holdings and transactions and obtain pre-approval of certain investments such as stocks, initial public offerings and limited offerings.

Unless specifically permitted in West Capital Management’s Code of Ethics, none of West Capital Management’s Access Persons may effect for themselves or for their immediate family (i.e., spouse, minor children, and adults living in the same household as the Access Person) any transactions in a security which is being actively purchased or sold, or is being considered for purchase or sale, on behalf of any of West Capital Management’s clients.

When West Capital Management is purchasing or considering for purchase any security on behalf of a client, no Access Person may affect a transaction in that security prior to the completion of the purchase or until a decision has been made not to purchase such security. Similarly, when West Capital Management is selling or considering the sale of any security on behalf of a client, no Access Person may affect a transaction in that security prior to the completion of the sale or until a decision has been made not to sell such security. These requirements are not applicable to: (i) direct obligations of the Government of the United States; (ii) money market instruments, bankers’ acceptances, bank certificates of deposit, commercial paper, repurchase agreements and other high quality short-term debt instruments, including repurchase agreements; (iii) shares issued by mutual funds or money market funds; and (iv) shares issued by unit investment trusts that are invested exclusively in one or more mutual funds.

As discussed above in response to Items 5 and 10, certain registered investment adviser representatives of West Capital Management are registered representatives of Long Short Advisors, LLC, which is the investment adviser to the LS Fund, a mutual fund.

Clients and prospective clients may contact West Capital Management to request a copy of its Code of Ethics.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

As discussed above, in Item 5, West Capital Management generally uses the brokerage and clearing services of Fidelity, Schwab or TD Ameritrade. Factors which West Capital Management considers in recommending Fidelity, Schwab, TD Ameritrade or any other broker-dealer to clients include their financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, research and service. Use of Fidelity, Schwab, and TD Ameritrade enables West Capital Management to obtain many mutual funds without transaction charges and other securities at nominal transaction charges. The commissions and/or transaction fees charged by Fidelity, Schwab, and TD Ameritrade may be higher or lower than those charged by other Financial Institutions. The commissions paid by West Capital Management's clients comply with West Capital Management's duty to obtain "best execution." Clients may pay commissions that are higher than another qualified Financial Institution might charge to affect the same transaction where West Capital Management determines that the commissions are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a Financial Institution's services, including among others, the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. West Capital Management seeks competitive rates but may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client transactions.

Transactions may be cleared through other Financial Institutions with whom West Capital Management and the Financial Institutions have entered into agreements for prime brokerage clearing services. West Capital Management periodically and systematically reviews its policies and procedures regarding its recommendation of Financial Institutions considering its duty to obtain best execution.

The client may direct West Capital Management in writing to use a particular Financial Institution to execute some or all transactions for the client. In that case, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with that Financial Institution, and West Capital Management will not seek better execution services or prices from other Financial Institutions or be able to "batch" client transactions for execution through other Financial Institutions with orders for other accounts managed by West Capital Management (as described below). As a result, the client may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case. Subject to its duty of best execution, West Capital Management may decline a client's request to direct brokerage if, in West Capital Management's sole discretion, such directed brokerage arrangements would result in additional operational difficulties.

Transactions for each client generally will be affected independently, unless West Capital Management decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. West Capital Management may (but is not obligated to) combine or "batch" such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among West Capital Management's client's differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will generally be averaged as to price and allocated among West Capital Management's clients pro rata to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client on any given day.

To the extent that West Capital Management determines to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which West Capital Management's Supervised Persons may invest, West Capital Management does so in accordance with applicable rules promulgated under the Advisers Act and no-action guidance provided by the staff of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. West Capital Management does not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of the aggregation. If West Capital Management determines that a pro rata allocation is not appropriate under the particular circumstances, the allocation will be made based upon other relevant factors, which may include: (i) when only a small percentage of the order is executed, shares may be allocated to the account with the smallest order or the smallest position or to an account that is out of line with respect to security or sector weightings relative to other portfolios, with similar mandates; (ii) allocations may be given to one account when one account has limitations in its investment guidelines which prohibit it from purchasing other securities which are expected to produce similar investment results and can be purchased by other accounts; (iii) if an account reaches an investment guideline limit and cannot participate in an allocation, shares may be reallocated to other accounts (this may be due to unforeseen changes in an account's assets after an order is placed); (iv) with respect to sale allocations, allocations may be given to accounts low in cash; (v) in cases when a pro rata allocation of a potential execution would result in a de minimis allocation in one or more accounts, West Capital Management may exclude the account(s) from the allocation; the transactions may be executed on a pro rata basis among the remaining accounts; or (vi) in cases where a small proportion of an order is executed in all accounts, shares may be allocated to one or more accounts on a random basis.

Consistent with obtaining best execution, brokerage transactions may be directed to certain broker dealers in return for investment research products and/or services which assist West Capital Management in its investment decision-making process. Research generally will be used to service all West Capital Management's clients, but brokerage commissions paid by one client may be used to pay for research that is not used in managing that client's portfolio. The receipt of investment research products and/or services as well as the allocation of the benefit of such investment research products and/or services poses a conflict of interest because it may influence West Capital Management's choice of broker-dealer over another broker-dealer that does not provide the same research and/or services.

Software and Support Provided by Financial Institutions

West Capital Management may receive from Fidelity, Schwab, or TD Ameritrade, without cost to West Capital Management, computer software and related systems support, including: receipt of duplicate client confirmations and bundled duplicate statements; access to a trading desk that exclusively services its participants; access to block trading which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts; and access to an electronic communication network for client order entry and account information. These services allow West Capital Management to monitor client accounts maintained at Fidelity, Schwab or TD Ameritrade. West Capital Management may receive the software and related support without cost because West Capital Management renders investment management services to clients that maintain assets at Fidelity, Schwab, or TD Ameritrade. The software and support is not provided in connection with securities transactions of clients and is not paid for with client funds (i.e. not "soft dollars"). In addition, Fidelity may provide us with certain technology platforms and related trading and account management services at reduced costs. These products and services provide clients with an online Client Portal that enables them to view their investment objectives, risk tolerance parameters, investment strategies, and portfolios.

The software and related systems support provided by the Financial Institutions may benefit West Capital Management, but not its clients directly. The Financial Institutions may offer us other services intended to assist us in the management and further development of our business, including educational conferences and events, consulting on technology, compliance, legal and business needs, and access to providers of services we may need. In fulfilling its duties to its clients, West Capital Management endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that West Capital Management's receipt of economic benefits from a broker-dealer creates a conflict of interest since these benefits may influence West Capital Management's choice of broker-dealer over another broker-dealer that does not furnish similar software, systems support, or services.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

For those clients to whom West Capital Management provides investment management services, West Capital Management monitors those portfolios as part of an ongoing process while regular account reviews are conducted on at least a quarterly basis. For those clients to whom West Capital Management provides financial planning and/or consulting services, reviews are conducted on an "as needed" basis. Such reviews are conducted by one of West Capital Management's investment adviser representatives. All investment advisory clients are encouraged to discuss their needs, goals, and objectives with West Capital Management and to keep West Capital Management informed of any changes thereto. West Capital Management contacts ongoing investment advisory clients at least annually to review its previous services and/or recommendations and to discuss the impact resulting from any changes in the client's financial situation and/or investment objectives.

Unless otherwise agreed upon, clients are provided with transaction confirmation notices and regular account statements directly from the broker-dealer or custodian for the client accounts. Those clients to whom West Capital Management provides investment advisory services will also receive a report from West Capital Management that may include such relevant account and/or market-related information such as an inventory of account holdings and account performance on a quarterly basis or as otherwise agreed. Clients should compare the account statements they receive from their custodian with those they receive from West Capital Management.

Those clients to whom West Capital Management provides financial planning and/or consulting services will receive reports from West Capital Management summarizing its analysis and conclusions as requested by the client or otherwise agreed to in writing by West Capital Management.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Client Referrals

Apart from the Fidelity Wealth Advisor Solutions Program described in more detail in the section below, West Capital Management does not pay referral fees to any outside firms or individuals. However, to the extent that the co-advisory services provided by WSFS Bank commence with a determination of the appropriateness of West Capital Management as an investment adviser for a prospective client, WSFS Bank could be viewed as referring clients to West Capital Management. However, WSFS Bank assumes certain investment advisory responsibilities relative to co-advised clients, and WSFS Bank is paid a fee for rendering these advisory services to co-advised clients. Although the fee calculated is a percentage of the fee paid by the co-advised client to West Capital Management, this fee arrangement has been established as a matter of convenience and accommodation to co-advised clients. Rather than having the co-advised client pay separate fees to WSFS Bank and West Capital Management for the distinct advisory services they provide to co-advised clients, such clients pay only one fee for these services and West Capital Management, on behalf of the client, pays WSFS Bank for the services it provides to the client.

Fidelity Wealth Advisor Solutions Program

West Capital Management participates in the Fidelity Wealth Advisor Solutions® Program (the “WAS Program”), through which West Capital Management receives referrals from Fidelity Personal and Workplace Advisors LLC (FPWA), a registered investment adviser and Fidelity Investments company. West Capital Management is independent and not affiliated with FPWA or any Fidelity Investments company. FPWA does not supervise or control West Capital Management, and FPWA has no responsibility or oversight for West Capital Management’s provision of investment management or other advisory services.

Under the WAS Program, FPWA acts as a solicitor for West Capital Management, and West Capital Management pays referral fees to FPWA for each referral received based on West Capital Management’s assets under management attributable to each client referred by FPWA or members of each client's household. The WAS Program is designed to help investors find an independent investment advisor, and any referral from FPWA to West Capital Management does not constitute a recommendation or endorsement by FPWA of West Capital Management's particular investment management services or strategies. More specifically, West Capital Management pays the following amounts to FPWA for referrals: the sum of (i) an annual percentage of 0.10% of any and all assets in client accounts where such assets are identified as "fixed income" assets by FPWA and (ii) an annual percentage of 0.25% of all other assets held in client accounts. In addition, West Capital Management has agreed to pay FPWA a minimum annual fee amount in connection with its participation in the WAS Program. These referral fees are paid by West Capital Management and not the client.

To receive referrals from the WAS Program, West Capital Management must meet certain minimum participation criteria, but Advisor may have been selected for participation in the WAS Program as a result of its other business relationships with FPWA and its affiliates, including Fidelity Brokerage Services, LLC ("FBS"). As a result of its participation in the WAS Program, West Capital Management may have a potential conflict of interest with respect to its decision to use certain affiliates of FPWA, including FBS, for execution, custody and clearing for certain client accounts, and Advisor may have a potential incentive to suggest the use of FBS and its affiliates to its advisory clients, whether or not those clients were referred to West Capital Management as part of the WAS Program. Under an agreement with FPWA, West Capital Management has agreed that Advisor will not charge clients more than the standard range of advisory fees disclosed in its Form ADV 2A Brochure to cover solicitation fees paid to FPWA as part of the WAS Program. Pursuant to these arrangements, West Capital Management has agreed not to solicit clients to transfer their brokerage accounts from affiliates of FPWA or establish brokerage accounts at other custodians for referred clients other than when West Capital Management's fiduciary duties would so require, and Advisor has agreed to pay FPWA a one-time fee equal to 0.75% of the assets in a client account that is transferred from FPWA's affiliates to another custodian; therefore, West Capital Management may have an incentive to suggest that referred clients and their household members maintain custody of their accounts with affiliates of FPWA. However, participation in the WAS Program does not limit West Capital Management's duty to select brokers on the basis of best execution.

Other Economic Benefit

West Capital Management may receive economic benefits from non-clients for providing advice or other advisory services to clients. This type of relationship poses a conflict of interest and any such relationship is disclosed in response to Item 12, above.

Item 15: Custody

West Capital Management does not provide custodial services for client funds or assets. All client assets are maintained by a Qualified Custodian (“QC”), a bank or broker-dealer. West Capital Management is deemed to have limited custody of client assets when it is authorized to instruct the QC to deduct advisory fees directly from client accounts. The QC maintains actual custody of client assets in a separate account for each client under that client’s name. The QCs recommended by West Capital Management have agreed to send account statements to clients at least once per quarter indicating all amounts paid to West Capital Management. The QC will send the account statements to the postal mailing address the client provides to the QC. Clients may opt to receive such statements electronically.

West Capital Management urges clients to carefully review all statements from QCs, promptly when they receive them, as they constitute the legal record of the client’s account. Clients should compare these statements with any report or performance review that West Capital Management or any Independent Managers may provide. Clients should note that performance reviews may vary from the custodial statements based on reporting dates, account procedures, and/or valuation methodologies for certain securities, such as reporting accrued interest.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

West Capital Management may be given the authority to exercise discretion on behalf of clients. West Capital Management is considered to exercise investment discretion over a client’s account if it can affect transactions for the client without first having to seek the client’s consent. West Capital Management is given this authority through a power-of-attorney included in the agreement between West Capital Management and the client. Clients may request a limitation on this authority (such as certain securities not to be bought or sold). West Capital Management may take discretion over the following activities:

- The securities to be purchased or sold;
- The amount of securities to be purchased or sold;
- When transactions are made;
- The Financial Institutions to be utilized; and
- The Independent Managers to be hired or fired.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

West Capital Management will not accept the authority to vote proxies associated with securities held in client accounts. Clients should instruct their custodial broker-dealer to provide all proxy notices and proxy-related materials directly to the client, and not to West Capital Management. Clients may call West Capital management at 215-731-1820, if they have any questions regarding the process for voting proxies.

Item 18: Financial Information

West Capital Management is a wholly owned subsidiary of WSFS Financial Corporation, a publicly traded company, the balance sheet of which is publicly available.

West Capital Management does not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, and therefore a balance sheet of West Capital Management is not required to be disclosed.

West Capital Management has no financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet contractual commitments to clients at this time and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.
