Item 4 – Services, Fees and Compensation

Keel Wealth Management, LLC (“Keel”, “adviser”, “we” or “us” is a Registered Investment Adviser with and regulated by the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”), which offers this wrap fee program to its advisory clients. All investment advice is provided by Scott Zodin. Scott Zodin is the Chief Compliance Officer (CCO), Chief Investment Officer (CIO), and sole registered investment adviser representative and employee of KWM. Pursuant to KWM’s Business Continuity Plan (BCP), in the event of the death or incapacitation of Scott Zodin, all client investments will be maintained as is at Charles Schwab & Co. or designated custodian. Should execution of the BCP become necessary, clients will be notified within five (5) business days with instructions on how to reach their custodian. At such time, clients may choose to liquidate their accounts, move them to another Investment Adviser, or change custodian.

We are committed to the precept that by placing the client’s interests first, we will add value to the asset management process and earn the client’s trust and respect. We value long term relationships with our clients whom we regard as strategic partners in our business.

Wrap Fee Program

We provide asset management services to high net worth individuals through the KWM Wrap Fee Program. This wrap fee program allows us to offer services that bundle or “wrap” services (investment advice, trade execution, custody, etc.) together and charge a single fee based on the value of assets under management. Please note that KWM only provides discretionary, active portfolio management through the KWM Wrap Fee Program. In some cases, wrap fee programs can be more expensive to the client. Based on our knowledge of the industry, we feel that our fee is lower than most registered investment advisers providing services through both wrap and non-wrap fee programs.

Tailored Advisory Services

We will meet with you to discuss your financial circumstances, investment goals and objectives, and to determine your risk tolerance. We will ask you to provide statements summarizing current investments, income and other earnings, recent tax returns, retirement plan information, other assets and liabilities, wills and trusts, insurance policies, and other pertinent information.

Based on the information you share with us, we will analyze holistically your goals, risk tolerance, liquidity needs, estate integrity, and design a tailored portfolio to meet your needs.

Additionally, we will:

- Monitor and track assets under management
- Advise on asset selection
- Determine market divisions through asset allocation models
- Assist you in setting and monitoring goals and objectives
- Provide personal consultations as necessary upon your request or as needed.

You must notify us promptly when your financial situation, goals, objectives, personal circumstances, or needs change.

You shall have the ability to impose reasonable restrictions on the management of your account, including the ability to instruct us not to purchase certain mutual funds, stocks or other securities. These restrictions may be a specific company security, industry sector, asset class, or any other restriction you request.

Certain assumptions may be made with respect to interest and inflation rates and the use of past trends and performance of the market and economy. Past performance is not indicative of future results.

We manage assets on a both a discretionary and non-discretionary basis. If we manage your assets on a discretionary basis, that means you have given us the authority to determine the following with/without your consent:

- Securities to be bought or sold for your account
- Amount of securities to be bought or sold for your account
- Broker-dealer to be used for a purchase or sale of securities for your account
- Commission rates to be paid to a broker or dealer for your securities transaction.

If we manage your account on a non-discretionary basis, we cannot trade in your account without your express permission.

Trading may be required to meet initial allocation targets, after substantial cash deposits that require investment allocation, and/or after a request for a withdrawal that requires liquidation of a position. Additionally, your account may be rebalanced or reallocated periodically in order to reestablish the targeted percentages of your initial asset allocation. This rebalancing or reallocation will occur on the schedule we have determined together. You will be responsible for any and all tax consequences resulting from any rebalancing or reallocation of the account. We are not tax professionals and do not give tax advice. However, we will work with your tax professional to assist you with tax planning. You will have the opportunity to meet with us periodically to review the assets in your account.

We will help you open an account with a custodian. The funds in your account will generally be held in a separate account, in your name, at an independent custodian, and not with us. We recommend Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") as the independent custodian for all accounts that we manage, and at the request of the client will utilize the services of a different custodian of the client's choice.

You will also receive our Advisory Agreement which describes what services you will receive and what fees you will be charged. We are available during normal business hours either by telephone, fax, email, or in person by appointment to answer your questions.

Fees and Compensation

Our minimum account opening balance is $250,000 which may be negotiable based upon certain circumstances. The fee charged is based upon the amount of money you invest. Multiple accounts of immediately-related family members, at the same mailing address, may be considered one consolidated account for billing purposes. Fees are charged monthly, in advance. Payments are due and will be assessed on the last day of each month, based on the ending balance of the account under management for the preceding month and will be calculated as follows:

Percentage	Portfolio Size (AUM)
0.50%	$0-1,000,000
0.25%	$1,000,001+

The fees shown above are annual fees and may be negotiable based upon certain circumstances. Additionally, KWM reserves the right to waive the fees for certain accounts under its management at its discretion. No increase in the annual fee shall be effective without prior written notification to you. We believe our advisory fee is reasonable considering the fees charged by other investment advisers offering similar services/programs.

Your account at the custodian may also be charged for certain additional assets managed for you by us but not held by the custodian (i.e. variable annuities, mutual funds, 401(k)s).

The fees we charge can be deducted directly from your account at the custodian. We will instruct the custodian to deduct the fees from your account at the end of the month. This fee will show up as a deduction on your next account statement from the custodian.

If the Wrap Fee Brochure is not delivered to the Client at least 48 hours prior to entering into the management agreement, the Client may terminate the agreement for services within five business days of execution without penalty. After the five-day period, either party, upon 30 days written notice to the other, may terminate the management agreement. The management fee will be pro-rated for the month in which the cancellation notice was given and any unearned fees will be returned to the client via check.

You will authorize the custodian to directly debit fees from your account held at the custodian and to pay us. Management fees are prorated for each contribution and withdrawal made during the applicable calendar quarter (with the exception of small inconsequential contributions and withdrawals). You will be provided with a quarterly statement reflecting deduction of the advisory fees.

By participating in a wrap fee program, Clients may end up paying more or less than they would through a non-wrap fee program. The relative cost of the program includes trade execution costs that would typically be passed directly through to the Client by the executing broker. Clients could invest in debt and equities directly, without the Adviser's services. In that case, Clients would not receive the services provided by the Adviser which are designed, among other things, to assist in determining which funds are appropriate for the portfolio and the Client's Account.

In our wrap fee program we include all trade charges for your account; however, our fees do not include other related costs and expenses. You may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, and other third parties. These include custodial fees, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds, money market funds and exchange-traded funds (ETFs) also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in the fund's prospectus. These fees may include, but are not limited to, a management fee, upfront sales charges, and other fund expenses. Load and no load mutual funds may pay annual distribution charges, sometimes referred to as "12(b)(1) fees". These 12(b)(1) fees come from fund assets, and thus indirectly from clients' assets. We do not receive any compensation from these fees. We do not receive any compensation from these fees. All of these fees are in addition to the management fee you pay us. You should review all fees charged to fully understand the total amount of fees you will pay. Services similar to those offered by us may be available elsewhere for more or less than the amounts we charge.

Since the Adviser does not charge Clients fees based on trading activity, the Adviser may have an incentive to limit trading activities in Client account(s) because the Adviser is charged for executing trades. In addition, the amount of compensation received by the Adviser may be more than what the Adviser would receive if the Client paid separately ("unbundled") for investment advice, brokerage, and other services. Therefore, the Adviser may have a financial incentive to recommend the wrap fee program over other programs or services. The Adviser monitors all Client accounts to ensure that the Adviser's fiduciary duty is met for all Clients. Any breaches of the Adviser's fiduciary duty are noted and appropriate repercussions are initiated to deter such behavior.

Item 5 – Account Requirements and Types of Clients

We require an initial minimum account size opening balance of $250,000. The account size may be negotiable based upon the individual circumstances. Participation in the wrap fee program generally is initiated by submitting a completed account application, portfolio management agreement, and questionnaire.

The Adviser provides portfolio management services to high net worth individuals.

Item 6 – Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

Portfolio Managers

KWM does not act as manager to any third party sponsored wrap fee programs. The KWM Wrap Fee Program is self-sponsored and Scott Zodin is the sole registered investment adviser representative and provides portfolio management to all Client accounts for the wrap fee program.

Advisory Business

As previously stated, with respect to tailored portfolios managed through the wrap program, the Client has the ability to impose reasonable restrictions on the management of their account(s), including the ability to instruct us not to purchase certain mutual funds, stocks or other securities. These restrictions may be a specific company security, industry sector, asset class, or any other restriction requested.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

The Adviser does not charge any performance-based fees. These are fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a Client. The Adviser does not perform side-by-side management.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

We use Fundamental and Technical Analysis as part of our overall investment management discipline; the implementation of these analyses as part of our investment advisory services to you may include any, all or a combination of the following:

Fundamental Analysis

Fundamental analysis is a technique that attempts to determine a security's value by focusing on the underlying factors that affect a company's actual business and its future prospects. Fundamental analysis is about using real data to evaluate a security's value. It refers to the analysis of the economic well-being of a financial entity as opposed to only its price movements.

The end goal of performing fundamental analysis is to produce a value that we can compare with the security's current price, with the aim of figuring out what sort of position to take with that security (underpriced = buy, overpriced = sell or short).

Technical Analysis

Technical Analysis is a technique that attempts to determine a security's value by developing models and trading rules based upon price and volume transformation. Technical analysis assumes that a market's price reflects all relevant information so the analysis focuses on the history of a security's trading behavior rather than external drivers such as economic, fundamental and news events. The practice of technical analysis incorporates the importance of understanding how market participants perceive and act upon relevant information rather than focusing on the information itself. Ultimately, technical analysts develop trading models and rules by evaluating factors such as market trends, market participant behaviors, supply and demand and pricing patterns and correlations.

As with other types of analysis, the predictive nature of technical analysis can vary greatly; models and rules are often modified and updated as new patterns and behaviors develop. Past performance is not an indicator of future return.

Investment Strategies

KWM implements and builds tailored portfolios using some or all of the following investment vehicles: Exchange Traded Funds, Mutual Funds, Stocks, Bonds, and in limited cases, Options. We seek investments with low internal costs and high liquidity, but there be certain situations when implementing more aggressive strategies the internal fees may exceed the mean, and liquidity could be less than optimal. Any investment advice given to you include, but are not limited to:

KWM Prudent Navigator - seeks to capture the approximate total return of the S&P 500 with less volatility by using a tactical asset allocating strategy.

KWM Explorer is an aggressive growth strategy that seeks to outperform S&P 500 with exposure to small and mid-cap securities, global securities, and funds focused on special and unique situations.

KWM Income Navigator seeks to generate high current income using dollar-denominated, global ETFs that provide exposure to both conventional, and unconventional income producing securities used in accounts with deferred tax obligations like IRAs.

KWM Tax Advantaged Strategy – is a conservative strategy which seeks predominantly tax-free, current-income. Portfolios over $500,000 will be allocated to individual municipal bonds, and those below will own a portfolio of funds and ETFs designed to provide monthly tax-free income.

As stated earlier, we will custom tailor any portfolio to address the individual needs of our clients. If the Client wishes to place restrictions and/or customize any of the above strategies, we will work with the Client to accommodate any reasonable requests in the tailoring of any one or group of strategies. The Adviser reserves the right to determine the reasonableness of any requested modifications.

In order to perform this analysis, we use many resources, such as: Morningstar

- Financial newspapers and magazines (e.g. Wall Street Journal, Forbes, etc.)
- Annual reports, prospectuses, filings
- Company press releases and websites
- Third party research

Risk of Loss

We cannot guarantee our analysis methods will yield a return. In fact, a loss of principal is always a risk. Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear. You need to understand that investment decisions made for your account by us are subject to various market, currency, economic, political and business risks. The investment decisions we make for you will not always be profitable nor can we guarantee any level of performance.

a list of all risks associated with the strategies, products and methodology we offer are listed below:

Alternative Investment Risk

Investing in alternative investments is speculative, not suitable for all clients, and intended for experienced and sophisticated investors who are willing to bear the high economic risks of the investment, which can include:

- Loss of all or a substantial portion of the investment due to leveraging, short-selling or other speculative investment practices
- Lack of liquidity in that there may be no secondary market for the fund and none expected to develop
- Volatility of returns
- Absence of information regarding valuations and pricing
- Delays in tax reporting
- Less regulation and higher fees than mutual funds.

Bond Fund Risk

Bond funds generally have higher risks than money market funds, largely because they typically pursue strategies aimed at producing higher yields of the risks associated with bond funds include:

- Call Risk - The possibility that falling interest rates will cause a bond issuer to redeem—or call—its high-yielding bond before the bond's maturity date.
- Credit Risk — the possibility that companies or other issuers whose bonds are owned by the fund may fail to pay their debts (including the debt owed to holders of their bonds). Credit risk is less of a factor for bond funds that invest in insured bonds or U.S. Treasury bonds. By contrast, those that invest in the bonds of companies with poor credit ratings generally will be subject to higher risk.
- Interest Rate Risk — the risk that the market value of the bonds will go down when interest rates go up. Because of this, you can lose money in any bond fund, including those that invest only in insured bonds or Treasury bonds.
- Prepayment Risk — the chance that a bond will be paid off early. For example, if interest rates fall, a bond issuer may decide to pay off (or "retire") its debt and issue new bonds that pay a lower rate. When this happens, the fund may not be able to reinvest the proceeds in an investment with as high a return or yield.

Fundamental Analysis Risk

Fundamental analysis, when used in isolation, has a number of risks:

- There are an infinite number of factors that can affect the earnings of a company, and its stock price, over time. These can include economic, political and social factors, in addition to the various company statistics.
- The data used may be out of date.
- It is difficult to give appropriate weightings to the factors.
- It assumes that the analyst is competent.
- It ignores the influence of random events such as oil spills, product defects being exposed, and acts of God and so on.

Exchange Traded Fund ("ETF") Risk

Most ETFs are passively managed investment companies whose shares are purchased and sold on a securities exchange. An ETF represents a portfolio of securities designed to track a particular market segment or index. ETFs are subject to the following risks that do not apply to conventional funds:

- The market price of the ETF's shares may trade at a premium or a discount to their net asset value;
- An active trading market for an ETF's shares may not develop or be maintained; and
- There is no assurance that the requirements of the exchange necessary to maintain the listing of an ETF will continue to be met or remain unchanged

Mutual Funds Risk

The following is a list of some general risks associated with investing in mutual funds.

- Country Risk - The possibility that political events (a war, national elections), financial problems (rising inflation, government default), or natural disasters (an earthquake, a poor harvest) will weaken a country's economy and cause investments in that country to decline.
- Currency Risk -The possibility that returns could be reduced for Americans investing in foreign securities because of a rise in the value of the U.S. dollar against foreign currencies. Also called exchange-rate risk.
- Income Risk - The possibility that a fixed-income fund's dividends will decline as a result of falling overall interest rates.
- Industry Risk - The possibility that a group of stocks in a single industry will decline in price due to developments in that industry.
- Inflation Risk - The possibility that increases in the cost of living will reduce or eliminate a fund's real inflation-adjusted returns.
- Manager Risk -The possibility that an actively managed mutual fund's investment adviser will fail to execute the fund's investment strategy effectively resulting in the failure of stated objectives.
- Market Risk -The possibility that stock fund or bond fund prices overall will decline over short or even extended periods. Stock and bond markets tend to move in cycles, with periods when prices rise and other periods when prices fall.
- Principal Risk -The possibility that an investment will go down in value, or "lose money," from the original or invested amount.

Stock Fund Risk

Overall "market risk" poses the greatest potential danger for investors in stocks funds. Stock prices can fluctuate for a broad range of reasons, such as the overall strength of the economy or demand for particular products or services.

Technical Analysis risk

- Technical analysis is derived from the study of market participant behavior and its efficacy is a matter of controversy.
- Methods vary greatly and can be highly subjective; different technical analysts can sometimes make contradictory predictions from the same data.
- Models and rules can incur sufficiently high transaction costs.

Overall Risks

Clients need to remember that past performance is no guarantee of future results. All funds carry some level of risk. You may lose some or all of the money you invest, including your principal, because the securities held by a fund goes up and down in value. Dividend or interest payments may also fluctuate, or stop completely, as market conditions change.

Before you invest, be sure to read a fund's prospectus and shareholder reports to learn about its investment strategy and the potential risks. Funds with higher rates of return may take risks that are beyond your comfort level and are inconsistent with your financial goals.

While past performance does not necessarily predict future returns, it can tell you how volatile (or stable) a fund has been over a period of time. Generally, the more volatile a fund, the higher the investment risk. If you'll need your money to meet a financial goal in the near-term, you probably can't afford the risk of investing in a fund with a volatile history because you will not have enough time to ride out any declines in the stock market.

Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, we do not have any authority to and does not vote proxies on behalf of Clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in your portfolios. We are authorized to instruct the custodian to forward you copies of all proxies and shareholder communications relating to your account assets. Further, the Adviser will not be required to take any action or render any advice with respect to any securities held in the Account, which are named in or subject to class action lawsuits. The Adviser will, however, forward to the Client any information the Firm receives regarding class action legal matters involving any security held in the Account and discuss such information if the Client so desires.

Item 7 – Client Information Provided to Portfolio Managers

The Adviser has access to all Client information obtained by the Adviser with respect to the particular Client accounts that they manage. The Adviser does not provide Client information to any other portfolio managers.

Item 8 – Client Contact with Portfolio Managers

The primary point of contact for Clients with respect to this wrap fee program will be our IARs. Clients are always free to directly contact our IARs with any questions or concerns they have about their portfolios or other matters.

Item 9 – Additional Information

Disciplinary Information

Registered Investment Advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of us or the integrity of our management. We do not have any information to disclose concerning Keel or any of our IARs. We adhere to high ethical standards for all IARs and associates. We strive to do what is in your best interests.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Neither Keel nor any of its management persons are registered as a broker-dealer or registered as a representative of a broker-dealer, nor does it have any pending application to register. In addition, neither Keel nor its management persons are affiliated with any broker-dealer.

The IARs of Keel have no outside business activities and/or affiliations to disclose.

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Accounts and Personal Trading

General Information

We have adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standards of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to you, our client. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts, the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures. All of our supervised persons must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

Participation or Interest in Client Accounts

We may recommend securities to you that we have purchased for our own accounts. We may trade securities in our account that we have recommended to you as long as we place our orders after your orders. This policy is meant to prevent us from benefiting as a result of transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts.

The following acts are prohibited:

- Employing any device, scheme or artifice to defraud
- Making any untrue statement of a material fact
- Omitting to state a material fact necessary in order to make a statement, in light of the circumstances under which it is made, not misleading
- Engaging in any fraudulent or deceitful act, practice or course of business
- Engaging in any manipulative practices
- Participating in client accounts

Clients and prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting the Chief Compliance Officer.

Trading

Transactions for each client account will be effected independently. We will not combine or utilize "batch" trading to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates or to equitably allocate trades among our clients' accounts. Due to the nature in trading practices in some instances certain Clients may receive more favorable pricing over other Clients due to the timing of order entry and the method in which orders are filled.

Personal Trading

We may recommend securities to you that we will purchase for our own accounts. We may trade securities in our account that we have recommended to you as long as we place our orders after your orders. This policy is meant to prevent us from benefiting as a result of transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts.

Certain affiliated accounts may trade in the same securities with your accounts on an aggregated basis when consistent with our obligation of best execution. When trades are aggregated, all parties will share the costs in proportion to their investment. We will retain records of the trade Order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation. Completed Orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled Orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the Order.

We have established the following restrictions in order to ensure our fiduciary responsibilities regarding insider trading are met:

- No securities for our personal portfolio(s) shall be bought or sold where this decision is substantially derived, in whole or in part, from the role of IAR(s) of Keel, unless the information is also available to the investing public on reasonable inquiry. In no case, shall we put our own interests ahead of yours.

Keel Wealth Management, LLC has a personal securities transaction policy in place to monitor the personal securities transactions and securities holdings of "Access Persons". The policy requires that an Access Person of the firm provide the Chief Compliance Officer or his/her designee with a written report of their current securities holdings within ten (10) days after becoming an Access Person. Additionally, each Access Person must provide the Chief Compliance Officer or his/her designee with a written report of the Access Person's current securities holdings at least once each twelve (12) month period thereafter on a date the Adviser selects; provided, however that at any time that the Adviser has only one Access Person, he or she shall not be required to submit any securities report described above.

Conflicts of Interest

Keel Wealth Management, LLC representatives may employ the same strategy for personal investment account as they do for clients. However, orders will not be placed in a way to benefit from the purchase or sale of a security.

We act in a fiduciary capacity. If a conflict of interest arises between us and you, we shall make every effort to resolve the conflict in your favor. Conflicts of interest may also arise in the allocation of investment opportunities among the accounts that we advise. We will seek to allocate investment opportunities according to what we believe is appropriate for each account. We strive to do what is equitable and in the best interests of all the accounts we advise.

Economic Benefits

The final decision to custody assets with Schwab is at the discretion of the Adviser's clients. Keel is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Schwab. Schwab provides Keel with access to its institutional trading and custody services, which are typically not available to Schwab retail investors. These services generally are available to independent investment advisors on an unsolicited basis, at no charge to them so long as a total of at least $10 million of the advisor's clients' assets are maintained in accounts at Schwab Advisor Services.

For Keel client accounts maintained in its custody, Schwab generally does not charge separately for custody services but is compensated by account holders through commissions or other transaction-related or asset-based fees for securities trades that are executed through Schwab or that settle into Schwab accounts.

Schwab also makes available to Keel other products and services that benefit Keel but may not benefit its clients' accounts. These benefits may include national, regional or Keel specific educational events organized and/or sponsored by Schwab Advisor Services. Other potential benefits may include occasional business entertainment of personnel of Keel by Schwab Advisor Services personnel, including meals, invitations to sporting events, including golf tournaments, and other forms of entertainment, some of which may accompany educational opportunities. Other of these products and services assist Keel in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technology (and related technological training) that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts), provide research, pricing information and other market data, facilitate payment of Keel's fees from its clients' accounts, and assist with back-office training and support functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services generally may be used to service all or some substantial number of Keel's accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab Advisor Services. Schwab Advisor Services also makes available to Keel other services intended to help Keel manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include professional compliance, legal and business consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance, employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, insurance and marketing. In addition, Schwab may make available, arrange and/or pay vendors for these types of services rendered to Keel by independent third parties. Schwab Advisor Services may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to Keel. While, as a fiduciary, Keel endeavors to act in its clients' best interests, Keel's recommendation/requirement that clients maintain their assets in accounts at Schwab may be based in part on the benefit to Keel of the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and other arrangements and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by Schwab, which may create a potential conflict of interest.

Review of Accounts

Reviews will be conducted at least annually or as agreed to by us. Reviews will be conducted by our Chief Compliance Officer Scott Zodin. You may request more frequent reviews and may set thresholds for triggering events that would cause a review to take place. Generally, we will monitor for changes and shifts in the economy, changes to the management and structure of a mutual fund or company in which client assets are invested, and market shifts and corrections.

Reports

You will be provided with account statements reflecting the transactions occurring in the account on at least a quarterly basis. These statements will be written or electronic depending upon what you selected when you opened the account. You will be provided with paper confirmations for each securities transaction executed in the account. You are obligated to notify us of any discrepancies in the account(s) or any concerns you have about the account(s).

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

We do not receive any economic benefit from someone who is not a client for providing investment advice or other advisory services to our clients nor do we directly or indirectly pay any compensation to another person if they refer clients to us.

Financial Information

We do not solicit fees of more than $1200, per client, six months or more in advance. We are required to provide you with certain financial information or disclosures about our financial condition. We have no financial commitment that would impair our ability to meet any contractual and fiduciary commitments to you, our client. We have not been the subject of any bankruptcy proceedings.
