Item 2. Material Changes

This Item discusses only the material changes that have occurred since the last annual amendment update and provides clients with a summary of such changes. The material changes to the Brochure since the last annual updating amendment dated March 25 , 2021 include:

We updated Items 4 and 5 to disclose that the firm is now offering the Wrap Program on a select basis to certain clients at the discretion of management and added a fee schedule for Investment Advisory clients outside of the Wrap Program in the ADV Part 2A dated November 12, 2021.

In Item 4, we deleted disclosures relating to ERISA services.

BWC also reorganized certain information in the Wrap Brochure, deleted duplicate language where applicable, and also deleted certain disclosures that are included in BWC's Disclosure Brochure, which appears as Part 2A of the Firm's Form ADV, and are not required in the Wrap Brochure.

Item 4. Services, Fees and Compensation

The Beirne Wealth Consulting Wrap Fee Program (the “Program”) is an investment advisory program sponsored by Beirne Wealth Consulting Services, LLC (“BWC” or the “Firm”). This Brochure describes the Wrap Fee Program services of BWC as it relates to clients receiving services through the Program. Certain sections also describe the activities of the Firm’s Supervised Persons, which refer to any officers, partners, directors (or other person occupying a similar status or performing similar functions), employees, or other persons who provide investment advice on BWC’s behalf and are subject to the Firm’s supervision.

BWC offers the Program on a select basis to certain clients at the discretion of management. New clients can engage BWC to provide investment management services outside of the Program. In addition to the Program, the Firm also offers financial planning and consulting. Each of these services are offered under different arrangements than those described herein. Information about these services is contained in BWC’s Disclosure Brochure, which appears as Part 2A of the Firm’s Form ADV.

Description of the Program

The Program is offered as a wrap fee program, which provides clients with portfolio management services of BWC with the ability to trade in certain investment products without incurring separate brokerage commissions or transaction charges. A wrap fee program is considered any arrangement under which clients receive investment advisory services (which includes portfolio management or advice concerning the selection of other investment advisers) and the execution of client transactions for a specified fee or fees not based upon transactions in their accounts. BWC is the Sponsor of the Program. Essentially this Program provides clients the option of traditional investment management services of BWC vs a wrap fee program where brokerage/trading costs are included in the management fee.

Prior to receiving services through the Program, clients are required to enter into a written agreement with BWC setting forth the relevant terms and conditions of the advisory relationship (the “Agreement”). Clients must also open a new account and complete a new account agreement with Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services (“Fidelity”) or another broker-dealer BWC approves under the Program (collectively “Financial Institutions”).

At the onset of the Program, clients complete an investor profile describing their individual investment objectives, liquidity and cash flow needs, time horizon and risk tolerance, as well as, any other factors pertinent to their specific financial situations. After an analysis of the relevant information, BWC assists its clients in developing an appropriate strategy for managing their assets. Clients' investment portfolios are generally managed on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis by either BWC's investment adviser representatives or an independent investment manager (collectively "Independent Managers"), as recommended or selected by BWC. BWC and/or the Independent Managers generally allocate clients' assets among the various investment products available under the Program, as described further in Item 6 (below).

Certain of the foregoing services are also provided by BWC as a fiduciary under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA"). To the extent a client's plan is covered by ERISA, in accordance with ERISA Section 408(b)(2), each plan sponsor is provided with a written description of BWC's fiduciary status, the specific services to be rendered and all direct and indirect compensation the Firm reasonably expects under the engagement.

Depending upon the percentage wrap-fee charged by BWC, the amount of portfolio activity in the client's account, and the value of custodial and other services provided, the wrap fee may or may not exceed the aggregate cost of such services if they were to be provided separately.

Conflict of Interest. Because BWC's Program fee is inclusive of transaction fees or commissions incurred at the account level and the custodian/broker-dealer shall retain a portion of the Program fee debited from the Client's account to offset these custodial/broker-dealer fees, BWC has an economic incentive to maximize its compensation by seeking to minimize the number of trades in the client's account. However, as a fiduciary it remains BWC's duty to always act in the client's best interest. There will be times, including extensive periods, where there will be no recommendations to trade a client's account, because of each individual client's facts and circumstances, including tax reasons, and other financial decisions.

BWC's management remains available to address any questions that a client or prospective client may have regarding the corresponding conflict of interest a wrap fee arrangement creates.

Fees for Participation in the Program

Investment management services are offered through the Program on a fee basis, meaning that clients pay a single annualized fee based upon assets under management. The Firm also offers advisory services outside of the Program under different fee arrangements than those discussed below, as described in BWC's Part 2A brochure.

BWC provides investment management services through the Program according to the following tiered fee schedule, subject to negotiation:

| PORTFOLIO VALUE | ANNUAL FEE |
|--------------------|------------|
| First $1,000,000 | 1.50% |
| Next $2,000,000 | 1.30% |
| Next $2,000,000 | 1.25% |
| Next $5,000,000 | 1.10% |
| Above $10,000,000 | 1.00% |

BWC's management fee is prorated and billed quarterly in advance, as derived from the market value of the assets being managed by BWC under the Program on the last day of the previous quarter.

If assets are deposited into or withdrawn from an account after the inception of a billing period, the fee payable with respect to such assets is not adjusted or prorated to account for the change in portfolio value. For the initial term of the Program, the fee is calculated on a pro rata basis. In the event the Agreement is terminated, the fee for the final quarter is prorated through the effective date of the termination and the remaining balance is refunded to the client, as appropriate.

Fee Comparison

A portion of the advisory fees paid to BWC are used to cover the custodian and transactional costs attributed to the management of its clients' portfolios, as well as the fees charged by the Independent Managers engaged to provide services under the Program.

Services provided through the Program can cost clients more or less than purchasing these services separately. The number of transactions made in clients' accounts, as well as the fees charged for each transaction, determines the relative cost of the Program versus paying for execution on a per transaction basis and paying a separate fee for advisory services. Fees paid for the Program can also be higher or lower than fees charged by other sponsors of comparable investment advisory programs.

Fee Discretion

BWC, in its sole discretion, can negotiate to charge a lesser fee based upon certain criteria, such as the type of client, market value of the assets under management, type of services provided including the amount of resources to be utilized, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client relationship, account retention and pro bono activities. Typically, BWC will negotiate specific fees with institutional clients.

Fee Debit

The Firm's Agreement and the separate agreement with any Financial Institutions generally authorize BWC and/or the Independent Managers to debit its clients' accounts for the amount of the Program fee and to directly remit that fee to BWC or the Independent Managers. Any Financial Institutions recommended by BWC have agreed to send statements to clients not less than quarterly indicating all amounts disbursed from the account, including the amount of Program fees paid directly to BWC.

Account Additions and Withdrawals

Clients can make additions to and withdrawals from their account at any time, subject to BWC's right to terminate an account. Additions can be in cash or securities provided that the Firm reserves the right to liquidate any transferred securities or decline to accept particular securities into a client's account. Clients can withdraw account assets, subject to the usual and customary securities settlement procedures. However, BWC designs its portfolios as long-term investments, and the withdrawal of assets can impair the achievement of a client's investment objectives. BWC consults with its clients about the options and implications of transferring securities. Clients are advised that when transferred securities are liquidated, they may be subject to transaction fees, fees assessed at the mutual fund level (e.g., contingent deferred sales charge) and/or tax ramifications.

Other Charges

Clients do not incur charges imposed by third parties in addition to the Program fee, as the Program fee is inclusive of all fees. These additional charges can include fees charged by the Independent Managers, charges imposed directly by a mutual fund or exchange-traded fund ("ETF") in the account, as disclosed in the fund's prospectus (e.g., fund management fees and other fund expenses), deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions, as well as mark-ups, mark-downs or spreads paid to market makers.

Health Savings Account Management

BWC offers investment advisor services for client Health Savings Accounts ("HSAs") to assist clients in investing HSA assets among mutual fund investment options, which will be reviewed annually. BWC utilizes the Health Savings Administrators platform to provide an investment only HSA vehicle, and Health Savings Administrators comes with a collection of educational tools. BWC will be paid a negotiated flat advisory fee directly from the account.

BWC will monitor the client's account and make investment recommendations based on the client's responses to a web-based interactive questionnaire that establishes a risk profile based on client goals, objectives, time horizon and circumstances.

To be an eligible individual and qualify for an HSA, you must meet the following requirements:

- You must be covered under a high deductible health plan (HDHP), on the first day of the month;
- You have no other health coverage, except what is permitted under Other health coverage;
- You are not enrolled in Medicare; and
- You cannot be claimed as a dependent on someone else's tax return.

To cover administrative services, Health Savings Administrators will deduct the following fees from participant accounts:

- $45 annual administrative fee
- Quarterly custodial fees based on the choice of investment program

NON-PURPOSE LOANS and OPTION OVERLAY

Where clients deem beneficial and appropriate based on their risk tolerance and investment objectives, a non-purpose Loan or option overlay will be utilized as part of their investment strategy.

A non-purpose loan is a type of loan that uses an investment portfolio as loan collateral and the proceeds of which cannot be used to purchase, carry or trade securities. This type of loan allows investors access to funds without having to sell their investments for personal reasons, such as loans for education, real estate, taxes or other expenses. Such loans, using a client portfolio as collateral or use of options for leverage, has inherent high risk, are not advisable for the majority of clients, and will depend entirely on other client assets, client risk profile and appropriateness.

ERISA SERVICES:

BWC provides non-discretionary and discretionary, fiduciary and non-fiduciary advisory services within the Program to the sponsors of the defined contribution, defined benefits plan and non-qualified deferred compensation, whom have ultimate authority to direct the investing and reinvesting of plan assets as they deem appropriate, considering each plan's stated objective, liquidity needs, and stated policies and guidelines. Non-discretionary investment services provided to an ERISA plan means the ERISA plan client retains and exercises the final decision-making authority for implementing or rejecting BWC's recommendations. Discretionary investment management services provided on a discretionary basis as an ERISA 3(38) investment manager means BWC makes the investment decisions in its sole discretion without the ERISA plan client's prior approval.

Certain of the foregoing services are provided by BWC as a fiduciary under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA"). To the extent a client's plan is covered by ERISA, in accordance with ERISA Section 408(b)(2), each plan sponsor is provided with a written description of BWC's fiduciary status, the specific services to be rendered and all direct and indirect compensation BWC reasonably expects under the engagement.

When BWC provides investment advice for a fee to an ERISA plan or ERISA plan participant, it is a fiduciary under ERISA. In addition, BWC is a fiduciary under the Internal Revenue Code (the "IRC") when it provides investment advice to an ERISA plan, ERISA plan participant, an IRA or an IRA owner (collectively, a "Retirement Account Client"). The DOL significantly expanded the definition of fiduciary under ERISA and the IRC. Under this expanded definition, when an adviser recommends that a plan participant take a distribution from an ERISA plan and roll it over to an IRA advised by the adviser or recommends that an IRA owner transfer his/her IRA to an IRA advised by the adviser, the adviser is engaged in a fiduciary act that presents a conflict of interest.

As such, BWC is subject to specific duties and obligations under ERISA and the IRC that include, among other things, prohibited transaction rules which are intended to prohibit fiduciaries from acting on conflicts of interest. When a fiduciary gives advice in which it has a conflict of interest, the fiduciary must either avoid or eliminate the conflict or rely upon a prohibited transaction exemption (a "PTE").

A conflict of interest arises, and the prohibited transaction rules are implicated when 1) BWC recommends that an ERISA plan participant take a distribution from an ERISA Plan and roll it over to an IRA that BWC advises or 2) if BWC recommends that an IRA owner transfer his IRA to an IRA that BWC advises because BWC will receive compensation that it would not have received absent the recommendation – i.e., the IRA advisory fee. When BWC engages in this transaction, it relies on the PTE known as the Best Interest Contract Exemption or BICE, which requires compliance with the “impartial conduct standards.”

The impartial conduct standards are designed to mitigate conflicts of interest by requiring that investment advice be in the “best interest” of the Retirement Account Client, that advisers not make any materially misleading statements and not charge a fee that exceeds a reasonable amount. The best interest standard requires that advisers act with the care, skill, prudence and diligence under the circumstances then prevailing that a prudent person acting in a like capacity and familiar with such matters would use, based on the investment objectives, risk tolerance, financial circumstances and needs of the Retirement Account Client. This mirrors the prudent man standard of conduct and duty of loyalty found in ERISA.”

Item 5. Account Requirements and Types of Clients

As noted above, BWC no longer offers the Program to new clients. New clients can only engage BWC to provide investment management services outside of the Program as described in the BWC Disclosure Brochure, which appears as Part 2A of the Firm’s Form ADV.

Minimums

The Firm generally does not implement account minimums, but imposes a minimum fee in limited circumstances, such as legacy clients. Additionally, certain Independent Managers impose more restrictive account requirements and varying billing practices than BWC. In such instances, BWC alters its corresponding account requirements and/or billing practices to accommodate those of the Independent Managers.

Types of Clients

BWC manages assets in the Program for a variety of clients, including institutions, individuals, high net worth individuals, government, and business entities.

Item 6. Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

Clients’ investment portfolios are managed either directly by BWC or through the use of certain Independent Managers, as referenced above.

Portfolio Management

BWC manages its clients' investment portfolios on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. Clients can engage BWC to manage all or a portion of their assets.

For accounts managed through the Program, BWC primarily allocates assets among various Independent Managers, separate accounts, mutual funds, ETFs, individual debt and equity securities, and options in accordance with the investment objectives of its individual clients. In addition, when determined to be appropriate, the Firm recommends that clients who qualify as accredited investors, as defined under Rule 501 of the Securities Act of 1933, invest in private placement securities, which can include debt, equity and/or pooled investment vehicles (e.g., hedge funds). The Firm also provides advice about any type of legacy position or investment otherwise held in its clients' portfolios.

BWC tailors its advisory services to accommodate the needs of its individual clients with the objective that its clients' portfolios are managed in a manner consistent with their specific investment profiles. Clients are advised to promptly notify the Firm if there are changes in their financial situation or if they wish to place any limitations on the management of their portfolios. Clients may impose reasonable restrictions or mandates on the management of their accounts, if the Firm determines, in its sole discretion, the conditions will not materially impact the performance of a portfolio strategy or prove overly burdensome to the Firm's management efforts.

BWC manages investment portfolios through the Program in substantially the same manner as those it manages outside of the Program. Except for certain institutional clients, the Firm primarily manages its clients' investment portfolios through the Program. In return for these services, BWC receives a portion of the fees paid for participation in the Program, as described in Item 4.

Selection or Recommendation of Independent Managers

BWC evaluates various information about the Independent Managers in which it recommends or selects to manage client portfolios under the Program. The Firm generally reviews a variety of different resources, such as the Independent Managers' public disclosure documents, materials supplied by the Independent Managers themselves, and other third-party analyses it believes are reputable. To the extent possible, the Firm seeks to assess the Independent Managers' investment strategies, past performance and risk results in relation to its clients' individual portfolio allocations and risk exposures. BWC also takes into consideration each Independent Manager's management style, returns, reputation, financial strength, reporting, pricing and research capabilities, among other related factors.

BWC generally monitors the performance of those accounts being managed by Independent Managers by reviewing the account statements and trade confirmations produced by the Financial Institutions, as well as other performance information furnished by the Independent Managers and/or other third-party providers. The Firm does not verify the accuracy of any such performance information and does not ensure its compliance with presentation standards. Clients are advised that any performance information they receive from the Independent Managers will not be calculated on a uniform and consistent basis. Clients should compare all supplemental materials with the account statements they receive from their respective custodians.

The terms and conditions under which the client engages an Independent Manager are set forth in a separate written agreement between BWC or the client and the designated Independent Manager. In addition to this Brochure, the client also receives the written disclosure brochure of the designated Independent Managers engaged to manage their assets.

Side-By-Side Management

BWC does not provide any services for a performance-based fee (i.e., a fee based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of a client's assets).

Methods of Analysis

The Firm generally utilizes a combination of fundamental, technical and cyclical methods of analysis.

Fundamental analysis involves an evaluation of an issuer's fundamental financial condition and competitive position. BWC generally analyzes the financial condition, capabilities of management, earnings capacity, new products and services, as well as the company's markets and position amongst its industry competitors in order to determine the recommendations made to clients. A substantial risk in relying upon fundamental analysis is that while the overall health and position of a company may be good, market conditions can still negatively impact the security.

Technical analysis involves the examination of past market data rather than specific company information in determining the recommendations made to clients. Technical analysis involves the use of mathematical based indicators and charts, such as moving averages and price correlations, to identify market patterns and trends, which can be based on investor sentiment rather than the fundamentals of the company. A substantial risk in relying upon technical analysis is that spotting historical trends does not necessarily help to predict such trends in the future. Even if the trend will eventually reoccur, there is no guarantee that BWC will be able to accurately predict such a reoccurrence.

Cyclical analysis is similar to technical analysis in that it involves the assessment of market conditions at a macro (entire market or economy) or micro (company specific) level, rather than focusing on the overall fundamental analysis of the health of the particular company that BWC is recommending. The risks with cyclical analysis are similar to those of technical analysis.

Investment Strategies

Clients can engage the Firm to manage all or a portion of their assets on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis through the Program. The Firm provides clients with needs-based employer retirement plan investment selection consulting services as part of its overall investment management offering.

BWC primarily allocates clients' investment management assets among Independent Managers, separate accounts, mutual funds, ETFs, individual debt and equity securities and/or options in accordance with the investment objectives of the client. In addition, the Firm periodically recommends that clients who are "accredited investors" as defined under Rule 501 of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, invest in private placement securities, which can include debt, equity, and/or pooled investment vehicles when consistent with the clients' investment objectives. BWC also provides advice about any type of investment held in clients' portfolios.

The Firm tailors its advisory services to the individual needs of clients based on investment needs, goals, objectives and risk tolerance. BWC consults with clients initially and on an ongoing basis to develop an investment policy statement, which determines risk tolerance, time horizon and other factors that impact the clients' investment needs.

Clients are advised to promptly notify the Firm if there are changes in their financial situation or investment objectives or if they wish to impose any reasonable restrictions upon BWC's management services. Clients may impose reasonable restrictions or mandates on the management of their account (e.g., require that a portion of their assets be invested in socially responsible funds) if, in BWC's sole discretion, the conditions will not materially influence the performance of a portfolio strategy or prove overly burdensome to its management efforts.

Risks of Loss

General Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves the risk of loss. Clients should be prepared to bear such loss.

Mutual Funds and ETFs

An investment in a mutual fund or ETF involves risk, including the loss of principal. Mutual fund and ETF shareholders are necessarily subject to the risks stemming from the individual issuers of the fund's underlying portfolio securities. Such shareholders are also liable for taxes on any fund-level capital gains, as mutual funds and ETFs are required by law to distribute capital gains in the event, they sell securities for a profit that cannot be offset by a corresponding loss.

Shares of mutual funds are generally distributed and redeemed on an ongoing basis by the fund itself or a broker acting on its behalf. The trading price at which a share is transacted is equal to a fund's stated daily per share net asset value ("NAV"), plus any shareholders fees (e.g., sales loads, purchase fees, redemption fees). The per share NAV of a mutual fund is calculated at the end of each business day, although the actual NAV fluctuates with intraday changes to the market value of the fund's holdings. The trading prices of a mutual fund's shares can differ significantly from the NAV during periods of market volatility, which may, among other factors, lead to the mutual fund's shares trading at a premium or discount to actual NAV.

Shares of ETFs are listed on securities exchanges and transacted at negotiated prices in the secondary market. Generally, ETF shares trade at or near their most recent NAV, which is generally calculated at least once daily for indexed-based ETFs and more frequently for actively managed ETFs. However, certain inefficiencies can cause the shares to trade at a premium or discount to their pro rata NAV. There is also no guarantee that an active secondary market for such shares will develop or continue to exist. Generally, an ETF only redeems shares when aggregated as creation units (usually 50,000 shares or more). Therefore, if a liquid secondary market ceases to exist for shares of a particular ETF, a shareholder will typically have no way to dispose of such shares.

Options

Options allow investors to buy or sell a security at a contracted strike price (not necessarily the current market price) at or within a specific period of time. Clients will pay or collect a premium for buying or selling an option. Investors transact in options to either hedge against potential losses or to speculate on the performance of the underlying securities. Options transactions contain a number of inherent risks, including the partial or total loss of principal in the event that the value of the underlying security or index does not increase or decrease to the level of the respective strike price. Holders of options contracts are also subject to default by the option writer, which may be unwilling or unable to perform its contractual obligations.

Market Risks

The profitability of a significant portion of BWC's recommendations depends largely upon correctly assessing the future course of price movements of stocks and bonds. There can be no assurance that BWC will be able to predict those price movements accurately.

Market Volatility

At various time, volatile market conditions will have a dramatic effect on the value of investments. In addition, terrorist attacks, and other acts of violence or war, health epidemics or pandemics, natural hazards, and/or force majeure can affect the operations and profitability of a company. Such events also could cause consumer confidence and spending to decrease or result in increased volatility in the U.S. and worldwide financial markets and economy. Any of these occurrences could have a significant impact on the operating results and revenues of portfolio companies, and on the return of a client's investments.

Use of Independent Managers

BWC recommends the use of Independent Managers. In these situations, BWC continues to do ongoing due diligence of such managers, but such recommendations rely to a great extent on the Independent Managers' ability to successfully implement their investment strategies. In addition, BWC generally may not have the ability to supervise the Independent Managers on a day-to-day basis.

Private Offerings, Alternative Investments and Private Collective Investment Vehicles

The Firm periodically recommends the investment by certain clients in private offerings, some of which are typically referred to as "alternative investments," "hedge funds" or "private placements." These securities are privately offered and not subject to securities registration. These offerings, generally speaking, are not subject to some of the laws and regulations, such as the comprehensive disclosure requirements that apply to registered offerings. The managers of these vehicles will have broad discretion in selecting the investments. There are few limitations on the types of securities or other financial instruments, which can be traded, and no requirement to diversify. The hedge funds frequently trade on margin or otherwise leverage positions, thereby potentially increasing the risk to the vehicle. In addition, because the vehicles are not registered as investment companies, there is an absence of regulation. There are numerous other risks in investing in these securities. The client will receive a private placement memorandum and/or other documents explaining such risks.

Mutual Fund Share Classes 12b-1 Fees

Section 206 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 imposes a fiduciary duty on investment advisers to act in their clients' best interests, including an affirmative duty to disclose all conflicts of interest. A conflict of interest arises when an adviser receives compensation, (either directly or indirectly through an affiliated broker-dealer through the receipt of 12b-1 fees to the broker-dealer registered representative) for selecting a more expensive mutual fund share class for a client when a less expensive share class for the same fund is available and appropriate.

BWC as a registered investment adviser does not receive 12b-1 fees.

Cybersecurity

The computer systems, networks and devices used by BWC and service providers to us and our clients to carry out routine business operations employ a variety of protections designed to prevent damage or interruption from computer viruses, network failures, computer and telecommunication failures, infiltration by unauthorized persons and security breaches. Despite the various protections utilized, systems, networks, or devices potentially can be breached. A client could be negatively impacted as a result of a cybersecurity breach.

Cybersecurity breaches can include unauthorized access to systems, networks, or devices; infection from computer viruses or other malicious software code; and attacks that shut down, disable, slow, or otherwise disrupt operations, business processes, or website access or functionality. Cybersecurity breaches can cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses to a client; impediments to trading; the inability by us and other service providers to transact business; violations of applicable privacy and other laws; regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, or additional compliance costs; as well as the inadvertent release of confidential information.

Similar adverse consequences could result from cybersecurity breaches affecting issuers of securities in which a client invests; governmental and other regulatory authorities; exchange and other financial market operators, banks, brokers, dealers, and other financial institutions; and other parties. In addition, substantial costs are often incurred by these entities in order to prevent any cybersecurity breaches in the future.”

Item 7. Client Information Provided to Portfolio Managers

In this Item, BWC is required to describe the type and frequency of the information it communicates to the Independent Managers, if any, managing its clients' investment portfolios. Clients participating in the Program generally grant BWC the authority to discuss certain non-public information with the Independent Managers engaged to manage their accounts. Depending upon the specific arrangement, the Firm can be authorized to disclose various personal information including, without limitation: names, phone numbers, addresses, social security numbers, tax identification numbers and account numbers. BWC will also share certain information related to its clients' financial positions and investment objectives so that the Independent Managers' investment decisions remain aligned with its clients' best interests. This information is communicated on an initial and ongoing basis, or as otherwise necessary to the management of its clients' portfolios. Any changes in the client's financial situation or investment objectives reported by the client to BWC shall be communicated to the Independent Manager(s) within a reasonable period of time.

Item 8. Client Contact with Portfolio Managers

In this Item, BWC is required to describe any restrictions on clients' ability to contact and consult with the portfolio managers managing their investment portfolios.

Clients can contact BWC to discuss questions or issues when BCW is the portfolio manager.

Clients can generally contact the Independent Managers managing their portfolios through BWC by providing the Firm with a written request and identification of the questions or issues to be discussed with the Independent Managers. After receiving the client's written request, BWC, at its sole discretion, will contact the Independent Managers for the client or arrange for the Independent Managers and the client to communicate directly.

Item 9. Additional InformationA. Disciplinary Information

BWC has not been involved in any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's evaluation of its advisory business or the integrity of management.

B. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Certain of BWC's Supervised Persons are licensed insurance agents ("BWC Insurance Agents"). In certain instances, BWC Insurance Agents will introduce a client to an insurance agent who is associated with another entity and BWC Insurance Agents will process insurance business through this entity. These entities are not affiliated with BWC. In such circumstances, BWC and these entities will share commission-based revenues.

Code of Ethics

BWC and its associated persons are permitted to buy or sell securities that it also recommends to clients consistent with BWC's policies and procedures.

BWC has adopted a code of ethics that sets forth the standards of conduct expected of its Associated Persons and requires compliance with applicable securities laws (the "Code of Ethics"). In accordance with Section 204A of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act"), its Code of Ethics contains written policies reasonably designed to prevent the unlawful use of material non-public information by BWC or any of its Associated Persons. The Code of Ethics also requires that certain of BWC's personnel (called "Access Persons") report their personal securities holdings and transactions and obtain pre-approval of certain investments such as initial public offerings and limited offerings.

Unless specifically permitted in BWC's Code of Ethics, none of BWC's Access Persons are permitted to effect for themselves or for their immediate family (i.e., spouse, minor children, and adults living in the same household as the Access Person) any transactions in a security which is being actively purchased or sold, or is being considered for purchase or sale, on behalf of any of BWC's clients.

When BWC is purchasing or considering for purchase any security on behalf of a client, no Access Person is permitted to effect a transaction in that security prior to the completion of the purchase or until a decision has been made not to purchase such security for clients. Similarly, when BWC is selling or considering the sale of any security on behalf of a client, no Access Person is permitted to effect a transaction in that security prior to the completion of the sale or until a decision has been made not to sell such security. These requirements are not applicable to: (i) direct obligations of the Government of the United States; (ii) money market instruments, bankers' acceptances, bank certificates of deposit, commercial paper, repurchase agreements and other high quality short-term debt instruments, including repurchase agreements; (iii) shares issued by mutual funds or money market funds; and (iv) shares issued by unit investment trusts that are invested exclusively in one or more mutual funds.

BWC officers or employees individually invest in private offerings, which are recommended to select clients or family members, when the investment opportunity meets the risk tolerance and investment objectives of the clients. Such investments have significant risk and are not suitable investments for all clients.

Clients and prospective clients may contact BWC to request a copy of its Code of Ethics.

Account Reviews

BWC monitors its clients' investment portfolios on a continuous and ongoing basis, and conducts regular account reviews at least annually. Such reviews are conducted by one of the Firm's investment adviser representatives. All investment advisory clients are encouraged to discuss their needs, goals, and objectives with BWC and to keep BWC informed of any changes thereto. BWC contacts ongoing investment advisory clients at least annually to review its previous services and recommendations, and to discuss the impact resulting from any changes in their financial situation and/or investment objectives.

Account Statements and General Reports

Clients are provided with transaction confirmation notices and regular summary account statements directly from the Financial Institutions. Clients in the Program also receive reports from BWC that include relevant account and/or market-related information, such as an inventory of account holdings and account performance on a quarterly basis. Clients should compare any supplemental reports they receive from BWC and/or the Independent Managers with the account statements they receive from the Financial Institutions.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

BWC is required to disclose any relationship or arrangement where it receives an economic benefit from a third party (non-client) for providing advisory services. In addition, BWC is required to disclose any direct or indirect compensation that it provides for client referrals.

BWC employees receive cash compensation in addition to employee's regular salary in exchange for client referrals.

BWC will make referrals for certain professional services, other than investment advisory services, to our clients where appropriate. These professional services presently include executive compensation consulting only. Referral arrangements inherently give rise to potential conflicts of interest because we have an economic incentive to recommend these particular service providers. BWC addresses these conflicts through this disclosure. Engaging such services is at the discretion of the client. Fees are paid directly to BWC by the company referred.

Coastal Bridge Advisors ("Coastal Bridge")

Coastal Bridge and BWC have a sub-advisory agreement whereby, for certain accounts, Coastal Bridge delegates the provision of investment advisory services to BWC; and Coastal Bridge and BWC agree to split the management fees paid by such account.

BWC addresses these conflicts through this disclosure. If a client is introduced to BWC by a solicitor, BWC has agreed to pay that solicitor a referral fee in accordance with the requirements of Rule 206(4)-3 of the Advisers Act and any corresponding state securities law requirements. Any referral fees incurred for successful solicitations are paid solely from BWC's investment management fee, and do not result in any additional charge to the client. If the client is introduced to BWC by a solicitor, the solicitor is required to provide the client with a copy of BWC's written disclosure brochure, which meets the requirements of Rule 204-3 of the Advisers Act and a copy of the solicitor's disclosure statement containing the terms and conditions of the solicitation arrangement, including the compensation the solicitor is to receive.

There are no referral fees received by BWC for recommending services of other professionals, such as estate or tax professionals.

BWC has arrangements in place whereby the Firm receives an economic benefit from a third party for providing investment advice to clients participating in the Program. Specifically, the Firm receives from Fidelity or TD Ameritrade (TD, without cost to BWC, computer software and related systems support, or transition support related to investment personnel, which allow BWC to better monitor client accounts maintained at Fidelity or TD. BWC receives the software and related support without cost because the Firm renders investment management services to clients that maintain assets at Fidelity or TD. The software and related systems support benefit BWC, but not its clients directly. In fulfilling its duties to its clients, BWC endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware; however, that BWC's receipt of economic benefits from a broker-dealer creates a conflict of interest since these benefits can influence BWC's choice of broker-dealer over another broker-dealer that does not furnish similar software, systems support, or services.

Additionally, the Firm receives the following benefits from Fidelity through the Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services Group: 1) receipt of duplicate client confirmations and bundled duplicate statements; 2) access to a trading desk that exclusively services its Institutional Wealth Services Group participants; 3) access to block trading, which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts; and 4) access to an electronic communication network for client order entry and account information.

C. Financial Information

BWC is not required to disclose any financial information pursuant to this Item due to the following:

- The Firm does not require or solicit the prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees six months or more in advance;
- The Firm does not have a financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet contractual commitments to clients; and
- The Firm has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.
