Item 4. Advisory Business

RiverTree offers a variety of advisory services, including investment management services, financial planning and consulting. Prior to rendering any of the foregoing advisory services, clients are required to enter into one or more written agreements with RiverTree setting forth the relevant terms and conditions of the advisory relationship (the “Agreement”).

RiverTree was formed in January of 2013 and is wholly owned by Theodore S. Rich. As of December 31, 2021, RiverTree had $175,359,915 in assets under management, $169,328,932 of which was managed on a discretionary basis and $6,030,983 managed on a non-discretionary basis.

While this brochure generally describes the business of RiverTree, certain sections also discuss the activities of its Supervised Persons, which refers to the Firm’s officers, partners, directors (or other persons occupying a similar status or performing similar functions), employees or any other person who provides investment advice on RiverTree’s behalf and is subject to the Firm’s supervision or control.

Investment Management Services

RiverTree manages client investment portfolios on a discretionary or (in certain circumstances) non-discretionary basis. RiverTree actively allocates client assets among one or more of its proprietary investment styles. In managing each of these styles, the Firm uses a variable mix of globally diverse investment holdings, which seek to obtain asset class, sector, geographic and other exposure through exchange-traded funds (“ETFs”) and mutual funds, as well as individual securities, such as stocks and bonds.

RiverTree also may provide advice to clients regarding certain investment products which are not maintained at their primary custodians, such as assets held in their employer-sponsored retirement plans. In these situations, RiverTree directs or recommends the allocation of the client’s assets among the various investment options available with the product. These assets are maintained at the custodian designated by the employer’s provider.

RiverTree tailors its advisory services to accommodate the needs of its clients and continuously seeks to ensure its clients’ portfolios are managed in a manner consistent with their specific investment profiles. RiverTree consults with clients on an initial and ongoing basis to determine their specific risk tolerance, time horizon, liquidity constraints and other factors relevant to the management of their portfolios. Clients are advised to promptly notify RiverTree if there are changes in their financial situation or if they wish to place any limitations on the management of their portfolios. Clients may impose reasonable restrictions or mandates on the management of their accounts if RiverTree determines, in its sole discretion, that such conditions would not materially impact the performance of an investment strategy or prove overly burdensome to the Firm's management efforts.

These investment management services do not include securities brokerage services, as RiverTree does not serve as the sponsor or manager of a wrap fee program (i.e., an arrangement where brokerage trading costs and transaction costs are absorbed by the Firm).

Financial Planning and Consulting Services

In addition to investment management services, RiverTree also may offer clients a variety of financial planning and consulting services, including any or all of the following functions:

- Business Planning
- Cash Flow Forecasting
- Asset Allocation
- Retirement Planning
- Estate Planning
- Financial Reporting
- Insurance Needs Analysis
- Charitable Giving
- Risk Management
- Distribution Planning

In performing these services, RiverTree is not required to verify any information received from the client or from the client's other professionals (e.g., attorneys, accountants, etc.) and is expressly authorized to rely on such information. RiverTree may recommend its own services, and/or the services of other professionals to implement its recommendations.

Clients are advised that a conflict of interest exists if RiverTree recommends its own services. Clients are under no obligation to act upon any of the recommendations made by RiverTree under a financial planning or consulting engagement or to engage the services of any such recommended professional, including RiverTree itself. Clients retain absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions. Clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to promptly notify RiverTree if there is any change in their financial situation or investment objectives.

Item 5. Fees and Compensation

RiverTree offers its services on a fee-only basis, which is based on a percentage of assets under management for investment management relationships, and fixed and/or hourly fees for certain financial planning and consulting engagements. RiverTree does not currently have any clients on an hourly or fixed-fee basis.

RiverTree Advisors, LLC Disclosure Brochure

Investment Management Fees

For clients with at least $500,000 in assets under the Firm's management, RiverTree charges an annual asset-based fee in accordance with the following blended fee schedule:

Assets Under Management	Annual Fee
The First $1,000,000	1.20%
The Next $2,000,000	0.95%
The Next $2,000,000	0.75%
The Next $5,000,000	0.55%
The Next $10,000,000	0.35%
Over $20,000,000	0.25%

The annual fee for clients who maintain assets under management of less than $500,000 will be 1.50%. Upon assets under management exceeding $500,000 at the end of a calendar quarter, the above tiered fee schedule will apply.

RiverTree's annual fee is prorated and charged quarterly in advance, based on the market value of the assets being managed by the Firm on the last day of the previous quarter. Clients retain the ability to make account deposits or withdrawals at any time, provided that investment management fees will be adjusted to reflect inflows of more than $100,000 per quarter which occur during a billing period. RiverTree does not credit accounts for partial outflows of funds.

For the initial term of an engagement, the fee is calculated on a pro rata basis. And, in the event the Agreement is terminated, the fee for the final billing period is prorated through the effective date of the termination of the engagement, and the unearned portion is refunded to the client, as appropriate.

RiverTree's annual fee does not include trading costs, commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which are incurred by the client. RiverTree does not, however, receive any portion of these expenses, fees, and costs.

Financial Planning and Consulting Fees

RiverTree may charge a fixed fee and/or hourly fee to provide clients with stand-alone financial planning and consulting services. These fees are largely determined by the scope and complexity of the agreed-upon services and generally range from $250 to $500 on an hourly basis and from $2,500 to $25,000 on a fixed-fee basis.

The specific terms and fee structure are negotiated in advance and set forth in the Agreement with RiverTree. Generally, RiverTree requires one-half of the financial planning or consulting fee payable upon execution of the Agreement and the balance due at the time the financial plan is delivered or when the underlying services are rendered to completion. Depending on the arrangement, if the client engages RiverTree for additional investment advisory services, RiverTree may offset all or a portion of its fees for those services based upon the amount paid for the financial planning and/or consulting services.

Fee Discretion

RiverTree, in its sole discretion, may negotiate to charge a lesser fee based upon certain criteria, such as anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client relationship, account retention and pro bono activities.

Additional Fees and Expenses

In addition to the fee paid to RiverTree, clients also may incur certain charges imposed by other third parties, such as broker-dealers, custodians, trust companies, banks and other financial institutions (collectively "Financial Institutions"). These additional charges may include securities trading costs, transaction fees, custodial fees, charges imposed directly by a mutual fund or ETF held in a client's account, as disclosed in the fund's prospectus (e.g., fund management fees and other fund expenses), deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, interest costs, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. RiverTree does not share in any of part of these additional charges.

Fee Debit

The Firm's Agreement and the client's separate agreement with any Financial Institutions authorize RiverTree to debit its clients' accounts for the amount of the management fee and to directly remit that fee to RiverTree. All Financial Institutions recommended by RiverTree have agreed to send account statements to clients not less frequently than quarterly, indicating all amounts disbursed from the account, including the amount paid directly to RiverTree. Alternatively, RiverTree may, in its sole discretion and under limited circumstances, agree to send clients an invoice for direct payment.

Account Additions and Withdrawals

Clients may make additions to and withdrawals from their account(s) at any time, subject to RiverTree's right to terminate an account. Additions may be in cash or securities, provided that the Firm reserves the right to liquidate any transferred securities or decline to accept particular securities into a client's account. Clients may withdraw account assets on notice to RiverTree, subject to the usual and customary securities settlement procedures. However, RiverTree designs its portfolios as long-term investments, and the withdrawal of assets may impair the achievement of a client's investment objectives. RiverTree may consult with its clients about the alternatives and implications of transferring securities. Clients are advised that when transferred securities are liquidated, they may be subject to transaction fees, fees assessed at the mutual fund level (i.e., contingent deferred sales charge), and/or tax ramifications.

Item 6. Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

RiverTree does not provide any services for a performance-based fee (i.e., a fee based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of a client's assets).

Item 7. Types of Clients

RiverTree provides its services to individuals, high net worth individuals, trusts and estates, and business entities.

No Minimum Account Requirements

RiverTree does not impose a stated minimum fee or minimum portfolio value for opening or maintaining an investment management relationship.

Item 8. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

RiverTree utilizes a combination of fundamental and technical methods of analysis and relies on third-party research as the source for this information.

Fundamental analysis involves an evaluation of the underlying financial condition and competitive position of a particular fund or issuer. For RiverTree's research sources, this process typically involves analysis of an issuer's management team, investment strategy, style drift, past performance, reputation and financial strength in relation to the asset class concentrations and risk exposure of the Firm's asset allocation styles. A substantial risk in relying upon fundamental analysis is that while the overall health and position of a security or fund may be good, evolving market conditions may negatively impact the security.

Technical analysis involves the examination of past market data rather than specific issuer information in determining the recommendations made to clients. Technical analysis may involve the use of mathematical-based indicators and charts, such as moving averages and price correlations, to identify market patterns and trends which may be based on investor sentiment rather than the fundamentals of a particular investment. A substantial risk in relying upon technical analysis is that spotting historical trends may not help to predict such trends in the future. Even if the trend will eventually reoccur, there is no guarantee that RiverTree's research sources will be able to accurately predict such a reoccurrence.

Investment Strategies

RiverTree uses a flexible investment process which actively allocates client accounts among a customized mix of globally diversified investment holdings. The Firm uses a mixture primarily of ETFs to make up its style investment portfolios.

Inside its ETF styles, RiverTree utilizes internal and external research in an effort to identify trends and the relative strength of a wide variety of global ETFs. Holdings which exhibit strong trends and/or strong rankings are then selected for inclusion in portfolios. The trend and ranking measurements are monitored regularly and then, normally, those measurements are used to periodically reallocate holdings, usually on a quarterly basis, depending on the specific portfolio. The classes for ETF holdings include (but are not limited to) the following: Cash & Equivalents, Fixed Income, Balanced, Domestic Equity, Alternatives and International Equity.

Risks of Loss

General Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves the risk of loss. Clients should be prepared to bear potential losses.

Market Risks

The profitability of some of RiverTree's recommendations may depend upon the assessment of future price movements of a variety of investment vehicles. There can be no assurance that RiverTree's research sources will be able to predict those price movements accurately.

ETFs and Mutual Funds

Shares of ETFs are listed on securities exchanges and are transacted at negotiated prices in the secondary market. ETF shares trade at or near their most recent net asset value ("NAV"), which is usually calculated at least once daily for index-based ETFs, or more frequently for actively managed ETFs. However, certain inefficiencies may cause the shares to trade at a premium or discount to their pro rata NAV. There also is no guarantee that an active secondary market for such shares will develop or continue to exist. Generally, an ETF only redeems shares when aggregated as creation units (usually 20,000 shares or more). Therefore, if a liquid secondary market ceases to exist for shares of a particular ETF, a shareholder may have no way to dispose of such shares.

RiverTree Advisors, LLC Disclosure Brochure

Shares of mutual funds are generally distributed and redeemed on an ongoing basis by the fund itself or by a broker acting on its behalf. The trading price at which a share is transacted is equal to the fund's stated daily per share NAV, less any shareholder charges (e.g., sales loads, purchase and/or redemption charges incurred by the fund). The per share NAV of a mutual fund is calculated at the end of each business day, although the actual NAV fluctuates with intraday changes to the market value of the fund's holdings. The trading price of a mutual fund's shares may differ significantly from the intraday NAV during periods of market volatility, which may, among other factors, lead to the mutual fund's shares trading at a premium or discount to actual NAV.

Management Through Similarly Managed Style Accounts

RiverTree manages accounts through the use of similarly managed style portfolios, whereby the Firm allocates all or a portion of its clients' assets among various exchange traded funds, mutual funds, and/or other securities on a discretionary basis using one or more of its investment strategies. In managing assets through the use of styles, the Firm remains in compliance with the safe harbor provisions of Rule 270.3a-4 of the Investment Company Act of 1940.

The strategy used to manage a style portfolio may involve portfolio turnover which can impact clients' net after-tax gains. While the Firm seeks to ensure that clients' assets are managed in a manner consistent with their individual financial situations and investment objectives, securities transactions effected pursuant to a style investment strategy may be made with the client's individual tax ramifications as a secondary consideration. Clients should contact RiverTree if they experience a change in their financial situation or if they want to impose reasonable restrictions on the management of their accounts. In addition, clients are asked to keep RiverTree advised of any specific tax situations, such as carryforward or operating losses.

Item 9. Disciplinary Information

RiverTree has never been involved in any legal or disciplinary events material to its investment advisory business or the integrity of its management. In addition, there have never been any complaints filed against RiverTree or its advisors.

Item 10. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

RiverTree is not engaged in any other financial industry activities and does not have any affiliations which are otherwise material to the Firm's advisory business.

RiverTree Advisors, LLC Disclosure Brochure

Item 11. Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading RiverTree has adopted a code of ethics in compliance with applicable securities laws (“Code of Ethics”) which sets forth the standards of conduct expected of its Supervised Persons. RiverTree’s Code of Ethics contains written policies reasonably designed to prevent certain unlawful practices such as the use of material non-public information by the Firm or any of its Supervised Persons and the trading of securities ahead of clients in order to take advantage of pending orders.

The Code of Ethics also requires certain of RiverTree’s personnel (called “Access Persons”) to report their personal securities holdings and transactions and to obtain pre-approval of certain investments (e.g., initial public offerings, limited offerings). However, RiverTree’s Supervised Persons are permitted to buy or sell securities which it also recommends to clients, if done in a manner consistent with the Firm’s policies and procedures. This Code of Ethics has been established recognizing that some securities trade in sufficiently broad markets to permit transactions by Access Persons to be completed without any appreciable impact on the markets of such securities. Therefore, under certain limited circumstances, exceptions may be made to the policies stated below.

When the Firm is engaging in or considering a transaction in any security on behalf of a client where there may be a potential conflict of interest, no Access Person may knowingly effect for themselves or for their immediate family (i.e., spouse, minor children and adults living in the same household as the Access Person) a transaction in that security unless:

- the client’s transaction has been completed;
- the transaction for the Access Person is completed as part of a batch trade with clients (as defined below in Item 12); or
- a decision has been made not to engage in the transaction for the client.

These requirements are not applicable to: (i) direct obligations of the Government of the United States; (ii) money market instruments, bankers’ acceptance notes, bank certificates of deposit, commercial paper, repurchase agreements and other high quality short-term debt instruments; (iii) shares issued by mutual funds or money market funds; and (iv) shares issued by unit investment trusts which are invested exclusively in one or more mutual funds.

Clients and prospective clients may contact RiverTree to request a copy of its Code of Ethics.

RiverTree Advisors, LLC Disclosure Brochure

Item 12. Brokerage Practices

RiverTree utilizes the custodial services of Raymond James and Associates, Inc. ("Raymond James") and TD Ameritrade Institutional, a division of TD Ameritrade, Inc. ("TD Ameritrade") for the majority of its clients' accounts. This decision is based on the financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, research and service offered by both Raymond James and TD Ameritrade.

The institutional service programs offered by Raymond James and TD Ameritrade, both of which are members of FINRA/SIPC/NFA and also are unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealers, offer independent investment advisors services which include custody of securities, trade execution, and clearance and settlement of transactions. RiverTree receives some benefits from TD Ameritrade and Raymond James through its participation in these programs. Raymond James and TD Ameritrade enable RiverTree to obtain most ETFs and mutual funds without transaction charges and other securities at nominal transaction charges. The trading costs and/or transaction fees charged by Raymond James and/or TD Ameritrade could be higher or lower than those charged by other Financial Institutions.

The trading costs paid by RiverTree's clients comply with RiverTree's duty to obtain "best execution." Clients sometimes could pay trading costs which are higher than another qualified Financial Institution might charge to effect the same transaction when RiverTree determines that the trading costs are reasonable in relation to the value of the custodial services and research provided. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a Financial Institution's services, including, among others, the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. RiverTree seeks competitive rates but may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client transactions.

RiverTree periodically reviews its policies and procedures regarding its recommendation of custodians in light of its duty to obtain best execution.

RiverTree implements its investment management recommendations only after the client has arranged for and furnished RiverTree with all information and authorizations regarding accounts held at their respective financial institutions.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

RiverTree does not currently receive client referrals from its custodians.

RiverTree Advisors, LLC Disclosure Brochure

Directed Brokerage

RiverTree does not currently have any clients who have directed the Firm to use a particular Financial Institution to execute some or all transactions for the client – referred to as directed brokerage. In direct brokerage situations, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with the Financial Institution, and RiverTree will not seek better execution services or prices from other Financial Institutions or be able to “batch” client transactions for execution with orders for other accounts managed by RiverTree. As a result, the client could potentially pay higher trading costs or other transaction costs or greater spreads or receive less favorable net prices on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case. Subject to its duty of best execution, RiverTree reserves the right to decline a client’s request to direct brokerage if, in RiverTree’s sole discretion, such directed brokerage arrangements would result in additional operational difficulties.

Trade Aggregation

Transactions for each client are sometimes executed independently or, when RiverTree decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time, RiverTree will (but is not obligated to) combine or “batch” such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable trading costs, or to allocate costs equitably among RiverTree’s clients differences in prices and trading costs or other transaction costs than might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. In this situation, transactions will be averaged as to price and allocated among RiverTree’s clients pro rata among all the purchase and sale orders placed on any given day.

To the extent that RiverTree determines to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which RiverTree’s Supervised Persons invest, RiverTree does so in accordance with applicable rules and regulations. RiverTree does not receive any additional compensation or remuneration because of the aggregation. If RiverTree determines a prorated allocation is not appropriate under a particular circumstance, the allocation will be made based upon other relevant factors, such as:

- When only a small percentage of the order is executed, shares may be allocated to the account with the smallest order or the smallest position or to an account which is out of line with respect to security or sector weightings relative to other portfolios with similar mandates;
- Allocations may be given to one account when that account has limitations in its investment guidelines which prohibit it from purchasing other securities which are expected to produce similar investment results that can be purchased by other accounts;

RiverTree Advisors, LLC Disclosure Brochure

- If an account reaches an investment guideline limit and cannot participate in an allocation, shares may be reallocated to other accounts (this may be due to unforeseen changes in an account's assets after an order is placed);
- With respect to sale allocations, allocations may be given to accounts low in cash;
- In cases where a pro rata allocation of a potential execution would result in a de minimis allocation in one or more accounts, RiverTree may exclude the account(s) from the allocation and the transactions executed on a pro rata basis among the remaining accounts; or
- In cases where a small proportion of an order is executed in all accounts, shares may be allocated to one or more accounts on a random basis.

Consistent with obtaining best execution, RiverTree utilizes the services of its primary custodians because of the investment research products and/or services which assist RiverTree in its investment decision-making process. Such research generally will be used to benefit all RiverTree clients, but trading costs paid by one client could be used to pay for research not used in managing that client's portfolio. The receipt of investment research products and/or services, as well as the allocation of the benefit of such investment research products and/or service, poses a conflict of interest because RiverTree does not have to produce or pay for the products or services.

Software and Support Provided by Financial Institutions

RiverTree receives from Raymond James and/or TD Ameritrade, without cost to RiverTree, computer software and related systems support, which allows RiverTree to better monitor client accounts maintained at Raymond James and/or TD Ameritrade respectively. RiverTree receives some software and related support without cost because RiverTree renders investment management services to clients who maintain assets at Raymond James and/or TD Ameritrade.

The software and related systems support sometimes benefits RiverTree but not its clients directly. In fulfilling its duties to its clients, RiverTree endeavors to always put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that RiverTree's receipt of economic benefits from a custodian creates a conflict of interest since these benefits potentially could influence RiverTree's choice of one custodian over another which does not furnish similar software, systems support or services.

Specifically, RiverTree receives the following benefits from Raymond James and/or TD Ameritrade:

- Receipt of duplicate client confirmations and duplicate client statements;
- Access to a trading desk which exclusively services institutional participants;

RiverTree Advisors, LLC Disclosure Brochure

- Access to block trading software which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions and then allocates the appropriate shares to client accounts; and
- Access to an electronic communication network for client order entry and account information.

There is no direct link between RiverTree's participation in Raymond James' or TD Ameritrade's institutional programs and the investment advice it gives to its clients, although RiverTree receives economic benefits through its participation in these programs typically not available to TD Ameritrade's retail investors. RiverTree also has: the ability to deduct advisory fees directly from client accounts; access to mutual funds and ETFs with no transaction fees; access to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to the Firm by third-party vendors.

Some of the products and services made available by Raymond James or TD Ameritrade through their institutional programs potentially benefit RiverTree but not its clients. These products or services assist RiverTree in managing and administering client accounts. Other services made available by Raymond James or TD Ameritrade are intended to help RiverTree manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by RiverTree's participation in the programs do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade or Raymond James.

Item 13. Review of Accounts

Account Reviews

RiverTree monitors the portfolios of its investment management clients as part of a continuous and ongoing process. All investment advisory clients are encouraged to discuss their needs, goals and objectives regularly with RiverTree and to keep RiverTree informed of any changes thereto. RiverTree also contacts investment advisory clients at least annually to ask if there have been any changes in their financial situation, goals and/or investment objectives. For those clients to whom RiverTree provides financial planning and/or consulting services, reviews are conducted on an "as needed" basis. All such reviews are conducted by Ted S. Rich, Principal of the Firm.

Account Statements and Reports

Clients are provided with trade confirmation notices and regular account statements directly from the Financial Institutions where their assets are held in custody. From time to time, or as otherwise requested, clients also may receive written or electronic reports from RiverTree and/or a designated third party, which contain certain account and/or market-related information, such as an inventory of account holdings or account performance. Clients should compare the account statements they receive from their custodian with those they receive from RiverTree or a designated third party.

As a convenience to certain clients to whom RiverTree provides financial planning and/or consulting services, the Firm may also generate reports summarizing its analyses and conclusions, which are typically delivered in electronic format.

Item 14. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Client Referrals

RiverTree does not currently provide compensation to third-party solicitors for client referrals.

Other Economic Benefit

RiverTree may receive an economic benefit from a third party (non-client) for providing investment advice to the Firm's advisory clients. Specifically, because RiverTree generally recommends clients custody assets at Raymond James and/or TD Ameritrade, they may receive certain institutional benefits not otherwise available to retail investors. This relationship is further discussed above in Item 12.

Item 15. Custody

RiverTree is deemed to have custody over a client's assets when it is authorized to directly debit a client's account for payment of the Firm's quarterly management fee. In accordance with applicable custody rules, the Financial Institutions recommended by RiverTree have agreed to send account statements to clients, not less frequently than quarterly, indicating all amounts paid to RiverTree. As a result, the Firm is not required to engage an independent auditor to perform a surprise annual examination of its client accounts.

For a very few clients, RiverTree has been granted limited authority to withdraw client funds to make disbursements to a third party on behalf of the client pursuant to a Standing Letter of Authorization form (SLOA), signed by the client. SLOAs eliminate the need to obtain the client's signature each time such disbursements are made, and these disbursements constitute custody of client funds. However, the disbursements are made in compliance with the seven specific conditions prescribed by SEC Rule 206(4)-2 (custody rule), in cooperation with its qualified custodians and, therefore, RiverTree is not subject to the custody rule's annual surprise exam requirement.

As discussed in Item 13, RiverTree and/or a third-party vendor also may send periodic reports to clients. Clients are advised to carefully review the statements and confirmations sent directly by the custodian and to compare them with any reports received from RiverTree or an outside service provider.

Item 16. Investment Discretion

Clients generally grant RiverTree the authority to exercise discretion on their behalf. RiverTree is considered to exercise investment discretion over a client's account if the Firm can effect transactions for the client without first having to seek the client's consent. The Firm is given this authority through a power-of-attorney included in the Agreement between RiverTree and the client. Clients may request a limitation on this authority (such as by specifying certain securities to not be bought or sold).

Specifically, RiverTree takes discretion over the following activities:

- The securities to be purchased or sold;
- The amount of securities to be purchased or sold;
- When transactions are made; and
- The Subadvisors to be hired or fired. RiverTree is not currently working with any Subadvisors.

Item 17. Voting Client Securities

RiverTree does not accept the authority to vote client securities (i.e., proxies) on their behalf. Clients receive proxies directly from the Financial Institutions where their assets are held in custody, and clients may contact the Firm at the telephone number on the cover of this brochure with questions about proxies and/or other such solicitations.

Item 18. Financial Information

RiverTree is not required to disclose any financial information pursuant to this Item due to the following:

- The Firm does not require or solicit the prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees six months or more in advance of services rendered;
- The Firm does not have a financial condition which is likely to impair its ability to meet its contractual commitments to its clients; and
- The Firm has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time.
