Item 4. Advisory Business

West Financial Advisors, LLC help people grow and protect their wealth with fee-only objective financial advice. WFA provides discretionary and non-discretionary investment advisory services and comprehensive personal financial planning. We tailor our advisory services to the unique needs of each client and allow clients to impose restrictions on investing in certain types of securities. Laura and Brian West equally own WFA and the business has been in operation since 2006. WFA is a fiduciary and is required to act in a client's best interest at all times. As of December 31, 2023, WFA manages discretionary assets under management of $491.8 million and non-discretionary assets under management of $18.8 million for a total of $510.6 million. The Investment Advisers Act requires us to deliver written statement or "disclosure brochure" to every client prior to signing a contract for investment advisory services. The purpose of the brochure is to protect clients by disclosing important information concerning services provided by us. This ADV Disclosure Brochure fulfills this requirement, and it is also offered annually to existing clients.

Item 5. Fees and Compensation

Annual fees for individual client portfolios with discretionary investment management services are calculated as a percentage of assets under management according to the following schedule.

First $1,000,000:	.85%, if under $500,000, flat fee of $4,260 instead
Next $1,000,000:	.75%
Next $1,000,000:	.60%
Next $2,000,000:	.50%
Greater than $5,000,000	.30%

Accounts are charged one-quarter of the annual rate shown in the schedule above after the end of each calendar quarter (March, June, September, December) based on the total account balances at those times. Service that begins or terminates between calendar quarters will be billed on a prorated basis according to the number of days in the quarter that balances were credited to the account. The firm debits client accounts for the appropriate fee. If clients have more than one account, we typically debit one account for the combined total balance of all accounts. Clients may also elect to be billed directly. Not all clients are billed according to the aforementioned fee schedule. In these cases, the fees were either determined by a different fee schedule in place at the time of contracting services or a mutually agreed upon fee adjustment was made for unique servicing arrangements specific to the client.

Company sponsored retirement plan fees are negotiable, typically not to exceed 1.0% of assets annually. Plan participant accounts are charged one-quarter of the annual rate designated by the plan agreement after the end of each calendar quarter (March, June, September, December) based on the total account balances at those times.

All fees paid to WFA for investment advisory and financial planning services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and exchange-traded funds to shareholders. Clients may also incur transactional fees or commissions by other third-party custodians of investment assets.

We never receive compensation or other economic benefit from third parties for investments and services we recommend to clients.

Item 6. Performance-Based Fees

We do not accept performance-based fees.

Item 7. Types of Clients

We provide advisory services primarily to high net worth individuals (households with at least $1,100,000 managed by our firm or whose net worth exceeds $2,200,000) and company sponsored pension and profit sharing plans. We also advise emerging high net worth individuals (households committed to growing their investment portfolios through disciplined savings over time).

Item 8. Methods of Analysis, Information and Strategies

WFA provides the investment strategy and implementation for all clients with discretionary investment management services. Clients receive the benefit of WFA's developed investment philosophies and strategies, research, account monitoring, and personal financial planning recommendations.

We use many methods to analyze investments, including charting, fundamental, and technical methods. The main sources of information are research material prepared by other firms, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, filings with the SEC, company press releases, and financial news sources.

All clients with discretionary investment management services receive a written Investment Policy Statement, which sets forth client goals and recommended asset allocation strategy. Specific investment recommendations are provided, client portfolios are periodically monitored, and changes are suggested when appropriate.

WFA investment advice is based upon long-term investment strategies that incorporate generally accepted investing principles. The utilization of several different asset classes as part of the investor's investment portfolio is emphasized to reduce portfolio volatility over long periods of time. Other planning considerations include liquidity needs, tax strategies, legal restrictions, time horizon, and other unique circumstances.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to tolerate. Client investment recommendations seek to limit risk through broad global diversification in securities from various asset classes. Actual performance will vary from return potential and volatility presented in plans. Short sales, margin transactions, and options writing will only be utilized at your request or upon your permission.

Item 9. Disciplinary Information

We have had no disciplinary violations.

Item 10. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

We are not affiliated with any other company.

Item 11. Code of Ethics and Interest in Client Transaction

WFA has adopted a Code of Ethics, the full text of which is available to clients upon request. WFA has several goals in adopting this Code. First, WFA desires to comply with all applicable laws and regulations governing its practice, and the management of WFA has determined to set forth guidelines for professional standards, under which all associated persons of WFA are to conduct themselves. WFA has set high standards, the intention of which is to always protect client interests and to demonstrate its commitment to its fiduciary duties of honesty, good faith and fair dealing with Clients. All associated persons are expected to adhere strictly to these guidelines, as well as the procedures for approval and reporting established in the Code of Ethics primarily related to personal securities transactions, and violations of the Code. In addition, WFA maintains and enforces written policies reasonably designed to prevent the misuse of material non-public information by WFA or any person associated with WFA. Please contact WFA's Chief Compliance Officer at 515-284-1011 to obtain a complete copy of WFA's Code of Ethics.

Item 12. Brokerage PracticesCustodian and Brokers We Recommend

WFA does not maintain physical custody of your assets that we manage, although we may be deemed to have custody of your assets if you give us authority to withdraw assets from your account. Your assets must be maintained in an account at the "qualified custodian," generally a broker-dealer. We may recommend that our clients use Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (Schwab), a registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, as a qualified custodian.

Clients have no obligation to use Schwab and may choose another broker-dealer or vendor. We are independently owned and operated and are not affiliated with any third-party broker-dealers. Your broker-dealer will hold your assets in an account and buy and sell securities when we or you instruct them to. While we may recommend that you use Schwab as your custodian/broker, you will decide whether to do so and will open your account with Schwab by entering into an account agreement directly with them. We do not open the account for you, although we may assist you in doing so.

How We Recommend Brokers/Custodians

We seek to recommend a custodian/broker who will hold your assets and execute transactions on terms that are, overall, most advantageous when compared to other available providers and their services. We consider a wide range of factors, including, among others:

- Combination of transaction execution services and asset custody services
- Capability to execute, clear, and settle trades (buy and sell securities for your account)
- Capability to facilitate transfers and payments to and from accounts (wire transfers, check requests, etc.)
- Breadth of available investment products (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, etc)
- Competitiveness of the price of those services (commission rates, margin interest rates, other fees, etc.) and willingness to negotiate the prices
- Quality of services and prior experience with other clients
- Reputation, financial strength, and stability

Your Brokerage and Custody Costs

For our clients' accounts that Schwab maintains, Schwab generally does not charge you separately for custody services, but is compensated by charging you commissions or fees on trades that it executes or settle into your Schwab account.

Products and Services Available From Schwab

Schwab Advisor Services™ (formerly called Schwab Institutional®) is Schwab's business serving independent investment advisory firms like us. They provide us and our clients with access to its institutional brokerage—trading, custody, reporting, and related services—many of which are not typically available to Schwab retail customers. Schwab also makes available various support services to us that may help us manage or administer our clients' accounts. Schwab's support services generally are available on an unsolicited basis (we don't have to request them) and at no charge to us. The availability of these services from Schwab benefits us because we do not have to produce or purchase them. It also is a benefit to us because it is operationally more efficient for us to have clients at one custodian.

If we make a trade error that results in a loss to a client, we will make the client whole. If we make a trade error that results in a gain to a client, and the gain can be attributed to a client, the client is entitled to keep the gain. If WFA makes a trade error that results in a gain to a client and the gain cannot be attributable to a particular client, Schwab, and not WFA, keeps the gain. In that case, if the gain is more than $100, Schwab will donate the gain to charity. If the gain is less than $100, Schwab will keep the gain to offset its administrative time and expense.

We also use other custodians as requested by the client, which could result in the client paying more in custodial fees and transaction charges. For example, a client that trades at a custodian other than Schwab may not be able to participate in an aggregated trade.

Item 13. Review of Accounts

Brian West, Chief Investment Officer, is responsible for all client account reviews and management. Each discretionary investment portfolio is reviewed at least monthly. Clients receive quarterly written reports summarizing strategies and performance from WFA. Clients also receive monthly account statements and trading confirmations from the custodians of their accounts. Investment plans are written and reviewed with clients approximately annually.

The timing and details of account reviews for non-discretionary portfolios is determined uniquely for each client based on their investment agreement.

Item 14. Client Referrals and other Compensation

WFA offers a bonus plan for our employees that is based on the amount of new assets referred to us by an employee.

Item 15. Custody

WFA does not have physical custody of client assets. The client's broker-dealer of choice holds custody of assets and is responsible for the safe-keeping of your assets. Clients receive transactional statements and confirmations from their broker-dealers. We recommend clients review these statements and compare them to the quarterly analytical reports we deliver to them. Clients may have standing letters of authorization on their accounts. WFA has reviewed those relationships and determined that they meet the IAA no action letter seven conditions and do not trigger the surprise custody audit.

Item 16. Investment Discretion

WFA require discretion over individual accounts. A letter of limited trading authorization is signed to appoint WFA as your limited attorney-in-fact for the purpose of supervising and transactions of securities. We have no obligation to supervise or direct investments that are in accounts that are not established or maintained by us through limited power of attorney and that are not charged WFA management fees.

WFA does not have discretionary authorization over individual accounts of plan participants in company sponsored pension and profit sharing plans. Plan participants must execute their own investment choices for their accounts.

Item 17. Voting Client Securities

WFA does not vote client proxies. Clients will receive proxy material directly from the custodian holding the client account. In circumstances where we receive proxy material on behalf of a client, our firm will promptly forward such material to the client's attention. It is the client's responsibility to vote his or her own proxies. Upon client request, WFA will provide advice regarding proxy voting.

Item 18. Financial Information

WFA does not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance. WFA does not have any adverse financial information to disclose.

Privacy Notice To Our Clients

We have adopted this policy with recognition that protecting the privacy and security of the personal information we obtain about our customers is an important responsibility. We also know that the customer expects us to service their accounts in an accurate and efficient manner. To do so, we must collect and maintain certain personal information about our customers. We want the customer to know what information we collect and how we use and safeguard that information.

What Information We Collect

We collect certain nonpublic personal identifying information about our customers (such as name, address, social security number, etc.) from information that the customer provides on applications or other forms as well as communications (electronic, telephone, written, or in person) with the customer or authorized representatives (such as attorneys, accountants, etc.). We also collect information about brokerage accounts and transactions (such as purchases, sales, account balances, inquiries, etc.).

What Information We Disclose

We do not disclose the nonpublic personal information we collect about our customers to anyone except: (i) in furtherance of our business relationship and then only to those persons necessary to effect the transactions and provide the services that the customer authorizes (such as broker-dealers, custodians, independent managers, etc.); (ii) persons assessing our compliance with industry standards (e.g. professional licensing authorities, etc.); (iii) our attorneys, accountants, and auditors; or (iv) as otherwise provided by law.

We are permitted by law to disclose the nonpublic personal information about our customers to governmental agencies and other third parties in certain circumstances (such as third parties that perform administrative or marketing services on our behalf or for joint marketing programs). These third parties are prohibited to use or share the information for any purpose. If the customer decides at some point to either terminate our services or become an inactive customer, we will continue to adhere to our privacy policy, as may be amended from time to time.

Security of Customer Information

We restrict access to customer nonpublic personal information to those employees who need to know that information to service the accounts. We maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards that comply with applicable federal or state standards to protect customer personal information.

Changes To Our Privacy Policy Or Relationship With The Customer

Our policy about obtaining and disclosing information may change from time to time. We will provide the customer notice of any material change to this policy before we implement the change.
