Retirement Plan Rollover Recommendations

When Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC provides investment advice about your retirement plan account or individual retirement account (“IRA”) including whether to maintain investments and/or proceeds in the retirement plan account, roll over such investment/proceeds from the retirement plan account to a IRA or make a distribution from the retirement plan account, we acknowledge that Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC is a “fiduciary” within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (“ERISA”) and/or the Internal Revenue Code (“IRC”) as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC makes money creates conflicts with your interests so Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC operates under a special rule that requires Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of you.

Under this special rule’s provisions, Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC, as a fiduciary to a retirement plan account or IRA under ERISA/IRC, must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (e.g., give prudent advice);
- Never put the financial interests of Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC ahead of you when making recommendations (e.g., give loyal advice);
- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC gives advice that is in your best interest;
- Charge no more than is reasonable for the services of Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC; and

- Give Client basic information about conflicts of interest.

To the extent we recommend you roll over your account from a current retirement plan account to an individual retirement account managed by Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC, please know that Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC and our investment adviser representatives] have a conflict of interest.

We can earn increased investment advisory fees by recommending that you roll over your account at the retirement plan to an IRA managed by Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC. We will earn fewer investment advisory fees if you do not roll over the funds in the retirement plan to an IRA managed by Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC.

Thus, our investment adviser representatives have an economic incentive to recommend a rollover of funds from a retirement plan to an IRA which is a conflict of interest because our recommendation that you open an IRA account to be managed by our firm can be based on our economic incentive and not based exclusively on whether or not moving the IRA to our management program is in your overall best interest.

We have taken steps to manage this conflict of interest. We have adopted an impartial conduct standard whereby our investment adviser representatives will (i) provide investment advice to a retirement plan participant regarding a rollover of funds from the retirement plan in accordance with the fiduciary status described below, (ii) not recommend investments which result in Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC receiving unreasonable compensation related to the rollover of funds from the retirement plan to an IRA, and (iii) fully disclose compensation received by Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC and our supervised persons and any material conflicts of interest related to recommending the rollover of funds from the retirement plan to an IRA and refrain from making any materially misleading statements regarding such rollover.

When providing advice to you regarding a retirement plan account or IRA, our investment advisor representatives will act with the care, skill, prudence, and diligence under the circumstances then prevailing that a prudent person acting in a like capacity and familiar with such matters would use in the conduct of an enterprise of a like character and with like aims, based on the investment objectives, risk, tolerance, financial circumstances, and a client's needs, without regard to the financial or other interests of Black Coral Financial Advisors, LLC or our affiliated personnel.

Black Coral investment advisory fees are generally debited from either the Fidelity or Charles Schwab client accounts. Clients may request either form of billing and it must be done in writing 30 days prior to the close of the calendar quarter. The default is to have fees deducted directly from client accounts. If a client account does not have adequate assets to pay fees, then the client will be billed directly for those fees. The billing is to occur on a calendar year quarterly basis, billed in arrears for that quarter, using the ending account balance method adjusted for inflows and outflows on a pro-rata basis per the negotiated fees per each account type and relationship. Fees will be debited or billed to an account no later than 30 days after the close of the quarter.

Other fees from the underlying investments may be billed differently and clients will need to review the underlying managers' fee schedules and procedures separately.

may be charged in connection with transactions involving equities, master limited partnerships, exchange traded funds, listed options on equities and any other securities traded as agent.

Commission Equivalents

The amount charged by a dealer for purchasing or selling securities or other investments in certain riskless principal transactions (that is, transactions in which a dealer, after having received an order to buy or sell from a client, purchases or sells the security from another person to offset the client transaction). Spreads

The difference between the current purchase or bid price (that is, the price someone is willing to pay) and the current ask or offer price (that is, the price at which someone is willing to sell). Spreads may be included in transactions involving fixed income securities, structured products and currencies.

Markups/Markdowns

A markup is the price charged to a client, less the prevailing market price, which is included in the price of the security. A markdown is the prevailing market price of a security, less the amount a dealer pays to purchase the security from the client, which is included in the price of the security. Markups/Markdowns may be included in transactions involving fixed income securities, structured products and currencies. Black Coral does not charge any fee to the client for this level of service, although the client may pay its proportionate share of the standard expenses of any mutual funds in which it invests through the Fidelity Platform, Charles Schwab or in combination.

Underlying Fund Fees

Clients invested in pooled investment vehicles pay all fees and expenses applicable to an investment in the funds, including asset-based, performance-based, carried interest, incentive allocation and other compensation payable to the managers in consideration of the managers' services to the funds and fees paid for advisory, administration, distribution, shareholder servicing, sub-accounting, sub-transfer agency and other related services, or "12b-1" fees. An investor in a fund-of-funds vehicle will also bear a proportionate share of the fees and expenses of each underlying investment fund. In addition, a manager of a private investment fund may receive deal fees, sponsor fees, monitoring fees or other similar fees for services provided to portfolio companies. The fees and expenses imposed by a private investment fund may offset trading profits and, therefore, reduce returns.

Prepaid Fees

Black Coral's clients may pay fees in advance and certain services may require prepayment of fees, including certain financial counseling and seminar services. For Comprehensive Financial Counseling services, unless otherwise agreed in writing by Black Coral and the client, fees for the first six months of service are nonrefundable, and after six months Black Coral will refund a pro-rata portion of billed but unaccrued advisory fees in the event an advisory contract is terminated before the end of a billing period. If otherwise agreed or if termination is after the first six months, then the refunded amount will be on a pro-rata daily basis calculated to the agreed upon date of termination of service which may be the date the written termination letter is received. For seminar services, unless otherwise agreed in writing by Black Coral and the client, Black Coral will refund a portion of billed but unaccrued advisory fees in the event an advisory contract is terminated before the prepaid services are rendered.

Clients who purchase securities and investment products outside of their accounts will not incur the advisory fees described in this Brochure, and any other fees and expenses may differ from those charges in Black Coral accounts.

Clients should understand that all investment strategies and the investments made as a result of implementing those investment strategies involve risk of loss and clients should be prepared to bear the loss of the assets invested and, in the case of naked option strategies, beyond the amount invested. The investment performance and success of any investment strategy or particular investment performance strategy or particular investment can never be predicted or guaranteed, and the value of a client's investments fluctuates due to market conditions and other factors. The investment decisions and recommendations made and the actions taken for investment accounts and advisory clients are subject to various market, liquidity, currency, economic and political risks, and will not necessarily be profitable. Past performance of accounts and manager is not indicative of future performance, which may vary. In general, investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Risks Applicable to all Advisory Accounts and Advisory Clients

This brochure does not disclose every potential risk associated with an investment strategy, or all of the risks applicable to a particular manager, investment or allocation, and these risks may apply to assets serviced by Black Coral. Rather, it is a general description of the nature and risks of the strategies and securities and other instruments that clients may invest in. Except as otherwise expressly agreed in writing, Black Coral does not assume any duties to take action pursuant to recommendations, advice or financial planning strategies that Black Coral may provide to clients, which ultimately remain the client's obligation. Clients are not required to implement their financial plans through Black Coral and Black Coral is not responsible for mitigating any of these risks for clients implementing their investment strategies. The following risks are applicable to all strategies:

- Market/Volatility Risk – The risk that the value of the assets in which a client invests may decrease (potentially dramatically) in response to the prospects of individual companies, particularly industry sectors or governments, general economic conditions, interest rates, changing supply and demand relationships, programs and policies of governments, and national and international political and economic events and policies. Past performance may not be indicative of future results.
- Operational Risk – This risk of loss arising from shortcomings or failures in internal processes or systems, external events impacting those systems and human error. Operational risk can arise from many factors ranging from routine processing errors to potentially costly incidents such as major systems failures.
- Liquidity Risk – This is the risk that a manager or investment may not be able to monetize investments either because those investments have become less liquid or illiquid in response to market developments or adverse investor perceptions.
- Concentration Risk – The increased risk of loss associated with not having a diversified portfolio (e.g., investments concentrated in a geographic region, industry sector or issuer will experience greater loss due to an adverse economic, business or political development affecting the region, sector or issuer than an account that is diversified and therefore has less overall exposure to that region or sector or any issuer).

- Tax, Legal and Regulatory Risks – The risk of loss due to increased costs and reduced investment and trading opportunities resulting from unanticipated legal, tax and regulatory changes.

Risks Applicable to Advisory Accounts Managed by the Portfolio Management Teams

In addition to the risks applicable to all strategies the specific risks of each strategy should also be considered. The following is a description of the strategies and the material risks involved in investing in each strategy.

Fixed Income Strategies: Taxable (Corporate and/or Government) and Municipal Bonds

Black Coral may recommend taxable fixed income bond and municipal bond strategies managed by specialized third party teams. There are several sub-strategies for taxable fixed income investing in US dollar denominated government and corporate investment grade bonds. Taxable fixed income portfolios are composed of individual treasury, agency, sovereign/supranational and/or corporate securities. Clients have the ability to tailor portfolios to 100% government bonds, 100% corporate bonds or a portfolio of both government and corporate bonds and may also specify desired range of maturities for securities. The primary objectives of the taxable fixed income and municipal bond strategies are capital preservation and current income.

Municipal bond strategies are customized portfolios of high credit quality municipal bonds with varying maturities. When adequate diversification is possible, the bond portfolios are usually constructed from bonds issued in the client's state of residence for clients that reside in states with high income taxes.

However, investment managers may also purchase out-of-state bonds when after-tax yields warrant or when adequate in-state diversification is not possible. Securities are generally held until maturity and not actively traded.

Black Coral does not perform fundamental analysis on all issuers selected for a client's fixed income portfolio, as that role is the responsibility of the third party unaffiliated manager. An example of the expected fundamental analysis may include a review of financial statements, rating agency reports and/or research reports and it is expected by Black Coral that managers of fixed income hired by clients will engage in ongoing risk management, individual credit and portfolio monitoring of such investments, including periodic review of liquidity, general business trends and daily risk reports.

The material risks associated with fixed-income strategies include:

- Credit/Default Risk – The risk of loss due to negative credit events related to the issuer or an issuers or guarantor's default on its obligation to pay interest and repay principal.

- Interest Rate Risk – The risk of loss in the event of interest rate increases due to the inverse correlation between interest rates and fixed income securities (that is, when interest rates increase, fixed-income securities will generally decline in value).
- Liquidity Risk – Sales of fixed-income securities prior to maturity may result in a loss versus purchase price and/or discount to fair market value.

Mutual Funds and Exchange Traded Funds

Mutual fund and Exchange Traded Fund accounts are composed of both mutual funds and ETFs allocated in accordance with the model selected by the client based on the client's individual risk tolerance. Each model asset allocation is constructed by Black Coral. The strategy's primary objectives are all equity, growth of capital, moderate growth or conservative style based on the client's overall investment objectives. Black Coral will review and periodically rebalance managed mutual fund and Exchange Traded Fund accounts to the appropriate model.

The primary risk involved in investing in mutual funds is a decline in the underlying investment value. In addition, mutual fund holdings are reported with a lag. Underlying mutual fund holdings may change rapidly and fund performance may differ from expectations as a result. For ETF holdings in accounts, ETFs may trade at a discount or premium to their underlying net asset value ("NAV"). ETFs may not fully replicate the construction of their benchmark index, resulting in performance that differs from expectations. Investors purchasing an ETF at a premium may underperform the ETF NAV, while the redemption of shares may result in the ETF trading at a discount to NAV.
